SEC. 2580. The assent of the wife to such jointure shall be evinced, if she be of full age, by her becoming a party to the conveyance by which it shall be settled; if she be an infant, by her joining with her father or guardian in such conveyance.

SEC. 2581. Any pecuniary provision that shall be made for the benefit of an intended wife, and in lieu of dower, shall, if assented to by such wife, as above provided, be a bar to any right or claim of dower of such wife in all the lands of her husband.

If before her marriage, but without her assent, or if, after her marriage, land shall be given or assured for the jointure of a wife, or a pecuniary provision be made for her in lieu of dower, she shall make her election whether she will take such jointure or pecuniary provision, or whether she will be endowed of the land of her husband, but she shall not be entitled to both.

SEC. 2585. Every jointure, devise and pecuniary provision, in lieu of dower, shall be forfeited by the woman for whose benefit it shall be made, in the same cases in which she would forfeit her dower; and, upon such forfeiture, any estate so conveyed for jointure, and every pecuniary provision so made, shall immediately vest in the person, or his legal representatives, in whom they would have vested, on the determination of her interest therein, by the death of such woman.

SEC. 2587. A widow may tarry in the mansion or chief dwelling-house of her husband for two months after his death, whether her dower be sooner assigned her or not, without being liable to any rent for the same; and, in the meantime, she shall have a reasonable sustenance out of the estate of her husband (d).

(d) See art. IX, sec. 6, Const.

SEC. 2588. If the dower of any widow is not assigned and laid off to her within two months after the death of her husband, she shall remain and possess the mansion or chief dwelling-house of her late husband, together with the farm thereto attached, free of all rent, until her dower shall be laid off and assigned to her (e).

SEC. 2589. In all assignments of dower to any widow, it shall be the duty of the commissioners who may be appointed to lay off the dower (if the estate will permit without essential injury) so to lay off the dower in the lands of the deceased husband that the usual dwelling of the husband and family shall be included in such assignment of dower to the widow. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, secs. 1-19.

SEC. 2590. The commissioners appointed to lay off dower in the lands of the deceased husband shall, at the request of the widow to be endowed, lay off the same on any part of the lands of the deceased, whether the same shall include the usual dwelling of the husband and family or not; provided, the same can be done without essential injury to such estate. Act Jan. 15, 1857.

(e) The widow is entitled to continue in possession of the mansion-house until her dower is assigned, though she be the administratrix and the heir a minor. Trimble v. James, 40-393. She is entitled to rents until dower is assigned, although she is the administratrix. Mock v. Pleasants, 34-63.

(f) Prior to the passage of the act of February 21, 1859, it had been held that a widow was not entitled to dower in the choses in action of her deceased husband. See Hill v. Mitchell, 5-608; Mulholland v. Thompson, 13-232.

The widow has dower for life of one-third of the real estate owned by her husband at any time during coverture, whether unsold at his death, or sold or alienated by him without her consent in legal form, and one-third of all personal estate owned by him at his death, including money or cash on hand and choses in action, absolutely, unless he leaves no children, in which case her interest is one-half of each, instead of one-third. And this dower in each she takes by way of lien, created by and at the time of marriage, and paramount to creditors and purchasers, and without any regard to his debts. Her dower in each is carved out of the specific estate of which he was possessed; and, if she has been deprived of it, she can follow it wherever it may be found, and subject it to her lien, unless, by her own laches, she has abandoned or waived the right. Hill v. Mitchell, 5-608.

She is entitled to one-third of the estate absolutely, and the administrator holds it as a trustee for her; and, if he sells it, she is entitled to the proceeds of one-third of the sale. She is entitled to one-third of the rents of land, and may hold the mansion and farm attached until her dower is assigned. Meniffee v. Meniffee, 8-9. See SECS. 62, 63.

The placing of an execution in the hands of the sheriff in the life-time of the husband does not cut off the widow's right of dower in his goods, unless the officer proceed to make a levy before his death. James v. Marcus, 18-421.

The husband can dispose of personalty free of the wife's dower, by sale or mortgage. McClure v. Owens, 32-443; Street v. Saunders, 27-554. The right to dower in personalty is governed by the law of the intestate's domicile. Gibson v. Dowell, 42-164.

(g) Where a husband dies, leaving a widow and no children, the widow is entitled to be endowed of one-half of the real estate during her natural life only. Brown v. Collins, ad., 14-421.

SEC. 2595. In cases of provision made by will for widows, in lieu of dower, such widow shall have her election to accept the same or be endowed of the lands and personal property of which her husband died seized.

If a widow, for whom provision has been made by will, elect to be endowed of the lands and personal property of which her husband died seized, she shall convey, by deed of release and quit-claim, to the heirs of such estate the land so to her devised and bequeathed, which deed shall be acknowledged or proven and recorded as other deeds for real estate are required to be acknowledged or proven and recorded.

SEC. 2597. Such renunciation of the devise or bequest by deed, as provided for in the last preceding section, shall be deemed a sufficient notice of the renunciation of the interest of such widow in all the benefits she might claim by such will in the lands of such deceased husband.

SEC. 2598. Such renunciation by deed shall be executed within eighteen months after the death of such husband, or the widow will be deemed to have elected to take the devise and bequest contained in such will. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, secs. 21-27.

SEC. 2599. The widow of any deceased person, who shall file in the office of the clerk of the court of probate, or with the probate court of the proper county, a relinquishment of her right of dower in and out of the estate of her deceased husband, shall be entitled to receive of the estate of which her said husband died seized and possessed, whether real, personal or mixed, a portion or share thereof, absolutely in her own right, equal to that of a child, which shall be set aside and delivered to her as now provided by law for dower.

SEC. 2600. Said relinquishment shall be in writing and acknowledged before the clerk or some justice of the peace, and filed within sixty days after the grant of letters of administration on the estate of the decedent.

SEC. 2601. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to repeal any law vesting estates worth less than three hundred dollars in the widow and children of deceased persons. Act Nov. 29, 1862 ()*.

SEC. 2602. A widow shall be endowed of lands sold in the life-time of the husband without her consent in legal form against all creditors of the estate (i).

(h) Where a testator makes a provision for his wife and then disposes of the rest of his estate, the provision will be taken in lieu of dower. Apperson v. Bolton, 29—418.

(*) The acts of 1862 were not published.

(i) See Tate v. Jay, 31—576.

(j) The administrator is entitled to the residue of the estate of the intestate, real and personal, after assignment of dower, for the payment of debts, and is, therefore, entitled to receive the rents. The inheritance is cast upon the heir, and it is his duty to assign the widow's dower: but, until the debts are paid, the administrator is entitled to possession. Hill v. Mitchell, 5—608, and Morrill v. Meniffee, Ib., 629, overruled so far as they contravene this principle. Meniffee v. Meniffee, 8—9. Dower in lands is assigned by the heirs and in the personal property by the administrator. Hill v. Mitchell, supra.

Though the heir is a minor, the widow is still entitled to remain in possession until the dower is assigned. Trimble v. James, 40—393. The widow can not dispose of her dower interest until it has been assigned. Jacks v. Dyer, 31—334. But she can, before assignment, release to the person holding the legal title. Reed v. Ash, 30—775.

SEC. 2604. If such dower assigned by the heir at law be accepted by the widow, the heir at law shall make a statement of such assignment, specifying what lands have been assigned, and the acceptance of such widow shall be indorsed thereon; which statements and specification of dower, and acceptance thereof, shall be proved or acknowledged by both parties, and filed with and recorded by the clerk of the court of probate, which will then be a sufficient assignment of dower, and shall bar any further demand for dower in the property specified in the statement of dower.

SEC. 2605. If the heir to any estate be a minor, he shall act, in the assignment of dower, by his guardian. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, secs. 28-31.

Stat., chap. 52, sec. 32; Civil Code, sec. 538.*

SEC. 2607. Upon a summons being served upon all who have an interest in the property ten days before the commencement of the term, the court may make an order for the allotment of dower in accordance with the law of dower. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, sec. 39; Civil Code, sec. 539.

SEC. 2608. Parties interested may be constructively summoned as provided by law in other cases.

SEC. 2609. No verification shall be required to the petition or answer.

SEC. 2610. If the petition is filed against infants, married women or persons of unsound mind, the guardian, committee or husband may appear and defend for them and protect their interests; and, if they do not, the court shall appoint some discreet person for that purpose. Civil Code, secs. 540, 543 and 548.

SEC. 2611. If any person summoned, as provided in sections 2606 and 2607, desires to contest the right of the petitioner, or the statements in the petition, he shall do so by a written answer, and the questions of law and fact thereupon arising shall be tried and determined by the court upon the petition, answer, exhibits and other testimony. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, sec. 37; Civil Code, sec. 541.

SEC. 2612. The court shall, in all cases, when it orders and decrees dower to any widow, appoint three commissioners, of the vicinity, who shall proceed to the premises in question, and, by survey and measurement, lay off and designate, by proper metes and bounds, the dower of such widow in accordance with the decree of the court.

SEC. 2613. Such commissioners shall make a detailed report of their proceedings to the next term of the court. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, secs. 40, 41.

(k) The claim for dower is not barred by limitation so long as the heirs continue in possession. McWhirter v. Roberts, 40—283; Livingstone v. Cochran, 33—296. The statute of limitations runs in favor of a stranger from the date of the husband's death. Stidham v. Mathews, 29—650.

SEC. 2614. Upon such report being returned the court may confirm or set the same aside, or remand it to the commissioners for correction. If approved by the court, said report shall be entered of record and be conclusive on the parties. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, sec. 41; Civil Code, sec. 545.

SEC. 2615. In cases where lands or tenements will not admit of division, the court, being satisfied of that fact, or on the report of the commissioners to that effect, shall order that such tenements or lands be rented out, and that one-third part of the proceeds be paid to such widow, in lieu of her dower in such lands and tenements. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, sec. 42.

SEC. 2616. If the land assigned and laid off to any widow be deforced from her possession, she shall have her action for the recovery of possession thereof, with double damages for such deforcement; or she may sue for the damages alone, and recover double the actual damages sustained, from time to time, until she be put in possession of her dower, held by such deforcer or detainer.

SEC. 2617. If the heir alien lands of which a widow is entitled to dower, she shall still be decreed her dower in such lands so aliened, in whose hand soever the land may be.

SEC. 2618. A widow may bequeath the crop in the ground of the land held by her in dower at the time of her death. If she die intestate, it shall go to her administrator. Rev. Stat., chap. 52, secs. 21-32, 46-49.

SEC. 2619. The costs of allotting dower shall be apportioned among the parties in the ratio of their interests, and the costs arising from any contest of fact or law shall be paid by the party adjudged to be in the wrong. Civil Code, sec. 547.

SEC. 2664. The person who shall administer the oaths to the judges and clerks of any election shall cause a certificate to be prefixed to the poll-books in words to the following effect: "I do certify that ——— and ———, judges, and ——— and ———, clerks, of the election held in the township of ———, in the county of ———, on the ——— day of ———, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ———, were severally sworn as the law directs previous to entering on their respective duties;" which certificate shall be subscribed by the person administering the oaths, and shall be considered as a part of the record of the election.

MANNER OF VOTING AND CONDUCTING ELECTIONS.

SEC. 2675. All elections by the people shall be by ballot. Every ballot shall be numbered in the order in which it shall be received, and the number recorded by the election officers, on the list of voters, opposite the name of the elector who presents the ballot (g).

(e) The provision of this section, fixing the time for closing the polls, is directory and not mandatory; and an election should not be set aside and its object defeated for want of strict compliance with this statute where no obstruction or impediment to a fair expression of the will of the people is shown. Holand v. Davies, 36—446; Simpson v. Barton, 39—549.

(f) The qualifications required of voters by the constitution can not be added to by legislative enactment. Rison v. Furr, 24—161.

SEC. 2680. It shall be the duty of each and every voter, at any of the elections hereafter to be holden in this state, to have written in a legible hand, or printed, the name or names of the person or persons for whom he votes, and the office which said person or persons is or are voted for to fill, respectively, on his ballot and hand the same to one of the judges of election.

SEC. 2681. The judge to whom any ballot shall be delivered shall, upon receipt thereof, pronounce in an audible voice the name of the elector from whom he receives the ballot, and if no objection be made to him, and the judges be satisfied that he is legally entitled, agreeably to the constitution and laws of the state, to vote at the election, he shall immediately number the ballot, as provided in section 2675, and put the same in the ballot-box without opening or in any way inspecting the names written or printed thereon (h).

(j) The failure or omission of the judges to seal the poll-book before sending it to the clerk will not invalidate it where it has no appearance of having been tampered with. Patton v. Coates, 41—111. See also Govan v. Jackson, 32—553; Thomas v. Hinkle, 35—457.

As to presumption of regularity in favor of returns, see Howard v. McDiarmid, 26—100.

SEC. 2701. Should any clerk of the county court and the two accompanying justices, or householders, or either of them, under any circumstances, reject or refuse to count the vote on any poll-book of any election held by the people, such rejection or refusal by such clerk or comparing justices, or householders, or either of them, shall be deemed a high misdemeanor, and the person or persons so offending shall be indicted therefor by the grand jury of their county, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than two hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars, and shall be imprisoned in the common jail not to exceed four months (n).

SEC. 2703. depositions to be read in evidence on the trial, and the court shall, at the first term (if fifteen days shall have elapsed after such election, and if less than fifteen, then at the second term) in a summary way, determine the same according to evidence (s).

SEC. 2724. If the court shall be of the opinion that the person proclaimed elected is not duly elected, and the person contesting is elected, an order shall be entered up to that effect, and a copy thereof shall forthwith be transmitted to the governor, who shall commission the person declared duly elected by such order.

SEC. 2725. If the person proclaimed duly elected shall have been commissioned previous to making the order annulling his election, it shall be the duty of the governor to cause such person to be notified that his commission is revoked (t).

If, upon the trial of any such suit as is mentioned in section 2727, judgment shall be rendered against the contestant, judgment shall immediately be rendered against him and his securities in the bond for costs in favor of the contestee or defendant in the action and the officers of court for the amount due them as costs in the case. Act Feb. 24, 1879, secs. 1-2 and 4.

(s) Neither party has the right to demand a jury, either in the county court or in the circuit court, on appeal. Govan v. Jackson, 32-553; Wise v. Martin, 36-305.

The real inquiry upon a contest is whether the contestant or the respondent received the highest number of legal votes, and it is not confined to the ground specified in the notice of contest. The respondent may, without any cross contest, which is not contemplated by the statute, call in question the validity of the votes cast for the contestant, either in the township specified in the notice, or any other township in the county. Govan v. Jackson, supra; Serpston v. Barton, 39-549. The ineligibility of a party elected to office does not render the votes cast for him illegal, nor give the election to his competitor next highest in the poll. Serpston v. Barton, supra. On the questions of fraud on the part of election officers and others, intimidation of voters and illegal voting, see Patton v. Coates, 41-111. The poll-books and certificates of the election officers are prima facie evidence of an election. Ib. Refusing legal or receiving illegal votes will not affect the election unless they were sufficient in number to change the majority. Serpston v. Barton, supra. See also notes (b), (c), (h), (j) and (m), ante.

(t) As to withholding commission by the governor, where the party elected is a defaulting collector or holder of public money, see Serpston v. Barton, 39-549.

SEC. 2742. Reasonable notice shall be given by the party in whose favor depositions shall be allowed to be taken to the opposite party of the time and place of taking the same, and the judge or justice shall proceed in all things, in the attendance of witnesses and in taking and certifying the testimony, as is directed in the preceding section.

SEC. 2743. The party shall also be allowed to attend the examination of witnesses before the committee, and to cross-examine them, but no testimony shall be taken except in relation to the points set forth in the petition.

SEC. 2744. The committee shall report the facts to the two houses, and the day shall be fixed by a joint resolution for the meeting of the two houses to decide upon the same, on which decision the yeas and nays shall be taken and entered on the journal of each house.

If any person die seized of any real or personal estate, without any devise thereof, and leaving no heirs or representatives capable of inheriting the same, or the devisees be incapable of holding the same, and where there is no owner of real estate capable of holding the same, such estate shall escheat to and vest in the state.

SEC. 2760. Where there is administration granted, and there are no known heirs or legal representatives of the intestate, or no person shall appear, within two years after granting letters of administration to claim the personal estate of such intestate, as next of kin, the administrator, in the settlement of his accounts with the proper court, shall account for all money which may come to his hands as administrator.

SEC. 2761. If there be more than sufficient to pay the debts of the deceased and the expenses of administration, such court shall, on settlement, ascertain the amount remaining in the hands of such administrator, and grant duplicate certificates thereof, one of which shall be delivered to the prosecuting attorney for such circuit, and the other to the auditor of state, who shall charge the administrator with the amount.

SEC. 2762. Such administrator shall pay the amount into the state treasury within three months after such settlement; and when he shall pay the same the treasurer shall give him duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he shall deliver to the auditor, who shall grant him a certificate thereof, and credit him with the amount so paid into the treasury, and shall charge the treasurer therewith.

SEC. 2763. The court having the settlement of accounts with such administrator shall, on the production of the auditor's certificate to them, credit the administrator with the amount; but if payment shall not be made as aforesaid, the prosecuting attorney for the circuit shall move the court for judgment against such administrator and his securities, or either of them, for such balance, and three per cent. per month thereon, giving to such administrator and his securities ten days' notice of such intended motion; and the said court shall hear and determine the same in a summary manner, without the necessity of formal pleading.

SEC. 2764. If such administrator, or his securities, shall not produce the auditor's certificate, showing full payment into the state treasury, such court shall render judgment against such administrator and his securities, or such of them as shall receive notice, for the amount due, and three per cent. per month thereon from the time the balance was first ascertained until the rendition of the judgment, and the costs of the proceedings, and issue execution thereon.

SEC. 2765. If the auditor's certificate be produced, such administrator and his securities shall, nevertheless, be adjudged to pay the costs of the proceedings, and shall in no case recover costs.

SEC. 2766. Where there are no known heirs or legal representatives, the prosecuting attorney for the circuit within which the courts are held wherein the accounts of any such administrator are required to be settled shall examine the proceedings of such administration; shall cause process to be issued to compel the prompt settlement of his accounts; attend such settlement, when necessary, on behalf of the state; contest any item which to him shall appear unjust or unreasonable; and, in case of waste and mismanagement of the estate, or other maladministration, cause proper suits and proceedings to be instituted and prosecuted.

SEC. 2767. He is required, in behalf of the state, to do all things touching such administration which could be done by any sole heir, and especially to preserve the real estate from being improperly sold, wasted or damaged; and it is made his special duty, by himself or his deputy, whom he may make when inconvenient to attend in person, to attend all the courts in his circuit in which any case under this act may be pending.

SEC. 2768. When the prosecuting attorney for the circuit shall be informed, or have reason to believe, that any real estate within his circuit hath escheated to the state, and such estate shall not have been sold, according to law, within three years after the death of the person last seized, for the payment of the debts of the deceased, he shall file an information, in behalf of the state, in the circuit court of the county in which such estate is situate, setting forth a description of the estate, the name of the person last lawfully seized, the names of the terre-tenants, and persons claiming the estate, if known, and the facts and circumstances in consequence of which such estate is claimed to have escheated, and alleging that, by reason thereof, the State of Arkansas hath right to such estate.

SEC. 2769. Such court shall award and issue a scire facias against such person, bodies politic or corporate, as shall be alleged, in such information, to hold, possess or claim such estate, requiring them to appear and show cause why such estate should not be vested in the state, at the next term of the court.

SEC. 2770. Such scire facias shall be served fifteen days before the return day thereof; and the court shall make an order setting forth briefly the contents of such information, and requiring all persons interested in the estate to appear and show cause, at the next term of the said court, why the same shall not be vested in the state; which order shall be published four weeks in some newspaper as provided in sections 4356, 4357 and 4358.

SEC. 2771. All persons, bodies politic and bodies corporate named in such information as terre-tenants or claimants of the estate may appear and plead to such proceeding, and may traverse the facts stated in the information, or the title of the state to the lands and tenements therein mentioned, at any time on or before the third day after the return of the scire facias; and any other person claiming an interest in such estate may appear and be made a defendant, and plead, by motion for that purpose in open court, within the time allowed for pleading.

SEC. 2772. If no person shall appear and plead, or, appearing, shall refuse to plead within the term, then judgment shall be rendered that the state be seized of the lands and tenements in the information claimed.

SEC. 2773. If any person appear and deny the title set up by the state, or traverse any material fact in the information, issue shall be made up and tried as other issues of fact; and a survey may be ordered, as in other cases where the titles or boundaries of land are drawn in question.

SEC. 2774. If, after the issues are tried, it appears, from the facts found or admitted, that the state hath good title to the lands and tenements in the information mentioned, or any part thereof, judgment shall be rendered that the state be seized thereof, and recover costs against the defendant.

SEC. 2775. If it appear that the state hath no title in such estate, the defendant shall recover his costs, to be taxed and certified by the clerk; and the auditor of public accounts shall, on such certificate being filed in his office, issue a warrant therefor on the treasury of the state, which shall be paid as other demands on the treasury; but no defendant shall be entitled to recover costs unless the title to such estate shall appear to the court, by the facts found, to be in him.

SEC. 2776. When any judgment shall be rendered that the state be seized of any real estate, such judgment shall contain a description of such estate, and shall vest the title in the state.

SEC. 2777. A writ shall be issued to the sheriff of the proper county, commanding him to seize the real estate vested in the state.

SEC. 2778. Upon the return of such writ of seizure, the prosecuting attorney shall cause the record and process to be exemplified under the seal of the court, and deposit the same in the office of the auditor, and cause a transcript of the judgment to be recorded in the office of the recorder of the county in which the lands lie; and such judgment shall preclude all parties and privies thereto, their heirs and assigns, so long as such judgment shall remain in force.

SEC. 2779. Any party who shall have appeared to any proceedings, and the prosecuting attorney, on behalf of the state, shall have the right to prosecute an appeal or writ of error upon such judgment.

SEC. 2780. The auditor shall keep accounts of all moneys paid into the treasury, and of all lands vested in the state under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2781. If any person appear within seven years after the death of the intestate and claim any money paid into the treasury under this act as heir or legal representative, he may file a petition in the circuit court, or court having chancery jurisdiction for the county in which the estate is situate, stating the nature of his claim and praying that such money may be paid to him; a copy of which petition shall be served on the prosecuting attorney for the circuit, who shall put in an answer to the same.

SEC. 2782. The court shall examine the claim and the allegations and proofs, and, if they shall find that such person is entitled to any money so paid into the treasury, such court shall make an order directing the auditor to issue his warrant on the treasurer for the payment of the same, but without interest or costs; a copy of which order, under the seal of the court, shall be a sufficient voucher for issuing such warrant.

SEC. 2783. If any person appear and claim lands vested in the state within seven years after the death of the last person seized, such person (other than such as were served with scire facias, or appeared to the proceeding, their heirs or assigns) may file his petition in the circuit court, or court having chancery jurisdiction in the county or district where such land may lie, setting forth the nature of his demand or claim, and praying that the said estate may be relinquished to him.

SEC. 2784. A copy of which petition shall be served on the prosecuting attorney for the circuit, who shall answer; and the court shall examine the claim and allegations, together with such proof as may be adduced, and, if it appear that the person is entitled to such lands, the court shall decree accordingly, which shall divest the interest of the state in such estate; but no costs shall be adjudged against the state in such case.

SEC. 2785. All persons who fail to appear and file their petitions within the time limited shall be forever barred, except the usual saving to infants.

SEC. 2786. The general assembly may cause such estate to be sold at any time after seizure, in such manner as may be provided by law; in which case the claimants shall be entitled to the proceeds, in lieu of the real estate, upon obtaining a decree or order as aforesaid. Rev. Stat., chap. 57.

If the warrant is not for immediately bringing the witness before the court or officer, a sum shall be fixed in which the witness may give bond, with surety, for his appearance; and, if no sum is fixed by the court or officer, it shall be one hundred dollars.

SEC. 2888. The punishment for the contempt mentioned in section 2885 shall be by fine not exceeding thirty dollars, and imprisonment not exceeding twenty-four hours. But in case of the refusal of a witness to testify or be sworn, or to give a deposition, he shall continue to be imprisoned so long as he refuses; and, if the court finally adjourns before he submits, he shall remain imprisoned until next term. The final disposition of the case in which he so refuses shall discharge him from imprisonment.

SEC. 2889. A witness so imprisoned or fined by an officer before whom his deposition is being taken may apply to the circuit judge, who shall have power to discharge him if it appears that his imprisonment is illegal.

SEC. 2890. Every warrant of commitment to prison issued by a court or officer pursuant to this chapter must specify particularly the cause of commitment; and every warrant to arrest or commit a witness must be directed to the sheriff of the county where he may be, and executed in the same manner as process from the court.

SEC. 2891. A person confined in any prison in this state for any other cause than a sentence for felony may, by order of court, be required to be produced on oral examination in the county where he is imprisoned; but in all other cases his examination must be taken by deposition.

SEC. 2892. While a prisoner's deposition is being taken he shall remain under the control of the officer having him in custody, who shall afford reasonable facilities for the taking of the deposition.

SEC. 2893. A witness shall not be liable to be sued in a county in which he does not reside, by being served with a summons in such county while going, returning or attending in obedience to a subpoena. Civil Code, secs. 588-595.

(*) But see SECS. 2883, 2884; and as bearing on the question of tender of fees to witnesses in civil cases, see SEC. 2144.

SEC. 2894. Any person subpoenaed to appear before any court of record or justice of the peace, to give evidence in any case brought before such court or justice, shall attend each and every term, or from time to time, until such case shall be decided, or such witness be discharged by the court or justice trying such case. Act Jan. 2, 1845.

SEC. 2895. When any cause shall be continued on account of the absence of a witness duly summoned, and the party for whom such witness was summoned shall make affidavit stating that such absent witness is material, and that he can not safely go to trial without his testimony, the court may award a writ directed to the sheriff of the proper county, commanding him to take the body of such witness, that he appear and testify in the cause at the next term thereafter; and the clerk shall issue such writ accordingly, and state therein the day on which the cause shall be set for trial as the day of appearance.

SEC. 2896. When any writ authorized by the preceding section shall be executed, the sheriff shall discharge such witness on his entering into recognizance, which such officer is authorized to take, in any sum not less than one hundred nor more than five thousand dollars, conditioned for his appearance and due attendance according to the writ. Rev. Stat., chap. 158, secs. 14, 15.

GENERAL RULES FOR THE EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

SEC. 2897. The party who begins the case must ordinarily exhaust his evidence before the other begins. But the order of proof shall be regulated by the court, so as to expedite the trial and enable the tribunal to obtain a clear view of the whole evidence (h).

SEC. 2898. The court shall exercise a reasonable control over the mode of interrogation, so as to make it rapid, distinct, as little annoying to the witness and as effective for the extraction of the truth as may be, but subject to this control, the parties may put such legal and pertinent questions as they may see fit. The court, however, may stop the production of further evidence on a particular point when the evidence upon it is already so full as to preclude reasonable doubt.

SEC. 2899. The examination of a witness by the party producing him is the direct examination; the examination of the same witness upon the same matter by the adverse party is the cross-examination. The direct examination must be completed before the cross-examination begins, unless the court otherwise directs.

SEC. 2900. A question that suggests to the witness the answer which the examining party desires is a leading question. On the direct examination, leading questions are not allowed, except under special circumstances, making it appear that the interests of justice require it. On cross-examination, the adverse party may put leading questions; but, if he examines the witness on new matters, such examination is subject to the same rules as the direct examination.

SEC. 2901. The party producing a witness is not allowed to impeach his credit by evidence of bad character, unless it is in a case in which it was indis-

(h) It is within the discretion of the court to allow a plaintiff to introduce further evidence in chief in support of his action after the defendant has closed his testimony, and, unless the discretion is abused, it is not error. Evans & Shinn v. Rudy, 34—383.

pensible that the party should produce him ; but he may contradict him with other evidence, and by showing that he has made statements different from his present testimony.

SEC. 2902. A witness may be impeached by the party against whom he is produced, by contradictory evidence, by showing that he has made statements different from his present testimony, or by evidence that his general reputation for truth or immorality renders him unworthy of belief (i), but not by evidence of particular wrongful acts, except that it may be shown, by the examination of a witness, or record of a judgment, that he has been convicted of felony (j).

SEC. 2903. Before other evidence can be offered of the witness having made at another time a different statement, he must be inquired of concerning the same, with the circumstances of time and persons present, as correctly as the examining party can present them ; and, if it is in writing, it must be shown to the witness, and he allowed to explain it (*).

SEC. 2904. Evidence of the good character of a witness is inadmissible until his general reputation has been impeached.

SEC. 2905. A witness once examined can not be re-examined as to the same matter without leave of the court. But he may be re-examined as to any new matter upon which he has been examined by the adverse party. After the examination on both sides is concluded, the witness can not be recalled without leave of the court.

SEC. 2906. If either party require it, the judge may exclude from the court-room any witness of the adverse party not at the time under examination, so that he may not hear the testimony of the other witness (k).

SEC. 2907. A person present before a court or judicial officer may be compelled to testify in the same manner as if he were served with a subpoena.

SEC. 2908. The judge or juror may be called as a witness by either party ; but, in such cases, it is in the discretion of the court to suspend the trial and order it to take place before another judge or jury ; and where a party knows, at the time the jury are impaneled, that a juror is to be called by him as a witness, he shall then disclose it, and the juror shall be excluded from the jury.

SEC. 2909. Whenever a writing is shown to a witness, it may be inspected by the adverse party, and, if proved by the witness and allowed by the court, it must be read to the jury before his testimony is closed ; otherwise, it can not be read, unless the witness is recalled. Civil Code, secs. 649-661.

MODE OF TAKING THE TESTIMONY OF WITNESSES.

SEC. 2910. The testimony of witnesses is taken in three modes :

First. By affidavit.

Second. By deposition.

Third. By oral examination.

(i) The credibility of a witness, though his character for truth be impeached, is a question for the jury. Mize v. State, 36—653. See Lawson v. State, 32—220.

(j) A witness can not be impeached nor his testimony impaired by proving that he has been indicted for larceny. Anderson v. State, 34—257.

(*) See Griffith v. State, 37—324.

(k) A party who becomes a witness in a suit may be put under rule as other witnesses. Randolph v. McCain, 34—696.

SEC. 2911. An affidavit is a written declaration under oath, made without notice to the adverse party.

SEC. 2912. A deposition is a written declaration under oath, made upon notice to the adverse party, for the purpose of enabling him to attend and cross-examine; or, upon written interrogatories.

SEC. 2913. An oral examination is an examination in the presence of the tribunal which is to decide the fact, or to act upon it, the testimony being heard by the tribunal from the lips of the witness.

AFFIDAVIT.

SEC. 2914. An affidavit may be read to verify a pleading, to prove the service of a summons, notice or other process in an action, to obtain a provisional remedy, a stay of proceedings or a warning order, or upon a motion, and in any other case permitted by law. Civil Code, secs. 596-600.

SEC. 2915. In suits upon accounts, the affidavit of the plaintiff, duly taken and certified according to law that such account is just and correct, shall be sufficient to establish the same, unless the defendant shall, under oath, deny the correctness of the account, either in whole or in part; in which case the plaintiff shall be held to prove such part of his account as is thus denied by other evidence. Act March 5, 1867, sec. 1.

SEC. 2916. Where a provisional remedy is granted upon an affidavit, and a motion is made to discharge or vacate it, the party against whom it is granted may, by written notice to the party by whom it was obtained, or by an order or rule of the court, require the production of the person who made the affidavit for cross-examination; whereupon the party notified shall produce the affiant, within ten days, before an officer authorized to take depositions, at the time and place of which he shall give the adverse party three days' notice. If the affiant is not produced, his affidavit shall be suppressed; and, if produced, he may be examined by either party.

SEC. 2917. An affidavit may be made out of this state before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state to take depositions, or before a judge of a court, mayor of a city, notary public, or justice of the peace, whose certificate shall be proof of the time and manner of its being made.

SEC. 2918. An affidavit may be made in this state before a judge of the court, justice of the peace, notary public or clerk of a court. Civil Code, secs. 601-603.

SEC. 2919. Every affidavit shall be subscribed (1) by the affiant, and the certificate of the officer before whom it is made shall be written separately, following the signature of the affiant. Ib., sec. 605.

DEPOSITIONS, MAY BE USED, WHEN.

SEC. 2920. Depositions may be used on the trial of all issues, and upon all motions in actions by equitable proceedings, except where the court otherwise directs on an issue tried by a jury.

(1) The requirement that the affidavit shall be subscribed by the affiant is merely directory. Gill v. Ward, 23-16; Mahan v. Owen, Ib., 347.

SEC. 2921. They may be used on the trial of all issues in any action in the following cases:

First. Where the witness does not reside in the county where the action is pending, or in an adjoining county, or is absent from the state, or is in the military service of the United States, or of this state.

Second. Where the witness is the governor, secretary of state, auditor or treasurer of this state, a judge or clerk of a court, a president, cashier, teller or clerk of a bank, a practicing physician, surgeon, or lawyer, or keeper, officer or guard of the penitentiary.

Third. Where, from age, infirmity or imprisonment, the witness is unable to attend court, or is dead.

Fourth. Where the witness resides thirty or more miles from the place where the court sits in which the action is pending, unless the witness is in attendance on the court.

SEC. 2922. A witness shall not be compelled to attend in court for oral examination where his deposition may be used, unless he has failed, when duly summoned, to appear and give his deposition.

SEC. 2923. Where it is made to appear, by the affidavit of the party and the written statement of his attorney, that the testimony of a witness is important, and that the just and proper effect of his testimony can not, in a reasonable degree, be obtained without an oral examination before the jury, the court may, at its discretion, order the personal attendance of the witness to be compelled, although such witness may otherwise be exempt from personal attendance by law.

SEC. 2924. The plaintiff may commence taking depositions immediately after the service of the summons, and the defendant after filing his answer.

SEC. 2925. A party may take the deposition of any witness de bene esse, which may be used under the circumstances prescribed in section 2921. Ib., secs. 606-611.

Officers Authorized to Take.

SEC. 2926. Depositions taken in this state may be taken before any judge or clerk of a court of record, a justice of the peace, mayor of a city or notary public. Depositions may be taken out of this state before a commissioner appointed by the governor thereof, a judge of a court, a justice of the peace, mayor of a city, notary public or any person empowered by a commission, directed to him by consent of the parties, or by order of the court. Ib., sec. 621, as amended by act Dec. 18, 1874.

SEC. 2927. The official character of any judge, justice of the peace or other judicial officer before whom any deposition may be taken within any of the United States or territories thereof, authenticated and proved by the certificate and seal of the clerk of any court of record within any county of the state or territory where such officer resides, certifying that such officer was an acting judge or justice of the peace, and duly commissioned as such at the time when the deposition was taken, shall be a sufficient authentication (m).

SEC. 2928. No such certificate shall be required to the official character of the officer before whom depositions may be taken within this state.

(m) See Smith v. Van Gilder, 26—527.

SEC. 2929. The official character of any such officer, taking depositions without the limits of the United States, shall be attested by the seal of state of the government in which the depositions or examinations were taken. Rev. Stat., chap. 48, secs. 16-17.

May be Taken Upon Notice.

SEC. 2930. Depositions shall be taken upon reasonable notice to the adverse party, or upon interrogatories.

SEC. 2931. The notice must be in writing, signed by the party giving it or his attorney, addressed to the party on whom it is to be served, and specify the time and place of taking the deposition and the action or proceeding in which it is to be used. Civil Code, secs. 622-623.

SEC. 2932. Where the notice is to be given to the adverse party, it may be served as the summons in the action is authorized to be served. Ib., sec. 624, as amended 1871.

SEC. 2933. If neither the adverse party nor his attorney of record (n) reside in the county where the suit is pending, the putting of such notice in the office of the clerk of such court shall be a sufficient notice. Ib.

SEC. 2934. A notice shall be deemed reasonable that allows one day for each thirty miles of distance which the party will have to travel, and one day for preparation where the distance is less than one hundred miles, and two days where it is more.

SEC. 2935. Where the distance exceeds fifty miles, and the usual mode of travel for the whole or part of the distance is by steamboat, railroad cars or other public conveyance, the time ordinarily required by such mode of travel, with the days given for preparation, shall be deemed sufficient in the notice.

SEC. 2936. When the distance is less than thirty miles, a notice which gives to the party a reasonable opportunity to be present shall be sufficient.

SEC. 2937. Where a notice has been given to take a deposition at the office of a person authorized to take the same, but the attendance of the witness can not be procured, owing to his age, infirmity or imprisonment, the taking of the deposition may be adjourned to the next day and to some other convenient place, a written notice of which shall be posted upon the front door of said office before noon of the day on which the deposition was to have been taken.

SEC. 2938. Where a notice has been given to take a deposition at the office of a person authorized to take the same, but, from any cause not mentioned in the last section, the deposition can not be taken at that office, an adjournment to the nearest convenient place shall be made, a written notice of which shall be posted upon the front door of said office for one hour before the deposition is commenced at the place to which the adjournment is made.

SEC. 2939. Where an adjournment has been made pursuant to either of the last two sections, an affidavit as to the cause thereof, with a copy of the notice, certified by the sheriff, constable or officer authorized to take the deposition, or sworn by a private person to have been posted upon the door as therein directed, shall accompany the deposition.

(n) Notices required in the progress of an action may be given to the party or his attorney. SEC. 5212, and see SEC. 2942.

SEC. 2940. A party to whom more than three days' notice to take a deposition out of the state is given, may, by notice to the adverse party or his attorney, served in one day after the service of the first notice, require the deposition to be taken upon interrogatories.

When and How Taken Upon Commission and Interrogatories.

SEC. 2941. The court, on motion of either party, may permit depositions to be taken upon interrogatories:

First. Where the ascertainment of a fact or the stating of an account is referred to a commissioner.

Second. Where the party against whom the depositions are to be read is absent from the state and has not appointed an agent or attorney in the county where the action is pending known to the party taking the deposition.

Third. Where the parties against whom the deposition is to be read are numerous and have not designated agents or attorneys residing in the county on whom notice may be served.

Fourth. In cases where an infant, lunatic or married woman is a party by the consent of the guardian or husband.

SEC. 2942. The interrogatories shall be filed in the clerk's office; and if the adverse party, his agent or attorney, resides in the same county, notice thereof shall be given to either of them; and, while they remain in the clerk's office, the adverse party may file cross-interrogatories. If cross-interrogatories are not filed, the clerk shall file the following:

First. Are you directly or indirectly interested in this action? and, if interested, explain the interest you have.

Second. Are all your statements in the foregoing answers made from your own personal knowledge? and, if not, do your answers show what are made from your personal knowledge, and what from information, and the source of that information?

Third. State every thing you know concerning the subject of this action favorable to either party.

SEC. 2943. The interrogatories shall remain in the clerk's office fifteen days; or, if notice is served as provided in the last section, ten days after service, unless the cross-interrogatories are sooner filed.

SEC. 2944. After remaining the due length of time in the clerk's office, one or more commissions, at the request of the party, shall be issued by the clerk, with copies of the interrogatories and cross-interrogatories annexed, authorizing the person to whom it may be directed to examine the witnesses on them, which commission may be directed, generally, "to any officer authorized to take depositions, in or out of this state." Civil Code, secs. 625-633.

SEC. 2945. Where a deposition is taken upon interrogatories, neither party, nor his agent or attorney, shall be present at the examination of the witness unless both parties are present or represented by an agent or attorney, or unless the opposite party, or his agent or attorney, has been seasonably notified of the time and place of taking the depositions, or the party attending has been notified by the opposite party to attend. Ib., sec. 637.

Duty of Officer Taking; Certificate, Etc.

SEC. 2946. Upon filing with an officer authorized to take depositions, a notice duly served, or a commission, with interrogatories, to take a deposition, it shall be the duty of such officer to issue his subpoena, requiring the witness whose deposition is required to appear, at a time and place to be named in the subpoena, for examination; and, if the witness fail to attend after being duly summoned, the officer may issue his warrant for arresting and bringing the witness before him to give testimony, and answer for the contempt of disobedience of the subpoena.

SEC. 2947. The officer before whom the deposition is taken shall decide, summarily, all objections to questions; but, in matters of doubt, shall permit the questions to be answered, noting the objection in the deposition. He shall have power to prevent insulting questions being put to a witness, and to stop a course of interrogation pursued unreasonably long, and for mere vexation and delay.

SEC. 2948. The statement of the witness must be written in the presence of the officer taking it, either by the witness or the officer. Ib., secs. 634-636.

SEC. 2949. The certificate of the officer shall state the time and place of taking the deposition; that the witness was duly sworn before he gave his testimony, and that his testimony was written, read to and subscribed by him in the presence of the officer; and also state by whom it was written, and which of the parties, in person, or by agent or attorney, was present at the examination of the witness (o).

SEC. 2950. When the depositions are completed, they shall be sealed up by the officer, and directed to the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, with a note showing them to be depositions and the style of the case in which they were taken, and either delivered to the clerk or mailed to him by the officer taking them. Depositions taken out of the state, sealed and directed as above provided, may be delivered to the party taking the same, his agent or attorney, who may deliver them in the same manner and with the same effect as if delivered by the officer taking them. Provided, that the person or persons conveying or delivering the depositions take an oath that the same have not been opened by him, or by any other person, to his knowledge or belief. Provided, further, that when the depositions are taken before an officer of the county in which the action is pending, they may be delivered by such officer to the clerk or justice without being sealed or directed. Ib., secs. 638, 639.

SEC. 2951. All exhibits produced to the officer taking such depositions, when proved or referred to by any witness, together with the commission and interrogatories, if any, shall be sealed up with the depositions. Rev. Stat., chap. 48; sec. 18.

SEC. 2952. When the officer taking depositions shall, in his certificate, state the place of residence of the witness, such statement shall be prima facie evidence of the fact. Ib., sec. 20.

(o) There is no error in allowing an officer to amend his certificate of the taking of depositions, so as to conform to the facts, after it is filed in court. Conger v. Cotton, 37-286.

Publication of and Exceptions to.

SEC. 2953. All depositions shall be opened and published by the clerk at the time they are filed in his office, and no deposition shall be read on a trial unless before the commencement thereof it was filed with the papers of the case.

SEC. 2954. Exceptions to depositions shall be in writing, specifying the grounds of objection, filed with the papers of the case, and noted on the record.

SEC. 2955. No exception, other than to the competency of the witness, or to the relevancy or competency of the testimony, shall be regarded, unless filed and noted on the record before the commencement of the trial.

SEC. 2956. The court, on the motion of either party, shall decide upon the exceptions before the commencement of the trial.

SEC. 2957. Errors of the court, in its decisions upon exceptions to depositions, are waived, unless excepted to.

SEC. 2958. When the trial is by jury, the opening of the case to the jury shall be deemed the commencement thereof. Civil Code, secs. 642-647.

To be Used in Other States.

SEC. 2959. A party desiring to take depositions in this state, to be used in judicial proceedings in other states, may produce to a judge, justice of the peace or other officer authorized to take depositions in the county where the witnesses reside, a commission authorizing the taking of such depositions on a notice duly served; whereupon, it shall be the duty of the officer to issue a subpoena requiring the witnesses to attend at a specified time and place for examination; and, in case of their failure to attend or refusal to be sworn or to testify, they may be punished as provided in section 2888. Ib., sec. 648, and Rev. Stat., chap. 48, sec. 14.

PERPETUATION OF EVIDENCE.

SEC. 2960. A person desiring to perpetuate the testimony of a witness may present to the judge of the circuit court of the county in which the adverse party resides, or, if he be a non-resident, then of the county in which the petitioner resides, a petition, subscribed by the petitioner and verified by his affidavit, to the effect that he believes the statements thereof are true, stating:

First. That the petitioner expects to be a party to an action in a court of this state; also, the name, if known, of the adverse party, whether or not he is a resident of this state, and whether or not of full age.

Second. That the evidence of a witness, whose name and residence, together with the facts generally expected to be proved, shall be stated, is believed by the petitioner to be material for him.

Third. The obstacles preventing the action being immediately brought where the petitioner expects to be plaintiff.

SEC. 2961. The judge may thereupon, in his discretion, make an order for the examination of the witness, stating in said order the time and place and manner of taking said deposition, which petition and order shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the proper county; and, when the adverse party is a resident of this state, and has not been absent therefrom four months, said clerk shall issue a summons as in other cases.

SEC. 2962. If the adverse party be an infant, non-resident, or unknown, or has been absent from the state four months, the judge may order a guardian ad litem and attorney to be appointed to defend and cross-examine for the adverse party, and warning orders to be made, subject to all the rules and regulations in regard to the appointment of guardians ad litem and attorneys and the making of warning orders in other cases; and, where the foregoing provisions have been complied with, the petitioner may proceed to take the deposition of the witness in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 2963. The party seeking to perpetuate the testimony shall pay all costs incurred.

SEC. 2964. The deposition, when completed, together with the affidavits, order, notice and proof of service, shall be filed in the clerk's office of the proper county.

SEC. 2965. In the event of a trial between the persons named in the affidavit as expected parties, or their successors in interest, the deposition, taken as above prescribed, may be read by either party, where the witness is dead or insane, or, if alive and of sound mind, where his attendance for oral examination can not be required; and every part of it shall be subject to like objections as if taken pending the action.

SEC. 2966. Where the trial is not in the circuit court of the county in which the deposition is filed, a certified copy of it and of the affidavit, order, notice and proof of service may be read as evidence. Civil Code, secs. 666-671.

EXECUTION DEFENDANT MAY SELECT PROPERTY TO BE LEVIED ON.

SEC. 3005. CLAIM AND ASCERTAINMENT OF EXEMPTED PROPERTY.

SEC. 3006. Whenever any resident of this state shall, upon the issue against him for the collection of any debt by contract of any execution or other process, of any attachment except specific attachment, against his property, desire to claim any of the exemptions provided for in article IX of the constitution of this state, he shall prepare a schedule, verified by affidavit, of all his property, including moneys, rights, credits and choses in action held by himself or others for him, and specifying the particular property which he claims as exempt under the provisions of said article, and after giving five days' notice, in writing, to the opposite party, his agent or attorney, shall file the same with the justice or clerk issuing such execution or other process or attachment; and the said justice or clerk shall thereupon issue a supersedeas staying any sale or further proceeding under such execution, or process, or attachment, against the property in such schedule described and claimed as exempted, and by returning the property to the defendant (g). Provided, that an appeal may be taken to the circuit court from any order or judgment rendered by the justice of the peace upon the filing of the affidavit and executing the bond required in other cases of appeal.

SEC. 3007. Upon application to such justice or clerk by the plaintiff in whose favor such execution, or process, or attachment, shall have been issued, the justice or clerk, as the case may be, shall forthwith appoint three disinterested appraisers, to be summoned and sworn by the officer levying the attachment, execution or process, who shall proceed at once to appraise the property so claimed as exempt, and the appraisement, signed by a majority of the appraisers, shall be returned with the writ.

SEC. 3008. If a majority of the appraisers shall decide that the full amount of the property in such schedule described and claimed as exempted is within the limit of valuation prescribed by the constitution, then the officer levying such attachment or execution, or enforcing other process, shall surrender the same to the defendant, and the costs of the proceeding shall be paid by the plaintiff making application for the appraisement. Act March 28, 1871, sec. 1, as amended by act March 9, 1877.

(g) Defendant must file a proper schedule and see that a supersedeas is issued. Healy v. Conner, 40—352.

A schedule of property which does not claim it as exempt, nor show that the party filing it is a resident of the state, is fatally defective, and will not protect the property from sale. Guise v. State, 41—249.

As to when supersedeas should be quashed, see Patrick v. Baxter, 42—175.

SEC. 3009. If the decision shall be that the property described exceeds in value the amount exempted by the constitution, then the justice or clerk shall revoke the supersedeas so far as concerns such items of the property described as the said appraisers may designate as in excess of the amount of exemption by the constitution provided for; and the costs of the proceeding shall be paid by the defendant in the action.

SEC. 3010. Said appraisers shall each receive as compensation for their services the sum of three dollars per day for each day's service rendered, not to exceed two days, such amount to be taxed in the costs of the proceeding.

SEC. 3011. When the schedule above provided for shall have been filed, the provisions of section 3021 shall not be considered as applying to the case of the execution or other final process stayed.

SEC. 3012. No indemnifying bond shall be received by the officer levying such execution or enforcing such final process; and if any officer shall, under the pretext of having received such a bond, undertake to sell the property in such schedule described, he shall be deemed guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, be imprisoned in the county jail for a term of not less than one month nor to exceed two months, and shall be fined in a sum not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, and shall furthermore be liable upon his official bond to the defendant in twice the amount of damages by such defendant incurred. Ib., secs. 1-3.

SEC. 3013. Either party shall have the right to appeal from the decision of the board of appraisers hereinbefore provided for; if the said board shall have been appointed by a justice of the peace, then the appeal shall be to the circuit court of the county upon presentation of a transcript, duly certified, of the attachment, execution or other process issued, and of the decision of the appraisers; if by the clerk of a court, then to the court by the clerk of which the board was appointed. Ib., sec. 4, as amended by act March 9, 1877.

PROCEEDINGS WHERE EXECUTION IS LEVIED ON PARTNERSHIP PROPERTY.

SEC. 3014. Whenever a sheriff or other officer shall levy an execution upon property or effects held jointly or in partnership by the debtor in the execution with others, to satisfy the separate debt of such debtor, the sheriff or other officer shall not proceed to make sale thereof, except as hereinafter provided, if the person or persons, or any of them holding such joint or partnership interest with the debtor, shall assert an equitable or other claim thereto, and, in writing, notify the officer of the existence of such claim.

SEC. 3015. Where any such levy is made, the officer shall give notice thereof, in writing, to the other joint owners or partners, if resident in his county, or to the agent, if any, of any such joint owners or partners who are absent or non-resident; and, if such joint owners or partners shall thereafter, for the space of fifteen days, fail to give the officers notice of their claim, the officer shall then proceed to advertise and sell the property so levied upon.

SEC. 3016. When a claim is asserted by the joint owners or partners to the property levied upon, the officer shall not, by virtue of his levy, deprive the joint owners or partners of the possession of the property levied upon, except for the purpose of making an inventory thereof, and having the same appraised.

SEC. 3017. The officer shall proceed to have the property levied upon appraised, as provided in section 3043. He shall return the inventory and appraisement, with the execution, to the office from which it issued; and, in his return, shall state all the facts connected with the levy by him, and the claims, if any, set up by the joint owner or owners.

SEC. 3018. The execution creditor shall have a lien upon the property levied upon, such as is given by law to executions in the hands of the officer, and which shall continue until the levy is disposed of.

SEC. 3019. Upon the execution being returned by the officer that he had levied the same upon the property in which the debtor was joint owner or partner, and that the same was claimed by the other joint owners or partners, the execution creditor may proceed by equitable proceedings to subject, to the satisfaction of his execution, the interest of the debtor so levied upon.

SEC. 3020. If such creditor, at the commencement of his action, or afterward, shall file an affidavit that he verily believes that the property levied upon will be removed from the county, or sold, or otherwise disposed of, with intent fraudulently to defeat his lien, the court, or judge thereof in vacation, or, if within the jurisdiction of a magistrate, then a justice of the peace, may make an order directing the officer to possess himself of the property so levied upon, unless bond, with approved security, shall be executed to the plaintiff in the execution, binding the obligors in the said bond to have the same forthcoming, in obedience to any order or judgment of the court in the action, which bond shall be taken by the officer and returned by him to the court in which the action is pending. Civil Code, secs. 742-748.

INDEMNIFYING BOND.

SEC. 3021. If an officer who levies, or is required to levy, an execution upon personal property, doubts whether it is subject to execution, he may give to the plaintiff therein, or his agent or attorney, notice that an indemnifying bond is required. Bond may, thereupon, be given by or for the plaintiff, with one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the officer, to the effect that the obligors therein will indemnify him against the damage he may sustain in consequence of the seizure or sale of the property, and will pay to any claimant thereof the damages he may sustain in consequence of the seizure or sale, and will warrant to any purchaser of the property such estate or interest therein as is sold; and, thereupon, the officer shall proceed to subject the property to the execution, and shall return the indemnifying bond to the circuit court of the county from which the execution issued.

SEC. 3022. If the bond mentioned in the last section is not given, the officer may refuse to levy the execution; or, if it had been levied, and the bond is not given in a reasonable time after it is required by the officer, he may restore the property to the person from whose possession it was taken, and the levy shall stand discharged.

SEC. 3023. Where property, for the sale of which the officer is indemnified, sells for more than enough to satisfy the execution under which it was taken, the surplus shall be paid into the court to which the indemnifying bond is directed to be returned. That court may order such disposition or payment of the money to be made temporarily or absolutely as may be proper in respect to the rights of the parties interested.

SEC. 3024. The claimant or purchaser of any property, for the seizure or sale of which an indemnifying bond has been taken and returned by the officer, shall be barred of any action against the officer levying upon the property, if the surety was good when it was taken. And such claimant or purchaser may maintain an action upon the bond, and recover such damages as he may be entitled to. Ib., secs. 723-726.

STAY.

Of Judgment (h).

SEC. 3025. The defendants, except in the cases herein otherwise provided (i), may, when there is no execution thereon in the hands of a collecting officer, stay any judgment or decree for money, for three months, before the clerk of the court entering up the judgment or decree, by giving an obligation, with good surety, to be approved by such officer, in substance, as follows:

"This day the defendant, A. B., together with C. D., his surety, came before me, as clerk of the circuit court, and undertook that they would satisfy and pay E. F. his judgment, including interest (if any) and costs, amounting to ———, rendered in his favor against the said A. B. by this court, within three months, with legal interest on the whole amount thereof from this date." Ib., sec. 676.

Of Execution in Hands of Officer.

SEC. 3026. Any execution on a judgment or decree which could be stayed before such execution issued may, at any time before a sale of property under the same, be stayed for three months, by the defendant giving to the officer (j) acting under the same an obligation payable to the plaintiff, with good security, for the amount thereof, including interest, costs and half commission up to that time. The obligation may be in substance as follows:

"We, A. B., principal, and E. F., surety, do bind ourselves, three months after the date hereof, to pay C. D., the plaintiff in execution, the sum of ——— dollars, to bear interest from this date, being the amount of an execution which issued from the clerk's office of the ——— circuit court, on the ——— day of ——— 18—, in favor of the said C. D., for the sum of ——— dollars debt (or damages), ——— dollars interest, ——— dollars costs of suit, ——— dollars sheriff's half commission, amounting in the whole to the sum of ——— dollars aforesaid, against the said A. B.; and we, the said A. B. and E. F., his surety, have hereby stayed the same.

"Witness our hands this ——— day of ———, 18—."

SEC. 3027. An agreement to waive the right of stay, or any other legal agreement in relation to any judgment or decree, entered on the record among the orders of the court, shall be specifically enforced. In such case the proper indorsement shall be entered upon the execution by the clerk or justice.

SEC. 3028. No stay shall be allowed upon a judgment or decree against any collecting officer or attorney at law, or agent for a delinquency or default in executing or fulfilling the duties of his office or place, or failing to pay over money collected by him in such capacity, or against a principal by his surety, or of a debt due by obligation having the force of a judgment, or of a judgment or decree for specific property, or for the property or its value, or a judgment or decree enforcing a lien in favor of a vendor or mortgagee. In the cases mentioned in this section in which a stay is not allowed, the execution shall be so indorsed by the clerk. Civil Code, secs. 677-679.

(h) The provisions of this chapter relating to stay of executions do not apply to justices' courts. For time and manner of staying execution upon judgment rendered by a justice, see SECS. 4088-4098.

FORTHCOMING BOND.

SEC. 3029. The owner of personal estate taken in execution may give to the officer levying on the same an obligation, with good surety, to have the property forthcoming at the time and place of sale, specifying therein each article of property and its value. The obligation may be in substance as follows:

"We, A. B., principal, and C. D., surety, do bind ourselves that the property mentioned in the following schedule and valuation, to wit: valued at ——— dollars (naming each article and its value), shall be forthcoming at ———, on the ——— day of ——— next, at the hour of twelve o'clock in the day.

"Witness our hands this ——— day of ———, 18—."

SEC. 3030. Upon the giving of such obligation the officer shall return the possession of the property so taken in execution to the defendant, to remain with him, at his own risk and expense, until the time specified for its delivery.

SEC. 3031. If the defendant shall fail to pay or stay the amount of the execution, and shall fail to deliver so much of the property specified in the forthcoming obligation, or other property in its place, as is sufficient to satisfy the execution and all costs and commissions, the officer shall return the execution and bond to the office whence the former issued, and indorse on the execution the levy, the giving of the bond, and the particular property which is not forthcoming, and the other facts.

SEC. 3032. The surety therein shall be liable only for the value of the property specified in the bond which is not forthcoming, with interest thereon from the date of the bond, and accruing costs.

SEC. 3033. If the property specified in the forthcoming bond is not of value sufficient to satisfy the execution and all costs and commissions, the proper officer may issue another execution, and credit the same with the value of the property specified in the bond.

SEC. 3034. An officer taking a forthcoming bond, who shall fail to return the same to the proper officer for twenty days after the failure to comply on the part of the defendant, shall, with his sureties, be liable to the plaintiff for the amount of the execution, costs and commission, and twenty per cent. thereon, to be recovered by action against any one or more of them, or their representatives. Civil Code, secs. 680-682.

BONDS HAVING THE EFFECT OF JUDGMENTS.

SEC. 3035. Every bond taken on the sale of property, under an order or decree in chancery, or on the sale of property under execution, and every stay bond and forthcoming bond shall be signed by the principal and sureties, and attested by the person taking the same, or some one in his presence.

SEC. 3036. A bond so taken shall be returned to the proper officer, with the report of the acts of the person taking it; and, if taken under execution, the latter must be returned with the bond.

SEC. 3037. All such bonds shall have the force and effect of a judgment, and on which an execution may issue, which execution shall be indorsed that no surety of any kind is to be taken.

SEC. 3038. The officer taking any of the bonds aforesaid, and his sureties, or their representatives, shall be jointly and severally liable to the person injured for any damages he may sustain by such officer failing to discharge his duty in the taking of such bond.

SEC. 3039. If one of several obligors or obligees in a bond having the force and effect of a judgment shall die before the same is satisfied, execution may issue on such bond in the name of the surviving obligees against the obligors or the survivor.

SEC. 3040. When all the obligees in such bond as is specified in the preceding section shall die, their personal representatives may, if such bond is not satisfied, sue out execution thereon, after its maturity, against the obligors, or if they are all dead, against their personal representatives; or, if only part be dead, against the survivor and the personal representatives of the deceased.

SEC. 3041. When a bond having the force and effect of a judgment is quashed, a new execution may issue on the original judgment at the instance of the plaintiff, in the same manner as if such bond had never been given. Civil Code, secs. 685-689.

ANY PERSON CLAIMING THE PROPERTY MAY GIVE BOND—PROCEEDINGS (k).

SEC. 3042. The sale of personal property upon which an execution is levied shall be suspended at the instance of any person, other than the defendant in the execution, claiming the property, who shall execute, with one or more sureties, sufficient for double its value, a bond to the plaintiff in the execution, to the effect that, if it shall be adjudged that the property, or any part of it, is subject to the execution, he will pay to the plaintiff the value of the property so subject, and ten per cent. thereon, not exceeding the amount due on the execution, and ten per cent. thereon.

SEC. 3043. For the purpose of taking the bond mentioned in the last section, the officer shall select three disinterested house-keepers, and administer to them an oath to make a fair appraisalment of each article of the property, whose appraisalment, in writing, shall be recited in the bond.

SEC. 3044. The bond, with the appraisalment annexed thereto, shall be returned to the circuit court of the county in which the levy was made.

(k) This proceeding does not apply to executions issued by justices of the peace. SEC. 4122.

SEC. 3045. The party to whom the bond is executed may move the court to which it is returned for a judgment thereon against all or any of the obligors, or their representatives, having given to them ten days' notice of the motion. The court shall direct a jury to be impaneled, and may cause such issues to be tried as it may prescribe, and direct which party shall be considered plaintiff in the issue. If the property, or any part of it, is found subject to the execution, judgment shall be rendered in favor of the plaintiff therein for the value of the property so subject, and ten per cent. thereon, not exceeding the amount due on the execution, and ten per cent. thereon. An execution may be issued upon the judgment forthwith, on which the same indorsement shall be made as on the execution in virtue of which the property had been seized.

SEC. 3046. Upon the trial of the motion, either party may object that the property was not fairly appraised; and, thereupon, the jury trying the facts shall hear evidence respecting, and find the value of, the property.

SEC. 3047. The giving of the bond mentioned in section 3042 shall not discharge the levy of the execution upon the property claimed. But the officer may leave it, subject to the lien of the levy, with the person in whose possession it was found, pending the proceeding on the bond, and may, in the meantime, proceed with the execution against any other property of the defendant. Ib., secs. 727-732.

HOURS OF JUDICIAL SALES.

SEC. 3048. All property taken in execution by any officer shall be exposed to sale on the day for which it was advertised, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and three o'clock in the afternoon, publicly, by auction, for ready money, except when otherwise provided by law (1), and the highest bidder shall be the purchaser. Rev. Stat., chap. 60, sec. 48.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE (m).

SEC. 3049. The time and place of sale of real property upon execution, or by virtue of a judgment or order of sale, must be advertised for at least twenty days next before the day of sale, by posting printed advertisements at the court-house door and five other public places in the county in which the sale is to be made, one of which is to be upon the premises to be sold, and by publishing the same for at least two insertions before the day of sale in a weekly newspaper published in the county, if one there be.

(1) As to sale under execution from a justice's court, see SEC. 4115. As to sales made by order of court, see SEC. 5171. As to sales under mortgages, see SECs. 4759-4763.

All sales made by order of court must be on a credit. Welch v. Hicks, 27-292.

(m) Mistake in advertisement will not avoid the sale as against an innocent purchaser. Files v. Harbison, 21-307. Nor will the want of an advertisement. Newton v. State Bank, 22-19; Youngblood v. Cunningham, 38-571. When plaintiff buys he is not an innocent purchaser. Hill v. Coolidge, 33-621; Williams v. Melroy, 34-85.

For irregularities the sale may be set aside. Files v. Harbison, 29-307. Mere inadequacy of price will not invalidate the sale. Newton v. State Bank, 22-19; Pindall v. Trevor, 30-249. Where there has been no fair competition, equity will annul the sale. Bennett v. Hutson, 33-762. The practice of selling lands under execution that have been fraudulently conveyed should not be encouraged. Apperson v. Burgett, Ib., 328. The sheriff need not sell in forty-acre tracts unless so directed. Field v. Dortch, 34-399; Youngblood v. Cunningham, 38-571; Randolph v. Thomas, 23-69. One who induces another to purchase his land under execution can not afterward allege irregularities in the sale. Youngblood v. Cunningham, 38-571; Turner v. Watkins, 31-429. A sale after the return day is void. Hightower v. Handlen, 27-20. And so when the execution is for much more than is due on the judgment. Ib.

SEC. 3050. The sale of real estate shall be made at the court-house door, unless, at the request of the defendant who owns the land, the officer shall appoint the sale upon the premises.

SEC. 3051. Where there has been one failure to sell for want of bidders, the officer may appoint the sale at the court-house door, or on the premises, as he shall deem most likely to secure a fair sale. Civil Code, sec. 690.

SEC. 3052. In all sales of real estate under execution, when the tract or tracts to be sold contain more than forty acres, the same shall be divided, as the owner or owners may direct, into lots containing not more than forty nor less than twenty acres; and the officer whose duty it may be to sell said property shall begin at one corner of said real estate, to be designated in the notice published by him advertising said sale, and proceed to sell in such tracts of not more than forty nor less than twenty acres each, of contiguous territory, until the whole of said tract or tracts be disposed of, unless the execution shall be sooner satisfied.

SEC. 3053. In all cases where the corner at which the sale is to commence has not been designated in accordance with the preceding section, the officer whose duty it may be to sell said tract or tracts of land shall commence at the north-east corner. Act July 18, 1868.

Certificate of Purchase.

SEC. 3054. The sheriff shall give the purchaser of any real property sold upon execution a certificate of sale, in which the property sold shall be described, and the price for which it sold stated. Such certificate shall be evidence of the purchase at the price stated, and the officer shall return a duplicate thereof with the execution. No conveyance shall be made to the purchaser, nor the possession delivered to him, until the time for redeeming has expired; and, if said property is redeemed by the defendant, as provided in this chapter, the sale and certificate of purchase shall be null and void. Civil Code, sec. 693.

SALES OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

SEC. 3055. The time and place of sale of personal property shall be advertised for at least ten days, by posting written or printed notices at three of the most public places in the vicinity of the place of sale. Rev. Stat., chap. 60, sec. 36, and Civil Code, sec. 690.

WHEN SALES TO BE MADE ON CREDIT (n).

SEC. 3056. In all cases where the right to stay the execution exists and is not exercised, sales under the execution shall be on a credit of three months, upon the purchaser giving bond and good security to the plaintiff in the execution for the payment of the sale money, bearing interest from date. The bond may be in substance as follows:

"A. B., principal, and C. D., surety, do bind ourselves to pay E. F., within three months from the date hereof, the sum of —— dollars, with interest thereon from this date, being the purchase money (here set out the several articles of property so purchased, with the price of each), which was this day sold by G. H., sheriff of ——— county, in satisfaction of an execution which issued from the office of the clerk of the ——— circuit court, on the ——— day of ———, in favor of the said E. F., against M. O., for the sum of ——— dollars debt (or damages), with interest and costs.

“Given under our hands this ——— day of ———, 18—” (o).

SEC. 3057. When property sold on a credit shall sell for more than will satisfy the execution, costs and commission, the officer making the sale shall take a bond, payable to the defendant, the owner of the property, for the excess, similar in every other respect to that directed in the preceding section, to be taken to the plaintiff, and to have like force and effect, and on which the like proceedings may be had. If the property is sold for cash in hand, any excess over satisfying the execution, and charges and commissions, shall be paid over by the officer to the defendant whose property is sold. Civil Code, secs. 683, 684.

BIDDER FAILING TO PAY—PROCEEDINGS.

SEC. 3058. If any person shall refuse to pay the amount bid for any property struck off to him, the officer making the sale may again sell such property to the highest bidder, and, if any loss shall be occasioned thereby, the officer may recover such loss by motion before any court or justice of the peace.

SEC. 3059. Such court or justice shall proceed in a summary manner, and give judgment and award execution therefor forthwith; and the same proceedings may be had against any subsequent purchaser who shall refuse to pay, and the officer may forever thereafter refuse the bid of the person so refusing to pay for property purchased by him. Rev. Stat., chap. 60, secs. 49–50.

OFFICERS AND DEPUTIES NOT TO BID.

SEC. 3060. No officer to whom any execution may be directed, or any of his deputies, or any person for them, shall purchase any real estate, goods and chattels or other effects, at any sale made by virtue of any such execution; and all purchases so made shall be void. Rev. Stat., chap. 60, sec. 51.

LIABILITY OF OFFICER FAILING TO EXECUTE, ETC.

SEC. 3061. If any officer to whom any execution shall be delivered shall neglect or refuse to execute or levy the same according to law, or shall take in execution any property, or if any property be delivered to him by any person against whom an execution may have been issued, and such officer shall neglect or refuse to make sale of the property so taken or delivered according to law, or if any such officer shall not return any such execution on or before the return day therein specified, or shall make a false return thereof, then, and in any of the cases aforesaid, each officer shall be liable and bound to pay the whole amount of money in such execution specified, or thereon indorsed and directed to be levied; and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court from which any execution may be issued to indorse thereon the time when such execution was returned. Id., sec. 62.

(o) This section does not apply to sales made by constables on executions issued from a justice. SEC. 4115.

SEC. 3062. If such officer shall not, on the return of any execution, or at the time the same ought to be returned, have the money which he may have become liable to pay as aforesaid, and pay the same over according to the command of the writ, any person aggrieved thereby may have his action against the officer and his securities upon his official bond. Ib., sec. 63.

SEC. 3063. If any officer sell any property under any execution, whether he received payment therefor or not, or shall make the money in any execution specified or thereon indorsed, and directed to be levied, or on any part thereof, and shall not have the amount of such sales, or the money so made, before the court, and pay over the same according to law, he shall be liable to pay the whole amount of such sale, or money by him made, to the person entitled thereto, with lawful interest thereon, and damages in addition, at the rate of ten per centum per month, to be computed from the time when the execution is made returnable, until the whole be paid, to be recovered in an action against such officer and his securities on his official bond; or the party aggrieved may proceed against such officer by motion before the court in which such writ is returnable, in a summary manner, ten days' previous notice of such intended motion being given, on which motion the court shall render judgment for the amount which ought to have been paid, with interest and damages as aforesaid, and award execution thereon (p). Ib., sec. 64, and Civil Code, sec. 479.

SEC. 3064. The proceedings against any officer by motion, in the manner prescribed in the preceding section, shall not be construed to exempt the securities of such officer from liability. Rev. Stat., chap. 60, sec. 65.

SEC. 3065. It shall be the duty of every officer to whom any execution may be directed, issued on any judgment recovered on motion according to the provisions of section 3063, to execute the same within fifteen days after it shall be delivered to him; and such officer shall be subject to the like penalties and liabilities for every default therein as on other executions. Ib., sec. 66.

SEC. 3066. If any sheriff, or other officer to whom any execution may be legally directed, shall refuse to receive such execution, and execute the same according to law, such officer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in office, and shall also be liable to the party aggrieved for the amount of money specified in such execution, to be recovered against him and his securities on his official bond. Ib., sec. 67.

REDEMPTION.

SEC. 3067. When any real estate, or any interest therein, is sold under execution, the same may be redeemed by the debtor from the purchaser, or his vendees, or the personal representatives of either, within twelve months thereafter.

SEC. 3068. The debtor may, at any time within twelve months, pay to the clerk of the court where the execution issued the purchase money, with fifteen per cent. per annum, and all lawful charges, and take his receipt therefor. Such money shall be held by the clerk for the use of the purchaser, and he shall be responsible upon his official bond therefor. Such clerk shall indorse upon the execution book that such redemption has been made.

(p) A summary judgment may be obtained against the sheriff, and his sureties for like causes. See chap. 89.

SEC. 3069. At any time before the expiration of twelve months from the sale of any land under the provisions of this chapter, which has not been redeemed, any judgment creditor may redeem the same in the manner following: Such judgment creditor shall sue out an execution upon his judgment, and place the same in the hands of the proper officer, and pay to said officer the amount for which said premises were sold, and fifteen per cent. per annum thereon from the date of such sale, and all charges thereon, for the use of the purchaser, and shall offer to credit his execution with a sum at least equal to ten per cent. of the amount for which said land sold, which offer shall be regarded as his bid; all of which shall be indorsed upon said execution, and a statement thereof filed with the execution upon which the land was sold; whereupon the clerk shall indorse in the proper place upon the execution book that such creditor has bid for the redemption of such property, which shall be dated, and may be in substance as follows:

"A. B., a judgment creditor, bids ——— dollars for the redemption of the property sold on this execution."

SEC. 3070. Unless the purchaser, within thirty days from the filing of the statement and the making of the indorsement mentioned in the preceding section, pay to the officer the amount so bid by the judgment creditor, the same shall operate as a redemption of said property by such judgment creditor, and he shall succeed to all the rights and liabilities of such purchaser. But if such purchaser shall pay to such officer, within the time allowed, the amount so bid by the judgment creditor, it shall bar such redemption; and the right of redemption of such judgment creditor as against the purchaser, or any one redeeming from him, shall be forever foreclosed. But if the purchaser shall fail to pay over to the officer the amount of such bid, as provided in this section, the officer shall pay over to the purchaser the amount so paid by the judgment creditor, and credit the execution of the judgment creditor with the amount so bid by him, after deducting costs and commissions, and shall execute to him a certificate of sale, in which shall be included, as the price paid, the amount paid to the purchaser and the amount of the bid of such judgment creditor; and such judgment creditor shall, for all purposes of this chapter, be regarded as the purchaser of said property, at the price mentioned in the certificate to him, and any other judgment creditor may in like manner redeem from him, or each succeeding judgment creditor who may redeem under the provisions of this section; but no such redemption shall be allowed after twelve months from the day of the original sale.

SEC. 3071. If any purchaser shall pay the amount bid by the judgment creditor, the officer shall pay the same to such judgment creditor, together with the amount paid by such judgment creditor to the officer. The right of redemption shall be in the order of priority of judgment; but if any judgment creditor shall, for thirty days after a sale or redemption upon a judgment prior to his, fail to pay off prior bids, and bid for the redemption of such property, as provided in this chapter, he shall be deemed to have waived his priority as against others who have complied with the provisions of this chapter. Civil Code, secs. 691, 692, 694, 695, 696.

SEC. 3072. Sections 3067, 3068, 3069, 3070 and 3071 apply to all sales of real estate made under decrees of chancery courts in the same manner they do to sales under executions at law (*). Act March 4, 1875.

SEC. 3075. After the time for redemption has expired, the sheriff, or his successor, shall convey the property sold under the provisions of this chapter, by deed, to the person entitled thereto, reciting the names of the parties to the execution, the date when issued, the date of the judgment, order or decree, the time, place and manner of sale, and other particulars recited in the execution, certificate of sale and proceedings in redemption, if any, which recitals shall be evidence of the facts therein stated. *Rev. SEC. 3081. Where an officer shall have levied upon any goods and chattels, or real estate, or other effects, by virtue of any execution, and the term of service of such officer shall expire and be determined before the sale thereof, such officer shall nevertheless have power to do and perform all things in relation to such execution and the sale of such property, to all intents and purposes, as if his term of service had not expired; and he and his securities shall be subject to the like penalties, actions, proceedings and judgments for neglect, misconduct or failure therein, as if he had still continued in office. Rev. Stat., chap. 60, sec. 59.

SEC. 3082. When any officer shall die or be removed from office, or otherwise disqualified from acting, after having taken in execution any goods and chattels, real estate, shares, or other effects, and before sale thereof, the sheriff or coroner then in office shall proceed thereon, and do and perform all things remaining to be done and performed in relation to such execution and the sale of such property, and in making and executing deeds and conveyances therefor, in the same manner and with the like effect as the officer so deceased, removed from office or disqualified, could have done. Ib., sec. 60.

SEC. 3083. When any officer shall die, be removed from office or disqualified after the sale of any property, and before executing a conveyance therefor, the purchaser may petition the court (r) out of which the execution issued, stating the facts, and if he satisfy the court that the purchase money has been paid, the court shall order the sheriff then in office to execute and acknowledge a deed to the purchaser, reciting the facts, which deed shall be executed accordingly, and shall have the same effect, to all intents and purposes, as if made by the officer so deceased, removed from office or disqualified. Ib., sec. 61.

When a navigable stream makes a part of the boundary line of this state, if any tax or charge shall be assessed or collected by any such adjoining state for the privilege of a ferry landing on the shore or bank of such state from this state, then the same tax or duty shall be assessed and collected for like privilege of landing on the banks or shores of this state.

SEC. 3314. Any person wishing to establish a ferry across any navigable stream shall apply to the county court of the county in which such ferry site may be; and, on the applicant showing that he is lawfully in possession of such land as the ferry is sought to be established on, and also satisfying the court that the public convenience will be promoted thereby, such court shall grant such license.

SEC. 3315. Before any ferry shall be established, the court shall determine what tax shall be paid by such applicant for the privilege of such ferry, which shall not be less than one dollar nor more than one hundred dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 62, secs. 1-8.

SEC. 3316. The toll of ferries that are now, or hereafter may be, established shall at all times be subject to regulation by the county court. Act April 3, 1873, sec. 20.

(a) A valid pre-emption right to the land lying on one bank only of a river does not entitle the owner to the exclusive privilege of keeping a public ferry. Such right, accompanied by possession, would entitle him, under the restrictions in this chapter, to the privilege of having a public ferry from the shore on which his own land was situated. Cloys v. Keatts, 18-19.

As to what will be held a relinquishment of a ferry privilege, see Brearily v. Norris, 23-514.

See same case as to the right of a widow before assignment of dower, where the ferry landing is on the farm attached to the mansion.

(b) A county court, composed of the county judge and justices of the peace, has no jurisdiction to establish ferries. John B. Howell, in matter of Free Ferries, 36-466.

A ferry franchise is the creature of sovereign power, and no one can exercise it without the consent of the state, and when granted in terms exclusive it can not be violated, and if it be, the court of chancery may be resorted to successfully. Murray v. Menifee, 20-561.

The ownership of the soil on a navigable stream does not necessarily entitle the owner to a public ferry franchise. He can exercise no such privilege until the right to do so is conferred by the proper authority. Bell v. Clegg, 25-26.

The right to a ferry franchise is limited by statute to the owner or party rightfully in possession of the land on the stream, and the right to a ferry franchise can not be sold and transferred, and is not descendable, separate and apart from the real estate wherewith it was allowed.

Whether the establishment of the ferry is for the public convenience, except where inhibited by statute, is a question for the county court, and its decision is absolutely binding upon every one, unless appealed from. Haynes v. Wells, 26-464, and see Lindsay v. Lindley, 20-573. See L. R. & F. S. Railway v. McGhee, 41-209.

SEC. 3317. The court shall state, on its record, the rates of toll which may be demanded for ferrying passengers, carriages, wagons, carts, beasts, and such other property as is usually transported by ferries. The clerk shall make out a copy of such ferriage rates, under his official signature, and give to the person procuring such license (c). Rev. Stat., chap. 62, sec. 9.

SEC. 3318. The county court shall have authority, and it is required, to compel all persons who now are, or hereafter shall be, authorized to keep a public ferry to give bond and good security, in such sum as the court may deem sufficient, to the judge of the county court and his successors in office, conditioned that he will constantly find, provide and keep good and sufficient boats, or other proper crafts, in constant good repair, and the banks on either side of the creek or water-course that may be ferried in good condition, and that said ferry shall always be so attended as to pass all persons, and their horses and other stock, carriages and effects, in safety and without detention, and that he will comply with all the requisitions of the law relating to or governing public ferries. Act April 3, 1873, sec. 19, and Rev. Stat., chap. 62, secs. 11, 21.

SEC. 3319. Upon the payment of the tax levied by the county court for the privilege of such ferry, and executing the bond required by law, such court shall grant a license to such applicant for the term of one year from the date of such license. Rev. Stat., chap. 62, sec. 12.

SEC. 3320. Any person wishing to put into operation any public ferry, and the county court not being in session, may do so by putting up an advertisement at such ferry, stating that he intends to apply to the next term thereof for a license for such ferry; and he may charge and receive the usual rates of ferriage until such court shall meet. Ib., sec. 13.

SEC. 3321. The county court, in cases where ferries have been put in operation in vacation by advertisement, shall grant to such person a license at the next term thereof, on his applying for the same and complying with the law as in cases of other ferries, which shall relate back and be for one year from the time of putting such ferry in operation by advertisement. Ib., sec. 14.

SEC. 3322. Any person putting a ferry across any navigable stream in operation by advertisement, who shall fail or neglect, at the next term of the county court, to apply for such license, and in all respects to comply with the orders of the court in respect thereto, shall, by notice served on him by order of the court, be required to appear at its next term and show cause, if any he can, why he should not be fined. If no sufficient legal reason be shown, he shall be fined by such court in any sum not exceeding thirty dollars, and such proceedings shall be had without the necessity of formal pleadings. Ib., sec. 15.

SEC. 3323. It shall be the duty of the county courts to levy a tax on all ferry privileges in their respective counties, whether application be made by any person for the same or not. Provided, however, that no ferry at which the public county road does not cross shall be subject to the tax herein provided. Act Feb. 2, 1843, sec. 2.

SEC. 3324. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court, immediately after the assessment of any tax for ferry privileges by the court, to issue a license for the ferryman to whom such privileges were granted, and to deliver the same to the sheriff, and charge him with the amount thereof, in the same manner that he is required to be charged with other county revenue. Ib., sec. 3.

SEC. 3325. It shall be the duty of the sheriff to present the licenses named in the foregoing section to the proper ferryman within twenty days after they are issued, and if the amount thereof is not paid, the sheriff shall retain the same; and, in twenty days thereafter, if the amount is still unpaid, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to levy on and sell the property of such ferryman to satisfy the amount of his ferry tax, in the same manner and under the same restrictions as lands and tenements, goods and chattels, are required to be levied on and sold under executions on judgments at law. Ib., sec. 4.

SEC. 3326. If sufficient property of such ferryman can not be found to make the amount of his ferry tax, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to return a statement of the facts to the next term of the county court, whose duty it shall be to order a scire facias issued against the securities of such ferryman, returnable to the next term of the court; and, if sufficient cause shall not be shown to the contrary, the court shall order judgment against his securities for the amount found due, with all costs. Ib., sec. 6.

SEC. 3327. The sheriff shall settle for the amount collected by him for ferry tax in the manner and at the time that he is required to settle for other revenue of the county. Ib., sec. 7.

SEC. 3328. The county court shall not permit any ferry to be established within one mile above or below any ferry previously established, except at or near cities and towns, where the public convenience may require it, and satisfactory proof of the same shall be first adduced (d). Ib., sec. 8.

SEC. 3329. If any person shall sustain damage by reason of any ferryman not having complied with the conditions of his bond, the person sustaining such damage may bring suit against such ferryman on such bond, in the name of the judge of the county court, and recover for such non-performance of the said conditions so much damage as he shall appear to have sustained (e). Act April 3, 1873, sec. 19.

SEC. 3330. Any person detained at any public ferry by reason of such ferryman not having sufficient boats or other proper crafts, and hands to work the same, or by neglecting his duty in any way, may make application to some justice of the peace, in the township where the ferry is located, for a warrant of arrest; and said justice is hereby required to issue the same, and impose such fine on such ferryman, not exceeding twenty-five dollars, as to such justice may seem just and equitable (f). Ib.

SEC. 3331. Such fine shall not extend to or be deemed a bar to any action for personal damages sustained by any person by reason of the insufficiency of the said ferry or boats. Ib.

SEC. 3332. Every keeper of such ferry shall keep constantly posted up in some conspicuous place at such ferry the rates of toll allowed to be charged. If

(e) The sureties of a ferryman are liable for all recoveries against him for the violation of any duty imposed upon him by law upon a return of nulla bona against him. See SEC. 3334.

As to the liabilities of ferrymen for the loss or injury of property in its transportation by them, and the measure of damages in such cases, see Harvey v. Rose, 26—3; Evans & Shinn v. Rudy, 34—383.

The right of action provided by statute on the bond of a ferry-keeper does not preclude a resort to the common law action for negligence. Wells v. Steele, 31—219.

(f) See Jabine & Woodruff v. Midgett, 25—474.

any ferryman fail or neglect so to do, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of four dollars for every such neglect; each day that such ferry rates are not so posted up shall constitute a separate offense, which sum may be recovered in a civil action, one-half for the use of the informer and the other half to the school fund. Act April 3, 1873, sec. 20, and Rev. Stat., chap. 62, sec. 18.

SEC. 3333. Should any keeper of a ferry presume to charge or demand more than what the county court may have allowed, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offense the sum of ten dollars, to be recovered by civil action by any person of whom such demand may be made (g). Act April 3, 1873, sec. 20.

SEC. 3334. In all cases of recoveries against ferrymen for violations of this chapter, if, after judgment, execution shall be returned that there are not goods and chattels of such ferryman whereon to levy and make the money demanded in such execution, a scire facias may issue against the securities of such ferryman; and, if such securities do not show sufficient reason to the contrary, judgment shall be rendered against such securities for such amount of debts as may be unsatisfied. Rev. Stat., chap. 62, sec. 20.

SEC. 3335. If any person shall keep any ferry over any navigable stream, for which he shall charge any person any money or any other valuable thing, without complying with the provisions of law in relation to obtaining license, he shall forfeit and pay to every other person having a licensed ferry on the same stream or lake, in the same county, five dollars for every person so ferried, and the same sum for every wagon or other article so transported, which may be the subject of a separate charge, to be sued for and recovered by civil action, founded on this statute, with costs of prosecution. Ib., sec. 19.

SEC. 3336. Where a public road crosses any private stream which has not been meandered as a navigable stream, the bed of which may belong to any individual, if, in the opinion of the county court, the public convenience will be promoted thereby, such court may make an order upon its record to that effect, declaring such crossing to be a public ferry; and, when so declared by the court, such ferry shall be and remain a public ferry during the pleasure of such court, and be subject to all the regulations and restrictions that are made by law applicable to public ferries on navigable streams. Ib., sec. 21.

(g) A ferryman can not charge, as a common carrier, for the contents of a wagon separately from the wagon itself. Kelly v. Altemus, 34—184.

SECTION 3346. No person shall enter into or upon any lands, tenements or other possessions and detain or hold the same, but where an entry is given by law, and then only in a peaceable manner.

SEC. 3347. If any person shall enter into or upon any lands, tenements or other possessions, and detain or hold the same with force and strong hand, or with weapons, or breaking open the doors and windows or other parts of the house, whether any person be in or not; or by threatening to kill, maim or beat the party in possession; or by such words and actions as have a natural tendency to excite fear or apprehension of danger; or by putting out of doors or carrying away the goods of the party in possession; or by entering peaceably and then turning out by force; or frightening by threats or other circumstances of terror the party to yield possession; in such case every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a forcible entry and detainer within the meaning of this act (a).

(a) Forcible entry and detainer is a tort, pure and simple. The remedy is designed to protect the actual possession, whether rightful or wrongful. It must be shown that the defendant entered without the consent

SEC. 3348. When any person shall willfully and with force hold over any lands, tenements or other possessions after the determination of the time for which they were demised or let to him, or shall lawfully and peaceably obtain possession, but shall hold the same unlawfully and by force, or shall fail or refuse to pay the rent therefor when due, and after demand made in writing for the delivery of possession thereof, by the person having the right to such possession, his agent or attorney, shall refuse to quit such possession, such person shall be deemed guilty of an unlawful detainer (b).

SEC. 3349. The preceding sections of this act shall extend to and comprehend all estates, whether freehold or less than freehold.

SEC. 3350. The aforesaid forcible entries and detainers, and forcible and unlawful detainers, are hereby made cognizable before the circuit court of any county in which any such offenses may be committed.

SEC. 3351. When any person to whom any cause of action shall accrue under this act shall file in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which the offense shall be committed a complaint or statement in writing, signed by him, his agent or attorney, specifying the lands, tenements or other possessions so forcibly entered and detained, or so unlawfully detained over, and by whom and when done, and shall also file the affidavit of himself or some other creditable person for him, stating that the plaintiff is lawfully entitled to the possession of the lands, tenements or other possessions mentioned in the complaint, and that the defendant forcibly entered upon and detains the same, or unlawfully detains the same after lawful demand therefore made, such clerk shall issue a writ of possession, directed to the sheriff, commanding him to cause (if the plaintiff give security according to law) the possession of the lands, tenements or other possessions in the complaint mentioned to be delivered to the plaintiff without delay, and to summon the defendant to appear in court on the return day of the writ and answer the plaintiff in the premises (c).

SEC. 3352. The writ of possession specified in the foregoing section shall not be executed in any case unless the plaintiff, or some other person in his behalf, shall execute a bond to the sheriff or other person in a sum at least double the value of the property specified in the writ, which value shall be ascertained by the oath of one or more witnesses to be sworn and examined by the sheriff or other officer.

SEC. 3353. Such bond shall be conditioned that the plaintiff will prosecute his suit to effect and without delay, and if the defendant recover judgment against him in the action he will restore the possession of the lands, tenements or other possessions in the complaint mentioned, if restitution thereof be of the person in actual possession, and that the entry or subsequent holding of possession was with force. Johnson v. West, 41—535. A peaceable entry, though unlawful, is not sufficient. Ib. See Anderson v. Mills, 40—192.

Force is the gist of the action, and it must be actual and hostile. Hall v. Trucks, 38—257. The object of the statute is not to try rights of property, but to preserve peace. Littell v. Grady. Ib., 584.

(b) Unlawful detainer will not lie save where the relation of landlord and tenant exists. Dortch v. Robinson, 31—296; Necklace v. West, 33—682. Proof that defendant was the tenant at will of the plaintiff, demand of possession and refusal, are sufficient to maintain the action. Brockway v. Thomas, 36—518.

It is a remedy for the benefit of landlords against tenants who hold over after the expiration of their term. It is founded on the breach of a contract implied by law, if not expressed, and may be maintained either by the lessor, his heir or assignee, to whom the land passes. Johnson v. West, 41—535. See Buckner v. Warren, Ib., 532.

adjudged, and will pay the defendant all such sums of money as may be recovered against him by such defendant in the action for any cause whatever.

SEC. 3354. In all cases of forcible entries and detainers, and forcible and unlawful detainers, where the sheriffs have taken or may hereafter take bond, it shall be their duty, on return of the writ of possession, to file such bond with the clerk of the circuit courts in their counties, which bond shall be filed by such clerk, and become a part of the record in such cause. Provided, that such bond shall be and remain subject to all the conditions now prescribed by law. Act March 2, 1875, secs. 1-9.

SEC. 3355. Upon the receipt of such writ and obligation before required, the sheriff shall forthwith proceed to execute said writ by delivering the possession of the premises therein named to the plaintiff or his authorized agent, and summon said defendant according to the terms of the writ. Provided, if the said defendant shall express a desire to retain possession of said premises, the said sheriff shall give said defendant ten days' time within which to make his bond, with sufficient securities, in an amount equal to that named in plaintiff's bond, and conditioned that he will deliver to the plaintiff the possession of the premises, together with the costs and damages awarded to the plaintiff, if so decreed by the court; and if the same is so tendered, within the said ten days, such sheriff shall take such bond and leave the possession with the defendant, and he shall return said bond, together with the other papers, to the court issuing the same. Act March 2, 1875, sec. 10, as amended by act Dec. 13, 1875.

SEC. 3356. The sheriff shall return the writ at or before the return day thereof, and shall state in his return in what manner he executed the same; also the names of the persons who were securities in the bond taken by him from the plaintiff, with their places of residence, and if the possession of the lands, tenements or other possessions mentioned in the writ has not been delivered to the plaintiff, he shall also state in his return the cause of his omission to make such deliverance.

SEC. 3357. The defendant in any action of forcible entry and detainer, or forcible and unlawful detainer, may except to the bond of the plaintiff, taken by the sheriff on the receipt of the writ, within the first two days of the court at which such writ is made returnable.

SEC. 3358. If such bond be adjudged insufficient, and a new bond shall not be filed within such time as may be prescribed by the court, judgment of discontinuance shall be rendered against the plaintiff, and such other judgment as the nature of the case may require, in order to restore to the defendant the possession of the estate and to compensate him for his damages.

SEC. 3359. If exceptions shall have been made, and judgment of discontinuance shall have been rendered against the plaintiff, in consequence of his failure to file a new bond when the securities have been adjudged insufficient, the sheriff shall be liable to the defendant for such deficiency in the security.

SEC. 3360. If no exceptions be taken to the securities in the bond given by the plaintiff, as herein provided for within the time specified in this act, or they be adjudged sufficient, the sheriff shall be discharged from all liability for the sufficiency of such securities, and the bond of the plaintiff shall be assigned to such defendant or his personal representative if judgment be rendered for him in such action.

SEC. 3361. If, on the trial of any action under this act, the verdict is for the plaintiff, the court shall give judgment thereon for the costs, and award execution as in other cases; and, in case the verdict is for the defendant, the court shall give judgment thereon, with costs, and shall also issue a writ of restitution, directed to the sheriff, to cause the defendant to be repossessed, to which shall be added a clause commanding the sheriff to levy the costs of the goods, chattels, lands and tenements of the plaintiff. Act March 2, 1875, secs. 11-16.

SEC. 3362. In all cases of forcible entry and detainer, and forcible and unlawful detainers, when the defendant gives bond to retain possession of the lands and premises mentioned in the writ and declaration in the cause as provided by law, it shall be lawful for the plaintiff to introduce before the jury trying the main issue in such action evidence showing the damage he may have sustained in being kept out of possession of said lands and premises, and the jury, if they find the issue for the plaintiff, shall at the same time assess what damages, if any, the plaintiff has sustained in being kept out of possession by the defendant, and the court shall render judgment restoring the property to the plaintiff, as now prescribed by law, and shall also render judgment against the defendant and his security in the bond for damages as found by the jury, as well as the cost of suit (d). Act Feb. 8, 1883.

SEC. 3363. In all cases of forcible entry and detainer, and forcible and unlawful detainers, where the defendant disputes the plaintiff's right of possession, it shall be lawful for such defendant to introduce before the jury trying the main issue in such action evidence showing the damage he may have sustained in being dispossessed of the lands and premises mentioned in the writ and declaration in the cause, and the jury, if they find the issue for the defendant, shall at the same time find what damage the defendant has sustained by being dispossessed under the provisions of this act, and the court shall render judgment restoring the property to the defendant, as now prescribed by law, and shall also render judgment against the plaintiff and his security in the bond for damages as found by the jury, as well as the cost of suit.

SEC. 3364. In all actions under this act, the defendant may be found guilty as to part and not guilty as to the balance of the charge, as laid in the plaintiff's complaint.

SEC. 3365. In trials under the provisions of this act, the title to the premises in question shall not be adjudicated upon or given in evidence, except to show the right to the possession, and the extent thereof (e).

SEC. 3366. Three years' peaceable and uninterrupted possession of the premises immediately preceding the filing a complaint under the provisions of this act may be pleaded by any defendant in bar of the plaintiff's demand for possession.

SEC. 3367. Neither the judgment nor anything in this act shall bar or preclude the party injured from bringing his action of trespass or ejectment or other action against the aggressor or party offending.

(d) Damages can not be enhanced by proof of loss of profits in the plaintiff's business. Brockway v. Thomas, 36—518.

(e) See Anderson v. Mills, 40—132.

SEC. 3368. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any party from proceeding under this act by filing his complaint and causing an ordinary summons to be issued without filing the affidavit or giving the obligation hereinbefore required, and in all such cases, when the judgment shall be for the plaintiff, the court shall award him a writ of restitution to carry such judgment into execution (†).

SEC. 3369. No cross-action or actions for the recovery of the possession of premises in litigation by the defendant, or any person claiming under him, against the plaintiff or his lessee shall be brought under this act during the pendency of the first action. Provided, however, that nothing herein shall preclude such party from instituting and prosecuting an action of ejectment for the premises during the pendency of an action under this act.

SEC. 3370. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to authorize any plaintiff in an action of ejectment now pending to dismiss such action of ejectment, and institute an action under this act. Act March 2, 1875, secs. 17-24.

SEC. 3397. In no case shall the accused be kept in prison or held to bail beyond the end of the second term of the circuit court after the arrest, if no demand shall be made for him within that time, but he shall be discharged.

SECTION

3417. Judgment against garnishee releases him from liability to defendant.
3418. When garnishee refuses to answer, judgment to be rendered against him.
3419. Writs of garnishment may issue from the circuit court to any county in the state.
3420. may issue on justices' judgments, when.
3421. When a judgment before a justice in one county may be filed with a justice of another county, and writ of garnishment issued thereon.
3422. Wages, exemption of.

SECTION 3410. In all cases where any plaintiff may have obtained a judgment in any court of record, or before any justice of the peace, and such plaintiff shall have reason to believe that any other person is indebted to the defendant, or has in his hands or possession goods and chattels, moneys, credits and effects belonging to such defendant, such plaintiff may sue out a writ of garnishment, setting forth such judgment, and commanding the officer charged with the execution thereof to summon the person therein named as garnishee to appear at the return day of such writ, and answer what goods, chattels, moneys, credits and effects he may have in his hands or possession belonging to such defendant to satisfy said judgment, and answer such further interrogatories as may be exhibited against him (b).

SEC. 3411. Such writ shall be directed, served and returned in the same manner as writs of summons (c).

(a) After execution is returned not satisfied, the plaintiff in the execution may institute an action by equitable proceedings for the discovery of property and credits of the defendant. SECS. 3084-3088.

See SEC. 317, note (h).

(b) Executors and administrators are not, as such, liable to garnishment. Thorn & Robins v. Woodruff, 5-55. Nor is a judgment debtor. Trowbridge v. Means, Ib., 135; Fowler v. McClelland, Ib., 188; Tunstall v. Means, Ib., 70. See Campbell & Cureton v. Sneed, 9-118.

A debt due from a sole plaintiff to one of several defendants may be pleaded as a set-off by the defendant to whom such debt is due. Leach v. Lambeth, 14-668.

Where property is placed in the hands of a person as a pledge for a debt, it can not be taken by garnishment until the debt is paid. Patterson v. Harland, 12-158.

(c) It is error to join several garnishees in the same writ of garnishment, without allegations of joint liability or indebtedness. Cincinnati & Little Rock Slate Co. v. Bridge & Co., 17-364.

The debt is bound in the hands of the garnishee from the time of the service of the writ, and the right of the garnishor to a satisfaction of his judgment out of the debt can not be defeated by a subsequent payment of the garnishee, whether made voluntarily or by legal coercion. Desha v. Baker, 3-509, and Watkins v. Field, 6-391; Martin v. Foreman, 18-249.

A writ of garnishment may be against several, where the writ, allegations and interrogatories show a joint indebtedness and a joint possession of goods, etc. Moreland v. Pelham, 7-338.

See note (q) to SEC. 341. The lien of a garnishment dates from the time the garnishment writ is served upon

SEC. 3412. The plaintiff shall, on or before the return day of such writ, prepare and file all the allegations and interrogatories, in writing, with the clerk or justice issuing such writ, upon which he may be desirous of obtaining the answer of such garnishee touching the goods and chattels, moneys, credits and effects of the said defendant, and the value thereof, in his hands and possession, at the time of the service of such writ, or at any time thereafter (d).

SEC. 3413. Such garnishee shall, on or before the third day after the return day named in such writ, exhibit and file, under his oath, full, direct and true answers to all such allegations and interrogatories as may have been exhibited against him by the plaintiff.

SEC. 3414. If the garnishee shall file his answer to the interrogatories exhibited, and the plaintiff shall deem such answer untrue or insufficient, he may deny such answer, and cause his denial to be entered on the record; and the court or justice, if neither party require a jury, shall proceed to try the facts put in issue by the answer of the garnishee and the denial of the plaintiff.

SEC. 3415. If the issue be found for the garnishee, he shall be discharged without further proceedings; but if the issue be found for the plaintiff, judgment shall be entered for the amount found due from the garnishee to the defendant in the original judgment, or so much thereof as will be sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's judgment, with costs (e).

SEC. 3416. If, on the return day of any such writ of garnishment, the garnishee shall surrender to the plaintiff all the goods and chattels, moneys, credits and effects which may be in his hands or possession belonging to the defendant, he shall be discharged with costs; and the court or justice shall enter up an order releasing and discharging such garnishee from all responsibility to the defendant, in relation to the goods and chattels, moneys, credits and effects so surrendered.

SEC. 3417. In all cases where judgment shall be rendered against any garnishee on an answer to interrogatories filed, such judgment shall have the effect to release the garnishee from all responsibility in relation to the goods and chattels, moneys, credits and effects for which such judgment may have been rendered.

SEC. 3418. If any garnishee, after having been served with a writ of garnishment ten days before the return day thereof, shall neglect or refuse to answer the interrogatories exhibited against him, on or before the third day after the return day of such writ, the court or justice before whom such matter is pending shall enter judgment against such garnishee for the full amount the garnishee, and a sale and transfer by the defendant of his choses in action, not subject to execution, before such service, will be good. The burden of proof that a purchase of debts made on the same day of the service of a garnishment was before the service is upon the purchaser. Bergman v. Sells & Co., 39—97. See Adams v. Penzell, 40—531.

(d) The allegations and interrogatories may be filed with the clerk, at any time before the expiration of the return day of the writ, and it is not necessary that they be filed in open court, or that the filing appear of record. Moreland v. Pelham, 7—338. See also Lawrence v. Sturdivant, 10—130; Richardson v. White, 19—241.

In garnishments, the allegations and interrogatories should conform to the writ. If that be against a single individual, allegations addressed to him and another, alleging a joint indebtedness to the defendant, and interrogatories pursuant to them are demurrable. Frizzell v. Willard, 37—478.

When the effects of a defendant are in the hands of several, who are jointly liable to him for them, and which are not under the exclusive control of either of them, all must be joined as garnishees before interrogatories can be filed against either. Ib.

(e) An appeal lies to the circuit court from the judgment of a justice of the peace in a garnishment proceeding. Smith v. Parker, 25—518.

specified in the plaintiff's judgment against the original defendant, together with costs (f). Rev. Stat., chap. 69.

SEC. 3419. Writs of garnishment may be issued from the circuit court of one county to any other county in the state.

SEC. 3420. When a judgment before a justice of the peace in any county, together with the interest accrued on the same and the costs, amounts to more than one hundred dollars, and the plaintiff, or any other person having the right to collect the said judgment, may desire to have the benefit of garnishment thereon, it shall be lawful for such person to file in the office of the clerk of the circuit court a transcript of such judgment, certified by such justice of the peace, and the clerk shall enter the same on the judgment docket in his office, and, at the request of such person so filing the same, shall issue to any county in the state a writ or writs of garnishment thereon.

SEC. 3421. In case judgment be recovered in one county before a justice of the peace, and any person having the right to collect the same may desire to garnishee a debtor of the defendant in said judgment residing in another county, it shall be lawful for such person to file in the office of a justice of the peace in the township in which such debtor resides, in such other county, a certified transcript of said judgment; and, when the same is so filed, such justice shall enter it upon his docket, and the same shall have the force and effect of a judgment, upon which he shall issue a writ of garnishment or execution as is now provided by law in other cases. Act Feb. 27, 1867.

TIME WAGES—EXEMPTION OF.

SEC. 3422. The time wages of all laborers and mechanics, not exceeding their wages for sixty days, shall hereafter be exempt from seizure by garnishment, or other legal process. Provided, that the defendant in any case shall file with the court from which such process shall issue a sworn statement that said sixty days' wages, claimed to be exempt, is less than the amount exempt to him under the constitution of the state, and that he does not own sufficient other personal property, which, together with the said sixty days' wages, would exceed in amount the limits of said constitutional exemption. Act Nov. 27, 1875.

(f) The default of the garnishee admits his liability to the full extent of plaintiff's demand, and no proof is necessary to charge him. Wilson v. Phillips, 5—183.

A garnishee answering and admitting his indebtedness, as the maker of negotiable paper, without reserve or qualification, does so at his peril. If notified at any time before final judgment that his note had been assigned before the service of the writ upon him, he is bound to apply for leave to interpose the defense. Cross v. Haldeman, 15—200.

If such minor appear and make choice of a guardian, and the court is satisfied that the person chosen is suitable and competent, such appointment shall be made accordingly; but, if the choice shall not be approved by the court, it shall appoint some competent and suitable person to be guardian, in the same manner as if the minor was under the age of fourteen years.

SEC. 3477. When a minor shall be entitled to or possessed of any estate not derived from the parent who shall be the natural guardian at the time, and it shall be suggested to the court that such parent is incompetent to the care of such estate, or is mismanaging or wasting the same, the court may issue a notice to such person to appear before it at a stated time, and show cause why a curator shall not be appointed or chosen; and, if on due notice no sufficient cause be shown, the court shall appoint a curator for the management of such estate for the minor, if under fourteen years of age, or, if over that age, admit the minor to choose one in the same manner and subject to the same restrictions as provided for the choice or appointment of guardians for minors over that age.

SEC. 3478. Whenever the court shall be satisfied that it will be for the advantage of minors to appoint a curator of the estate different from the guardian of the person, it shall be lawful to make such separate appointment for minors under fourteen years of age, and for minors over that age to make such separate choice, subject to the approval of the court; and all guardians or curators shall be allowed to prosecute and defend for the minors in all matters committed to the care of such guardians and curators respectively, without further evidence in the several courts of the state.

SEC. 3479. If any minor residing without this state shall have any estate within this state, the court of probate in the county where the estate, or any part thereof may be, shall appoint some competent person to be curator of the estate of such minor; and the curatorship which shall be first lawfully granted of the estate of any such minor shall extend to all the estate of such minor within this state, and shall exclude the jurisdiction of every other court.

SEC. 3480. A minor having a guardian or curator appointed by the court, upon attaining the age of fourteen years, may choose another guardian or curator before the proper court in the county of the minor's residence; and, if the court is satisfied that the person chosen is suitable and competent, the appointment shall be made accordingly.

SEC. 3481. If the guardian or curator so chosen or appointed reside in a county different from that in which the former appointment was made, the court of probate may, on being satisfied that it will not be injurious to the interest of the minor, order a removal of the proceedings to the county in which the guardian or curator so chosen shall reside.

SEC. 3482. On presenting a copy of such order to the court in which the proceedings of the former guardianship or curatorship shall be, the court shall order a transcript of all the proceedings and all the moneys, property, evidences of right and titles, of which the latter guardian or curator is entitled to the possession, to be delivered to him, and the receipt of such latter guardian or curator shall be a sufficient voucher for so much to the former one in the settlement of his accounts.

SEC. 3483. The court to which such removal shall be made shall take jurisdiction of the case, place the said transcript of record, and proceed to the final settlement of the case as if the appointment or choice had been made before it.

SEC. 3484. Every appointment of a guardian shall specify whether it be of the person of his ward or his person and estate.

SEC. 3485. The guardian of the person, whether natural or legal, shall be entitled to the charge, custody and control of the person of his ward, and the care of his education, support and maintenance. The curator shall have the care and management of the estate of the minor, subject to the superintending control of the court; and the guardian of the person and estate of the minor shall have all the powers and perform all the duties both of a guardian of the person and curator.

SEC. 3486. No married woman shall be a guardian or curator of the estate of a minor; and if any woman, after the appointment, marry, the marriage shall operate as a revocation of her appointment; but a married woman may be guardian of the person of a minor, and marriage after appointment shall not operate as a revocation thereof.

SEC. 3487. No person other than a resident of this state shall be appointed a guardian or curator, and if, after his appointment, any guardian or curator remove from this state, his appointment shall be revoked and proceedings had as in other cases of revocation.

SEC. 3488. No clerk, sheriff or judge of the probate court shall be appointed a guardian or curator in the county or district where he resides; nor shall any judge, clerk of a court of record, sheriff, or deputy of either, or attorney at law, be taken as security for any guardian or curator.

SEC. 3489. Guardians and curators appointed by the court, or chosen by the minors under the sanction of the court, shall be at least twenty-one years of age, and shall respectively, before entering on the duties of their office, give bond, with security, to be approved by the court before they shall be appointed, to the State of Arkansas, for the use of the minors respectively, in double the value of the estate or interest to be committed to their care, conditioned for the faithful discharge of their duties according to law; and the court shall have power to order them to give supplemental security, or a new bond with sufficient security, upon like notice, for the same causes, in the same manner and with like effect as authorized by law in the case of administrators, and in default thereof, or for other good cause, to remove them and to appoint or admit the choice of others in their stead (a). Act April 22, 1873, secs. 4-21.

SEC. 3490. Such bond shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court of probate, a copy of which shall be evidence in all cases, in the same manner as the original.

SEC. 3491. No entry of the appointment of a guardian shall be made until bond and security be given, and the same be approved. Rev. Stat., chap. 72, secs. 11 and 12.

EXPENDITURES.

SEC. 3501. The probate court may direct a guardian to expend for the maintenance and education of his ward a specified sum, although such sum may exceed the income of the ward's estate; but, without such direction, the guardian shall not be allowed, in any case, for the maintenance and education of the ward, more than the clear income of the estate. Ib., sec. 17.

EDUCATION OF MINORS, AND LEASE OR SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR THAT PURPOSE.

SEC. 3502. The probate court shall order the proper education of minors according to their means, and for that purpose may, from time to time, make the necessary appropriations of the money or personal estate of any minor, and when the personal estate shall be insufficient or not applicable to the object, upon application the court may order the lease or sale of real estate, or so much thereof as may be requisite, or that the same be mortgaged for not less than two-thirds of its real value, to raise the funds necessary to complete the education of such minor.

SEC. 3503. When real estate of minors is ordered to be sold under the provisions of the last preceding section, such sale shall be advertised and conducted in the same manner as now provided by law for advertising and conducting sales of real estate of deceased persons, made by executors and administrators, for the payment of debts (d).

SEC. 3506. Whenever any guardian or curator shall sell any real estate belonging to his ward under an order of court, he shall report such sale to the court ordering the same in the same manner as executors and administrators are required by law to report sales of real estate made by them for the payment of debts; and such sale, if approved by said court, shall be valid to all intents and purposes. If the court refuse to approve the report, the order of sale shall thereupon be renewed, and the same proceedings shall be had as upon the original order.

SEC. 3507. The guardians and curators, having received payment of the purchase money for any real estate sold by them, shall execute and deliver to the purchaser thereof a deed of conveyance for the same, referring in apt and appropriate terms to the order of the court, the advertisement, the appraisal and description of the real estate, the time, place and terms of sale, and

(d) A sale by a guardian is not complete until confirmed by the court. Guyon v. McCauley, 32—97; Thomason v. Craighead, Ib., 391. SEC. 3508. Deeds and conveyances executed by guardians and curators shall be acknowledged and recorded as other instruments conveying real estate, and with like effect, and, when so acknowledged, shall be received in evidence in all courts of this state without further proof.

LEASE OR SALE OF REAL ESTATE OF MINORS FOR INVESTMENT.

SEC. 3509. When it shall appear that it would be for the benefit of a ward that his real estate, or any part thereof, be sold or leased and the proceeds put on interest, or invested in productive stocks, or in other real estate, his guardian or curator may sell or lease the same accordingly upon obtaining an order for such sale or lease from the court of probate of the county in which such real estate or the greater part thereof shall be situate (e).

SEC. 3510. To obtain such order, the guardian or curator shall present to the court a petition setting forth the condition of the estate and the facts and circumstances on which the petition is founded.

SEC. 3511. If, after a full examination on the oath of creditable and disinterested witnesses, it appears to the court that it would be for the benefit of the ward that the real estate, or any part of it, should be sold or leased, the court may make an appropriate order for such sale or lease, under such regulations and conditions, subject to the provisions of this chapter in relation to the sale of real estate of minors, as the court shall consider suited to the case, first requiring the guardian or curator to enter into good and sufficient bonds to make such leases and conduct such sales with fidelity to the interest of his ward, and faithfully to account for the proceeds of such sales and leases according to law and as the order of the court may require. Act April 22, 1873, secs. 27-34.

MONEY OF WARD TO BE LOANED.

SEC. 3512. If at any time any guardian shall have on hand any money belonging to his ward, beyond what may be necessary for his education and maintenance, such guardian shall, under the direction of the court, loan the same to such person as will give good security therefor, and such money shall be loaned on such time as the court shall direct.

SEC. 3513. If any guardian fail to loan the money of his ward on hand, as aforesaid, under the provisions of this act, he shall be accountable for the interest thereon. Rev. Stat., chap. 72, secs. 25, 26.

SEC. 3514. Guardians and curators shall loan the money of their wards at the highest rate of interest prevailing in the community that can be obtained, on unincumbered real estate security other than the homestead, and then not more than to the extent of one-half the value thereof. The interest in all cases shall be paid annually, and if not then paid shall become part of the principal and bear interest at the same rate. Act April 22, 1873, sec. 40, as amended by act March 17, 1879.

(e) The probate court can order a sale to raise funds for the ward's education. Phelps v. Buck, 40—219.

GUARDIAN TO REPORT DISPOSITION OF MONEY.

SEC. 3515. It shall be the duty of the court of probate to require every guardian and curator to make report, at every annual settlement, of the disposition made by such guardian or curator of the money belonging to the ward intrusted to him; and if it appear that such money is loaned out, then he shall state the name of the person to whom loaned, the description of the real estate security and where situate, and its value, which report shall be sworn to by said guardian or curator and filed in the court.

SEC. 3516. It shall be the duty of said court to carefully examine into such report as soon as made, and if in its opinion the security is insufficient, it shall be the duty of the court to require additional security to be given to protect the interest of said ward, and if such additional security be not given within such time as the court shall order, not exceeding ten days, it shall be the duty of the guardian or curator to institute suit forthwith on such security to recover the amount due thereon; and he and his security shall be liable on the bond for any omission so to do; and if such money has not been loaned out, the court shall order the money to be forthwith invested in United States bonds, for the use and benefit of such ward, and which shall remain so invested until said court shall order otherwise; and a report of the action of such guardian or curator shall be made of his proceedings. Ib.

SEC. 3517. No guardian shall be personally responsible for any money belonging to his ward and loaned out by him, under the direction of the court, and on security which may have been approved by the court, in case of the inability of the person to whom such money may have been loaned or his security to pay the same. Rev. Stat., chap. 72, sec. 24.

NON-RESIDENT MINORS, HOW PROPERTY SOLD.

SEC. 3518. When a non-resident minor owning property in this state has a guardian in the state or territory in which he resides, the court of probate of the proper county may, for the purpose of educating and supporting such minor, make appropriation of the money and personal property belonging to him.

SEC. 3519. When such money or personal property shall be insufficient for these objects, the court of probate may order the lease or sale of the real estate of such minor, or so much thereof as may be necessary for the purpose aforesaid, and direct his curator to pay over to his guardian aforesaid the sum so appropriated or produced by the sale of the personal property, or by the lease or sale of the real estate.

SEC. 3520. When the real estate of such minor shall be sold for the purposes aforesaid, the court may, in its discretion, direct the proceeds of sale to be paid over to the guardian aforesaid, or order such proceeds to be by the curator loaned out, secured on real estate of at least double the value of the sum loaned, the interest accruing thereon to be paid over from time to time to the guardian.

SEC. 3521. When a non-resident minor owns real estate in this state, and has a guardian in the state or territory in which he resides, the court of probate in the proper county may authorize such guardian, either in person or by his agent acting under power of attorney, to sell such real estate and receive the proceeds of such sale. Provided, that, before any order shall be made for the payment of money to a non-resident guardian, or for the sale of the property of his ward by him, he shall produce satisfactory evidence to the court that he has given bond and security as guardian, in the state in which he and his ward reside, in at least double the amount of the sum to be paid to him, or in double the amount of the appraised value of the property to be sold; and the proof shall consist of a copy of the record, setting forth his appointment as guardian, and also a copy of his bond executed as such, duly authenticated.

NON-RESIDENT MINORS, GUARDIANS, ETC.—HOW PROPERTY REMOVED.

SEC. 3522. When any guardian and his ward are both non-residents, and such ward may be entitled to property of any description in this state, such guardian, on producing satisfactory proof to the court of probate of the proper county, according to law, that he has given bond and security in the state in which he and his ward reside, in double the amount of the value of the property, as guardian, then such guardian may demand or sue for and remove any such property to the place of residence of himself and ward.

SEC. 3523. When such non-resident guardian shall produce an exemplification, under the seal of office (if seal there be) of the proper court in the state of his residence, containing all the entries on record in relation to his appointment and giving bond, duly authenticated, the court of probate of the proper county in this state may cause suitable orders to be made discharging any resident guardian, executor or administrator, and authorizing the delivery and passing over of such property, and also requiring receipts to be passed and filed if deemed advisable.

SEC. 3524. Reasonable notice shall be given to the resident guardian, executor or administrator of the intended application for the order of removal; and the court may reject the application and refuse such order whenever it is satisfied it is for the interest of the ward that such removal shall not take place.

SEC. 3525. Whenever it shall be made to appear to the court that any non-resident minor having a guardian or curator in this state has also a guardian in another state or territory, the court may authorize or compel the resident guardian or curator to deliver over to such foreign guardian all the property of such minor of which he may have the custody, and make a full and perfect settlement of his guardianship or curatorship with such foreign guardian. The receipts of such foreign guardian shall fully discharge such resident guardian or curator and his securities from all liability on account of the property so delivered to such foreign guardian. Act April 22, 1873, secs. 35-39, 45.

REMOVAL OF GUARDIANSHIP FROM ONE COUNTY TO ANOTHER.

SEC. 3526. Any guardian who has the custody of the person and property of any minor within this state, who has removed, or shall hereafter remove, to any county thereof other than the one in which the letters of guardianship were originally granted, may petition the probate court of the county to which such guardian has removed, or may hereafter remove, setting forth the facts and truth of the whole matter, disclosing the full amount of property, money and indebtedness in his hands as such guardian, which petition shall be verified by affidavit; and, thereupon, the probate court of the county of which such petitioner is a resident citizen shall proceed to take such bond and security as are now provided for by law in other cases of guardianship, to be approved by the court. Act Jan. 14, 1857, sec. 1.

SEC. 3527. Any such guardian, as aforesaid, may procure a certified transcript of the bond, petition and other proceedings herein provided for, and file the same with the clerk of the probate court in which the guardianship was originally granted, and in which the settlement, under existing laws, would have to be made; and, if it shall appear to such court that the proceeding is regular, and that the bond is sufficient to cover the full liabilities of such guardian, such court may then order the transfer of the guardianship, and that a full and complete statement and copy of all the papers and settlements and liabilities of such guardian shall be made out and properly certified by the clerk, to be transmitted to the county where the new bond shall have been filed; and the probate court thereof, upon the filing of such proceedings, duly authenticated, shall have the same jurisdiction over the guardian and his settlements that belonged to the court from which the proceedings were removed. Provided, however, that the securities in the first bond shall not be liable for breaches thereof that may occur after the whole proceedings have been filed in the office of the clerk of the county to which the guardianship, pursuant to this act, may be removed. Ib., sec. 2.

ANNUAL SETTLEMENTS—FINAL SETTLEMENTS AND DISCHARGE—COMPENSATION, ETC.

SEC. 3528. Guardians and curators shall make annual settlements of their accounts with the court of probate in which their proceedings shall be, beginning at the first term after the end of a year from their appointment or admission, respectively, and at each corresponding annual term, as nearly as may be, until the final settlement; and, in such settlement, guardians having the care of the education of minors shall make a statement, on oath, of the application of all moneys directed by the court to be applied by them to the education of their ward (f). Guardians or curators neglecting or refusing to make such settlement and statements shall be liable to be attached and imprisoned until they make such settlement and statements, the court first causing a rule to be served on them, respectively, to show cause why they should not be proceeded against.

SEC. 3529. Wards having received all money and other estate due from their guardians or curators, on the expiration of the guardianship or curatorship, shall acknowledge satisfaction of record in the proper court, and if such ward, on due notice, neglect or refuse to make such acknowledgment, or can not be found in the county to be served with notice, the court shall enter a discharge of such guardian or curator on the record, and give him a certificate thereof.

(f) The settlements of a guardian can only be attacked in chancery for fraud. Phelps v. Buck, 40—219. The guardian must file separate accounts with each ward. Crow v. Reed, 38—482. Though the guardian's power may be revoked by the death or marriage of his ward, the probate court has still authority to make him account. Price v. Peterson, Ib., 494.

SEC. 3530. Such court shall not enter said discharge nor give such certificate until the guardian or curator shall first exhibit to the court the written statement of such ward acknowledging the receipt of all money and other property due from the said guardian or curator, which said written statement, if the ward be a married woman, shall be signed by herself and her husband, and if by a male ward, by himself, and in every case acknowledged by said parties to be their act and deed before some officer authorized by law to take acknowledgments of deeds.

SEC. 3531. Discharges, acquittances and receipts given by guardians and curators, during the continuance of their respective offices, for debts, rents or other money or property due to their wards, shall be valid in favor of all persons who take them in good faith; but guardians and curators, and their securities, shall be liable to the party injured if such discharges, acquittances and receipts shall be given illegally or fraudulently.

SEC. 3532. Every guardian or curator shall continue in office, unless discharged according to law, until the ward shall arrive at full age, or, if a female, until her marriage, if that event shall first happen; and, when any guardian or curator shall be entitled to his discharge, he shall make a just and true exhibit of the account between himself and ward, for the purpose of a final settlement of his guardianship accounts, and shall file the same with the court having jurisdiction thereof. He shall then give notice of his intention to apply to said court for leave to make a final settlement of his guardianship account, and for his discharge as such guardian; which notice shall state the time of making such application, and shall be duly published in a newspaper or by printed bills put up at six of the most public places in said county.

SEC. 3533. At the first regular term of said court after the expiration of three months from the filing of said exhibit, on satisfactory proof that the notice required has been given, the court may hear the application of said guardian or curator for his discharge, and may grant or refuse the same, as may seem just and right; but, on such hearing, it shall be the duty of said court to carefully and diligently examine the said account so exhibited for the purpose of final settlement, to correct all errors therein, if any there be; and, after such examination and correction, the said court shall proceed to make a final settlement with said guardian on the basis of said exhibited account (g). Appeal shall be allowed from the decision of such court on such final settlement as in the case of executors or administrators, and shall be taken within twelve months after the rendition of such decision. Act April 22, 1873, secs. 41, 42, 46, 47 and 49.

SEC. 3534. The court of probate shall have power to order any property, real or personal, that may come to the possession of a guardian as such, and shall be in his possession at the determination of his guardianship, to be delivered to the person who was his ward, his executor or administrator, and enforce the same by attachment (†).

SEC. 3535. The guardian, or his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, shall not dispute the right of the ward to any property that shall have come to his possession as guardian, except such property as shall have been recovered from the guardian, or there be a personal action pending on account of it. Rev. Stat., chap. 72, secs. 22 and 23.

SEC. 3536. Guardians and curators shall receive such compensation for their services as the court shall decide to be just and reasonable.

SEC. 3537. Any guardian or curator may resign his trust or be removed from office for like causes, in like manner and with like effect, as in the case of an executor or administrator. Act April 22, 1873, sec. 50.

DECEASED MINORS.

SEC. 3538. Whenever a minor having a guardian or curator dies possessed of property, real or personal, no letters of administration shall be granted on such estate, except as provided in the next succeeding section; but the court of probate shall proceed to distribute the personal estate among those interested, by ordering the same to be paid over by the guardian or curator to the distributees.

SEC. 3539. Whenever a minor dies leaving demands for which his estate would be liable in an action, or whenever a minor has died leaving a will, valid under the law respecting wills, letters testamentary or of administration shall be granted on the estate of such deceased minor in the manner provided by law, as in the case of other testators or intestates. Ib., secs. 43, 44.

- WARRANT IN LIEU OF HABEAS CORPUS, WHEN ISSUED.
3586. Warrant, when and by whom issued.
3587. may contain order for arrest.
3588. execution and return of.
3589. hearing and proceedings on.

SECTION 3540. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, except by the general assembly, in case of rebellion, insurrection or invasion, when the public safety may require it (a). Art. II, sec. 11, Const.

SEC. 3541. The writ of habeas corpus shall be issued, served and tried in the following manner:

SEC. 3542. The writ of habeas corpus shall be issued upon proper application by the following officers: By a judge of the supreme or circuit court or of any chancery court during the sitting of their respective courts or in vacation. The power of the supreme, circuit or chancery courts to issue writs of habeas corpus shall be co-extensive with the state (b). The county judge shall have power, co-extensive with his county, in the absence of the circuit judge therefrom, to issue, hear and determine writs of habeas corpus on proper application

(a) See Wright v. Johnson, 5—687.

(b) See art. VII, sec. 4, Const. As to when the supreme court will compel circuit judge by mandamus to issue the writ, see Wright v. Johnson, 5—687. Where there is no subordinate court competent to issue the writ, the supreme court will award it. Robins, ex parte, 15—402, and cases cited; Kittrel, ex parte, 20—499; Good, ex parte, 19—410.

of parties entitled thereto, in all cases and with like powers in which the circuit judge may issue and determine such writ. Provided, that no county judge shall have power to issue or hear any writ of habeas corpus in any case in which an indictment has been found by a grand jury (c). Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended by act March 21, 1883.

SEC. 3543. Writs of habeas corpus may be granted without the seal of the officer, but shall be signed by him.

SEC. 3544. The writ of habeas corpus shall be granted forthwith by any of the officers before enumerated to any person who shall apply for the same by petition, showing, by affidavit or other evidence, probable cause to believe he is detained without lawful authority, or is imprisoned when, by law, he is entitled to bail (d). Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3545. If the restraint or confinement is by virtue of any warrant, order or process, a copy thereof must accompany the petition, or it must appear by affidavit annexed thereto that, by reason of the person being concealed before the application, a demand of such copy could not be made, or that such demand was made of the person by whom the prisoner is confined or restrained, and a copy refused (e). Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 1, sec. 5.

SEC. 3546. It shall in like manner be granted upon the application and in the name of the father, mother, guardian or next friend of any married woman or infant against any person who shall unlawfully have or detain in custody or bondage any infant or married woman; and like proceedings shall be had for hearing and determining the cause and affording the relief demanded as in other cases (f). Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3547. Whenever any court of record, or any judge of the supreme court, or any judge of the circuit court, shall have evidence, from any judicial proceeding had before them, that any person is illegally confined or restrained of his liberty within the jurisdiction of such court or judge, it shall be the duty of the court or judge to issue a writ of habeas corpus for his relief, although no application or petition be presented for such writ. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 1, sec. 7.

SEC. 3548. The writ shall be directed to the person in whose custody the prisoner is detained, and made returnable, as soon as may be, before the supreme,

(c) See art. VII, sec. 37, Const.

(d) Whenever there is an illegal imprisonment, or an unlawful restraint of personal liberty, the party injured, if he be of majority, and his guardian, if he is a minor, is entitled to a writ of habeas corpus, if he brings himself within the rules prescribed in such cases. Wright v. Johnson, 5—687.

As to when the writ will be granted to admit prisoner to bail, see Osborn, ex parte, 24—185; Bird & Bailey, ex parte, Ib., 275; Cooper v. State, 23—278; Kittrel, ex parte, 20—193; Goud, ex parte, 19—410; Robins, ex parte, 15—402; White, ex parte, 9—222.

(e) A copy of the warrant, order or process must accompany the petition, or a legal excuse be shown for the omission. For if the warrant, order or process shows a valid and legal commitment, the application should be denied. Beard, ex parte, 4—9; Royster, ex parte, 6—28.

(f) In deciding contests upon writs of habeas corpus for the custody of infant children, the principles adopted in the chancery court must govern. No rigid rules to govern the practice have or can be formulated. Subject to a few general rules, to be taken as a guide, the chancellor must exercise his judgment upon the peculiar circumstances of the case, and act as humanity, respect for the parental affection and regard for the infant's best interest may prompt. All three should be considered. Neither should be conclusive. Verser v. Ford, 37—27. As against strangers, the father, however poor and humble, if of good moral character and able to support the child in his own style of life, can not be deprived of the privilege by any one whatever, however brilliant the advantage he may offer. It is not enough to consider the interest of the child alone. And as between father and mother, or other near relation of the child, where sympathies of the tenderest nature may be confidently relied on, the father is generally to be preferred. Ib.

As to when the writ should be issued on petition of a guardian, for the purpose of trying the illegal restraint of his ward, see Wright v. Johnson, 5—687.

circuit or chancery judge of the county in which it may be served, if either be within the county. The writ shall specify the time and place to which it shall be returned. The writ may be substantially in the following form :

THE STATE OF ARKANSAS.

You are commanded to have the body of John Doe, detained in your custody, as it is said, together with the day and cause of his being taken, before me at the court-house in ———, on the ——— day of ———, at the hour of ——— in the forenoon, and then and there state in writing the term and cause of his imprisonment, and produce your authority for so doing: And hereof you are not to fail under the heavy penalties denounced by law against those who disobey this writ, and to submit to and receive all those things which shall then and there be adjudged in this behalf.

Given under my hand this ——— day of ———, 18—.

————, Circuit Judge.

Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3549. In a writ of habeas corpus the person having the custody of the prisoner may be designated either by his name of office, if he have any, or his own name, or, if both names be uncertain or unknown, he may be described by any assumed appellation; and the person directed to be produced may be designated by his name, but, if his name be uncertain or unknown, he may be described in any other way so as to designate or identify the person intended.

SEC. 3550. Writs of habeas corpus shall not be disobeyed for any defect of form, and any one who shall be served therewith shall be deemed to be the person to whom it is directed, though it may be directed to him by a wrong name or description, or to another person. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 1, secs. 10, 11.

SEC. 3551. The officer granting the writ may previously require bond, with surety, in sufficient penalty, payable to the state or to the person against whom the writ is directed, conditioned that the person detained shall not escape by the way, and for the payment of such costs and charges as may be awarded against him. The bond shall be filed with the other proceedings in the court, and may be sued on by the state for the benefit of any person injured by the breach of it.

SEC. 3552. The writ shall be served by any qualified officer, or by any private individual designated by the judge, on the person to whom it is directed, or, in his absence from the place where the petitioner is confined, on the person having him in immediate custody. Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3553. If the person upon whom the writ ought to be served conceal himself or refuse admittance to the person attempting the service thereof, it may be served by affixing a copy of the same in some conspicuous place on the outside either of the dwelling-house or jail, or place where the party is confined. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 2, sec. 2.

SEC. 3554. The officer or other person serving the writ shall leave a copy with the person on whom it is served, and return the original to the proper officer.

SEC. 3555. The writ shall be made returnable within three days after it is served, or, if the person is to be brought more than twenty miles, within so many days more as will be equal to one day for every twenty miles for such further distance, and shall be returned with the person of the petitioner, with the cause of his detention or his imprisonment stated in said return. Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3556. Every officer or other person upon whom a writ of habeas corpus shall be served shall state in his return plainly and unequivocally:

First. Whether he has or has not the party in his custody, or under his power or restraint.

Second. If he has the party in his custody or power, or under his restraint, he shall state the authority and true cause of such imprisonment or restraint, setting forth the same at large.

Third. If the party be restrained, imprisoned or detained by virtue of any writ, order, warrant or other written authority, a copy thereof shall be annexed to the return, and the original shall be exhibited on the return of the writ to the judge to whom the same is returnable.

Fourth. If the person making the return shall have had the party in his power or custody, or under his restraint, at any time before the service of the writ, and has transferred such custody or possession to another, the return shall state particularly to whom, at what time, for what cause and by what authority such transfer took place.

SEC. 3557. The return must be signed by the person making the same, and, except where such person shall be a sworn officer, and shall make his return in his official capacity, it shall be verified by his oath.

SEC. 3558. When the party for whose relief a writ of habeas corpus shall have been issued shall stand committed for any criminal or supposed criminal matter, it shall be the duty of the officer or person upon whom the writ is served to bring with the writ all and every examination and information in his hands, possession, custody or charge relating to the commitment.

SEC. 3559. If no such examination shall have accompanied the commitment, nor be in the possession of the officer having the prisoner in custody, such officer shall exhibit the habeas corpus, when served on him, to the magistrate by whom the prisoner was committed, or the clerk of the court, if the papers are in his office; and it shall be the duty of the magistrate or clerk to deliver to such officer having the custody of the prisoner the examinations and proofs relating to the offense charged, to be by such officer returned with the writ.

SEC. 3560. If no examination shall have been filed with the commitment or in the office of the clerk, and none be produced by the committing magistrate upon the exhibition of the writ of habeas corpus to him, as provided in the preceding section, such magistrate shall appear in person at the time and place to which the writ is returnable, and, if he fail to do so, may be proceeded against by attachment. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 2, secs. 7, 8, 15, 16, 17.

SEC. 3561. If any person on whom such writ is served fail to bring the body of the petitioner, with a return of the cause of his detention, at the time and place specified in said writ, he shall forfeit and pay the prisoner one thousand dollars.

SEC. 3562. When the person who applies for a writ of habeas corpus shall not be in the custody of a jailer or other officer, the judge may, for good cause shown, direct the officer or person serving the writ to take the applicant into his custody and produce him on the return of the writ.

SEC. 3563. When a person is confined in jail by a warrant of commitment or order of a court of record, the officer, upon demand of the prisoner, or any one for him, shall deliver a copy of the same; and, if he refuse, he shall forfeit and pay to the prisoner three hundred dollars.

SEC. 3564. If any officer named in section 3542 shall, when legally applied to, refuse to issue the writ of habeas corpus to the petitioner, he shall forfeit and pay to the petitioner five hundred dollars. Crim Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3565. The petitioner may deny the material facts set forth in the return, or allege any fact to show either that his detention or imprisonment is unlawful, or that he is entitled to his discharge, which allegations or denials shall be on oath.

SEC. 3566. The returns and allegations made against it may be amended, by leave of the judge before whom the writ is returned, at any time, that thereby material facts may be ascertained. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 3, secs. 2, 3.

SEC. 3567. The judge before whom the writ is returned, after hearing the matter, both upon the return and any other evidence, shall either discharge or remand the petitioner, or admit him to bail, or make such order as may be proper, and adjudge the costs of the proceeding, including the charge for transporting the prisoner, to be paid as shall seem right, which payment may be enforced by attachment or otherwise by the court to which the proceedings are returned (g).

SEC. 3568. At the discretion of the judge before whom the writ is returned, the affidavits of witnesses taken by either party, on reasonable notice to his agent or attorney, may be read as evidence on the trial of the return.

SEC. 3569. The officer issuing the writ in vacation, or the officer before whom it may be returned for trial, shall have the same power to compel the attendance of witnesses, or to punish a contempt of his authority, as a court of record has; and his judgment on the trial of the writ shall be considered and be enforced as if it were a judgment of such court. Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3570. It shall be the duty of the judge forthwith to remand the prisoner if it shall appear that he is held in custody either:

First. By virtue of any process issued by any court or judge of the United States in a cause where such court or judge has exclusive jurisdiction (h).

Second. By virtue of the final judgment or decree of any competent court of civil or criminal jurisdiction (i).

Third. For any contempt specially and plainly charged in the commit-

(g) The writ should be determined as soon as possible. Wright v. Johnson, 5—687.

(h) The federal judges have exclusive jurisdiction on habeas corpus whenever the applicant is illegally restrained of his liberty under or by color of the authority of the United States, whether by virtue of a formal commitment or otherwise. Ableman v. Booth, 21 How., 506. If the state judge or court is advised by the petition for the writ that the applicant is confined under the authority, or claim and color of authority, of the United States, by an officer of that government, the writ should be refused. Where that fact does not appear in the application for the writ, but is made to appear in the return thereto, the state judge or court, being thus judicially apprised that the party is in custody under the authority of the United States, can proceed no further. Tarble's case, 13 Wall., 397.

(i) For a case where the writ was granted to a prisoner in the penitentiary, see Jones, ex parte, 27—349; to a prisoner in a city prison convicted of a violation of a city ordinance, Martin, ex parte, Ib., 467.

ment by some court, judge or body politic having authority by law to commit for contempt so charged; and Fourth. Where the time during which such party may be legally detained has not expired.

SEC. 3571. No person shall be discharged on writ of habeas corpus:

First. Who is in custody or held by virtue of any legal engagement or enlistment in the army or navy of the United States (j).

Second. Or who, being subject to the rules and articles of war, is confined by any one legally acting under the authority thereof.

Third. Or who is held as a prisoner of war under the authority of the United States.

Fourth. Or who is in custody for any treason, felony or other high misdemeanor committed in any other state or territory, and who, by the constitution and laws of the United States, ought to be delivered up to the legal authorities of such state or territory (k).

SEC. 3572. If it appear that the prisoner is in custody by virtue of process from any court legally constituted, or issued by any officer in the exercise of judicial proceedings before him, such prisoner can only be discharged in one of the following cases:

First. Where the jurisdiction of such court or officer has been exceeded either as to matter, place, sum or person.

Second. Where, though the original imprisonment was lawful, yet, by some act, omission or event which has taken place afterward, the party has become entitled to his discharge.

Third. Where the process is defective in some matter or substance required by law, rendering such process void.

Fourth. Where the process, though in proper form, has been issued in a case, or under circumstances, not authorized by law.

Fifth. Where the process, though in proper form, has been issued or executed by a person who is not authorized to issue or execute the same, or where the person having the custody of such prisoner, under such process, is not the person empowered by law to detain him.

Sixth. Where the process is not authorized by any judgment, order or decree, or by any provision of law.

SEC. 3573. No judge shall in any other matter have power to inquire into the legality or justice of the process, judgment, decree or order of any court, legally constituted, nor into the justice or propriety of any commitment for contempt made by any court officer, or body corporate, according to law, and plainly charged in such commitment, as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 3574. No person imprisoned on an indictment found in any court of competent jurisdiction, or by virtue of any process or commitment to enforce such indictment, can be discharged on habeas corpus, but, if the offense be bailable, he may be let to bail, and if the offense be not bailable, he shall be remanded forthwith. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 3, secs. 6, 7, 9, 10, 12.

SEC. 3575. Where the imprisonment is for any criminal or supposed criminal matter, the judge before whom the prisoner shall be brought shall not discharge him for informality, insufficiency or irregularity of the commitment; but if, upon the trial of a habeas corpus, the judge shall be of opinion that the prisoner has been guilty of a misdemeanor or felony, for which such prisoner may be liable to be tried, and that the proceedings against him are so defective that he can not be detained by them, the judge shall admit him to bail, if he is entitled to bail, to appear at the court having jurisdiction over the case, or remand (1) him to the custody of the proper officer, to be conveyed to the proper county for new proceedings to be had against such prisoner. Ib., sec. 13, and Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3576. Whenever, from sickness or other infirmity of the person directed to be produced by any writ of habeas corpus, such person can not, without danger, be brought before the judge before whom the writ is returnable, the person in whose custody he is may state this fact in his return, verifying the same by his oath, and the judge, if satisfied of the truth of such allegation, and the return be otherwise sufficient, shall proceed thereon to dispose of the matter in the same manner as if the prisoner were brought before him, except as in the next section is provided.

SEC. 3577. If, in the case mentioned in the last preceding section, it appear that the prisoner is legally imprisoned or restrained and not bailable, the judge shall proceed no further therein. If he ought to be held to answer for a bailable offense, an order shall be made accordingly; and when it appears the prisoner is entitled to his discharge, the judge shall make an order to that effect. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 3, secs. 22, 23.

SEC. 3578. Writs of habeas corpus shall issue upon the application of the husband, father, mother, guardian or next friend of any married woman or infant, detained by any religious or other association, or by persons acting under the authority of such association. The prosecuting attorney, where such detention is made, shall prosecute such writ without fee, if required to do so. Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3579. No person charged with a criminal offense shall be removed by a writ of habeas corpus out of the county in which he is confined at any time within fifteen days next preceding the term of the court at which such prisoner ought to be tried, except it be to convey him into the county where the offense with which he is charged is properly cognizable.

SEC. 3580. If a prisoner remanded after hearing on habeas corpus shall obtain a second writ, it shall be the duty of the officer or other person on whom the same shall be served to return therewith the order remanding the prisoner; and, if it appear that the prisoner was remanded for an offense adjudged not bailable, the prisoner shall forthwith be remanded without further proceedings.

SEC. 3581. It shall not be lawful for any judge, on a second writ of habeas corpus, to discharge the prisoner, if he is clearly and specifically charged in the order remanding him, or in the warrant of commitment, with a criminal offense; but the prisoner, on the return of such writ, shall be bailed or remanded to prison, according to the circumstances of the case.

SEC. 3582. Any person having in his custody, or under his power, any person for whose relief a writ of habeas corpus shall have been issued, or who would be entitled to a writ of habeas corpus, to inquire into the cause of his detention, who shall, with the intent to elude the service of such writ, or to avoid the effect thereof, transfer such person to the custody, or place him under the control or power of another, or conceal him, or change the place of his confinement, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding one year, or be punished by both such fine and imprisonment, and shall pay the party injured five hundred dollars. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 4, secs. 6, 7, 8, 13, 16.

(1) See Jones, ex parte, 27—349, as to remanding prisoner.

SEC. 3583. A person released upon a writ of habeas corpus shall not again be imprisoned or committed for the same offense, except in the following cases:

First. By the legal order or process of the court wherein he shall be bound by recognizance to appear, or some other court having jurisdiction of the same cause.

Second. Where, after a discharge for defect of proof, or for any material defect in the commitment, in a criminal case, the prisoner is again arrested on sufficient proof, and committed by legal process for the same offense.

Third. Where the discharge in any cause has been ordered on account of the non-observance of any of the forms required by law, and the party is again arrested for imprisonment by legal process, for sufficient cause, and according to the forms required by law. Ib., sec. 5, and Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

SEC. 3584. The proceedings upon a writ of habeas corpus shall be returned to the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which the writ was heard, or the court in which the prosecution, if any, is pending.

SEC. 3585. A person committed to prison in custody of an officer, for any criminal offense, shall not be removed from said prison or delivered to the custody of any other officer, except in the following cases:

First. By writ of habeas corpus, or some other legal writ (m).

Second. When he may be delivered to an officer, to be removed to some common jail.

Third. In case of fire, infectious disease or other great necessity.

Fourth. When the prisoner is charged, by affidavit, with treason or felony, committed in some other state or territory of the United States of America, in which case he shall, on the demand of the executive of such state, or the governor of a territory in the United States, from which he fled, be sent thither in custody (n), by the order of any circuit court or judge thereof, or may be bound by recognizance, with good surety, by said court or judge, to appear at the proper time and place, and surrender himself to the court or tribunal having jurisdiction of the offense, if the said court or judge shall, upon consideration of the evidence, be of opinion he should be put upon his trial. Crim. Code, sec. 388, as amended 1871.

(m) It is in the discretion of the circuit court to have a competent witness, who is confined in jail, brought before it by habeas corpus, to testify in behalf of the defendant in a criminal cause. Gibony v. Rogers, judge, 32—462.

(n) See SECS. 3390-3398.

Warrant in Lieu of Habeas Corpus—When Issued.

SEC. 3586. When it shall appear by satisfactory proof that any person is illegally imprisoned or restrained of his liberty, and that there is good reason to believe that he will be carried out of the state, or suffer some irreparable injury before he can be relieved by a writ of habeas corpus, any court or judge authorized to issue such writ may issue a warrant reciting the facts, and directed to any sheriff, coroner, constable, or other person, commanding him to take the prisoner and to bring him forthwith before such court or judge, to be dealt with according to law.

SEC. 3587. Where the proof shall also be sufficient to justify the arrest of the person having such prisoner in his custody, as for a criminal offense committed in the taking or detaining such prisoner, the warrant shall also contain an order for the arrest of such offender.

SEC. 3588. The warrant shall be executed according to the command thereof, and, when the prisoner shall be brought before the court or judge, the person detaining such prisoner shall make a return in like manner, and the like proceedings shall be had as if a writ of habeas corpus had been issued in the first instance.

SEC. 3589. If the person having such prisoner in custody shall be brought before a court or a judge as for a criminal offense, he shall be examined, committed, bailed or discharged in like manner as in other criminal cases of like nature. Rev. Stat., chap. 73, art. 4, secs. 1-4.

CHAPTER LXXV.

HOMESTEAD OF WIDOW AND CHILDREN.

SECTION

3590. Homestead exemption for benefit of widow; rights of minor children.

3591. for benefit of minor orphan children.

SECTION

3592. Homestead, how claimed by widow and children.

3593. reservation to be entered of record.

SECTION 3590. If the owner of a homestead die, leaving a widow, but no children, and said widow has no separate homestead in her own right, the same shall be exempt, and the rents and profits thereof shall vest in her during her natural life. Provided, that if the owner leaves children, one or more, said child or children shall share with said widow, and be entitled to half the rents and profits till each of them arrives at twenty-one years of age; each child's rights to cease at twenty-one years of age, and the shares to go to the younger children, and then all to go to the widow; and, provided, that said widow or children may reside on the homestead or not. And in case of the death of the widow, all of said homestead shall be vested in the minor children of the testator or intestate (§).

SEC. 3591. The homestead provided for in the constitution shall inure to the benefit of the minor children, under the exemptions therein provided (a), after the decease of the parents. Art. IX, secs. 6, 10, Const.

(§) A wife has no interest in the homestead during her husband's life, nor vested right to a future interest, and her concurrence in its alienation is not necessary. Klenk v. Noble, 37—298; Lindsay v. Merrill, 36—545; Johnston v. Turner, 29—280; Turner v. Vaughan, 33—462.

A widow is entitled to homestead as well against heirs as against creditors of her deceased husband. Hoback v. Hoback, 33—399; Trotter v. Trotter, 31—145.

But the widow can not create a homestead right in the land of the husband after his death; he must have impressed the homestead character upon the land during his life, and she must succeed him in that right. Hoback v. Hoback and Trotter v. Trotter, supra; Johnston v. Turner, 29—280; Ward v. Mayfield, 41—94.

A widow who has no other place of residence is entitled to the homestead of her deceased husband for life, whether she occupies it or not, and, where there are no minor children, is not accountable to any one for rents received for it. Gainus v. Cannon, 42—503.

As to what will impress the homestead character upon the land and transmit the homestead right to the widow and children, see McKenzie v. Murphy, 24—155; Tumlinson v. Swinney, 22—400; Williams v. Dorris, 31—466; Trotter v. Trotter, 31—145; Bennett v. Hutson, 33—762; Lindsay v. Merrill, 36—545; Euper v. Alkire, 37—283; Klenk v. Noble, Ib., 298; Ward v. Mayfield, 41—94; Brown v. Watson, Ib., 309; Gainus v. Cannon, 42—503; Harbison v. Vaughan, Ib., 539; Patrick v. Baxter, Ib., 175.

A minor can not waive or abandon his right to a homestead during minority; and, being supposed to be under the control of others, does not perfect it by residence. The purchaser, at a probate sale, of the tract of land to which the homestead of a deceased parent appertained must take notice of the minor's right, and, if he use the homestead for his profit, must account to the minor for the rents. Altheimer v. Davis, 37—316; Booth v. Goodwin, 29—633.

As to duty of guardian of infants, see last case cited.

During the existence of the homestead right, the children have such an estate and right of possession as will enable them to maintain ejectment for the land. Ib.

The homestead descended to widow and children of a decedent is not the subject of partition. Trotter v. Trotter, 31—145; Johnston v. Turner, 29—292.

As to vendor's lien, see Tunstall v. Jones, 25—272.

For rights of widow and children in homestead of deceased husband, under constitution of 1868, see Bennett v. Hutson, 33—762; Turner v. Vaughan, 33—454; Gilbert v. Neely, 35—24.

(a) See art. IX, secs. 3, 4, 5, Const.

SEC. 3592. Whenever any resident (b) of this state shall die, leaving a widow or children who may desire to claim the benefit of section 3590 or section 3591, she or they, as the case may be, shall file with the clerk of the probate court of the county in which the homestead is situate an accurate description of the land so claimed, or, if the same be a lot in any city, town or village (c), a description of said lot, and shall apply to have the same reserved from sale.

SEC. 3593. It shall be the duty of such clerk, immediately after the filing of said description and application, to enter upon the records of said court that said homestead has been duly reserved from sale upon the application of such claimant or claimants. Act April 25, 1873, secs. 1, 2.

(b) The domicile of the wife and minor children follows that of the husband, and their actual personal residence at the homestead place is not necessary to perfect the right in him, or to entitle them to the benefit of it after his death. Where the head of a family has, in good faith, selected a place of residence, owns the land, and has entered and resides upon it, the absence of the wife and children might require stronger proof of intention, but nothing more. Johnston v. Turner, 29—280.

(c) For construction of the words "town or city lot" (in act of 1852), see Wassell v. Tunnah, 25—101.

SECTION 3727. The writ of injunction is abolished.

SEC. 3728. An injunction is a command to refrain from a particular act.

(a) The issuing of an injunction is not an act ministerial in its character only, but one of judicial discretion, and mandamus never lies to control that discretion. McMillen v. Smith, 26—613; Hayes, ex parte, Ib., 510; Batesville & Brinkley Railroad, ex parte, 39—82.

A party can not enjoin an act the commission of which does not affect his private interests. Jones v. Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Little Rock, 25—301.

Courts of equity will not enjoin the proceedings of the officers of a county, and vacate its organization, where such organization does not seriously interfere with some individual private right; quo warranto is the proper remedy. Henry v. Steele, Judge, 28—455.

The execution of a writ of possession under a void judgment in ejectment will be enjoined. Stewart v. Pace & Lavender, 30—594.

The execution of a judgment rendered without notice to the defendant, actual or constructive, will be enjoined. Ryan & Co. v. Boyd, 33—778.

And the defendant need not show that he had a good defense to the action. Ib.

A party seeking to enjoin proceedings at law must suffer judgment to go against him, and proceed to enjoin the enforcement of the judgment. Earle's admx. v. Hale's admr., 31—173; Hodges, ex parte, 24—197.

As to when equity will relieve against a judgment at law by injunction, see Gibson's admr. v. Armstrong, 32—438; Barney v. Cain, 37—127; Carnall v. Looper, 35—107, and cases cited; Clopton v. Carloss, 42—560.

A party to an execution illegally issued has a plain and complete remedy at law, and can not apply to

SEC. 3729. It may be the final judgment in an action, or may be allowed as a provisional remedy, and where so allowed it shall be by order.

SEC. 3730. Where it appears by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and such relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of some act which could produce great or irreparable injury to the plaintiff, or where, during the litigation, it appears that the defendant is doing, or threatens, or is about to do, or is procuring or suffering to be done, some act, in violation of the plaintiff's rights, respecting the subject of the action and tending to render the judgment ineffectual, a temporary injunction may be granted to restrain such act. It may also be granted in any case where it is specially authorized by statute. Civil Code, secs. 293, 294.

SEC. 3731. The judge of the circuit court may grant injunctions and restraining orders in all cases of illegal or unauthorized taxes and assessments by county, city or other local tribunals, boards or officers (b). Ib., sec. 296, as amended 1873.

SEC. 3732. A provisional remedy may be granted by the judge of the court in which the action is brought, or by any circuit judge. Ib., sec. 791, as amended 1873.

SEC. 3733. In the absence of the circuit judge from the county, the county judge of any county shall have power to issue orders for injunctions and other provisional writs in their counties, returnable to the court having jurischancery for an injunction against it. But one who is not a party to an execution illegally levied on his land may apply to chancery to enjoin the sale. King v. Clay, 34—291.

Where the court would set aside a deed, if made, as a cloud upon title, it will interpose to prevent the sale that would result in making such deed. Taliaferro v. Barnett, 37—511.

The sale of chattels under execution will not be enjoined, unless some damage will result to the plaintiff not fully remediable at law. Stillwell v. Oliver, 35—184; Jacks & Co. v. Bigham, 36—481.

An injunction will not be granted to stay proceedings in any criminal matters, nor in any case not strictly of a civil nature. Portis v. Fall, 34—375; Medical and Surgical Institute v. City of Hot Springs, Ib., 559.

A city will not be enjoined from prosecutions for violations of its ordinances. Taylor, Cleveland & Co. v. City of Pine Bluff, 34—603; Waters Pierce Oil Company v. City of Little Rock, 39—412.

The collection of the purchase money can not be enjoined by a purchaser who has full knowledge of all the surroundings and the defects in the title. Johnson v. Walker, 25—196.

As to when injunction will be granted: To prevent the commission or continuance of a trespass upon land, see Terry v. Rosell, 32—478; Ellsworth v. Hale, 33—633. To prevent the creation or continuance of a nuisance, *Ellsworth v. Hale, supra; Draper v. Mackey, 35—497; Wellborn v. Davies, 40—83; Ward v. A judgment or decree of the supreme court may be enjoined by an inferior court for matters arising after the judgment or decree of the appellate court, and which would render it inequitable to carry it into execution. Jacks v. Adair, 33—161.

As to when a mortgagee may enjoin the collection of taxes on the mortgaged land, see Moore v. City of Little Rock, 42—66.

For decisions prior to 24 Ark., see Rose's Digest, p. 418, title "Injunctions."

diction. Provided, each party may have such order reviewed by any superior judge in vacation, when notice of said application shall be given at least ten days before the same is made (c). Act March 5, 1875, sec. 2.

SEC. 3734. The injunction may be granted at the commencement of the action, or at any time before judgment, by the court, or the judge thereof, or by any circuit judge, where it appears by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled thereto; and, during a litigation, it may be granted by the court, or by the judge thereof, or by any circuit judge, where it satisfactorily appears by affidavits that sufficient grounds exist therefor. Ib., sec. 295, as amended 1871, and as modified by sec. 791, as amended 1873.

SEC. 3735. All injunctions granted before final judgment shall be subject to the further order of the court. Ib., sec. 297.

SEC. 3736. The court or judge to whom an application for an injunction is made may direct a reasonable notice to be given to the party against whom the injunction is asked to attend and show cause against it at a specified time and place, and may, in the meantime, restrain such party.

SEC. 3737. An injunction shall not be granted against a defendant who has answered, unless he has had notice of the application therefor.

SEC. 3738. An injunction to stop the general and ordinary business of a corporation, or the operation of a turnpike, railroad or canal company, or of a municipal corporation, or of the trustees of a town, or any building, erection or other work, or to restrain a nuisance, or the unlawful issue or circulation of small notes or bills, can only be granted upon reasonable notice of the time and place of the application therefor to the party enjoined.

SEC. 3739. On the hearing of an application for an injunction of which notice has been given, each party may read affidavits (d).

INJUNCTION BONDS.

SEC. 3740. In every case the court or judge granting an injunction shall specify in the order therefor an amount for which the party obtaining it shall give security in a bond to the party enjoined, before the injunction shall become effectual; which amount shall be sufficient to cover all the probable damages and costs that may be occasioned by the injunction.

SEC. 3741. The court or judge may prescribe the effect of the bond, so as to secure to the party enjoined the damages to which he may become entitled, if it is finally decided that the injunction ought not to have been granted.

SEC. 3742. Where the injunction is to stay proceedings upon a judgment or final order for money, the amount for which security is required shall be sufficient to cover, with other damages, the sum enjoined, with five years' interest thereon.

SEC. 3743. When the injunction is to stay proceedings upon a judgment for property, the amount specified in the order shall be sufficient to cover also the rent, hire or value of the use thereof for two years; and, in case of personal property, its value likewise.

SEC. 3744. The order of injunction shall not be issued by the clerk until

(c) See art. VII, sec. 37.

(d) The act of March 23, 1881, entitled: "An act to regulate the practice in suits for injunctions," etc., has been pronounced unconstitutional. See Batesville & Brinkley Railroad Company, ex parte, 39—32.

the required bond has been executed in his office by one or more sufficient sureties of the party obtaining the injunction.

SEC. 3745. In all cases, unless otherwise directed by the court or judge, the bond shall be to the effect that the party giving it will pay to the party enjoined such damages as he may sustain, if it is finally decided that the injunction ought not to have been granted.

SEC. 3746. Sureties in injunction bonds shall be taken by the clerk under the same responsibilities as in other cases of sureties taken by him.

ORDER FOR AND SERVICE THEREOF.

SEC. 3747. The order of injunction shall be addressed to the party enjoined, shall state the injunction, and shall be dated and signed by the clerk. Where it is issued at the commencement of the action, it shall be indorsed upon the summons, and the copy thereof delivered to the sheriff. Where it is issued during the litigation, it shall be delivered to him with as many copies thereof as there are parties enjoined. The sheriff shall forthwith serve it by delivering a copy to each party enjoined, and make return thereof on the order.

SEC. 3748. Where notice of the application for an injunction has been given to the party enjoined, it shall not be necessary to serve the order upon him; he is bound by the injunction as soon as the bond required of the adverse party is executed.

SEC. 3749. An injunction binds the party from the time he is informed thereof.

SEC. 3750. No injunction shall be granted to stay proceedings upon a judgment of a justice of the peace where the value of the matter in dispute does not exceed twenty dollars.

SEC. 3751. An injunction to stay proceedings on a judgment or final order of a court shall not be granted in an action brought by the party seeking the injunction in any other court than that in which the judgment or order was rendered or made. Nor shall such injunction be granted unless the party applying therefor makes affidavit that no injunction has been previously granted to stay the proceedings on such judgment or order.

SEC. 3752. No injunction shall be granted by a circuit judge after a motion therefor has been overruled by the court.

SEC. 3753. A judge refusing an application for an injunction shall, if requested by the defendant, give him a certificate thereof.

SEC. 3754. Disobedience of an injunction may be punished by the court, or by the judge thereof, or any circuit judge in vacation, as a contempt. An attachment may be issued by the court or judge, upon the production of evidence by affidavit of the breach of the injunction, against the party committing the same; and, unless he purges the contempt, if in vacation, the judge may commit him to jail until the sitting of the court, or take a bond with security for his appearance to answer for the contempt at the next term of the court, and in the meantime to obey the injunction.

SEC. 3755. The affidavits read upon an application for an injunction shall be filed with the papers of the case.

SEC. 3756. A party enjoined may, at any time before judgment, upon reasonable notice to the party who has obtained the injunction, move the court for additional security on behalf of such party, and, if it appears on such notice that the surety in the injunction bond has removed from this state, or is insufficient, the court may vacate the order of injunction, unless, in a reasonable time, sufficient security is given.

SEC. 3757. If, at the time any injunction is granted and bond executed, any execution or attachment has been levied upon the property of the party obtaining the injunction, said levy shall not be discharged by reason of said injunction, but shall remain in full force until the final decision as to the injunction, unless the party obtaining the injunction shall give bond in the form now prescribed by law.

DISSOLUTION AND MODIFICATION OF (e).

SEC. 3758. The party enjoined may, at any time, upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, move the court, upon the plaintiff's complaint and affidavits alone, to dissolve or modify an injunction of the application for which no notice was given. Civil Code, secs. 298-314½.

SEC. 3759. After answer filed by the party enjoined, he may give notice to the plaintiff of a motion to be made to the court in not less than ten days thereafter, upon the whole case, to dissolve or modify the injunction. Upon such motion, each party may read depositions and other competent evidence in writing. For the purposes of such motion, the court shall not be bound to take the answer as true. Ib., sec. 316, as amended 1873.

SEC. 3760. The motion upon the whole case to dissolve or modify the injunction may be postponed, on the application of either party, to a subsequent day, or to the next term, where the court is satisfied that, under the circumstances of the case, the delay is proper. When delay is asked in order to obtain the testimony of a witness, it must appear by affidavit what facts the witness is expected to prove, that the affiant believes his testimony will be true, and that it could not have been obtained by due diligence.

SEC. 3761. After hearing the motion, the court or judge shall overrule the same, or dissolve or modify the injunction, according to the right of the case (f).

SEC. 3762. Only one motion to dissolve or modify an injunction upon the whole case shall be allowed.

SEC. 3763. Upon the dissolution, in whole or in part, of an injunction to stay proceedings upon a judgment or final order, the damages shall be assessed by the court, which may hear the evidence and decide in a summary way, or may, at its discretion, cause a jury to be impaneled to find the damages (g).

(e) Sections 321 and 322 of the Civil Code, which provide that an injunction dissolved or modified on motion may be reinstated by a judge of the supreme court, are omitted. They appear to be clearly inconsistent with the present constitution. See Batesville & Brinkley Railroad Company, ex parte, 39-82.

(f) A circuit judge has power to dissolve in vacation an injunction ordered by himself in vacation, but the defendant can have no damages on the bond. Sanders v. Plunkett, 40-507.

The order of a chancellor at chambers dissolving an injunction issued by him in vacation is interlocutory, and can not be quashed by the supreme court on certiorari nor appealed from until final judgment in the circuit court. Ib.; Citizens' Bank of Louisiana v. Walker, 26-468; Hawley, ex parte, 24-596; Miller v. O'Bryan, 36-200.

An appeal to the supreme court from an order dissolving an injunction does not revive the injunction during the pendency of the appeal. Payne v. McCabe, 37-318.

(g) Under this section, a court of equity may, upon dissolution of an injunction, assess the damages and render a decree therefor against the plaintiff. Bailey v. Gibson, 29-472.

The defendant's counsel fees are not allowed as part of his damages. Oliphint v. Mansfield & Co., 36-191. See note (h) post.

SEC. 3764. Where money is enjoined, the damages may be any rate per cent. on the amount released by the dissolution which, in the discretion of the court, may be proper, not exceeding ten per cent (h).

SEC. 3765. Where the delivery of property has been delayed by the injunction, the value of the use, hire or rent thereof shall be assessed.

SEC. 3766. Judgment shall be rendered against the party who obtained the injunction for the damages assessed; and the assessment shall be conclusive against the surety of such party (i). Civil Code, secs. 317-320.

SECTION 3767. Probate courts, within their respective counties, shall have power and jurisdiction to appoint, and possess a superintending control over,

(h) Sections 3763, 3764, confer a discretionary power on the circuit court to award damages in any sum not to exceed ten per cent. upon the dissolution of an injunction, which the supreme court will not assume to control. Moore v. Granger, 30—574. Upon the dissolution of an injunction where an execution at law upon a money judgment is enjoined, the court should remit the creditor to his judgment at law for satisfaction of the judgment and interest, and render a decree for not more than ten per cent. upon the amount enjoined for damages, and award execution thereon. It is error to render a decree for the amount of the judgment enjoined and interest added as damages. Coblentz v. Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Co., 40—180.

(i) The assessment of damages against the plaintiff, under section 3763, is conclusive against the sureties on guardians to take the care, custody and management of idiots, lunatics, habitual drunkards and persons of unsound mind (a), who are incapable of conducting their own affairs and their estates, real and personal, and to provide for the safe-keeping of such persons, the maintenance of themselves and their families, and the education of their children, in the manner hereinafter directed.

SEC. 3768. If any person shall give information in writing to such court that any person in his county is an idiot, lunatic, or of unsound mind, and pray that an inquiry thereof be had, the court, if satisfied that there is good cause for the exercise of its jurisdiction, shall cause the person so charged to be brought before such court, and inquire into the facts by a jury, if the facts be doubtful.

SEC. 3769. Whenever any sheriff, coroner or constable shall discover any person to be of unsound mind who resides in the county, it shall be his duty to make application to the court for the exercise of its jurisdiction, and thereupon the like proceedings shall be had as in the preceding section directed.

SEC. 3770. If it be found by the jury that the person so brought before the court is of unsound mind, or incapable of managing his own affairs, the court shall appoint a guardian of the person and of the estate of such insane person.

SEC. 3771. When any person shall be found to be insane, or coming within the provisions of section 3767, the costs of the proceedings shall be paid out of his estate, or, if that be insufficient, by the county.

SEC. 3772. If the person alleged to be insane shall be discharged, the costs shall be paid by the person at whose instance the proceeding was had, unless said person be an officer acting officially under the law, in which case the costs shall be paid by the county.

SEC. 3773. The court may, if just cause appear, at any time during the term at which an inquisition is had, set aside the same, and cause a new jury to be summoned to inquire into the facts; but, when two juries concur in any case, the verdict shall not be set aside.

SEC. 3774. Every such guardian shall, before entering on the duties assigned him, enter into bond to the State of Arkansas, in such sum and with such securities as the court shall approve, conditioned that he will take due and proper care of such insane person, and manage and administer his effects to the best advantage, according to law, and will faithfully do and perform all such other acts, matters and things, touching his guardianship, as may be prescribed by law, or enjoined on him by the order, sentence or decree of any court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 3775. The court may, at any time, require any such guardian to give a new bond or additional security, as the circumstances of the case may require; and, if any order for that purpose be not complied with within a reasonable time, to be therein mentioned, the appointment of such guardian may be revoked, and another guardian, who will give the bond and security required, appointed.

SEC. 3776. Every bond given by such guardian shall be deposited with the clerk of the court making the appointment.

the injunction bond, but the court has no jurisdiction to render a decree against them. Bailey v. Gibson, 29—472; Clayton v. Martin, 31—217. But the judgment against the sureties will not be reversed upon the appeal of the principal alone. Daniel v. Daniel, 39—266.

(a) See art. VII, sec. 34, Const.

SEC. 3777. Such guardian, within thirty days after his appointment, shall cause a notice thereof to be published in some newspaper printed in this state, and continue such publication three weeks successively, or otherwise publish such notice at such time and place, and in such manner, as the court shall order.

SEC. 3778. Such guardian shall take charge of the person committed to his charge, and provide for his support and maintenance, as prescribed by law.

SEC. 3779. It shall be the duty of such guardian to collect and take into his possession the goods, chattels, moneys, effects, books and other evidences of debt, and all writings touching the estate, real and personal, of the person under his guardianship.

SEC. 3780. Within three months after his appointment such guardian shall make out and file in the office of the clerk of the court by which he was appointed a just and true inventory of the real and personal estate of his ward, stating the income and profits thereof, and the debts, credits and effects, as the same shall have come to his knowledge.

SEC. 3781. Whenever any property belonging to such estate shall be discovered after the filing of such inventory, it shall be the duty of the guardian to file an additional inventory, containing a just and true account of the same, from time to time, as the same shall be discovered.

SEC. 3782. All such inventories shall be made in the presence of and attested by two credible witnesses of the neighborhood, and shall be verified by the oath of the guardian.

SEC. 3783. Such guardian is authorized and required to collect all debts due his ward, and give acquittances and discharges thereof, and adjust, settle and pay all demands due from his ward, so far as his estate and effects will extend.

SEC. 3784. The court by which any insane person is committed to guardianship may make orders for the restraint, support and safe-keeping of such person; for the management of his estate and the support and maintenance of his family and education of his children out of the proceeds of his estate; to set apart and reserve for the use of such family any property, real or personal, not necessary to be sold for the payment of debts; and to let, sell or mortgage any part of such estate, real or personal, when necessary for the payment of debts, the maintenance of such insane person or his family, or the education of his children.

SALE, MORTGAGE AND LEASE OF REAL ESTATE.

SEC. 3785. Whenever the personal estate of any such person shall be insufficient for the discharge of his debts, the maintenance of his family or the education of his children, it shall be the duty of the guardian to apply by petition to the court by which he was appointed, praying authority to mortgage, lease or sell the whole, or so much of the real estate of his ward as shall be necessary to supply the deficiency.

SEC. 3786. The petition shall set forth the particulars, the amount of the estate, real and personal, of such person, and of the debts by him owing, accompanied by a full, true and perfect account of the guardianship of the petitioner, showing the application of the effects that have come to his hands.

SEC. 3787. If it appear to the court, upon examination of the matter, that the personal effects are insufficient for the purpose above mentioned, and that the effects have been applied as far as the circumstances of the case render proper, the court may make an order directing the mortgage, lease or sale of the whole or such part of the real estate as may be necessary.

SEC. 3788. The court making such order shall direct the time and terms of sale, mortgage or lease of such estate, and the manner in which the proceeds shall be secured, and the income or produce thereof applied.

SEC. 3789. When a sale of real estate shall be ordered, the guardian shall cause notice of the time, place and terms of sale, and a description of the property to be sold, to be given in such manner as the court making the order shall direct.

SEC. 3790. Such guardian shall, at the time and place appointed for the sale thereof, sell such lands at public vendue to the highest bidder, and make report of his proceeding to the court making the order at the next term thereof.

SEC. 3791. The report shall be accompanied by the affidavit of the guardian verifying the report, and stating that such guardian did not directly or indirectly become the purchaser of the property sold, or any part thereof; that the same was not purchased for his use or benefit, and that he is in no wise interested in the purchase thereof.

SEC. 3792. If the court approve the proceedings, the guardian shall execute a deed to the purchaser, reciting the order of sale, and conveying to the purchaser all the estate, right, title and interest of such person to the estate sold.

SEC. 3793. If the report be disapproved, the court may set aside the sale, and order all money paid to be refunded, and all securities given to be canceled, and may renew the order of sale as often as necessary until the proceedings are approved.

SEC. 3794. When the court shall order a lease or mortgage of any estate, no deed or instrument shall be executed for that purpose until the court shall have approved the agreement made by the guardian under such order.

SEC. 3795. Every conveyance, mortgage, lease and assurance made under the order of a probate court, pursuant to the foregoing provisions, shall be as valid and effectual as if the same had been executed by such ward in person when of sound memory and discretion. Rev. Stat., chap. 78.

SEC. 3796. The land of a person of unsound mind may be sold by the order of the probate court, though not necessary for the payment of his debts, or for his maintenance, where it shall appear:

First. That the person of unsound mind has a wife or children.

Second. That this unsoundness of mind is confirmed and incurable.

Third. That his estate is more than sufficient to pay his debts and maintain him.

Fourth. That the sale will be beneficial to his estate, and prospectively beneficial to his wife and children.

Fifth. That his wife and children, being made parties to the proceeding, in proper person, if of full age, or by their guardians if infants, consent to such sale as beneficial to them by their answers, which shall be sworn to by their guardians.

SEC. 3797. The land of a person of unsound mind, held jointly with another, or others, though not necessary for the payment of the debts of said person, or for his maintenance, may be sold by order of the court of probate, where it shall appear to the court, from affidavits, depositions or other legal evidence, that the interest of such other joint owner or owners would be advanced thereby, and the interest of said person of unsound mind would not be injuriously affected thereby; and the proceeds of the sale shall be disposed of in the same manner as the proceeds of real estate of lunatics now authorized by law to be sold. Civil Code, secs. 533, 534.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 3798. Every such guardian shall, once a year, or oftener, if thereto required by the court appointing him, render to such court a just and true account of his guardianship, and make settlement thereof with the court.

SEC. 3799. No such ward shall be held to bail, nor his body taken in execution in any penal action.

SEC. 3800. On judgment against such ward, or his guardian, as such, the execution shall be against his property only, and in no case against his guardian's estate, unless he shall have rendered himself liable thereto by false pleading or otherwise.

SEC. 3801. If the estate of any such ward shall be insufficient to pay his debts, to maintain himself and family, or educate his children, his guardian may apply to the county court by petition setting forth the particulars, and praying for an appropriation from the county treasury for the support of his ward.

SEC. 3802. The petition shall be accompanied by a true and perfect account of his guardianship, an inventory of his estate and effects, and a list of the debts due from such ward, and shall be verified by the affidavit of the petitioner.

SEC. 3803. If the county court shall be satisfied that such estate and effects are insufficient for the purpose above specified, such court may order such sum to be paid to the guardian, out of the county treasury, as shall be sufficient to provide for the support of such ward, and cause a warrant to be issued therefore accordingly.

SEC. 3804. But no allowance shall be made at any one time for a period longer than one year, nor shall such order be made at any time unless the guardian shall have duly accounted and settled with the court for the moneys and effects which shall have come to his hands for the support of his ward out of the county treasury or otherwise.

SEC. 3805. If any person shall allege in writing, verified by oath, that any person declared to be of unsound mind, or addicted to habitual drunkenness, has been restored to his right mind, or to correct, sober habits, the court in which the proceedings were had shall cause the facts to be inquired into in such manner as it may direct.

SEC. 3806. If it be found that such person has been reformed or restored to his right mind, he shall be discharged from care and custody, and the guardian shall immediately settle his accounts, and restore to such person all things remaining in his hands belonging or appertaining to him.

SEC. 3807. In case of the death of any such ward while under guardianship, the power of the guardian shall cease, and the estate descend and be distributed in the same manner as if such ward had been of sound mind, or correct habits, and the guardian shall immediately settle his accounts, and deliver the estate and effects of his ward to his legal representative.

SEC. 3808. Probate courts shall have power to remove any such guardian at any time for neglect of duty, misconduct or mismanagement, or for disobedience to any lawful order, and appoint another in his place.

SEC. 3809. Whenever any such guardian shall be removed from his trust, he shall immediately settle his accounts, and render to his successor the estate and effects of his ward.

SEC. 3810. The probate courts respectively shall have power to control the guardian of any such ward in the management of the person and estate, and the settlements of his accounts, and may enforce and carry into execution their orders, sentences and decrees, in the same manner as a court of chancery.

SEC. 3811. If any person by lunacy shall be furiously mad, or so far disordered in his mind as to endanger his own person, or the person or property of others, it shall be the duty of his guardian, or other person under whose care he may be, and who is bound to provide for his support, to confine him in some suitable place until the next term of the probate court for his county, which shall make such order for the restraint, support and safe-keeping of such person as the circumstances of the case shall require (b).

SEC. 3812. If any such person of unsound mind as in the last section is specified shall not be confined by those having charge of him, or if there be no person having such charge, any judge of a court of record, or any two justices of the peace of the county may cause such insane person to be apprehended, and may employ any person to confine him in some suitable place until the court shall make further order thereon, as in the preceding section specified.

SEC. 3813. The expenses attending such confinement shall be paid by the guardian out of the estate of the ward, or by the person bound to provide for and support such insane person, or the same shall be paid out of the county treasury. Rev. Stat., chap. 78.

INSANE PERSONS FOUND AT LARGE.

SEC. 3814. Insane persons found at large, and not in the care of some discreet person, shall be arrested by any peace officer and taken before a magistrate of the county, city or town in which the arrest is made.

SEC. 3815. Such magistrate shall make such orders as may be necessary to keep him in restraint until he can be sent, by due process of law, to the lunatic asylum; and if such insane person has not friends to whose custody or care the magistrate can commit him, he may order him to be confined in the county or city jail, and shall immediately give notice thereof to the city attorney or county judge, whose duty it shall be to take the proper proceedings for having the insane person sent to the lunatic asylum (†). Crim. Code, secs. 383, 386.

INSANE PAUPERS.

ORGANIZATION OF BUREAU.

SECTION 3819. There is hereby established a bureau in the office of the auditor of state, to be known as "The Insurance Bureau," which shall be charged with the execution of the laws of the state in relation to insurance. Act April 25, 1873, sec. 1.

SEC. 3820. The auditor of state is hereby empowered to appoint and commission actuaries and examiners to issue, and, upon cause shown, to revoke licenses or permits to transact business of insurance; and, when legal cause exists, to suspend the business of any company of this state or any company of another state doing business in this state; to require free access to books and papers belonging to any such company or companies; to summon and examine persons relative thereto, and generally to do any and all things which the insurance commissioner was by law heretofore empowered and required to do.

SEC. 3821. All persons having in their possession any books, papers, records, securities, furniture, or other appurtenances to the insurance bureau belonging, shall, on demand, deliver the same to the custody of the auditor.

SEC. 3822. The seal of the auditor's office shall be the seal of the insurance department. Act Feb. 27, 1875, secs. 2 and 3.

DUTIES AND FEES OF AUDITOR.

SEC. 3823. It shall be the duty of the auditor of state:

First. To see that all the laws of this state respecting insurance companies are faithfully executed; to file in his office every charter of a company now or hereafter required by law to be filed, and, upon application, to furnish a certified copy thereof.

Second. He shall, as soon as practicable, in each year, calculate, or cause to be calculated, the net value, on the thirty-first day of December of the previous year, of all the policies in force on that day of every life insurance company doing business in this state that shall fail to furnish him, as hereinafter provided, a certificate of the insurance commissioner of the state by whose authority the company was organized, or in which it may elect to have its policies valued in case the company is chartered by the government of the United States, giving the net value of all policies in force in the company on the thirty-first day of December of the preceding year; which calculation of the net value of each policy shall be based upon the American experience table of mortality, and four and one-half per cent. interest per annum; and the net value of a policy at any time shall be taken to be the single net premium which will at any time effect the insurance, less the value at that time of the future net premiums, called for by the table of mortality and rate of interest designated above.

Third. In case it is found that any life insurance company doing business in this state has not on hand the net value of all its policies in force, after all other debts of the company and claims against it, exclusive of capital stock, have been provided for, it shall be the duty of the insurance commissioner to publish the fact that the then existing condition of the company is below the standard of safety established by this state, and he shall require the company at once to cease doing new business, and he shall immediately institute proceedings to determine what further shall be done in the case; and it is hereby made the duty of the auditor, after having determined as above the amount of the net value of all the policies in force, to see that the company has that amount in safe, legal securities, after all its other debts and claims against it, exclusive of capital stock, have been provided for.

Fourth. He shall accept the valuations made by the insurance commissioner of the state under whose authority a life insurance company was organized, when such valuations have been properly made on sound and recognized principles and legal basis as above. Provided, the company shall furnish to the auditor of this state a certificate from the insurance commissioner of such state, setting forth the value, calculated on the data designated above, of all the policies in force in the company on the previous thirty-first day of December, and stating that, after all the other debts of the company and claims against it at that time were provided for, the company had in safe securities an amount equal to the net value of all its policies in force, and that said company is entitled to do business in its own state; and every life insurance company doing business in this state during the year for which the statement is made that fails promptly to furnish the certificate aforesaid shall be required to make full detailed lists of policies and securities to the auditor of this state, and shall be liable for all charges and expenses consequent upon not having furnished the said certificate.

Fifth. For every company doing fire insurance business in this state, he shall calculate the re-insurance reserve for unexpired fire risks, by taking fifty per centum of the premiums received on all unexpired risks that have less than one year to run, and a pro rata of all premiums received on risks that have more than one year to run; and, in marine and inland insurance, he shall charge all the premiums received on unexpired risks as a re-insurance reserve. Provided, that when the re-insurance reserve, calculated as above, is less than forty per centum of all the premiums received during the year, the re-insurance reserve in this case shall be the whole of the premiums received on all its unexpired risks.

Sixth. Having charged against a company the re-insurance reserve as above determined for fire, marine and inland insurance, and adding thereto all other debts and claims against the company, he shall, in case he finds the capital stock of the company impaired to the extent of twenty per centum, give notice to the company to make good its whole capital stock within sixty days, and, if this is not done, he shall require the company to cease to do new business within this state, and shall thereupon, in case the company is organized under the authority of this state, immediately institute legal proceedings as required in this act to determine what further shall be done in the case.

Any company receiving the aforesaid notice of the auditor to make good its whole paid-up capital stock within sixty days shall forthwith call upon its stockholders for such amounts as will make its paid-up capital equal to the minimum amount fixed by the charter of said company; and in case any stockholder of such company shall neglect or refuse to pay the amount so called for after notice personally given, or by advertisement in such time and manner as the auditor shall approve, it shall be lawful for the said company to require the return of the original certificate of stock held by such stockholder, and in lieu thereof to issue new certificates for such number of shares as the said stockholder may be entitled to in the proportion that the ascertained value of the funds of the said company may be found to bear to the original capital of the said company, the value of such shares for which new certificates shall be issued to be ascertained under the direction of the auditor, and the company paying for the fractional parts of shares; and it shall be lawful for the directors of such company to create new stock and dispose of the same, and to issue new certificates therefor to any amount sufficient to make up the original capital of the company. Whenever the capital stock of any joint stock fire or marine insurance company of this state becomes impaired, the auditor may, in his discretion, permit the said company to reduce its capital stock and the par value of its shares in proportion to the extent of impairment. Provided, that in fixing such reduced capital, no sum exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars shall be deducted from the assets and property on hand, which shall be retained as surplus assets. And provided, that no part of such assets and property shall be distributed to the stockholders. And provided, further, that no new business shall be done until the paid-up capital shall be equal to the amount required by law for the transaction of business.

Seventh. It shall be the duty of the auditor, after he has notified a life insurance company to cease doing new business until the net value of its policies in force is equal to that called for by the standard of safety established by the state, at once to cause a rigid examination in regard to all affairs of such company. In case it shall appear that there is no fraud, or gross incompetency, or recklessness, shown to exist in the management, he may, upon publishing the facts in the case, permit such company to continue in charge of its business for one year. Provided, there is, in his opinion, reason to believe that the company may eventually be able to re-establish the legal net value of all its policies in force. At the end of the year named above he may renew the permission, in case, on examination, he is satisfied that the company is likely to retrieve its affairs.

Eighth. Whenever the auditor shall have reason to believe that any insurance company of this state is insolvent or fraudulently conducted, or that its assets are not sufficient for carrying on the business of the same, or during any non-compliance with the provisions of this act, he shall communicate the fact to the attorney-general, whose duty it shall then become to apply to the supreme court or the circuit court, or, in vacation, to any of the judges thereof, for an order requiring said company to show cause why their business should not be closed; and the court or judge, as the case may be, shall thereupon hear the allegations and proofs of the respective parties, or appoint some suitable person as examiner to perform such duty and report upon the facts to said court or judge. If it appear to the satisfaction of said court or judge that such company is insolvent, or that the interests of the company so require, the said court or judge shall decree a dissolution of such corporation, and a distribution of its effects; but in case it shall appear to said court or judge that said corporation is able to comply with the provisions of this act, and that it is not insolvent, a decree shall be entered annulling the act of the auditor in the premises and authorizing such company to resume business.

Ninth. The auditor shall publish the result of his examination of the affairs of any company, whenever he deems it for the interest of the public so to do, in one or more papers of this state; suspend the entire business of any company of this state, and the business within this state of any other company during its non-compliance with any provision of this act, or whenever its assets appear to him insufficient to justify its continuance in business, by suspending or revoking the certificate granted by him; report to the attorney-general any violation of law relating to insurance companies, their officers or agents; furnish to the companies the necessary blank forms for the statements required; preserve, in a permanent form, a full record of his proceedings, and concise statement of the condition of each company or agency visited or examined; at the request of any person, and on payment of the fee, to give certified copies of any record in his office, when he deems it not prejudicial to the public interest; report annually to the legislature the receipts and expenses of this department for the year, his official acts, the condition of companies doing business in this state, and such other information as will exhibit the affairs of this department.

Tenth. The auditor, for the purposes of examination authorized by this act, is hereby empowered, either in person or by one or more examiners by him commissioned in writing, to require free access to all books and papers within this state of any insurance company, or the agents thereof, doing business within this state; to summon and examine any person being within this state under oath, which he or any examiner may administer, relative to the affairs and condition of any company; for probable cause, to visit at its principal office, wherever it may be, any insurance company not of a state in which the substantial provisions of this act shall be enacted, and doing business in this state, for the purpose of investigating its affairs and condition, and to revoke its certificate in this state if it does not permit an examination; to revoke or modify any certificate of authority when any conditions prescribed by law for granting it no longer exist.

SEC. 3824. The auditor may employ an actuary, to make the valuation of life policies, at the compensation of not exceeding three cents for each thousand dollars of insurance, to be paid by the company for which the valuation is made. Act April 25, 1873, secs. 5 and 6, and act Feb. 27, 1875, secs. 1 and 2.

SEC. 3825. There shall be paid into the state treasury, by every company to which this act applies, the following fees, which shall be accounted for in the same manner as other fees of the auditor's office are by law required to be accounted for:

For filing certified copy of charter, fifteen dollars.

For filing annual statement or certificate of other state commissioner in lieu thereof, ten dollars.

For certificate of authority to transact business, two dollars.

For publication of annual statements or other publication required by the insurance laws of this state, or for official examination of companies in person or by attorney, as provided by law, the actual expenses incurred.

For every copy of any paper filed in the bureau, the sum of twenty cents per folio, and for affixing the official seal to such copy and certifying the same, one dollar. Act Feb. 27, 1875, sec. 6, and act April 25, 1873, sec. 6.

DUTIES OF INSURANCE COMPANIES AND AGENTS.

SEC. 3826. No insurance company shall be allowed to transact business of insurance in this state until it shall have a bona fide subscribed capital of not less than one hundred thousand dollars, with a paid-up capital of not less than fifty thousand dollars. Act Feb. 27, 1875, sec. 5.

SEC. 3827. It shall be unlawful for any person, company or corporation to negotiate or solicit within this state any contract of insurance, or to effect an insurance or insurances, or pretend to effect the same, or to receive and transmit any offer or offers of insurance, or receive or deliver a policy or policies of insurance, or in any manner to aid in the transaction of the business of insurance, without complying fully with the provisions of this act (a).

(a) A failure to comply with the act does not invalidate a policy of insurance executed by the company. Ehrman v. Teutonia Insurance Co., 1 McCrary C. C., 123.

SEC. 3828. Every insurance company, including individuals, partnerships, joint-stock associations and corporations, conducting any branch of insurance business in this state, must transmit to the auditor a statement of its condition and business for the year ending on the preceding thirty-first day of December, which statement shall be rendered on the first day of January following, or within sixty days thereafter, except that foreign companies shall transmit their statement of business other than that done in the United States prior to the following first day of July, which statements must be in form, and state the particulars required by the blanks prescribed by the auditor. Act April 25, 1873, secs. 9-12.

SEC. 3829. Every company doing insurance business in this state shall file with the auditor, at the same time with its annual statement, a sworn statement of its net receipts in this state for the year ending on the thirty-first day of December, after deducting losses and commissions from its gross receipts, and shall pay into the state treasury, on or before the first of March, a tax of two and one-half per centum on such net receipts, and such tax shall be in lieu of all other taxes—state, county or municipal—on such receipts, nor shall any city, town or municipality impose any license fee or privilege tax upon any company, or the agent of any company, for the privilege of transacting such business of insurance. Act Feb. 27, 1875, sec. 4.

SEC. 3830. The auditor may require, at any time, statements from any company doing business within this state, or from any of its officers or agents, on such points as he deems necessary and proper to elicit a full exhibit of its business and standing, all of which statements herein required must be verified by the signature and oath of the president or vice-president, with those of the secretary or actuary. No company having neglected to file a statement required of it within the time and manner prescribed shall do any new business after notification by the auditor while such neglect continues. And any company or association neglecting to make and transmit any statement required shall forfeit one hundred dollars for each day's neglect. Act April 25, 1873, sec. 12.

DUTIES AND LIABILITIES OF FOREIGN COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS (b).

SEC. 3831. No person shall act as agent or solicitor in this state of any insurance company of another state or foreign government, in any manner whatever relating to risks, until the provisions of this act have been complied with on the part of the company or association, and there has been granted to said company or association, by the auditor, a certificate of authority showing that the company or association is authorized to transact business in this state.

SEC. 3832. It shall be the duty of every company or association of another state, authorized to transact business in this state, to make report to the auditor in the month of January of each year, under oath of the president, secretary or agent thereof, showing the entire amount of premiums of every character or description received by said company or association in this state during the year or fraction of a year ending with the thirty-first day of December preceding, whether said premiums were received in money or in the form of notes, credits, or any other substitute for money, and pay into the state treasury a tax of three per centum upon said premiums, and the auditor shall not have power to grant a renewal of the certificate of said company or association until the tax aforesaid is paid into the state treasury.

(b) An insurance company incorporated by the laws of a state is not a citizen of such state, within the meaning of that clause of the constitution of the United States that declares that "the citizens of each state shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states." They are creatures of local law, and have not even an absolute right of recognition in other states, but depend for that, and for the enforcement of their contracts, upon the assent of those states, which may be given accordingly, on such terms as they please. They may impose taxes and other burdens upon them that are not imposed on home companies. Paul v. Virginia, 8 Wall., 168.

SEC. 3833. Companies to which certificates of authority are issued, as provided by section 3831, shall from time to time certify to the auditor the names of the agents appointed by them to solicit risks, issue policies or receive applications in this state; and no such agent shall transact business until he has procured from the auditor a certificate showing that the company has complied with the requirements of this act, and that the person named in said certificate has been duly appointed its agent. Ib., secs. 10, 11.

SEC. 3834. No insurance company, not of this state, nor its agents, shall do business in this state, until it has filed with the auditor of this state a written stipulation, duly authenticated by the company, agreeing that any legal process affecting the company, served on the auditor or the party designated by him, or the agent specified by said company to receive service of process for the company, shall have the same effect as if served personally on the company within this state. And if such company should cease to maintain such agent in this state, so designated, such process may thereafter be served on the auditor; but so long as any liability of the stipulating company to any resident of this state continues, such stipulation can not be revoked or modified, except that a new one may be substituted, so as to require or dispense with service at the office of said company within this state, and that such service, according to this stipulation, shall be sufficient personal service on the company. The term "process" includes any writ, summons, subpoena or order, whereby any action, suit or proceedings shall be commenced, or which shall be issued in or upon any action, suit or proceedings (c).

SEC. 3835. Any person or persons, or corporation, receiving premiums or forwarding applications, or in any other way transacting business for any insurance company or association not of this state, without having received authority agreeably to the provisions of this act, shall forfeit and pay to the school fund of the state the sum of five hundred dollars for each month or fraction thereof during which such illegal business was transacted, and any company not of this state, doing business without authority, shall forfeit a like sum for every month or fraction thereof, and be prohibited from doing business in this state until such fines are fully paid.

COLLECTION OF TAXES AND INSTITUTION OF SUITS.

SEC. 3836. The taxes provided in this act shall, in case of non-payment, after notice from the auditor, be collected as taxes upon corporations are now collected by law. Act April 25, 1873, secs. 13, 14, 15.

(c) Whether the stipulation is filed or not, service on the auditor is a sufficient service on the company, the latter being estopped to deny that it had filed the required stipulation. Ehrman v. Teutonia Ins. Co., 1 McCrary C. C., 123.

CONSTRUCTION OF INSURANCE LAWS.

SEC. 3837. The insurance laws of this state shall be so construed as not to apply in their operation and requirements to any mutual aid society or organization in this state for the relief of members thereof in case of pecuniary loss by fire or otherwise, and for the mutual aid of the beneficiaries of such members in case of death, and which is not based upon a subscribed or paid-up capital in whole or in part, but alone upon membership dues and pro rata assessment upon its members in case of such loss or the death of members. Act Nov. 30, 1875.

SEC. 3877. Every prosecuting attorney, immediately upon receiving information of any such trespass upon lands in his circuit, shall prosecute the proper criminal action against such offender, and advise said state timber inspector thereof, and he shall, when required by said inspector, prosecute a civil action for damages for any such trespass, or to recover possession of any material taken from any such land.

SEC. 3905. A judgment or final order may be reversed or modified by the supreme court, for errors appearing in the record.

SEC. 3906. The proceedings to obtain such reversal or modification shall be by appeal, prosecuted as prescribed by law.

SEC. 3907. A misprision of the clerk shall not be a ground for an appeal, until the same has been presented and acted upon in the circuit court. Civil Code, secs. 566-569.

SEC. 3908. Rendering judgment before the time fixed for filing the answer expires shall be deemed a clerical misprision. Ib., sec. 570, as amended by act March 22, 1881, sec. 3.

SEC. 3909. The court in which a judgment or final order has been rendered or made shall have power, after the expiration of the term, to vacate or modify such judgment or order (b):

First. By granting a new trial for the cause, and in the manner prescribed in section 5155.

Third. For misprisions of the clerk (c).

Fourth. For fraud practiced by the successful party in the obtaining of the judgment or order (d).

Fifth. For erroneous proceedings against an infant, married woman or per-

(a) Unless corrected by appeal or new trial, a judgment is conclusive as to all matters that could have been litigated in the case. Morris v. Curry, 41-75. A judgment can not be impeached collaterally. Chollar v. Temple, 39-238; King v. Clay, 34-291; Denton v. Roddy, Ib., 642.

A decree binds only parties and privies. King v. Clay, supra.

(b) After the expiration of the term, the judgment can be set aside only in the way and for the reasons specified in this section, or by bill of review in equity. Turner v. Vaughan, 33-454. A case where a motion for a new trial was not disposed of during the term, owing to the illness of the judge, is not within this section. Leigh v. Armor, 35-123.

(c) The court will, of its own motion, correct obvious errors in the entering of judgments, even after the expiration of the term. Portis v. Talbot, 33-218. It is erroneous to amend a judgment without notice. King v. Clay, 34-291. If the clerk omit to include the sureties on the appeal bond in the judgment, the court may, at a subsequent term, enter judgment against them without notice. Freeman v. Mears, 35-278.

(d) A party can not avail himself of a fraudulent judgment obtained by his agent without his knowledge or consent. Webster v. Diamond, 36-532.

Sixth. For the death of one of the parties before the judgment (e) in the action.

On the complaint, a summons shall issue and be served, and other proceedings had as in an action by proceedings at law.

SEC. 3912. A judgment shall not be vacated on motion or complaint until it is adjudged that there is a valid defense to the action in which the judgment is rendered, or, if the plaintiff seeks its vacation, that there is a valid cause of action; and where a judgment is modified, all liens and securities obtained under it shall be preserved to the modified judgment.

SEC. 3913. The court may first try and decide upon the grounds to vacate or modify a judgment or order before trying or deciding upon the validity of the defense or cause of action.

SEC. 3914. Where the judgment was rendered before the action stood for trial, the suspension may be granted as provided in the last section, although no valid defense to the action is shown; and the court shall make such orders concerning the execution to be issued on the judgment, or on any stay or forthcoming bond taken under it, as shall give to the defendant the same rights of delay that he would have had if the judgment had been rendered at the proper time. Civil Code, secs. 570-577.

LIEN OF.

SEC. 3916. Judgment and decrees of the supreme court shall, upon the filing of a transcript thereof in the circuit court of the county in which the suit

(e) See SECS. 5146, 5147.

(f) A judgment or decree of the supreme court may be enjoined by the circuit court when matters arising subsequent to the judgment or decree render it inequitable that it should be enforced. Jacks v. Adair, 32—161. A judgment will not be enjoined unless a meritorious defense be shown. Gibson v. Armstrong, 32—438. See chap. 81, note (a).

originated on which judgment or decree is entered, be a lien on the real estate of the person against whom such judgment or decree is rendered situate in such county from the filing such transcript.

SEC. 3917. Judgment and decrees rendered in the circuit court shall be a lien on the real estate of the person against whom they are rendered situate in the county for which the court is held (g).

SEC. 3918. Liens shall commence on the day of the rendition of the judgment, and shall continue for three years (h), subject to be revived as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 3919. A sale of lands under a junior judgment shall pass the title of the defendant, subject to the lien of all prior judgments and decrees then in force.

SEC. 3920. The money arising from such sale shall be applied to the payment of the judgment under which it may have been made (i).

SCIRE FACIAS TO REVIVE.

SEC. 3921. The plaintiff or his legal representative may, at any time before the expiration of the lien on any judgment, sue out a scire facias to revive the same (j).

SEC. 3922. The scire facias shall be served on the defendant or his legal representatives, terre-tenants or other person occupying the land, and may be directed to and served in any county in this state.

SEC. 3923. If the defendant can not be found, the court shall make an order briefly setting forth the nature of the case, and requiring all persons interested to appear and show cause why such judgment or decree should not be revived, and the lien continued, on or before the second day of the next term of said court.

SEC. 3924. A copy of such order shall be put up at the court-house door of the county in which such judgment or decree may have been rendered, four

(g) A judgment is a lien on a reversion in real estate. A judgment becomes a lien on after-acquired lands. Trustees R. E. Bank v. Watson & Hubbard, 13—74.

A partner has such an interest in partnership lands as is subject to the lien of a judgment against him. Jones, McDowell & Co. v. Fletcher, 42—422.

(h) The lien of a judgment upon land is paramount to that of a subsequent mortgage. The lien of a judgment in the federal court is, by analogy to the state laws, co-extensive with the territorial jurisdiction of the court. A levy upon land within three years from the date of the judgment will not continue the lien of the judgment beyond the three years. Trapnall v. Richardson, Waterman & Co., 13—543.

Mere delay to sue out an execution during the time prescribed by law for the continuance of the judgment lien would not, of itself, be sufficient to displace the lien; nor would the issuance and return of an execution without action, by order of the plaintiff, discharge the lien, or postpone it, in favor of a subsequent judgment lien. Shall v. Biscoe, 18—142. The lien of a judgment is subject to all valid liens on the property, whether recorded or not. Apperson v. Burgett, 33—328. Notice of prior incumbrances may be given at any time before the sale under execution, and will bind the purchaser. Id. The lien is superior to that of a subsequently recorded mortgage. Pindall v. Trevor, 30—249.

(i) See Hanauer & Co. v. Casey, 26—352.

(j) A scire facias may be issued to revive a judgment after its lien has expired. A scire facias to revive a judgment may be issued from the county where the judgment was recovered to any county in the state. Fowler v. Thurmond, 13—259. A scire facias is in the nature of a writ of summons. Alexander v. Steele, Ib., 392. See Trapnall v. Richardson, Waterman & Co., Ib., 543; Bolinger v. Fowler, 14—27.

The writ of scire facias occupies the place of both declaration and writ of summons. Trapnall v. Terry, 27—70. The proceeding must be against the executor or administrator, not against the heir. Powell v. Macon, 40—541. The provisions for reviving judgments have no application to the judgments of the probate court. Rose v. Thompson, 36—254.

weeks before the commencement of the term of the court at which the parties are required to appear.

SEC. 3925. If, upon service or publication of the scire facias as required in the preceding section, the defendant, or any other person interested, do not appear and show cause why such judgment or decree shall not be revived, the same shall be revived, and the lien continued for another period of three years, and so on from time to time, as often as may be necessary.

SEC. 3926. If a scire facias be sued out before the termination of the lien of any judgment or decree, the lien of the judgment revived shall have relation to the day on which the scire facias issued; but if the lien of any judgment or decree shall have expired before suing out the scire facias, the judgment of revival shall only be a lien from the time of the rendition of such judgment (k). Rev. Stat., chap. 84, secs. 1-11.

REVIVAL AGAINST PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVES, ETC., BY ACTION.

SEC. 3927. A judgment may be revived against the personal representatives, heirs and devisees, or either of them, of a deceased defendant, by an action prosecuted by proceedings at law without verification of the complaint (*). Civil Code, sec. 442.

DEATH OF ONE OR MORE PLAINTIFFS, JUDGMENT SURVIVES—EXECUTION MAY ISSUE.

SEC. 3928. If one or more plaintiffs in a judgment or decree die before the same is satisfied or carried into effect, the judgment or decree, if for money or concerning personal property, shall survive to the executors or administrators of such deceased party, and if concerning real estate, to his heirs or devisees.

SEC. 3929. In each of the preceding cases, execution (l) may be sued out in the name of the surviving plaintiff, for the benefit of himself and legal representatives of the deceased party; or such judgment or decree may be revived in the name of such legal representatives and the surviving plaintiff, and execution may be sued out jointly.

DEATH OF ONE OR MORE DEFENDANTS, JUDGMENT SURVIVES—EXECUTION MAY ISSUE.

SEC. 3930. When there are several defendants in a judgment or decree, and some of them die before the same is satisfied or carried into effect, the judgment or decree, if for money, or concerning personal property, shall survive against the executor or administrator of the deceased party, and if concerning real estate, against his heirs or devisees (m).

SEC. 3931. In each of the cases mentioned in the preceding section, execution may be issued in the name of the surviving plaintiff, for the benefit of himself and the legal representatives of any deceased plaintiff, or in the name

(k) In a scire facias to revive a judgment it is error to render a new judgment for the debt or damages; also, to adjudge that it be revived from the date of the issuance of the writ, where the lien has expired before the suing out of the sci. fa. Hanly v. Adams, 15-232.

(*) The plaintiff may proceed to revive by scire facias and by action at law at the same time. Garibaldi v. Carroll, 33-568.

(l) See SECS. 2980-2984, 3039, 3040.

(m) Upon the death of one of several defendants in a judgment, the plaintiff has a right to a separate revival against a representative of the deceased. Finn, admr., v. Cra'tree, 12-597.

of the surviving plaintiff and the representatives of any deceased plaintiff, against any surviving defendant (n).

SEC. 3932. Such judgment or decree may be revived against the representatives of any deceased defendant, by scire facias in the name of the surviving plaintiff and the representatives of such as are deceased.

SEC. 3933. Executions may be issued against the surviving defendant and the representatives of the deceased defendants, or such of them as are jointly made parties.

SEC. 3934. If any executor or administrator be plaintiff or defendant in any judgment or decree, or shall die, resign or be dismissed before the same is satisfied or carried into effect, the judgment or decree may be revived by or against the administrator de bonis non in manner aforesaid. Rev. Stat., chap. 84, secs. 12-18.

LIENS UPON.

SEC. 3935. When any judgment is recovered in a court of record by, or in favor of, any party, all officers who, in pursuance of law, and attorneys who, upon contract expressed or implied, have rendered service for or in behalf of such party, in the action or proceeding in or upon which such judgment was rendered, shall severally have liens upon and an interest in such judgment, as follows:

First. Each officer to the amount to which he is entitled by law as costs, fees, allowances or otherwise, for services rendered to or on behalf of such party.

Second. Each attorney to the amount to which he is entitled by contract, or, if no amount is fixed, a reasonable compensation for his services rendered as aforesaid for, or on behalf of, such party (o).

SEC. 3936. Any property sold upon, in pursuance of, or to satisfy such judgment, and purchased directly or indirectly by, or on behalf of, the party in whose favor such judgment was rendered, his heir, personal representative or assignee, shall be deemed to be held in trust for any person holding such lien, to the amount of his lien, until the same is discharged.

SEC. 3937. When such judgment is for the recovery of real or personal property, the lien shall amount to an interest in such property to the extent of such lien.

SEC. 3938. Such lien in favor of an attorney for services rendered as aforesaid shall not prevail against any one who, in good faith and without notice of such lien, has made payments to the person in whose favor such judgment was rendered, upon or in consequence of such judgment, unless such attorney shall have asserted his lien as provided in the next section.

SEC. 3939. Any attorney who has a lien upon any judgment under the provisions of the preceding sections may, within ten days after the rendition of such judgment, file with the clerk a statement in writing, signed by himself or his agents, stating that he claims a lien upon such judgment for services rendered by him. Whereupon, the clerk shall enter upon the record, upon the margin of such judgment or near the same, a memorandum showing that such person claims a lien upon such judgment, which memorandum shall be indorsed upon each execution and order of sale issued thereon, and shall, as to all persons, be equivalent to actual notice of such lien. Civil Code, secs. 426, 427.

(n) See SECS. 2983, 3039, 3040.

(o) If the judgment be for the recovery of property, the attorney's lien gives him an interest in it which may be enforced in equity. Lane v. Hallum, 38—385. An attorney has no lien on a judgment recovered in favor of the state. Compton v. State, Ib., 601. If the plaintiff purchases land sold in satisfaction of his judgment, the attorney's lien attaches to the land. The filing of the lien with the clerk is necessary only for the protection of those who, in good faith and without notice, make payments on the judgment. The lien is superior to the rights of the assignee or heirs of the plaintiff, but extends only to the fee in the particular case. Porter v. Hanson, 36—591. Where an attorney in a suit causes property to be attached, the lien of the attachment inures to his benefit, and can not be defeated by any settlement between the parties. Gist v. Hanly, 33—233.

See also McCain v. Portis, 42—402.

ENTRY OF SATISFACTION.

SEC. 3940. Whenever the whole judgment shall appear to be satisfied by the return of an execution, it shall be the duty of the clerk to enter in the judgment book, in the space left for that purpose, "satisfied by execution."

SEC. 3941. Whenever a judgment is satisfied otherwise than upon an execution, it shall be the duty of the party or his attorney, within sixty days thereafter, to enter satisfaction in the judgment book, which shall be sufficiently done by writing the words "satisfied in full," with the date of the entry and the signature of the party making it.

SEC. 3942. If the person receiving satisfaction for any such judgment or decree shall neglect or fail to enter satisfaction within the time prescribed in the preceding section, such person shall forfeit and pay to the person against whom such judgment or decree may have been entered any sum not exceeding one hundred and fifty dollars, nor less than five dollars.

SEC. 3943. Satisfaction of a judgment or decree may be entered by the plaintiff in person, by his attorney of record, or by an agent duly authorized in writing for that purpose, under the hand of the plaintiff.

SEC. 3944. When the entry of satisfaction is made by an agent, his authority shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court in which the judgment or decree may be.

SEC. 3945. Satisfaction entered in accordance with the preceding provisions shall forever discharge and release the judgment or decree.

SEC. 3946. If the person receiving satisfaction of any judgment or decree shall neglect or refuse to acknowledge the same within the time prescribed, the party interested may, on notice given to the adverse party or his attorney, apply to the court to have satisfaction entered.

SEC. 3947. If the court shall be satisfied that the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, has received full satisfaction of such judgment or decree, an order shall be made directing the clerk to enter satisfaction on the same, which shall have the same effect as if it had been acknowledged by the party; and the costs attending such application shall be recovered of the party so refusing, by execution as in other cases. Rev. Stat., chap. 84, and Civil Code, sec. 425.

DUTY OF CLERKS.

SEC. 3948. The clerk must keep among the records of the court a book to be called the "judgment book," and in entering judgments or decrees therein shall leave a space or margin on the record in which to enter a memorandum of the satisfaction or setting aside of any such judgment or decree.

SEC. 3949. When satisfaction of a judgment or decree shall be acknowledged or entered by order of the court, or satisfaction shall be made by execution, or such judgment or decree shall be reversed or set aside, the clerk shall enter in the margin of the judgment book, opposite such judgment or decree, a memorandum of the disposition thereof, the date and the book and page in which the evidence of such disposition is entered on record.

SEC. 3950. All judgments and decrees, whether rendered by the court or by confession, shall be entered by the clerk in the "judgment book" in the order of their date.

SEC. 3951. The clerk, in recording any final judgment or decree in the judgment book, shall set forth the names of the parties, the date of the judgment or decree, its nature, the amount of debt, damages and costs, with a reference to the book and page in which such judgment or decree was originally entered.

SEC. 3952. He shall, immediately after the rendition of any judgment or decree, enter the same in the judgment book, in which shall be alphabetically cross-indexed all the judgments of the court, according to the surnames of the plaintiff and defendant; and if there is more than one plaintiff or defendant, then of the plaintiff and defendant first named in the complaint. It shall be so arranged that all the judgments in the case of plaintiffs whose surnames commence with the same letter shall be together, and all of each term shall immediately succeed each other. Rev. Stat., chap 84, and Civil Code, sec. 424.

DECREE MAY OPERATE TO PASS TITLE.

SEC. 3953. In all cases where the court may decree the conveyance of real estate, or the delivery of personal property, they may, by decree, pass the title of such property without any act to be done on the part of the defendant, where it shall be proper, and may issue a writ of possession if necessary, to put the party in possession of such real or personal property, or may proceed by attachment or sequestration (p).

SEC. 3954. When an unconditional decree shall be made for a conveyance, release or acquittance, and the party required to execute the same shall not comply therewith, the decree shall be considered and taken to have the same operation and effect, and be as available as if the conveyance, release or acquittance had been executed conformably to the decree. Rev. Stat., chap. 23, secs. 123, 124.

DECREES FOR THE CONVEYANCE OF REAL ESTATE TO BE RECORDED.

SEC. 3955. In all cases where any court of chancery shall decree a conveyance of real estate, or that real estate pass, the party in whose favor the decree is made shall cause a copy thereof to be recorded in the recorder's office of the county in which the lands passed or to be conveyed lie, within one year after the making of such decree; and if such decree be not recorded within such time, it shall be void as to all subsequent purchasers without notice.

(p) Such a decree binds the defendant and his heirs and purchasers, except those purchasing for a valuable consideration, without notice, where the decree has not been recorded as required by section 3955. Wilson v. Spring, 38—181.

SEC. 3956. The term "real estate," as used in this act, shall be construed to include all estates and interest in lands and tenements, whether legal or equitable, liable to be sold under execution. Rev. Stat., chap. 84, secs. 33, 34.

Summary judgment may be rendered against the sureties on delivery bonds in attachment cases. Fletcher v. Menken, 37-206.

(d) This summary remedy is in derogation of the common law and penal in its nature, and must be strictly pursued. The notice performs the functions of the summons and the declaration in an ordinary case. Where the execution issues from the circuit court of one county to the sheriff of another, this summary proceeding can not be maintained in the former county. Milor v. Farrelly, 25-353.

WHEN SECOND LIST OF PETIT JURORS MAY BE SELECTED.

SEC. 3998. In counties where the term of the court fixed by law is, or may be, more than twelve judicial days, the court, in selecting a petit jury for such term, may direct the jury commissioners to draw and return a second list of petit jurors, which is to be selected, delivered and indorsed like the first list, except to be designated "No. 2."

SEC. 3999. After the commencement of the term, the court may, if it thinks proper, order said list to be opened and copied, and the persons selected to be summoned to appear on such day in said term as the court shall designate.

SEC. 4000. Such new jury shall be ordered and sworn as the petit jury for the balance of the term, and the first jury shall be discharged.

SEC. 4001. If any of list "No. 2" shall fail to attend, or be excused, or are incompetent, a sufficient number of those on the first panel who are willing to serve shall be taken, in the order in which their names appear upon the record, to complete the second panel.

If, for any cause, the jury commissioners shall not be appointed, or shall fail to select a grand or petit jury, as provided in this chapter, or the panel selected shall be set aside, or the jury lists returned in court shall be lost or destroyed, the court shall order the sheriff to summon a grand or petit jury of the proper number, who shall attend and perform the duties thereof, respectively, as if they had been regularly selected (e). Ib., sec. 408.

FORMATION OF THE PANEL OF REGULAR JURORS FOR THE TERM.

SEC. 4004. A panel of twenty-four petit jurors shall be formed from the list of petit jurors and alternates, and bystanders, if necessary, in the manner prescribed in sections 3991 and 3992 for the selection of the grand jury, which shall be organized and sworn as provided in section 4006 (f). Ib., sec. 404.

(e) After the regular grand jury has been discharged, the court may order a special grand jury to be summoned, in certain cases. SEC. 2097.

(f) This and the four following sections seem to contemplate that the panel of regular jurors for the term shall be called and organized, and the jurors sworn, on the day they are summoned to attend. Such is the practice in a sister state, from the Revised Statutes of which this chapter seems mainly to have been taken. Sec Rev. Stat. Ky., p. 432.

SEC. 4005. Such panel shall be the regular jurors for the trial of all jury cases, both civil and criminal. Civil Code, sec. 342.

Oath of Jurors.

The names of such jurors shall be entered on the order book, and they shall be sworn in substance as follows: "You, and each of you, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will well and truly try each and all of the issues, inquisitions and other matters submitted to you respectively as jurors, at the present term of this court, and a true verdict render according to law and evidence, unless discharged by the court or withdrawn by the parties." Ib.

SEC. 4007. Said oath shall be binding upon each juror so sworn in all civil cases upon which he may act as juror during said term. Ib., sec. 343.

Vacancy or Deficiency in Panel—How Filled.

SEC. 4008. If, for any cause, any of said jurors shall, at any time, be released from serving for the balance of the term, others shall be summoned and sworn, so that there shall be at all times a panel of twenty-four regular jurors. Ib., sec. 343.

SEC. 4009. If a jury for the trial of any case can not be obtained out of said panel of regular petit jurors, bystanders shall be summoned, as the court may direct, to complete such jury, and the oath mentioned in section 4006, adapted to that particular case, shall be administered to said bystanders, and the record shall contain the names of said bystanders, together with the statement that they were selected and sworn according to law. Ib., sec. 344.

CHALLENGES.

SEC. 4010. A challenge to the array, or for cause, shall be decided by the court. Ib., secs. 345, 346.

SEC. 4011. In order to determine a challenge for cause, the particular juror or jurors challenged may be sworn, or, at the instance of either party, all of the jurors may be sworn to make true and perfect answers to such questions as may be demanded of them touching their qualifications as jurors. The court may allow other testimony in regard to the qualifications of any juror. Ib., sec. 346.

SEC. 4012. Each party shall have three peremptory challenges, which may be made orally. Ib., sec. 347.

TRIAL JURY—HOW DRAWN.

SEC. 4013. If either party shall desire a panel, the court shall cause the names of twenty-four competent jurors, written upon separate slips of paper, to be placed in a box to be kept for that purpose, from which the names of eighteen shall be drawn, and entered on a list in the order in which they were drawn, and numbered.

SEC. 4014. Each party shall be furnished with a copy of said list, from which each may strike the names of three jurors, and return the list so struck to the judge, who shall strike from the original list the names so stricken from the copies, and the first twelve names remaining on said original list shall constitute the jury. Ib.

SEC. 4015. Before the drawing of the list above mentioned, the court shall decide all challenges for cause which are presented, and, if there are not twenty-four competent jurors, bystanders shall be summoned as hereinbefore provided (g), until the requisite number of competent jurors is obtained, from which said list shall be drawn. Where there are several persons on the same side, the challenge of one shall be the challenge of all under this chapter. Ib., sec. 348.

in controversy does not exceed the sum of one hundred dollars (b). Art. VII, sec. 40, Const.

SEC. 4027. Such jurisdiction shall be co-extensive with the county in which they are elected or appointed. Act April 29, 1873, sec. 2.

SEC. 4028. A justice of the peace shall not have jurisdiction where a lien on land, or title or possession thereto, is involved (*). Art. VII, sec. 40, Const.

SEC. 4029. SEC. 4030. The constable of the township in which the suit may be brought shall serve the process on all the defendants named therein found in the county.

SEC. 4031. Whenever there shall be no justice within the township where any suit cognizable before a justice ought to be brought, or when all the justices of such township are interested in any such suit, or otherwise disqualified by law from trying the same, every such suit may be brought before some justice in the same county.

DOCKET.

SEC. 4032. Every justice of the peace shall keep a docket, in which shall be entered in continuous order, with the proper date to each act done:

First. The title to each cause.

Second. A brief statement of the nature and amount of the plaintiff's demand, and the defendant's set-off (if any), giving date to each where dates exist.

Third. The issuing of the process and return thereon.

Fourth. The appearance of the respective parties.

Fifth. Every adjournment, stating at whose instance and for what time.

Sixth. The trial, and whether by the justice or a jury.

Seventh. The verdict and judgment.

Eighth. The execution, to whom delivered and the amount of debt, damages and costs indorsed thereon.

(b) For criminal jurisdiction, see fifth subdivision of SEC. 1966, and SECS. 1492-1494; for mode of proceeding as an examining magistrate, SECS. 2019-2040; for practice and proceedings in trial of misdemeanors, SECS. 2367-2380.

"Matters of damage to personal property" in this section means all injuries which one may sustain in respect to his ownership of personal estate. St. Louis, I. M. & S. Railway Co. v. Heath, 41-476. See Stanley v. Bracht, 42-210; Moreland v. Condry, 40-78.

A justice of the peace has jurisdiction of an action for damages to personal property by negligence in the keeping of a ferry when the amount is one hundred dollars or less. Wells v. Steele, 31-219.

(*) In an action by a landlord against a tenant for rent, the jurisdiction of the justice can not be defeated by a denial of the plaintiff's title to the land. Mathews v. Morris, 31-222; Nolen v. Royston, 36-561.

When a justice of the peace sees that the title to lands must come in controversy before him, he should dismiss the case and refuse to take further cognizance of it. Fitzgerald v. Beebe, 7-305. But an answer setting up a want of title to the land is not, of itself, sufficient to oust the jurisdiction, without evidence on the trial tending to bring the title into question. Bramble v. Beidler, 38-200; Jordan v. Henderson, 37-120.

A justice of the peace has no jurisdiction to enforce a mechanic's lien on land. White v. Millbourne, 31-486. Nor in actions for trespass on real estate. School District v. Williams, 38-454.

Ninth. The giving a transcript for filing in the clerk's office, or for set-off, if one is given.

Tenth. A note of all motions made, and whether refused or granted.

Eleventh. An itemized statement of all the costs in the case (*).

SEC. 4033. Such docket shall be open to the inspection of any party interested, his agent or attorney.

SUITS, HOW BROUGHT.

SEC. 4034. The parties to the action may be the same as in the circuit court, and all the proceedings prescribed for that court, as far as the same are applicable and not herein changed, shall be pursued in justices' courts. But the powers of justices' courts shall be and are only such as are in this chapter enumerated. Act April 29, 1873, sec. 5.

SEC. 4035. This act, with the exceptions and provisos herein contained, is intended to be, and is hereby declared to be, the sole and only law governing the mode of proceedings (c) in justices' courts in civil actions. Ib., sec. 125.

SEC. 4036. Ordinary actions shall be commenced by summons (d), but before the summons is issued the plaintiff shall file with the justice the account, or the written contract, or a short written statement of the facts on which the action is founded (dd).

SEC. 4037. The summons, orders for provisional remedies and other process shall be directed to a constable, but may be served by any officer or person authorized by law to serve process (†).

SEC. 4038. Justices of the peace shall have power to appoint special agents to execute orders of arrest, attachments and other provisional remedies, and the summons which accompanies them, whenever an affidavit is filed with such justice by the plaintiff or his agent to the effect that he believes that, owing to the absence or difficulty of procuring a proper officer, the process or other order can not be executed without injurious delay; also where there is no constable in the township.

SEC. 4039. The appointment hereby provided for shall be made by an indorsement on the writ or order and signed by the justice.

SEC. 4040. The service and return thereto of process shall be made in the same manner as in the circuit court (e), except that no service shall be made by publication other than is herein provided for (f), nor shall any return made by another than the sheriff, coroner or constable of the county be valid unless sworn to. Ib., secs. 6-8, 10.

(*) The docket entries are quasi records, and, when certified, receivable in evidence. Gates v. Bennett, 33-475.

(dd) See Anthony, ex parte, 5-358; Keath v. Berkley, 7-469; Everett v. Clements & Thompson, 9-478; Jacks v. Nelson & Hanks, 34-531.

(e) For mode of service and return of summons, see SECS. 4975-4977; for service and return of order of attachment, SECS. 319-330.

(f) A justice may make a warning order, and service may be made by publication in cases commenced by attachment. SEC. 4124.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

SEC. 4041. Either party may take a change of venue from one justice of the peace to another in the same township, but it shall be the duty of the party so applying, before the commencement of the trial, to file an affidavit setting up that the justice is a material witness for affiant, or of near relation to the other, or so prejudiced against him that he can not obtain a fair and impartial trial before such justice; and the justice shall thereupon transmit all the original papers in said case and a certified transcript of the proceedings to the next nearest justice of the peace in the same township, who shall proceed in the case in the same manner as if the suit had originally been commenced before him. Provided, that the same party shall not be allowed to file such affidavit against exceeding two justices in the same case.

SEC. 4042. Should there be no other justice of the peace in the township competent to try the cause, it shall be certified to the nearest justice in any adjoining township, who shall try and determine the same in the same manner as if the parties were residents of his township, and the suit had been originally commenced before him.

SEC. 4043. Either party, at the calling of the cause, may make an affidavit to the effect that he verily believes he can not obtain a fair and impartial trial in the township in which the action is pending; and may embrace in his affidavit one township in addition to the one in which the action is pending, and the opposite party may, without affidavit, object to the same number of townships to which the party making the application has objected; and thereupon it shall be the duty of such justice to make an order for the change of venue to some justice in a township to which there is no valid objection, and which is, in his judgment, most convenient to the parties and their witnesses; and said justice shall transmit without delay the original papers in the case and a transcript of the proceedings to the justice to whose court the venue is changed, for which he shall receive five cents per mile to and from the office of such justice, which shall be taxed and collected as other costs in the case, together with his costs for making out such transcript.

SEC. 4044. If the justice of the peace to whom the papers are so transferred can not, immediately upon the reception and filing of the same, proceed to try said case, it shall be his duty at once to fix a time therefor, of which all parties shall take notice. Ib., secs. 20-23.

WHEN TRIAL TO BE HAD—APPEARANCE OF PARTIES, ETC.

SEC. 4045. When the matter in controversy does not exceed fifty dollars, the service of the summons five days before the time of trial shall authorize a trial and judgment, and when the matter in controversy exceeds fifty dollars, the service of the summons ten days before its return day shall authorize a trial and judgment (*).

SEC. 4046. Upon the return of a summons duly served, the parties shall be entitled to three hours after the time fixed for appearance in said summons, and neither party shall be bound to wait longer for the other.

(*) See Woolford v. Harrington, 2—85.

SEC. 4047. If the justice be engaged in other official business upon the return day of such summons or other process, he may postpone proceedings in the case until such business is finished.

SEC. 4048. If, from any cause, the justice is unable to attend the trial at the time fixed, or if a jury be demanded, such justice may adjourn the case for a period not exceeding three days, but shall not make more than two adjournments for that cause.

SEC. 4049. On the calling of an action for trial, if the summons has been duly served, the defendant shall put in his defense, and the plaintiff his reply, if a reply be necessary, and the trial forthwith proceed, unless the court give further time or grant a continuance.

SEC. 4050. The pleadings in the action may be written or oral, and without verification, but, if oral, it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace to write down the substance thereof in his docket, and all cross demands or set-offs shall be made, if at all, at the time the answer is put in (†).

SEC. 4051. The original or a copy of all written instruments upon which a cause of action or set-off is founded shall be filed with the claim founded thereon, or a sufficient reason given for not doing so.

SEC. 4052. Either party may obtain a postponement of the cause not exceeding thirty days, on account of the absence of evidence, by filing an affidavit like that required in the circuit court (g), subject to such terms as the court may impose.

SEC. 4053. The party who shall apply for such postponement shall, if required by the adverse party, consent that the testimony of any witness of the adverse party who is in attendance be then taken to be used on the trial of the cause.

SEC. 4054. After the parties appear and the issues have been made up, the matters in controversy may be submitted by them to the justice. But if a jury shall be demanded by either party, the justice shall order a jury to be forthwith summoned and impaneled to try the action. Such jury shall be composed of six jurors, but a less number may be agreed upon by the parties.

SEC. 4055. In the formation of such jury each party shall be entitled to three peremptory challenges, and any deficiencies in the number of jurors summoned, arising from any cause, may be supplied by summoning others in their stead.

SEC. 4056. The justice shall administer to each juror an oath well and truly to try the matter in controversy between ———, plaintiff, and ———, defendant, and a true verdict give according to the evidence, unless discharged by the justice.

SEC. 4057. After the jury are sworn, they shall sit together and hear the allegations and proofs of the parties, which shall be delivered publicly, in their presence, and they must all agree to the verdict.

SEC. 4058. If a witness, on being produced, shall be objected to as incompetent, or his testimony, when offered, as irrelevant, such objections shall be heard and determined by the justice.

SEC. 4059. Every person offered as a witness, before any testimony shall be given by him, shall be duly sworn that the evidence he shall give relating to the matter between ———, plaintiff, and ———, defendant, shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

SEC. 4060. Either party may examine the other on oath, and, for that purpose, may cause him to be summoned to attend the trial, if he resides in the county, or, if he resides out of the county, may file written interrogatories with the court or magistrate before whom the trial is to be had, together with an affidavit that he believes the answers to them are necessary to his obtaining justice, and cause a copy of said interrogatories to be delivered to the party required to answer them, who shall make out, swear to and file with such court or magistrate, on or before the day of trial, a plain, direct response to the interrogatories, which may be read by either party.

SEC. 4061. The court shall render judgment against the party who refuses to attend and be examined when summoned two days before the trial, or to make proper responses to interrogatories when a copy shall have been delivered to him three days before the trial, when he resides within fifty miles of the place of trial, and one additional day for every thirty miles he may reside therefrom; but the court may grant further time for attending or answering.

SEC. 4062. The last two sections shall apply to circuit courts upon the trial of appeals from judgments of justices of the peace.

SEC. 4063. When the jurors shall have agreed upon their verdict, they shall deliver the same to the justice publicly, who shall enter it on his docket.

SEC. 4064. Whenever a justice shall be satisfied that a jury sworn in a cause before him, after having been out a reasonable time, can not agree on their verdict, he may discharge them, and shall issue immediately a new summons for another to appear, at a time therein fixed, not more than three days distant, unless the parties consent that the justice may render judgment upon the evidence already before him, which, in such case, he may do; or, unless they consent that the new trial, upon a new hearing of the evidence to be adduced by the parties, shall be by the justice.

SEC. 4065. If the plaintiff fails to appear by himself, his agent or attorney, on the return day of the summons, or at any other time fixed for the trial, the justice may dismiss the action for want of prosecution, except in the case provided for in the next section (*).

SEC. 4066. When the suit is founded on an instrument of writing purporting to have been executed by the defendant, in which the demand of the plaintiff is liquidated, if the signature of the defendant is not denied under oath, and if the instrument has been filed with the justice previous to the day for appearance, he may proceed with the cause whether the plaintiff appear or not, and such instrument of writing shall be competent proof in the case.

SEC. 4067. In the case provided for in the last section, if the defendant does not appear in obedience to the summons, judgment shall be rendered against him for the amount of the plaintiff's claim.

SEC. 4068. When the plaintiff's claim is not founded on such written instrument, and the defendant does not appear, the justice shall proceed to hear the allegations and proofs of the plaintiff, and shall render judgment thereon for the amount to which he shows himself entitled, not exceeding the amount claimed in the action.

SEC. 4069. In the cases contemplated in the last two sections, if the defendant has previously filed a set-off, founded on a written instrument purporting to have been signed by the plaintiff, calling for a certain sum, if the signature of such plaintiff is not denied under oath, the justice shall allow such set-off in the same manner as if the defendant had appeared, and shall render judgment accordingly.

SEC. 4070. Judgment of dismissal for want of prosecution, or judgment by default, may be set aside by the justice at any time within ten days after being rendered, if the party applying therefor can show a satisfactory excuse for his default, and a meritorious cause of action or meritorious defense, whereupon a new day shall be fixed for trial, and notice given to the opposite party; and any execution which may in the meantime have been issued shall be recalled in the same manner as in cases of appeal, and the cause shall proceed to trial as though no such judgment had been taken.

SEC. 4071. A new trial or rehearing may be granted by a justice of the peace (except on trial by jury), upon motion made within ten days after a judgment or final order has been made or rendered, of which motion notice shall be given to the opposite party.

SEC. 4072. No motion for a new trial or a rehearing, in a cause tried by a jury, shall be entertained by a justice of the peace. Ib., secs. 24-41.

JUDGMENT AND PROCEEDINGS INCIDENT THERETO.

SEC. 4073. In cases of dismissal for want of prosecution, confession, or on the verdict of a jury, the judgment shall be rendered and entered upon the docket forthwith. In all other cases the same shall be done within three days after the cause is submitted to the justice for final decision (*).

SEC. 4074. A set-off or counter-claim, though exceeding in amount the jurisdiction of the court, may be used to bar and extinguish the demand of the plaintiff; but no judgment shall be rendered in favor of the defendant for the excess, unless such excess is within the limits of the court's jurisdiction as to amount. The judgment shall ascertain the amount due to the plaintiff, and give him a credit therefor on the claim used as a set-off or counter-claim.

SEC. 4075. Mutual judgments between the same parties, rendered by the same or different justices, may be set off against each other.

SEC. 4076. When rendered by the same court, the justice shall strike the balance as it appears from the judgments on his docket, and issue executions therefor in favor of the party to whom the same appears to be due.

SEC. 4077. If the judgment proposed to be set off was rendered by another justice, the party offering it must obtain a transcript thereof, with a certificate of the justice who rendered it indorsed thereon, stating that no appeal has been taken, and that the transcript was obtained for the purpose of being used as a set-off in that case; but such transcript shall not be given until the time for taking an appeal has elapsed.

(*) Where a justice of the peace fails to render judgment upon the verdict of a jury at the time when the verdict is returned, he, or his successor in office, may render such judgment at any subsequent time, nunc pro tunc. Adams v. Thompson, etc., 12-670.

SEC. 4078. The justice so giving a transcript shall make an entry in his docket, and all other proceedings in his court shall be stayed.

SEC. 4079. When such transcript is presented to the justice who has rendered a judgment between the same parties as aforesaid, if execution has not been issued on the judgment rendered by him, he shall strike a balance between the judgments, and issue execution for such balance.

SEC. 4080. If, at the time of filing such transcript, execution has already issued, the justice of the peace shall also issue execution on the transcript filed with him, and deliver it to the same officer who has the other execution; and such officer shall treat the lesser execution as so much cash collected on the larger, and proceed to collect the balance then found due.

SEC. 4081. When the judgment is allowed to be set off, as in this act provided, the transcript thereof shall be filed among the papers of the case in which it is so used, and the proper entry made in the justice's docket. But if the justice refuses the judgment as a set-off, he shall so certify on the transcript, and return it to the party who offered it, and, when filed in the office of the justice who gave it, proceedings may be had by him in the same manner as if no such transcript had been certified by him.

SEC. 4082. The costs in suits where mutual judgments have been obtained shall not be set off, unless the balance of cash actually collected on the larger judgment be sufficient to pay the costs of both judgments, and such costs shall be paid therefrom accordingly.

SEC. 4083. The rules and proceedings governing confessions of judgment, as the same may apply to the circuit courts, apply to justices' courts (h). Ib., secs. 42-52.

SEC. 4084. If any sum be found in favor of a party, either by verdict of a jury or upon a hearing of the cause before a justice, exceeding the sum for which the justice is authorized to give judgment, such party may remit and release the excess, and take judgment for the residue; but shall never thereafter be allowed to institute any suit for the recovery of such excess so remitted and released. Ib., sec. 55.

PROCEEDINGS TO RESTORE LOST DOCKET ENTRIES, ETC.

SEC. 4085. Whenever the dockets, entries and papers, or any or either of them, of any justice of the peace shall have been or may hereafter be lost or destroyed, any person interested in any such lost dockets, entries, or papers, may have such entry restored on the docket of the justice making the same, or his successor in office, or may have such paper or papers supplied by the justice with whom the same were filed, or his successor in office, to take effect and be in force as if never lost or destroyed, by filing with such justice, or his successor in office, a petition, verified by the affidavit of himself, his agent or attorney, setting forth, as near as he can, a particular description of such lost or destroyed entry or paper, and if a judgment, note or bond, stating the amount due thereon, with the rate of interest, and date, as near as may be, when the interest began to run; that the same has not been paid, vacated, or in any manner satisfied or discharged, and causing a summons to be issued thereon, made returnable and served as in the case of ordinary suits before a justice.

(h) For mode of confessing judgments, see SECS. 5185-5187.

SEC. 4086. Upon the return day of said summons, if it shall appear that service thereof has been duly made, and the persons summoned shall fail to appear, and the justice shall be satisfied of the truth of such petition, judgment by default shall be rendered thereon, restoring such docket entry, or supplying such papers as may have been lost, in all which proceeding the plaintiff shall pay all the costs; but if the defendant in said petition, or any person as his agent, or attorney, shall appear, and on oath deny the statements or any material part thereof, the justice shall cause the facts in issue to be tried as in other actions; and if judgment shall be given for the plaintiff, he shall recover all his costs.

SEC. 4087. Executions and all other process necessary and proper in other judgments and proceedings before justices shall be issued for the enforcement of any such lost or destroyed judgment or papers, with the same effect as if the same had not been lost or destroyed. Act March 17, 1879.

STAY OF EXECUTION.

SEC. 4088. The execution upon a judgment rendered by a justice of the peace may be stayed in manner and form as follows: Provided, that the stay upon all sums under said jurisdiction shall be three months.

SEC. 4089. If all the parties agree upon any other period, the stay shall be for the time so agreed upon.

SEC. 4090. To entitle any person to such stay of execution, some responsible person, to be approved by the justice, not being a party to the judgment, must, within ten days after the rendering of the judgment, enter into an obligation before the justice to the adverse party, in a sum sufficient to secure the payment of the judgment, conditioned to be void on payment of such judgment at the expiration of the stay.

SEC. 4091. Such obligation must be signed by the party entering into the same, and be attested by the justice before whom it may be taken, and shall have the same force and effect as a judgment rendered by a justice of the peace, and it may be in the following form:

"I, _____, do acknowledge myself indebted to _____ in the sum of _____ dollars, to be void upon this condition:

"Whereas, _____ obtained a judgment before _____, a justice of the peace of _____ township, in the county of _____, on the _____ day of _____, 18—, against _____. Now, if such judgment shall be paid at the expiration of _____ months from the time it was rendered, this obligation shall be void.

"Approved.

_____, J. P."

And the justice shall file such obligation among the papers in the case, and make a note in his docket of the day and date thereof.

SEC. 4092. If the plaintiff or his agent will make oath before the justice rendering the judgment that he has reason to believe that the defendant is secreting his property, or is putting it out of his hands for the purpose of defrauding his just creditors, and that he verily believes the debt will be lost if execution be not immediately issued, in all such cases the justice shall immediately issue execution on such judgment, whether the ten days allowed in this act for entering into obligation for the stay of execution have expired or not.

SEC. 4093. If any plaintiff, when execution has been stayed, will satisfy the justice before whom an obligation for such stay may have been entered into, by affidavit or evidence, that such obligation, or the security therein, is insufficient, and that, unless execution be immediately issued on such judgment, he will be in danger of losing his debt, such justice shall immediately issue execution, regardless of the stay.

SEC. 4094. In all cases where execution shall be stayed on any judgment rendered by a justice of the peace, such judgment shall be a lien upon all the personal property subject to execution belonging to the defendant at the time of the rendition of the judgment (*). Act April 29, 1873, secs. 56-62.

SEC. 4095. If, at the expiration of the stay, any judgment be not paid, the execution shall be issued against both principal and security, and, if the principal do not satisfy the execution, and the officer can not find sufficient property belonging to him upon which to levy, he shall levy upon the property of the bail, and, in his return, shall state what amount of the money collected by him on the execution was collected from the bail, and the time the same was received.

SEC. 4096. After the return of such execution, the bail shall be entitled, upon motion, to a judgment before the justice for the amount collected from him in satisfaction of such execution, with interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum per annum, and the return of the officer shall be evidence of the amount of money paid by the bail.

SEC. 4097. No such motion shall be made after the expiration of four months from the return day of such execution.

SEC. 4098. If a judgment be stayed in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, after an execution shall have been issued thereon, the justice shall revoke said execution in the same manner and with like effect as he is hereinafter directed to revoke an execution after an appeal has been allowed.

SEC. 4099. No stay shall be allowed in the cases mentioned in section 3028, and in the cases mentioned in that section in which a stay is not allowed the justice shall note the same on his docket on the day of the rendition of the judgment. Ib., secs. 63-67.

FILING TRANSCRIPT.

SEC. 4100. Every justice, on the demand of any person in whose favor he shall have rendered judgment for more than ten dollars, exclusive of costs, shall, upon payment of costs thereon, give to such person a certified copy of such judgment, and the clerk of the circuit court of the same county in which the judgment was rendered shall, upon the production of any such transcript, file the same in his office, and forthwith enter such judgment in the docket of the circuit court for judgment and decrees, and shall note therein the time of filing such transcript.

SEC. 4101. No such transcript shall be filed, and no execution shall be sued out of the circuit court on such judgment, until an execution shall have been issued by a justice and returned that the defendant has no goods or chattels whereon to levy the same (†).

(*) The lien is confined to the defendant's personal property in the township in which the judgment was rendered. Carroll v. Gillespie, 41-468.

(†) See Massey v. Gardenhire, 12-638; State v. Norris, 19-247; Hunt v. Weiner, 39-70.

SEC. 4102. Every such judgment, from the time of filing the transcript thereof, shall be a lien on the real estate of the defendant in the county, to the same extent as a judgment of the circuit court of the same county, and shall be carried into execution in the same manner and with like effect as the judgments of such circuit courts (*). Ib., secs. 68 and 69.

SEC. 4108. It shall be the duty of every justice of the peace before whom a judgment has been obtained, whenever he is about to be absent from his township or county for more than ten days, or has resigned and his successor not been appointed, to deposit, or cause to be deposited, his docket with the nearest justice of the peace in his township or county; and when so deposited it shall be lawful for the justice with whom the docket is deposited, upon application as provided in section 4107, to issue an execution upon any judgment which appears upon said docket unsatisfied against any person. Ib., secs. 53, 54, 71, 72, 76, 77.

SEC. 4111. When an execution is issued and returned not satisfied, it shall be the duty of the justice to renew such execution by indorsement thereon, signed by him and dated when the same is made.

SEC. 4112. Every such indorsement shall renew the execution in full force, in all respects, for twelve months and no longer. An entry of such renewal shall be made in the docket of the justice. Provided, that such execution so renewed shall be enforced at any time at the instance of the plaintiff.

SEC. 4120. The person entitled to the money paid shall have the like remedies against the constable and his securities for the recovery thereof as if the money had been collected by the constable on execution.

PROCEEDINGS IN REPLEVIN AND ATTACHMENT.

SEC. 4124. The provisions of this chapter are not intended to govern the proceedings of justices' courts in replevin (p) and suits by attachment (q) and garnishment; but in such actions the rules of proceedings now in force, or which may hereafter be in force, in the circuit courts, so far as they are applicable, shall govern justices' courts (*). Ib., sec. 120.

SEC. 4125. Whenever the constable, to whom any order of attachment issued by any justice of the peace of this state shall be directed, can find no personal property upon which to levy the same, he may and shall levy such order upon any lands, tenements, town lots, interest in or equity of redemption in any real property belonging to the defendant in such attachment subject to execution by the laws of this state, and make his return accordingly, describing in said return the property so levied upon.

SEC. 4126. In all cases in suits by attachment in which lands, tenements, town lots, interest in or equity of redemption in any real property shall have been levied upon as provided for in the preceding section, the plaintiff, if he obtain judgment therein, shall be entitled to a transcript of the judgment and proceedings in said cause, and, upon the filing of such transcript in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which such judgment was obtained, the same shall be entered in the docket of the circuit court for common law judgments, and shall thenceforth have the same force and effect of a judgment rendered in said circuit court, upon which an order of sale shall be issued by the clerk of said court, directed to the sheriff of the county, under which the property so seized and levied upon and condemned to be sold by said judgment, shall be sold in the same manner and with the same notice as sales of real property under execution are made. Provided, no such sale shall be made until the plaintiff shall execute bond to the defendant in the manner now prescribed by law (†).

SEC. 4127. This act shall relate and apply to all suits by attachment before justices of the peace, heretofore brought or now pending, in which any real estate or interest in or equity of redemption of any lands or tenements may have been levied upon and seized by any constable or sheriff by virtue of any such order, and sales made thereunder shall have the same validity, force and effect as in cases brought after the passage of this act. Act Jan. 23, 1875.

any execution has been delivered, or who has received any money upon any judgment of such justice, whether with or without execution:

First. If the constable fail to make return of the execution according to the command thereof.

Second. If he make a false return.

Third. If he fail to have any money collected by him on execution before the justice on the return day thereof, ready to be paid over to the party entitled thereto, or the receipt of such person therefor.

Fourth. If he fail to pay over on demand to the person entitled thereto, or his agent, any money received by him in payment of any judgment (r).

SEC. 4129. Such summons shall require the constable to appear before the justice at a place and time to be specified therein, not exceeding ten days, and show cause why an execution shall not issue against him for the amount due upon the execution placed in his hands, or for the amount received by him upon the judgment, according to the nature of the case.

SEC. 4130. The summons shall be served at least four days before the return day thereof, and may in other respects be executed in like manner as an original summons.

SEC. 4131. If the constable shall fail to appear, or, appearing, fail to show good cause to the contrary, the justice shall render judgment against him for the amount due on the execution, or for the amount received by him without execution, according to the nature of the case, together with interest thereon at the rate of one hundred per centum per annum from the time such execution ought to have been returned, and from the time such money ought to have been had before the justice ready to be paid over to the parties entitled thereto, or from the time the money was received on the judgment without execution, or was demanded by the party or his agent.

SEC. 4132. All process issued against any constable shall be served and executed by a special deputy, who shall be appointed by the justice for that purpose, and have the same power to execute and return such process as a constable, and whose return shall be sworn to.

SEC. 4133. The party injured may proceed against the constable as before directed, or may institute a suit against him on his official bond; and in such suit he shall be entitled to the like recovery as upon a summons against the constable. Act April 29, 1873, secs. 88-91, 93, 94.

APPEAL (s).

SEC. 4134. Any person aggrieved by any judgment rendered by a justice of the peace, except a judgment of dismissal for want of prosecution, may, in person or by his agent, take his appeal therefrom to the circuit court. Ib., sec. 95.

SEC. 4135. No appeal shall be allowed unless the following requisites shall be complied with:

First. The applicant, or some person for him, shall make and file with the justice an affidavit that the appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay, but that justice may be done him (†).

Second. The appeal must be taken within thirty days after the judgment was rendered, and not thereafter.

Third. The applicant, or some person for him, together with one or more securities, to be approved by the justice, must, within the time prescribed in the second clause of this section, enter into an obligation before the justice to the adverse party, in a sum sufficient to secure the payment of such judgment and the costs of the appeal, conditioned that the applicant will prosecute his appeal with due diligence to a decision; and if, on such appeal, the judgment of the justice be affirmed, or if, on a trial anew in the circuit court, judgment be given against him, that he will pay such judgment, and if his appeal be dismissed, that he will pay the judgment of the justice, together with the costs of the appeal; such obligation shall be signed by the parties entering into the same, and shall be attested by the justice. Ib., sec. 97, as amended by act March 16, 1883.

SEC. 4136. Either party may appeal without giving bond, as required in this act; but such appeal shall not operate as a suspension of the proceedings upon the judgment appealed from, and no certificate shall be given the appellant stating that an appeal in the cause has been allowed, and no execution issued be recalled.

SEC. 4137. Upon an appeal being made according to the foregoing provisions, the justice shall allow the same, and immediately make an entry of such allowance in his docket, and all further proceedings on the judgment shall be suspended by the allowance of the appeal; and if, in the meantime, execution shall have issued, the justice shall give the appellant a certificate that an appeal in the cause has been allowed, except as provided in the last preceding section no such certificate shall be issued.

SEC. 4138. On such certificate being presented to the constable holding the execution, he shall forthwith release the property taken in execution, and return the said execution properly indorsed.

SEC. 4139. On or before the first day of the circuit court next after the appeal shall have been allowed, the justice shall file in the office of the clerk of such court a transcript of all the entries made in his docket relating to the cause, together with all the process and all the papers relating to such suit (*).

SEC. 4140. Upon the return of the justice being filed in the clerk's office, the court shall be in possession of the cause and shall proceed to hear, try and determine the same anew on its merits, without any regard to any error, defect or other imperfection in the proceedings of the justice.

SEC. 4141. No appeal from a justice of the peace to the circuit court shall be dismissed or stricken from the docket when any specific sum shall be found by said justice: first, because the justice has not rendered a formal judgment upon his record or docket; second, because he has not entered upon his docket

(†) An affidavit for appeal is a prerequisite to the granting of the appeal. Merrill v. Maness, 19—647. An informal affidavit may be amended in the circuit court. Young v. King, 33—745. If a justice omits to sign his name to the jurat to an affidavit for appeal, he may be compelled to sign it by rule of court. Guy, McClellan & Co. v. Walker & Johnson, 35—212.

(*) It is the duty of the appellant to see that the transcript is filed as required, and if he fails to do so, the circuit court may, in its discretion, dismiss or affirm for failure to prosecute the appeal. Smith v. Allen, 31—268; McGehee v. Carroll & Jones, Ib., 550; Hughes v. Wheat, 32—292.

that an appeal was prayed for and granted. But if all the requisites, as they are required in this act for the taking of appeals, be substantially complied with, the cause shall be deemed to be in court and be subject to be tried anew upon its merits.

SEC. 4142. In all cases of appeal from justices of the peace for trial de novo, the justice before whom the cause was tried may be required, whether in or out of office, to appear before such court upon the motion of either party, and amend any defect or omission, either in form or substance, according to the right and truth of the case, in the proceeding had before him not the fault or omission of either of the parties, so that no such appeal shall be dismissed for want of jurisdiction because of the fault or neglect of the justice to mark any paper filed, for any defect in the affidavit or obligation for the appeal, or order granting the appeal, or any defective entry made, or informal judgment rendered by him.

SEC. 4143. Upon the appeal being made and allowed, the circuit court may, by rule and attachment, compel a return by the justice of his proceedings in the suit, and of the papers required to be by him returned.

SEC. 4144. If a justice shall fail to allow an appeal in a cause where the same ought to be allowed, the circuit court, or the judge thereof in vacation, on such fact satisfactorily appearing, may, by rule and attachment, compel the justice to allow the same and return his proceedings in the suit, together with the papers required to be returned by him.

SEC. 4145. Whenever the court is satisfied that the return of the justice is substantially defective, the court may, by rule and attachment, compel him to amend the same (†).

SEC. 4146. No appeal allowed by a justice shall be dismissed because there is no bond or obligation, or because the bond or obligation given is defective, if the appellant will, before the motion to dismiss is determined, enter before the circuit court into such obligation as he ought to have entered into before the allowance of the appeal, and pay all costs that shall be incurred by reason of such defect or omission. Provided, that any person appealing without bond and a suspension of the proceedings in the justice's court shall not be required to enter into bond before the circuit court, as in this section required.

SEC. 4147. All appeals allowed ten days before the first day of the term of the circuit court next after the appeal allowed shall be determined at such term, unless continued for cause.

SEC. 4148. If the appeal be not allowed on the same day on which the judgment is rendered, the appellant shall serve the appellee, at least ten days before the first day of the term at which the cause is to be determined, with a notice in writing notifying him of the fact that an appeal has been taken from the judgment therein specified. The notice may be served in the same manner as an original summons, and when the appellee does not reside in the county, and has no agent in the suit therein, the service may be by leaving a copy of such notice with such justice.

SEC. 4149. If the appellant fail to give notice of his appeal in a cause, when such notice is required, the cause may, on the application of the appellee, be continued, as a matter of course, until the succeeding term; but no appeal shall be dismissed for want of such notice, and, if the cause be continued, no further notice shall be required.

SEC. 4150. Nothing in the preceding section shall be so construed as to prevent the appellee from going into trial without such notice.

SEC. 4151. The same cause of action, and no other, that was tried before the justice shall be tried in the circuit court upon the appeal, and no set-off shall be pleaded that was not pleaded before the justice, if the summons was served on the person of the defendant (*).

SEC. 4152. If the party appealing moves to dismiss in the circuit court, or fails to prosecute his appeal, it shall be at the option of the appellee either to proceed to trial on the appeal or have judgment rendered for the amount of the original judgment and costs where it was in his favor, or in bar of the original judgment where it was against him.

JUDGMENT ON APPEAL AND PROCEEDINGS THEREON.

SEC. 4153. In all cases of appeal from a justice of the peace, if the judgment of the justice be affirmed, or if, on trial anew in the circuit court, the judgment be against the appellant, such judgment shall be rendered against him and his securities in the appeal bond (t).

SEC. 4154. If, an execution being issued upon such judgment, the principal shall not pay such execution, and the officer can not find sufficient property belonging to such principal to satisfy the same, such execution shall be enforced against the securities, and the officer shall specify in his return by whom the money was paid, and the time thereof.

SEC. 4155. After the return of an execution, satisfied, in whole or in part, out of the property of a security, such security shall be entitled to a judgment, upon motion, against the principal, for the amount so paid by him, together with interest thereon at the rate of ten per centum per annum from the time of payment (u).

SEC. 4156. Such motion must be made within one year after the return day of the execution; and the return of the officer shall be evidence upon the hearing of such motion of the facts therein stated. Ib., secs. 98-118.

(*) See Hall v. Doyle, 35-445.

SEC. 4358. If there be no such newspaper printed in a county, and there be occasion for publishing any such legal advertisement, then the person whose duty it is to cause such publication to be made, as aforesaid, may select any newspaper printed in this state, and having a circulation therein, which is duly authorized to publish the same.

SEC. 4359. SEC. 4360. The printer's receipt for the cost of proof and fee for printing shall be attached to such proof of publication, and the amount thereof shall be taxed and collected as other costs of the case.

SEC. 4361. Any officer who levies on goods or chattels, lands or tenements, or is charged with the duty of selling the same by virtue of any writ or execution, may refuse to publish a notice of sale thereof by advertisement in a newspaper until the party for whose benefit such execution issued, his agent or attorney, shall advance to such officer money sufficient to discharge the legal fees of the printer for publishing such notice. Act Feb. 15, 1875.

SECTION 4364. The county courts of the several counties in this state containing lands subject to overflow may divide the territory of their respective counties subject to overflow into one or more districts, having reference to the locality of the land and the character of the river front, including in each of said districts, as near as possible, all the lands subject to overflow from the same crevasses or direction, and which can be protected by the same system of levee.

SEC. 4365. The court may lay off such levee districts at any regular term.

SEC. 4366. No such district shall be formed, unless notice of an intention to apply therefor be first given, by posting written notices in three public places in the limits of the proposed district, at least ten days before the formation of said district; said notice may be given by any land-holder in said district, or by order of the court made at a preceding term.

(*) The building and repairing of levees in the County of Chicot, and in "all that part of Desha County included in a line running from the north-east corner of Chicot County up the Mississippi River to Cypress Creek; thence up Cypress Creek and along Red Fork Bayou and Boggy Bayou to Amos Bayou, so as to include the line of levee from Amos Bayou to and down the south bank of Cypress Creek as built in 1860, and thence up Amos Bayou to range line between two (2) and three (3) west; thence south on said line to the line between Chicot and Desha Counties, and thence along the line between the said counties to the point of beginning," is provided for and regulated by the act of March 21, 1883, and the act supplemental thereto, approved March 31, 1883; and the provisions of this chapter, which are taken from the act of March 20, 1879, are not in force within the limits of Chicot County, nor in that part of Desha County described in this note. See acts of 1883, pp. 163, 312.

SEC. 4367. At the term of the court at which said districts may be laid off, or at any future term, the said court shall designate and fix a day of election for three directors of levees and three assessors of lands in each of said districts, and shall appoint three judges of election to hold said election.

SEC. 4368. Said election shall be held in accordance with the general election laws of the state, except that none but land-holders of said district and mortgagees in possession after condition broken shall be allowed to vote at said election, or be eligible to election to either of said offices, or to act as judges at said election, except that guardians duly appointed and who shall have given bond and received letters of guardianship of infant heirs, or insane persons, owning land in said district, may vote in right of their respective wards.

SEC. 4369. The judge of said election shall open the polls, appoint two clerks of election, and proceed to hold said election by ballot, and keep the polls open until sundown of said day, and shall cause poll-books to be kept and the name of each voter to be recorded with the number of his ballot; the ballots shall be counted, and the result of said election shall be declared and recorded and the returns signed by the judges and clerks of said election, and the same shall be sealed up and directed to the judge of the county court; the ballots also shall be sealed up in a separate envelope, and said returns and ballots shall be deposited in the clerk's office of said county by one of the judges of said election within five days after said election is held.

SEC. 4370. If it be more than ten days to a regular term of said court after said election is held, the judge of the county court shall hold a special term of said court within ten days of said election, at which the returns shall be opened by the court and clerk, who shall constitute the board of canvassers to canvass the votes at said election and declare the result, and the three persons having the highest number of votes in said district for directors shall compose the board of levee directors for said district; and the three persons having the highest number of votes for assessors shall compose the board of assessors of said district.

SEC. 4371. Said court shall cause an order to be entered on its minutes reciting said election, and the names of the persons so found to be elected to said offices, and shall give to each of said persons a certificate of his election, attested by the clerk and the seal of said court.

SEC. 4372. In case any person voted for at said election shall contest the election of either of said officers, he shall commence proceedings within ten days after the result of said election is declared by said court, and said contest shall be conducted in the same manner and governed by the same laws as is now, or hereafter may be, prescribed for contesting the election of constable.

SEC. 4373. The said court shall designate a number or name for each of said districts, and said district shall be known and designated by such number or name, thus: Levee District No. —, County —, Levee District — County.

SEC. 4374. It shall be the duty of the said board of directors to determine what work is necessary to be done, or levees to be constructed, to protect their said district from overflow. They shall cause accurate surveys of all work deemed necessary by them, and accurate estimates and calculations, to be made by some suitable and competent engineer or other person, who shall make a written report thereof, showing the amount, character and kind of work, the exact location thereof and the probable cost thereof, and return the same with all plans and specifications to the board of directors.

SEC. 4375. Said assessors shall then assess the value of lands in said district subject to overflow and benefited by said work, having reference to the value of said land without said work, and the value thereof as benefited by said work, and shall assess the value thereof as improved by said work in an assessment book to be provided for that purpose.

SEC. 4376. Said lands shall be entered upon said book in the smallest subdivision, as surveyed by the United States government, with appropriate columns showing the names and residence of the owners of said land, and of any person holding recorded liens or incumbrances thereon; also, the description of said land and number of acres, whether the same is cleared or uncleared, or the number of acres cleared and the number of acres uncleared, if the same shall be partly cleared and partly uncleared, the value thereof as assessed by them without the work and the value thereof as improved by the work.

SEC. 4377. The board of directors shall then call a meeting of all the land-holders of said district, at some place convenient to some part of said work, and shall give at least five days' notice of the time and place of said meeting, by written or printed handbills, put up in ten public places in said district, and that the estimates of the surveyor and the list of the assessors will be submitted to said meeting for action, and requiring the owner of said lands, and the holders of any lien thereon, to show cause at said meeting why said lands shall not be assessed with their proportional part of the cost of such work.

SEC. 4378. At such meeting the report and the estimates of the engineers and the assessment of the assessors shall be laid before the land-holders present, an estimate of the probable cost of said work, and the probable rate per centum thereof on the valuation of said lands as increased by said work as will be necessary to pay for said work, shall be made known to the land-holders present, and a vote shall then be taken whether the work shall be done; provided, however, that no vote shall be taken unless two-thirds of the owners of said land, either by themselves or their agent or attorney, authorized to act for them, be present, and three-fourths of those present shall vote for said work.

SEC. 4379. If it shall be decided at said meeting, in the manner aforesaid, to do said work, the directors shall proceed to let the same out to the lowest and best bidder; provided, however, that said directors shall have the right to reject all bids if the same shall be deemed too high.

SEC. 4380. Before said work is let said board of directors shall procure the right of way over all lands belonging to private persons, not heretofore used for a levee, and, in case they can not get a gratuitous relinquishment of such right, they shall report the lands and the owners' names to the county court of such county, and give notice to the owner or owners of such land, or to his or their agent, that they will apply to such court, on a day therein to be mentioned, for a jury to assess the damages which will be sustained by reason of said levee; provided, if the owner or owners of said land be non-residents of such county, and have no known agent residing therein, said notice shall be posted on some conspicuous place on said land.

SEC. 4381. Said court, on the application of said directors, upon proof that such notice has been given, shall, on or after the day mentioned in said notice, order a jury of twelve land-holders to be summoned by the sheriff of said county to assess the damages such land-holders shall sustain, on a day to be named in said order; said jury shall assess the damages such land-holder will sustain, after being duly sworn, to well and truly assess the same according to the best of their judgment and ability, and shall make a return thereof to said court; and the damages so assessed shall be paid to such owner or owners, or deposited to their credit with the treasurer of said county.

SEC. 4382. The contractors shall give bond to the said directors in a sum sufficient to secure the prompt execution of their contract, conditioned to pay any damages which shall result to the land-holders of said district from a failure to perform their said contracts, or by reason of a negligent performance of the same.

SEC. 4383. Said work shall be done by said contractors, under the supervision of said board of directors or any engineers to be selected by them, and, when completed, if performed according to the terms of their contract, and the plans and specifications submitted to said meeting of land-holders, shall be received and accepted by said board of directors.

SEC. 4384. Said board of assessors shall make an assessment of the cost of said work upon the land situated in said district benefited by said work, and reported to said meeting of land-holders upon the value of said lands as increased by said work, and shall also make a list of said lands as assessed, showing the owner's name, the description of the land, the number of acres, the valuation thereof as increased by said work and the tax assessed thereon, and file the same in the clerk's office of the county court of such county, and shall also make a separate list thereof, including in each list all the land belonging to one person, which shall be signed by said assessors and indorsed by said directors; and the same shall be delivered to said contractors in payment for said work within thirty days after the completion thereof.

SEC. 4385. Said assessment shall be a lien on said lands in the nature of a mortgage, and shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from thirty days after the assignment of said list to said contractors until paid.

SEC. 4386. If said assessments are not paid within thirty days after the assignment of said lists to said contractors, the said contractors may enforce the collection thereof by chancery proceedings in the court of the county in which said district is situated having chancery jurisdiction; and said court shall give judgment against the owner of said land for the amount of said assessment and the interest thereon, and damages at the rate of ten per centum on the amount of said assessment, and also all the costs of said proceedings, and cause said lands to be sold by a commissioner to be appointed by said court. Said proceedings and sales shall be conducted in the manner that proceedings and sales are conducted in such courts for the foreclosure of mortgages, except that such sales shall be made for cash; provided, said judgment shall not be in personam, and shall not extend to any property except the land so charged with said assessment, as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 4387. All persons having an interest in said lands, or recorded liens thereon, known to the contractor, shall be made parties defendant to said suit, and shall be bound thereby, and by the judgment and decree rendered therein, in the same manner as in other chancery suits, saving to married women, infants and insane persons the rights they now have by law to appear and except to said proceedings within twelve months after their disabilities are removed.

SEC. 4388. Said suits shall be conducted in the name of said contractors or their assignees, and in accordance with the practice and proceedings of chancery courts in this state; and this law shall be liberally construed to give to said assessment list the effect of bona fide mortgages for a valuable consideration and first lien upon such lands as against all persons having an interest therein.

SEC. 4389. All directors and assessors elected under the provisions of this act shall, before they enter upon the discharge of their said duties, take and subscribe the oath required by section 20, article XIX, of the constitution of the state.

SEC. 4390. They shall each hold their office for three years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. Provided, that after the first election the county court shall designate one director and one assessor to hold his office for one year, and one of each to hold his office for two years, and one of each for three years, and thereafter one of each of said officers shall be elected by the land-holders of said district on the first Monday of May of each year; provided, said directors and assessors shall hold their offices until the first Monday in May after the expiration of one year from their first election.

SEC. 4391. Non-resident land-holders, as well as resident owners, shall be allowed to vote at such elections, and also have a vote in determining when work shall be done, as prescribed in section 4378, and said non-resident land-holders may cast their votes either by themselves or by their agents or attorney in fact duly appointed.

SEC. 4392. The directors and assessors shall each receive the sum of two dollars per day while actually and necessarily engaged in the performance of their duties under this act, and said directors shall be authorized to employ an engineer at a price not to exceed seventy-five dollars per month while actually engaged in the performance of his duties; and said assessors, if necessary to enable them to correctly assess the land of said district, to determine the amount of cleared and uncleared lands on any tract, or where a part of any tract is improved and a part unimproved, may employ a surveyor if they deem it necessary, at a price not to exceed three dollars per day.

SEC. 4393. For the purpose of paying the expenses mentioned in the preceding section, and for keeping the levees in each district in repair, and to meet the incidental and contingent expenses of the district, there shall be levied and collected off the lands, as reported as benefited by said assessors, an annual tax not to exceed five mills on the dollar of the value of such lands as assessed for state and county purposes, to be levied, extended and collected as state and county taxes are now collected by the officer authorized to levy and collect the said tax; said taxes to be extended on the tax-book of the county against the lands so taxable as aforesaid, and to be paid over by the county collector to the treasurer of the county, in coin or legal-tender currency of the United States, to the credit of such levee district, and to be drawn out upon the joint order of all the directors of said district; provided, the amount of such tax, not exceeding the rate per cent. aforesaid, shall be voted at a meeting of the land-holders of said district, called by notice given as required by section 4377, at which there shall be present a majority of the land-holders of said district, and two-thirds of those present voting for said tax; and the same so certified to the county court of said county by the director of said district on or before the day fixed by law for fixing the county levy and making annual appropriations for the county.

SEC. 4394. All warrants drawn by the said directors on the treasurer of the county for any part of the fund provided for in the preceding section shall specify in whose favor the same is drawn, and the salary, services or expenditures for which the same is drawn; provided, that no such warrant shall be drawn, or be valid, if drawn, except there be money in the hands of the county treasurer to the credit of said district on account of said fund.

SEC. 4395. The said board of levee directors shall have charge of all the public levees in their said districts, and shall keep the same in repair, and for this purpose shall have power to employ labor and superintend the same. Provided, that no repairs shall be made or money expended under the provisions of this section except when authorized by a vote of the land-holders at a meeting to be held in accordance with the provisions of section 4377.

SEC. 4396. Neither said district, or any of the officers or employes thereof, shall ever have power to issue any bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness, and no indebtedness shall ever be created, except the salaries of the officers heretofore prescribed, or for work and labor in case of danger as hereinbefore provided, unless there be money in the hands of the treasurer of the county to the credit of said fund. Act March 20, 1879.

CUT-OFFS.

SEC. 4397. In order to prevent the commission of the offense specified in section 1688, it is hereby made the duty of the judges of the circuit court of the respective counties in this state on the Mississippi River, in the exercise of equity jurisdiction, upon the petition of any citizen interested, to enjoin the commencement or prosecution of any work in violation of said section, said petition having been first verified by the affidavit of the person making the same, and upon giving bond for costs; in which petition as many citizens as choose may unite, and the same shall be taken and considered to be and shall proceed as a suit upon this petition in behalf of this state. Act Jan. 15, 1857.

SEC. 4403. (c) A mechanic's lien is not forfeited by levying an attachment or taking a mortgage on the property. Roberts v. Wilcorson, 36—355. The fact that the property is in the hands of a receiver is no defense to an action to enforce a mechanic's lien. Richardson v. Hickman, 32—406. The lien of the material man does not depend on any contract with the owner of the improvement, but grows out of the use of the material furnished. Cohn v. Hager, 30—25. As between the mechanic and the owner of the improvement, an exact compliance with the statutory requirements is not essential. Murray v. Rapley, Ib., 568.

work and labor done or things furnished by him, giving all credits, which he shall present to the owner or proprietor, his agent or trustee, and shall also file a copy of the same, verified by affidavit, with the circuit clerk, as provided in section 4403.

SEC. 4405. The certificate of settlement made as aforesaid, or the statement of the sub-contractor, shall be a justification to the employer in withholding from the contractor the amount appearing thereby to be due to the sub-contractor until he is satisfied the same has been paid, and the employer shall become the surety of the contractor to the sub-contractor for the amount due for such work and labor done or things furnished, not, however, exceeding the value thereof, as notified under section 4403.

SEC. 4406. It shall be the duty of every person, except as has been provided for sub-contractors, who wishes to avail himself of this act, to file with the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which the building, erection or other improvement to be charged with the lien is situated, and within ninety days after all the things aforesaid shall have been furnished, or the work or labor done or performed, a just and true account of the demand due or owing to him, after allowing all credits, and containing a correct description of the property to be charged with said lien, verified by affidavit (d).

SEC. 4407. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the circuit court to indorse upon every account the date of its filing, and make an abstract thereof in a book by him to be kept for that purpose, and properly indexed, containing the date of the filing, the name of the person laying or imposing the lien, the amount of said lien, the name of the person against whose property the lien is filed and a description of the property to be charged with the same, for which he shall receive the sum of one dollar from the person laying or imposing the lien, which shall be taxed and collected as other costs, in case there be suit thereon.

SEC. 4409. All the right and title of the defendant to the land on which any building, tenement or edifice shall be erected, as well as to a convenient space around the same, not exceeding two acres clear of the building, tenement or edifice, shall also be subject to the liens filed by virtue of the provisions of this act, and such right and title shall be sold with the building, tenement or edifice as part of the property charged with the lien (e). Act April 25, 1873.

SEC. 4410. The sale of such property charged with a lien shall not affect or in any wise impair prior incumbrances against the property, whether created by judgment, deed, mortgage or any other instrument of writing authorized to be recorded, if such incumbrance shall have been created and duly recorded previous to the time when said artisans, builders and mechanics commenced

(d) The lien must be filed within ninety days. White v. Chaffin, 32—59. When the lien is filed, it relates back to the time of supplying the machinery, and is superior to intervening incumbrances. Ib.

(e) The lien is confined to two acres of land. White v. Chaffin, 32—59.

SEC. 4426. Every person who has such lien, and wishes to avail himself of the same, shall make a sworn statement of the amount due after all just credits are given, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and the kind of service, and for whom rendered and materials furnished.

(g) For penalty for removing property subject to such lien, see SEC. 1695. One who raises a crop upon the land of another for an agreed share is a laborer and not a tenant, and is entitled to a lien. Burgie v. Davis, 34—179. The laborer's lien given by this act is personal and not assignable; it must arise out of contract; and the laborer must bring himself strictly within the statute. The first nine sections apply only to movable property. The remedy is summary and should be strictly construed. Dano v. M. O. & R. R. Railroad Co., 27—564.

SEC. 4429. The court or justice shall keep the statement on file, and the justice, if the case is pending before a justice, shall enter a brief statement of the case on his judgment docket.

SEC. 4430. At the same time the notice is given to the defendant, the sheriff or constable shall take charge of the property as described in the statement of the plaintiff, and hold it subject to the decision of the court as in cases of attachment.

SEC. 4431. Either party may, upon request, have the case tried by a jury.

SEC. 4432. If the amount adjudged to be due is not paid, with the costs of suit, on the day of trial, the sheriff or constable shall immediately advertise the property charged for sale at public auction, and sell in not less than fifteen days nor more than twenty-five days from the date the judgment is rendered.

SEC. 4433. In all cases where the property charged does not sell for enough to satisfy the judgment rendered, with all costs of suit, in favor of the claimant, execution may issue upon such judgment in the same manner as on an ordinary judgment at law against any other property of the defendant.

SEC. 4434. Where there are several liens for labor on the same land, crop or property of the same date, or which are equally just, and not enough to satisfy all the claims, the sale will be made and the costs paid, and the money divided pro rata among the several claimants.

SEC. 4442. Contracts for services or labor for a longer period than one month shall not entitle the parties to the benefits of this act, unless in writing signed by the parties, witnessed by two disinterested witnesses, or acknowledged before an officer authorized by law to take acknowledgments.

SEC. 4443. Such officer shall state in his certificate that he read the contract aloud in the presence and hearing of the laborers. For taking such acknowledgment and making such certificate, he shall be entitled to twenty-five cents. Provided, not more than three laborers sign one contract; if more than that number, then he shall receive ten cents for each additional laborer who shall sign and acknowledge the same, and five cents per circular mile for traveling to and from the place of acknowledgment. Contracts of married women, executed as above and approved by their husbands, shall be binding.

SEC. 4444. The contract of a minor, when approved by the parent having control of such minor, or, in case there be no parent, when approved by his guardian, or the contract of any minor over fifteen years of age having neither parent or guardian, shall be binding. Provided, that a contract with such minor shall not be for a longer period than one year.

SEC. 4445. Specific liens are hereby reserved upon so much of the produce raised, and articles constructed or manufactured, by laborers during their contract as will secure all moneys, and the value of all supplies furnished them by the employers, and all wages or shares due the laborer; and if either party shall, before settlement, dispose of or appropriate the same without the consent of the other, so as to defraud him of the amount due, such party shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, may be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars and confined in the county jail not less than one nor more than six months. Provided, that nothing in this section shall be construed as forbidding the laborer from mortgaging so much of his crop for necessary supplies as may be equal to his interest therein at the time, if the employer, having contracted to furnish such supplies, fails or refuses to do so.

SEC. 4446. A copy of such contract, or the original, shall be filed in the recorder's office of the proper county, and such filing shall be sufficient notice of the existence of such lien, and no third party shall be prejudiced by the existence of such lien, nor in any manner liable under the provisions of this act, unless a copy of the contract is filed in the recorder's office as above provided.

SEC. 4447. The recorder shall keep, in a suitable book, a convenient index of all such contracts filed in his office, showing the names of the parties, the date of filing, the date of contract and the time when the lien will expire, and he shall receive twenty-five cents for filing every such contract, and ten cents per name for indexing same, for every laborer signing same more than three.

SEC. 4448. If any employer shall, without good cause, dismiss a laborer prior to the expiration of his contract, unless by agreement, he shall be liable to such laborer for the full amount that would have been due him at the expiration thereof, and such laborer shall be entitled to the lien provided in section 4445 for the enforcement of such liability.

SEC. 4449. If any laborer shall, without good cause, abandon his employer before the expiration of his contract, he shall be liable to such employer for the full amount of any account he may owe him, and shall forfeit to his employer all wages or share of crop due him, or which might become due him from his employer.

SEC. 4450. Proceedings for the enforcement of liens herein provided shall be governed in the circuit court by the law regulating mechanics' liens, and before justices of the peace by the law regulating attachments before justices.

SEC. 4451. If any one shall willfully interfere with, entice away, knowingly employ or induce a laborer or renter who has contracted as herein provided to leave his employer or the place rented before the expiration of his contract, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty nor more than two hundred dollars, and, in addition to such fine, he shall be liable to the employer in double the amount of damages which such employer or landlord may suffer by such abandonment.

SEC. 4452. When no written contract is made under this act, the employer shall have a lien upon the portion of the crop going to the employe for any debt incident to making and gathering the crop owing to such employer by such employe, without any necessity for recording any contract of writing giving such lien, and in such case no mortgage or conveyance of any part of the crop made by the person cultivating the land of another shall have validity, unless made with the consent of the employer or owner of the land or crop, which consent must be indorsed upon such mortgage or conveyance. Provided, no such indorsement shall bind the party making it to pay the debt unless expressly so stipulated. Act March 21, 1883.

SEC. 4454. Whenever any landlord shall indorse upon any written agreement made by and between his tenant and the employes of such tenant his written consent to the terms of such agreement, then, and in that case only, shall the lien of such employes have precedence over that of the landlord, and that only for the compensation specified in such agreement, the services therein specified having been rendered toward the production of the crop against which the landlord's lien attaches. Act Jan. 8, 1875, sec. 2.

SEC. 4455. Any person sub-renting lands or tenements shall only be held responsible for the rent of such as are cultivated or occupied by him. Act July 23, 1868, sec. 1.

SEC. 4456. SEC. 4457. If, afterward, the principal tenant shall fail to pay to the landlord his rent due, the amount paid by such sub-tenant upon such written direction shall be deducted from the pro rata amount of rent for which the land cultivated by such sub-tenant would otherwise be liable to such landlord under existing laws.

Johnson*, Ib., 737. Although the assignment of the rent note does not carry the landlord's lien, yet, if the tenant delivers the crop to one holding the rent note as collateral security for a debt due from the landlord, the payment will be upheld as against a mortgagee of the crop. Ib. An action by the landlord against one taking the crop with a knowledge of the existence of the lien will be barred in six months after the maturity of the rent. King v. Blount, 37—115. A landlord does not waive his lien by taking a mortgage on the crop. Franklin v. Meyer, 36—96. SEC. 4459. Any landlord who has a lien on the crop for rent shall be entitled to bring suit before a justice of the peace, or in the circuit court, as the case may be, and have a writ of attachment for the recovery of the same, whether the rent be due or not, in the following cases :

First. When the tenant is about to remove the crop from the premises without paying the rent.

Second. When he has removed it, or any portion thereof, without the consent of the landlord.

SEC. 4460. Before such writ of attachment shall issue, the landlord, his agent or attorney, shall make and file an affidavit of one of the above facts, that the amount claimed, which shall be therein stated, is or will be due for rent, or will be the value of the portion of the crop agreed to be received as rent, stating the time when the same became or would become due, and that he has a lien on such crop for such rent; and he shall file with the justice or clerk, as the case may be, a bond to the defendant, with sufficient security, in double the amount of his claim as sworn to, conditioned that he will prove his debt or demand and his lien in a trial at law, or that he will pay such damages as shall be adjudged against him.

SEC. 4470. If at any time any mare subject to the lien herein mentioned should be sold or traded to any person not a party to the original contract of service of the said mare, or if any person shall attempt to remove such mare from the county where such service was rendered, the said lien shall not thereby be lost, but the owner or keeper of any jack or stallion to which such mare was put shall be entitled to enforce and foreclose the lien he may have by reason of this act, at once, against such mare in the hands of any person, and may proceed as in actions to enforce a mortgage of or lien upon personal property. Act April 19, 1873.

(b) In equity the statute of limitations need not be pleaded. The court will refuse to enforce stale demands. Riley v. Norman, 39—158. The statute is not defensive alone, but confers a title which can be enforced by suit. Wilson v. Spring, 38—181; Logan v. Jelks, 34—547; Jacks v. Chaffin, Ib., 534. Adverse possession once proved is presumed to continue. Clements v. Lampkin, Ib., 598; Wilson v. Spring, 38—181. The statute does not begin to run against an estate until an administrator is appointed. Word v. West, Ib., 243; McCustian v. Ramey, 33—141. The statute of limitations pleaded by one defendant does not inure to the benefit of another. Hall v. Bonville, 36—491. An infant has seven years after coming of age to disaffirm his conveyance. Kountz v. Davis, 34—590. Only adverse possession for seven years can bar a mortgage. Coldeleugh v. Johnson, Ib., 312; Hall v. Denckla, 28—506. Possession of the mortgagor is not adverse. Ib. A void patent is sufficient to give color of title. Logan v. Jelks, 34—547. Color of title is not necessary to maintain the statute bar to the extent of actual possession. Ferguson v. Peden, 33—150. Possession of the heir is not adverse to the widow's claim of dower. Livingston v. Cochran, Ib., 294. In computing the time of limitation the day on which the action accrued must be included, and the day the summons is issued excluded. Shinn v. Tucker, Ib., 421. Statute did not run during the war. Worthington v. De Bardekien, Ib., 651. The statute of limitations ceases at the death of the debtor, and the statute of non-claim commences to run. Ib. The statute does not run against a non compos seeking to establish a will that has been concealed. Arrington v. McLemore, Ib., 759. The possession must be actual, adverse and notorious. Mooney v. Cooleedge, 30—640. The fact that the mortgage debt is barred will not prevent a foreclosure of the mortgage. Birnie v. Main, 29—591. There must be an open and notorious denial of the mortgagee's title to start the statute to running. Ib. The statute runs against the widow's dower in favor of a stranger from the husband's death. Stidham v. Matthews, Ib., 650. The vendor may enforce his lien at any time within seven years. McGhee v. Blackwell, 28—27. Statute was suspended during the war. *Mer. Nat. Bank v. One purchasing from a tenant or trustee can not tack the possession of the latter to his own, unless it is adverse. Wheeler v. Ladd, 40—108. Statute does not run against a widow's dower until seven years after the purchase of the land by a stranger. McWhirter v. Roberts, Ib., 283; Webb v. Smith, Ib., 17. Adverse possession of land for seven years is a defense to an action by a municipal corporation. Fort Smith v. McKibbin, 41—45. Burden is on plaintiff to prove bringing of suit within three years after attaining his majority. Yell v. Lane, Ib., 53. Adverse possession must be hostile, not permissive. Pulaski County v. State, 42—118. As to what will constitute such possession between tenants in common, see Brewer v. Keeler, Ib., 289. (d) See SEC. 5791. The statute begins to run from the expiration of the period allowed for redemption, not from the date of the sale. C. & F. Rd. Co. v. Parks, 32—131. This provision only applies to an action for the recovery of possession, not to a suit to foreclose a mortgage. Wright v. Walker, 30—44.

(e) The statute begins to run in favor of an attorney guilty of negligence or misconduct from the date of the offense. White v. Keegan, 32—281. SEC. 4492. In actions brought to recover any balance due upon a mutual open account current, the cause of action shall be deemed to have accrued

(h) County warrants are always receivable for taxes, regardless of the date of their issue. Howell v. Hogins, 37—110. Whitthorn v. Jetts, 39—139; Daniel v. Askew, 36—487. (i) Sealed instruments executed before the constitution of 1868 are not barred in five years. Smith v. Carder, 33—709. The statute of ten years applies to a sealed instrument; five years to an unsealed indorsement thereon. Andrews v. Simms, Ib., 771. The constitutional convention of 1874 had the power to restore the ten years statute to instruments under seal not then barred. Dyer v. Gill, 32—410. The statute of ten years was revived by the constitution of 1874. Ib.

(*) As to when the statute of limitations begins to run against a creditor's bill to open an administrator's account for fraud, see Hanf v. Whittington, 42—491.

(j) This section applies to judgments of justices of the peace. Hicks v. Brown, 38—469. Probate allowances are not within the statute. Mays v. Rogers, 37—155. While a judgment is enjoined the statute does not run, and intermediate executions and payments form new points for the running of the statute. Lindsay v. Merriell, 36—545.

(k) The statute of limitations can be pleaded by a county. Gaines v. Hot Springs Co., 39—262. A claim proved against an estate is not subject to the statute until the administration is closed. Fort v. Blagg, 38—471.

(l) But as to such disabilities and the cumulation thereof, in actions for the recovery of lands, see the later act of Jan. 4, 1851, SEC. 4471 hereof. Where the statute begins to run during the life of the deviser, no disability in the devisee will stop it. Bozeman v. Browning, 31—364.

(m) This section is restricted, by its terms, to absconding debtors, and is not applicable to replevin. Payne v. Bruton, 10—53; see also Smith v. Joyce, Ib., 460.

from the time of the last item proved in such account (n). Rev. Stat., chap. 91, sec. 12.

SEC. 4493. No verbal promise or acknowledgment shall be deemed sufficient evidence in any action founded on contract whereby to take any case out of the operation of this act, or to deprive the party of the benefits thereof (o). Ib., sec. 14.

SEC. 4494. No joint contractor or executor shall lose the benefit of this act by reason of any written acknowledgment or promise made and signed by any of the other joint contractors or executors. Nothing in this section contained shall be so construed as to alter, take away or lessen the effect of any payment of any principal or interest made by any person whatever on any such joint contract (p). Ib., sec. 15.

SEC. 4495. None of the provisions of this act shall apply to suits brought to enforce payment on bills, notes or evidences of debt issued by any bank or moneyed corporation. Ib., sec. 18.

SEC. 4496. If any person entitled to bring any action in the preceding provisions of this act specified die before the expiration of the time herein limited for the commencement of such suit, and such cause of action shall survive to his representatives, his executors or administrators may, after the expiration of such time, and within one year after such death, commence such suit, but not after that period (q). Ib., sec. 19.

SEC. 4497. If any action shall be commenced within the times respectively prescribed in this act, and the plaintiff therein suffer a non-suit, or, after a verdict for him, the judgment be arrested, or, after judgment for him, the same be reversed on appeal or writ of error, such plaintiff may commence a new action, from time to time, within one year after such non-suit suffered or judgment arrested or reversed; and if the cause of action survive or descend to his heirs,

(n) The term "mutual open account" means something more than charges on one side and credits of payment on the other. To constitute such an account, there must be mutual credit founded on a subsisting debt on the other side, or an express or implied agreement for a set-off of mutual debts. McNed v. Garland & Nash, 27—343.

(o) A written acknowledgment to revive a debt must be an unqualified and unconditional acknowledgment of the debt as a debt due at the time, or it must be an express promise to pay it, which presupposes such an acknowledgment. State Bank v. Aldon, 9—455; Brown v. State Bank, 10—134; Beebe v. Block, 12—595; Grant v. Ashley, Ib., 762.

Like all other acknowledgments and promises having legal force and sanction, they must be made to the person to whom the debt is due, or to one authorized to act for him, and with the intent at the time to pay it. Ringo v. Broofs, 26—540.

Such acknowledgment of a debt is a removal of the statute bar, and not a new contract. Harlan v. Bernie, 22—217; Ringo v. Brooks, 26—540.

A verbal promise does not revive a barred claim, nor does a written promise revive it, but gives a right of action co-extensive with the new promise. Worthington v. De Bardlekin, 33—651. Part payment will not remove the statute bar as to third persons. Mayo v. Cartwright, 30—407.

(p) Part payment of the debt before the bar attaches forms a new point from which the statute will begin to run. Trustees, etc., v. Hartfield, 5—551; Biscoe v. Jenkins, 10—110; Durritt v. Trammell, 11—187; Hicks v. Lusk, 19—693; Burr v. Williams, 20—171. The indorsement upon a note of a part payment as of a date within the statute bar is not of itself proof of payment on the day: such indorsement must be shown to have been made before the bar attached. Ruddell v. Folsom, 14—213; Aldon v. State Bank, 9—455; Brown v. Hutchings, 14—85; Wood v. Wylds, 11—754; Armistead v. Brooke, 18—521; and see SEC. 4505. Part payment by one joint debtor before the bar attaches will bind the other joint debtors. Payment by one is payment for all. Trustees, etc., v. Hartfield, supra; Burr v. Williams, 20—189. But part payment by one joint debtor after the bar attaches does not revive the debt against the other joint debtors. Biscoe v. Jenkins, 10—108; Biscoe v. James, Ib., 163; Mason v. Howell, 14—201; Ruddell v. Folsom, Ib., 217; Hicks v. Lusk, supra; Burr v. Williams, 20—172. Nor does a new promise in writing by one joint debtor, after the bar has attached, take the debt out of the statute of limitations as to the other debtors. Biscoe v. Jenkins, 10—108; Grant v. Ashley, 12—762; Wooddy v. State Bank, Ib., 780.

(q) When the statute of limitations has commenced running in the lifetime of the creditor, it does not stop upon his death until administration be granted on his estate. Brown, adm., v. Merrick & Fenno, 16—612.

or survive to his executors or administrators, they may in like manner commence a new action within the time herein allowed to such plaintiff. Ib., sec. 21.

SEC. 4498. If any action shall have been commenced within the times respectively prescribed in the provisions of this act, and the defendant in such suit die before judgment, and if the right of action be such as survives against the representatives of the defendant, the plaintiff may commence a new action against the heirs, executors or administrators of such defendant, as the case may require, within one year after such death; or, if no executor or administrator be appointed within the time, then within one year after the letters testamentary or of administration shall have been granted. Ib., sec. 22.

SEC. 4499. When an action commenced within the time prescribed by law shall abate by reason of the death of the plaintiff, if the right of action survive to his representatives, his executor or administrator may, within one year after such death, commence a new action; and if any action so commenced by any executor or administrator abate by the death of the plaintiff, a new action may be commenced by the administrator of the same estate at any time within one year after such abatement. Ib., sec. 23.

SEC. 4500. Whenever the commencement of any suit shall be stayed by an injunction of any court of equity, the time during which such injunction shall be in force shall not be deemed any portion of the time in this act limited for the commencement of such suit. Ib., sec. 24.

SEC. 4501. No person shall avail himself of any disability in this act mentioned unless such disability existed at the time the right of action accrued. Ib., sec. 25.

SEC. 4502. If any person, by leaving the county, absconding or concealing himself, or any other improper act of his own, prevent the commencement of any action in this act specified, such action may be commenced within the times respectively limited after the commencement of such action shall have ceased to be so prevented (r). Ib., sec. 26.

SEC. 4503. When two or more disabilities are existing at the same time the right of action or entry accrued, the limitation herein prescribed shall not attach until all such disabilities are removed. Ib., sec. 27.

SEC. 4504. The provisions of this act shall not extend to any action which is or shall be otherwise limited by any statute; but such action shall be brought within the time limited by such statute. Ib., sec. 28.

SEC. 4505. No indorsement of any payment written upon any instrument, by or on behalf of the party to whom such payment shall be made, shall be deemed a sufficient proof of such payment, so as to take the case out of the operation of this act (s). Ib., sec. 32.

SEC. 4506. The provisions of this act shall be deemed and taken to apply to the case of any demand alleged by way of set-off on the part of any defendant, either by plea, notice or otherwise. Ib., sec. 33.

(r) Under this section the inability of the plaintiff to sue in consequence of any act of the defendant mentioned in this section must exist at the time the cause of action accrues. Denton v. Brownlee, Homer & Co., 24—556.

It shall not hereafter be lawful for any person to sell alcohol or any spirituous, ardent, vinous, malt or fermented liquors in this state, or any compound or preparation thereof, commonly called tonics, bitters or medicated liquors, or intoxicating spirits of any character which are used and drank as a beverage in any quantity or for any purpose whatever, without first procuring a license from the county court of the county in which such sale is to be made authorizing such person to exercise such privilege. Provided, manufacturers of alcohol, vinous, ardent, malt or fermented liquors can sell in original packages without license. Provided, further, that such original packages shall not contain less than five gallons (a). Act March 8, 1879, sec. 1, as amended by act March 26, 1883.

SEC. 4508. The several county courts of this state are hereby empowered and authorized to grant license to any person of the age of twenty-one years or more who shall apply therefor, authorizing such person to sell ardent, vinous, malt or fermented liquors, or any compound or preparation thereof, commonly called tonics, bitters or medicated liquors, at any point in any township or ward in any city or town in which there has been a vote in favor of license as provided in sections 4513, 4514 and 4515, in quantities not less than one quart, which license shall continue in force for a period of not more than one year, or twelve calendar months; and all annual licenses shall expire on the thirty-first day of December of each year. Provided, licenses may be issued for a period less than one year upon the terms hereinafter provided; and, provided, further, it shall not be lawful to allow the same drunk in the house or place of business of the vendor. Ib., sec. 2.

(a) It was held in State v. Kate Marsh, 37—356, that section 1 of the act of March 8, 1879, was not, in any provision, in conflict with the constitution of the United States.

SEC. 4509. Before the clerk of the county court shall issue any license as provided in sections 4507 and 4508, the applicant therefor shall file his petition specifying the place of sale, which petition shall be verified by the oath of the applicant, and shall also file the receipt of the collector of the county for the amount of money hereinafter required to be paid for such license. Ib., sec. 3.

SEC. 4510. Any person who shall obtain annual license, as hereinbefore provided, shall pay to the collector of the county wherein such license is procured the sum of four hundred dollars as a county tax, and the sum of three hundred dollars as a state tax, and one per cent. upon the amount paid, as collector's fees, and two dollars for each license for clerk's fees, and shall pay the same amount of license and fees for a license for any period less than one year; but no license shall continue in force longer than the thirty-first day of December succeeding the issuing of the same. Ib., sec. 4, and act March 31, 1883, secs. 4, 6.

SEC. 4511. Any person who shall sell either for himself or another, or be interested in the sale of any ardent, vinous, malt or fermented liquors, or any compound or preparation thereof, commonly called tonics, bitters or medicated liquors (b), without the owner or owners thereof shall have previously procured a license authorizing the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in double the amount of license he would by law be chargeable with, and each day of such unauthorized selling shall constitute a separate offense (c). Act March 8, 1879, sec. 5, and act March 31, 1883, sec. 4.

SEC. 4512. The license herein specified shall not authorize the sale of any ardent, vinous or fermented liquors, or any compound or preparation thereof,

(b) As to "compounds," "preparations," "tonics," "bitters" and "medicated liquors," see Gostorf v. State, 39—450; Foster v. State, 36—258; "brandy peaches," and other fruits preserved in brandy, Rabe v. State, 39—204.

(c) See SECS. 5592, 5596, 1926, 1932.

A license dealer may sell his own or another's liquor; and if the owner has license, his agent may sell; but if neither the seller, owner or person interested in the sale has license, all may be guilty. State v. Keith, 37—96; Johnson v. State, Ib., 98; Lane v. State, Ib., 272; State v. Devers, 38—517.

But one having no license can not sell the liquor of another who has, except as his agent or employe, and under his license. Johnson v. State, 37—98.

For liability of absent partner for illegal sale to a minor, see Robinson & Warren v. State, 38—611; Waller v. State, Ib., 656.

A druggist can not sell liquor without license, not even as medicine upon the prescription of a physician. Flower v. State, 39—209; Woods v. State, 36—36.

A license from the United States does not excuse one from obtaining the license required by the law of the state; and a sale, either on a steamboat or on land, without license from the county court of the county, is unlawful. Pierson v. State, 39—219.

Indictment.—An indictment for selling liquor without license need not state to whom it was sold. Johnson v. State, 40—453; McCuen v. State, 19—630; State v. Purnell, 16—506. Nor that the defendant was a liquor dealer. No one can sell without license whatever his calling may be. State v. Butcher, 49—362; State v. Stanley, Ms. op., 1884. Nor that the owner had no license. The seller is presumed to be the owner when nothing to the contrary appears. State v. Devers, 38—517. If the sale is made by the accused it may be so charged; if not made by him personally, and he is interested in the sale, it is sufficient to charge that he was interested in it. Waller v. State, 38—656. It is sufficient to charge the selling of all kinds of liquor by name in the conjunctive, but not in the alternative. Pierson v. State, Ms. op., 1884; Thompson v. State, 37—408. Or, in separate counts, the sale of "spirituous liquors" and "intoxicating liquors." State v. Witt, 39—216. See also note (b) ante, and notes (h) and (i) post.

Evidence.—The state is not required to prove that the defendant had no license. This will be taken as true unless disproved. Flower v. State, 39—209; Williams v. State, 35—430; Hopper v. State, 19—143.

The courts take notice that lager beer is malt and fermented liquor as matter of common knowledge. Waller v. State, 38—656. Also that whisky is an intoxicating liquor. Edgar v. State, 37—219. The state is not required to prove a sale on the particular day named in the indictment. Fitzpatrick v. State, 37—373. But see State v. Nunnally, Ms. op., 1884.

commonly called tonics, bitters or medicated liquors, at any other point or place than that specified in the license, and shall not authorize the owner of any such, upon a single license, to sell or cause or permit the sale of the same at more than one house or place of business. Act March 8, 1879, sec. 6.

SEC. 4513. At each general election for state officers, there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of each county the question as to whether license shall or shall not be granted by the county court of such county for the sale of vinous, ardent, malt or fermented liquors, or any compound or preparation thereof, commonly called tonics, bitters or medicated liquors, in any quantity or for any purpose, within such county, for the two years commencing on the first day of January next ensuing. In voting upon said question, the electors shall have printed or written upon their ballots "For License" or "Against License." Provided, this section shall not apply to persons engaged in the manufacture of brandies or liquors in this state who sell them in the original packages only. Ib., sec. 7, as amended by act March 19, 1881.

SEC. 4514. Such election shall be held at the same time and place and in the same manner as other elections, and all returns shall be sealed up and forwarded to the county clerk of the proper county, and by him laid before the county court at the next term thereof held thereafter; and if it shall appear that a majority of the votes cast in any township or ward of a city of those voting on that question be cast for license, then it shall be lawful for such county court to grant dram-shop or drinking-saloon license (d), to be given on or after the first day of January following such election, and to continue in force until the succeeding thirty-first day of December. Provided, all persons obtaining a license for a less period than one year shall pay the amount herein specified for annual license, and all licenses shall expire on the thirty-first day of December in each year. Ib., sec. 8.

SEC. 4515. If, at such election, the majority of the votes cast in any county upon the question be not "for license," then it shall be unlawful for the county court of such county to grant license for the purposes mentioned in the preceding section, at any place within such county, until after the next general election. But if a majority of the votes cast in any county upon the question be "for license," then it shall be lawful for the county court of such county to grant licenses for the purposes aforesaid to persons of good moral character, over the age of twenty-one years, within any township, town or ward of a city in such county, where the majority of the votes cast upon the question was "for license," but in no other (e), subject to such conditions and restrictions of

(d) The right to sell liquor is not a natural right, and the liquor laws are not in conflict with the provisions of the constitution prohibiting monopolies and the granting of privileges to one which may be refused to another. Lery, ex parte, Ms. op., 1884; Robinson & Warren v. State, 38—641.

The county court has the absolute and arbitrary discretion to determine whether or not license shall be granted, even where the vote has been favorable to license. Lery, ex parte, supra; Whittington, ex parte, 34—394. But where the county court has determined upon the policy of granting license, it has not the arbitrary discretion to discriminate by granting to some and not to others of like qualifications, who may apply and comply with the law as to bond and payment of tax, etc. Lery, ex parte, supra.

The county court has no jurisdiction or power to grant license to operate retrospectively, so as to condone offenses committed previous to its issue. Edwards v. State, 22—253.

An applicant for license has the right of appeal from the order of the county court to the circuit court, and the latter court should try the matter de novo. Lery, ex parte, supra.

(e) The county court is not authorized to grant license to sell liquor in any township or city ward in the county, unless at the previous general election there was a majority vote "for license," both in the county and in the ward or township in which it is applied for. Where there was no vote at all on the question in such township or ward, no license can be granted. Siloam Springs v. Thompson, 41—456.

the act aforesaid as are not inconsistent with this act. Ib., sec. 9, as amended by act March 19, 1881.

SEC. 4516. Each applicant for a dram-shop or drinking-saloon license shall present his petition to the county court of the proper county, setting forth the place where such dram-shop or drinking-saloon is to be kept, verified by his affidavit, and shall enter into bond to the State of Arkansas, in the penal sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned that such applicant will pay all damages that may be occasioned by reason of liquor sold at his house of business, and shall further pay to any person all such sums of money as may be lost at gaming in his said saloon or dram-shop, or any room or building attached thereto under his control, which bond shall have two good securities thereto, to be approved of by the court. Before such license shall be granted, the applicant shall pay to the collector, and produce his receipt therefor (f), the amount of money and fees specified in section 4510, and such additional sum for the use of the county as shall be determined by the county court—not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars, when the license is for twelve months, and not less than fifty dollars in any event (g). Ib., secs. 10 and 11.

SEC. 4517. The county clerk shall keep a record in his office of all licenses issued, and fees and costs paid therefor, together with the bonds filed by the applicants.

SEC. 4518. Any person aggrieved by the keeping of said dram-shop or drinking-saloon, or who may have lost any money or other valuable thing at gaming in said dram-shop, room or house thereto attached, under the control of said drinking-saloon or dram-shop, may have an action on said bond against the principal and securities for the recovery thereof.

SEC. 4519. Any person who shall keep a drinking-saloon or dram-shop, without procuring a dram-shop or drinking-saloon license, as provided by this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined as provided in section 4511; and each day or part thereof the same is kept shall be deemed a separate offense (h).

SEC. 4520. This act shall not be held to apply to one who manufactures and sells wines from grapes or berries, or other fruits, and who sells no other liquors, ardent, malt, vinous or fermented (i). Ib., secs. 12–15.

SEC. 4521. Each and all of the provisions of this chapter regulating the sale of ardent, vinous, malt or fermented liquors shall apply with equal force and in the same manner to the sale of alcohol and spirituous liquors (j). Act March 26, 1883, sec. 2.

SEC. 4522. This act is not intended to repeal any special act regulating the sale of ardent, vinous, malt or fermented liquors, or any compound or preparation thereof, in any special locality in this state; but the provisions and penalties of any such special act shall be cumulative to the provisions and penalties of this act; and this act shall apply and be in force in the territory embraced in such special acts, and in all territory from which the sale of such spirits, ardent or intoxicating liquors have been prohibited by the county courts of the state; and a party may be convicted for a violation of either this act or such special act (†). Ib., sec. 3.

(g) The provision embraced in this section which empowers the county court to impose a license tax in addition to the taxes to be paid under SEC. 4510 was possibly repealed by implication by secs. 4 and 6 of the act of March 31, 1883.

(h) See SECS. 1926, 1932. As to necessary allegations in an indictment for keeping a dram-shop or drinking-saloon, see note (c) ante, and also the following cases decided under former statutes: Hensley v. State, 6—252; Ramsey v. State, 11—35.

SEC. 4523. No debt shall be recoverable for ardent spirits sold at a drinking saloon or dram-shop. Rev. Stat., chap. 148, sec. 11.

THREE-MILE LAW (k).

SEC. 4524. Wherever the adult inhabitants residing within three miles of any school-house, academy, college, university or other institution of learning, or of any church-house in this state, shall desire to prohibit the sale or giving away of any vinous, spirituous or intoxicating liquors of any kind, or alcohol, or any compound or preparation thereof, commonly called tonics or bitters, and a majority of such inhabitants shall petition the county court of the county wherein such institution of learning or church-house is situated, praying that the sale or giving away of the intoxicating liquors and alcohol enumerated in the premises be prohibited within three miles of any such institution of learning or church-house, said county court, upon being satisfied that a majority of such inhabitants have signed such petition, shall make an order in accordance with the prayer thereof, and thereafter, for a period of two years, it shall be unlawful for any person to vend or give away any spirituous, vinous or intoxicating liquors of any kind, or alcohol, or any preparation thereof, commonly called tonics or bitters, within the limits aforesaid (l). Provided, that nothing in this act shall be construed as affecting or repealing any special law now in force prohibiting the sale or giving away of spirituous or intoxicating liquors in any particular locality; and, provided, further, that nothing herein contained shall prohibit the sale or giving away by manufacturers of wine made from grapes or berries, in quantities of one quart or more or in sealed bottles. Act March 21, 1881, sec. 1, as amended by act Feb. 20, 1883.

(†) See State v. Orton, 41—306.

(k) The act of March 21, 1881, commonly called the "Three-Mile Law," was held constitutional and valid in the case of Trammell v. Bradley, 37—374. The prior act of March 2, 1875, was held constitutional in Boyd v. Bryant, 35—69, and Blackwell v. State, 36—178.

(l) The proceeding under the three-mile law is a police proceeding, and not in the nature of a suit between parties. The petition gives jurisdiction to the court. The signatures are taken as prima facie genuine or properly authorized, and unless the court should, for good reason, permit them to be withdrawn, its only province is to determine, from the best mode fairly practical, whether they constitute a majority of the adult inhabitants within the prescribed limits. A remonstrance or counter petition is not provided for, and is not evidence, but may be admitted as apprising the court that the petition does not contain a majority of the inhabitants; but, even if signed by the same parties as the original, need not prevail over it. Williams v. Citizens, 40—290.

No notice of the filing of the petition is required. Blackwell v. State, 36—178.

No order can be made upon a petition which designates two points within three miles of which the sale is to be prohibited. Williams v. Citizens, supra.

The order may be made, though at the last general election a majority of the voters in the township in which the sale is to be prohibited voted for license. Ib.

When the order is made the power vested in the county court is exhausted, and it has no power to revoke the order upon a subsequent petition. Wilson v. State, 35—414.

Upon appeal to the circuit court the circuit judge should try the matter de novo, without a jury, and the final judgment of the circuit court should be ordered to the county court, to be made its own. Williams v. Citizens, supra.

SEC. 4525. For the purposes of this act females, as well as males, are competent subscribers to the petition herein provided for (m).

SEC. 4526. This act shall not be construed as prohibiting the use of wine for sacramental purposes, or to prevent the prescribing and furnishing of alcoholic stimulants by a regular practicing physician to the sick under his charge when he may deem the same necessary; but before such physician shall be authorized to so prescribe and furnish such alcoholic stimulants, in order to protect himself from the penalty of this act, he shall file in the office of the county clerk of the county in which he resides an affidavit which shall be in the following form, to wit:

"I, _____, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am a regular practicing physician, and that I will not prescribe or furnish any vinous or alcoholic stimulants to any one, except it be, in my judgment, a necessity in the treatment of the disease with which he shall be at the time afflicted.

SEC. 4527. Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, either in the circuit court or before any justice of the peace, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars (n). Act March 21, 1881, secs. 2, 3 and 5.

(m) Both sexes may petition. Blackwell v. State, 36—178; Williams v. Citizens, 40—290.

(n) See SECS. 1926, 1932, 4511, 4519. A license issued after the order is made is no defense to a prosecution for its violation. Blackwell v. State, 36—178; not even where the order has been revoked by the county court. Wilson v. State, 35—414.

The offense must be charged and proven to have occurred after the order of the county court forbidding the sale was rendered. State v. Will, 39—216. See further as to the indictment. Blackwell v. State, 36—178; Wilson v. State, 35—414.

An order made under the act of March 2, 1875, displaces the general law prohibiting the selling without license, and an indictment for selling within the prohibited district must be framed under that act, and not under the general law, for selling without license. State v. Cathey, 41—308.

Receiving the money and delivering the whisky within the prohibited limits by a part owner of a saloon situated outside of such limits is a violation of the act. Yowell v. State, 41—355.

SEC. 4529. The governor shall immediately after the passage of this act, and on the second Wednesday after the organization of the next general assembly, and on the same day every two years thereafter, appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, five persons to be trustees of said asylum, who shall each hold their office for the term of two years, or until their successors are qualified. Act March 21, 1883.

SEC. 4531. The trustees shall have charge of the general interests of the institution. They shall appoint a superintendent, who shall be a skillful physician, and who shall hold his office for the term of four years; but they shall have the power to remove said superintending physician at any time for infidelity to the trust reposed in him, or for incompetency or willful neglect of duty. Said physician shall, at the time of his appointment, be a married man, and reside with his family in said asylum.

SEC. 4532. They shall appoint a treasurer, who shall give bond for the faithful performance of his duties, in such sum and with such securities as the board of trustees may prescribe, which bond shall be made payable to the state and filed in the office of the auditor of state; and the board of trustees may require, from time to time, when they may deem the same necessary, the renewal of said bond; they shall also have the power to determine his compensation for services; also, the salary of the other officers and assistants who may be necessary for the just and economical administration of the affairs of said institution. They shall appoint a steward, who shall give a bond for the faithful discharge of his duty, upon the same terms as are hereinbefore required of the treasurer.

SEC. 4533. The board of trustees shall keep in a bound book, to be provided for that purpose, a fair and full record of all their doings, which shall be open at all times for the inspection of the governor of the state and all persons whom he or either house of the legislature may appoint to examine the same.

SEC. 4540. Such board shall have the power to prescribe any additional duty of the treasurer which may be deemed necessary.

SEC. 4541. The treasurer shall be secretary of the board of trustees.

SEC. 4542. The superintending physician shall have the power to appoint and remove all subordinate officers and persons allowed by the board of trustees. He shall, at the time of the reception of each patient, enter in a book kept for that purpose the name, age, sex, residence, office and occupation of the person, by whom and by whose authority each insane person is brought to the asylum, and have all the orders, warrants, requests, certificates, and other papers accompanying such insane person, carefully filed and forthwith copied in said book; he shall also have general superintendence of the buildings, grounds and farm, with their furniture, fixtures and stock, and the direction and control of all persons therein, subject to the by-laws and regulations of the trustees; he shall daily ascertain the condition of the patients, and prescribe their treatment, in the manner prescribed in the said by-laws; and he shall also be required to see that all the rules and regulations for the discipline and good government of the institution are properly obeyed and enforced; he shall cause full and fair accounts, and records of all his doings, and of the entire business and operations of the institution, to be kept regularly, from day to day, in books provided for that purpose, in the manner and to the extent prescribed in the by-laws, and shall see that all such accounts and records are fully made up to the last day of December in each year, and that the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, be represented to the trustees immediately thereafter.

SEC. 4555. Any citizen or resident of the State of Arkansas, duly found to be insane, according to the proceedings specified in this act, may be admitted into the State Lunatic Asylum, if there be unoccupied room; and if it appear upon examination, as specified in section 4549, that said insane person has not more than sufficient estate for the support of his (or her) natural dependents, he (or she) may be maintained, treated and otherwise cared for in said asylum at the public expense till removed, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4556. Any citizen or resident of the State of Arkansas, duly found to be insane, according to the proceedings specified in this act, may be admitted into the State Lunatic Asylum, if there be unoccupied room, upon conditions to wit: If he (or she) has been found, upon examination, as specified in section 4549, to possess estate, over and above all indebtedness, more than sufficient for the support of all his (or her) natural dependents, his (or her) natural or legally constituted guardian shall pay to the treasurer of said asylum, in advance, an amount equal to six months' board, at a rate not exceeding four dollars per week, except as hereinafter provided; shall obligate himself, or herself, in a sufficient bond, to pay all damages which said insane person may do to the building or furniture of said asylum, not exceeding twenty dollars; shall supply him (or her) with sufficient and suitable clothing, as may be required by the superintendent, and shall remove him (or her) when so required and notified by the president of the board of trustees and superintendent of said asylum. The natural or legally constituted guardian of said insane person may contract with the superintendent for special attentions to him (or her), at an additional rate not exceeding the amount of fifteen dollars per week, as may be agreed. In case of the death or removal of said insane person before the expiration of the time for which any payment may have been made, the treasurer of said asylum shall refund to the natural or legally constituted guardian of said insane person an amount proportional to the unexpired time for which such payment had been made; provided, that indigent persons who are not able to pay, or who have no estate out of which to pay such expenses, shall have preference over those who have such estate.

SEC. 4557. No person acquitted of crime on the ground of insanity, nor other person, shall be admitted into the State Lunatic Asylum, unless he (or she) shall have been duly found to be insane according to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4558. No person having become insane during any term of service or confinement in any penal institution, on account of crime whereof he (or she) may have been duly convicted, shall be admitted into the State Lunatic Asylum during such term of service or confinement, but shall be treated for that disease inside of the wall of the penitentiary.

SEC. 4559. All persons found to be insane, for whom application for admission to the State Lunatic Asylum shall be made in compliance with the provisions of this act, shall be classified as "acute," "chronic" or "probably incurable," such classification to be determined by the duration of the disease and such complications as are known to render recovery doubtful, if not impossible. All cases of less than one year's duration, from first recognized symptoms of insanity, shall be classified as "acute;" all cases over one year's duration shall be classified as "chronic;" and all cases complicated with epilepsy, original imbecility or feeble-mindedness, deformities of skull from injuries, old age or general paralysis, shall be classified as "probably incurable;" and a reasonable discrimination shall be made by the authorities in charge of the asylum in the admission of insane persons in favor of, first, "the acute," second, "the chronic," and third, "the probably incurable," provided that no person of either classification shall be refused admission as long as there is unoccupied room for patients in the asylum. But no idiot, nor congenital imbecile, nor epileptic person, not otherwise insane, shall be admitted or retained in said asylum after the fact of such condition becomes apparent to the superintendent, under any circumstances.

SEC. 4560. Whenever application is made for the admission of an insane person, according to law, and there is, at the time, no unoccupied or available room in the asylum, if it shall appear, from the history of the case presented, that it is "acute" and uncomplicated, the superintendent shall, as soon as practicable, make room for the admission of such patient, by discharging some one inmate belonging to the "probably incurable" class, if such there be in the asylum, or one belonging to the "chronic" class, if there be no one dischargeable from the third class; but in making such selection for discharge, the superintendent shall discriminate, and discharge such an one as may have been longest in the asylum, if not violent or dangerous to the community, or such an one as may be the least dangerous to the community, or whose discharge will effect the least public inconvenience or cost; and no appeal shall be had from the decision of the superintendent of the asylum in matters of admission and discharge of inmates, except to the board of trustees of the asylum, who may direct the superintendent to admit or discharge any person under any circumstances not involving a violation of the law.

SEC. 4561. When, by reason of recovery, or necessity for the benefit of an insane person of the "acute" class, the superintendent of the State Lunatic Asylum thinks proper to discharge any inmate of the asylum, he shall send an official notice to the county and probate judge of the county from which such inmate was committed, by mail, which shall be substantially as follows:

STATE LUNATIC ASYLUM, LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS, ———, 188—.

To the county and probate judge of ——— county: You are hereby notified that ———, an inmate of this asylum, who was admitted from ——— county on the ——— day of ———, 18—, is this day registered for discharge (because of recovery, or to make room, or whatever circumstances govern the case), and you are requested to cause his (or her) immediate removal. The sheriff will (or not) need the assistance of ——— persons for his (or her) safe return to your county.

———, Superintendent.

SEC. 4562. The county and probate judge of any county in the State of Arkansas, who may receive official notice from the superintendent of the State Lunatic Asylum that an inmate from the county of which he is county and probate judge has been registered for discharge, and a request to cause the removal of such inmate, shall forthwith issue a warrant or order to the sheriff, or a suitable person whom he may deputize to perform the service, commanding him to remove such inmate without delay, and authorizing him to employ such assistance as the superintendent's notice may indicate, if any. The said county and probate judge shall, at the same time, notify the guardian, family or immediate relatives of the person so discharged from the asylum (if he or she have any) of such discharge, and the sheriff, or person deputized, as hereinbefore indicated, shall deliver the person so discharged to his (or her) guardian or home, if he (or she) have such guardian or home still in the county, or to such party and place in the county as may be provided for the further custody and maintenance of the person so discharged, if he (or she) be not recovered and capable of taking care of himself (or herself); and shall make due return of his warrant when executed. Provided, that nothing herein specified shall prevent an inmate of the Lunatic Asylum, who may have recovered his or her reason, from being unofficially removed from the asylum by consent of the superintendent, or any person being removed by their friends with the consent of the superintendent, or by direction of the board of trustees of said asylum. But notice of such removal shall be sent at once to the county and probate judge of the county from which such person so removed was committed.

SEC. 4563. Any sheriff or deputized person, who may be commissioned to transfer and deliver a person declared insane to the State Lunatic Asylum, from any county in the state, shall, before delivering such person to the superintendent of said asylum, see that the person so to be delivered is provided with sufficient and suitable clothing, which shall consist of not less than two shirts, two pairs drawers, two pairs socks, one pair shoes, one pair pants, one vest and one coat, for men; two chemises, two skirts, two waists, two pairs drawers, two pairs stockings, two dresses, one shawl and one bonnet, for women, which shall be clean and in good order, as good as new; or, if more convenient, the sheriff may deposit with the superintendent sufficient funds to enable the asylum to furnish any deficiency found to exist in the supply of clothing brought with the person, because of quantity or quality of same, the amount of which deposit the superintendent shall indorse upon the sheriff's warrant as received.

SEC. 4564. Each county in the state shall be chargeable for all expenses of commitment, delivery to and removal from the State Lunatic Asylum of persons resident of the respective counties, and shall reimburse the sheriff for money deposited with the superintendent for deficiencies of clothing of patients in accordance with law.

SEC. 4565. If any person shall, in anywise, attempt to introduce any person into this institution contrary to the provisions of this act, such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

SEC. 4566. For the purpose of more fully carrying out the provisions of this act, it shall be the duty of the superintendent of the asylum, as soon as the building is ready to receive patients, to apportion to each county the number of patients it will be entitled to, taking as the terms of the proportion: the number of inhabitants in the state, the number in the county, and the number of patients the institution will accommodate, the last census taken by the United States to be the basis as to number of inhabitants. He shall immediately notify the county judge of each county of the number of patients the county is entitled to, and in all cases each county shall be entitled to the number apportioned to it, to the exclusion of any other patients. Act Feb. 17, 1883.

SEC. 4567. The county officers sending a patient to the asylum shall, before sending him, see that he is free from any contagious disease, in a state of perfect bodily cleanliness and comfortably clothed. Act March 15, 1881.

MANDAMUS AND PROHIBITION.

4569.	Writ of mandamus defined.	4573.	Trial.
4570.	Writ of prohibition defined.	4574.	Orders pendente lite .

WHAT COURTS MAY ISSUE.

SECTION 4568. The circuit courts shall have power to issue writs of mandamus to the courts of probate, county courts, justices of the peace, and all other inferior officers in their respective circuits (a). Rev. Stat., chap. 92, sec. 9.

MANDAMUS AND PROHIBITION DEFINED.

SEC. 4569. The writ of mandamus, as treated of in this chapter, is an order of a court of competent and original jurisdiction commanding an executive or ministerial officer to perform an act, or omit to do an act, the performance or omission of which is enjoined by law, and is granted on the motion of the party aggrieved, or of the state, when the public interest is affected (aa).

SEC. 4570. The writ of prohibition is an order from a circuit court to an inferior court of limited jurisdiction, prohibiting it from proceeding in a matter out of its jurisdiction (b).

(a) When a justice of the peace refuses to issue a supersedeas, upon the filing of a schedule of exempt property, the proper remedy is by mandamus. Smith v. Raysdale, 36—297.

(aa) The writ of mandamus is a writ to compel the performance of an act or duty, and not to prevent it; and our code does not intend that it shall take the place of an injunction. Crawford v. Carson, 35—565. The supreme court has power to issue writs of mandamus to the circuit court to compel it to act, but not to control its discretion, where it has any. It may enforce the performance of ministerial acts by the circuit court. McCreary v. Rogers, 35—298. The right to an appeal from the judgments of the circuit court is absolute, and will be enforced by mandamus. Ib. The officer whose conduct is complained of should alone be made the party defendant in a petition for mandamus. Fry v. Reynolds, 33—450. In a proper case a judge may be compelled by mandamus to sign a bill of exceptions. Garibaldi v. Carroll, 33—568. Mandamus is the proper remedy to compel the receipt of county warrants for taxes. Fry v. Reynolds, 33—450. The supreme court will, by mandamus, compel the circuit court to permit a defendant in a criminal case to take the depositions of witnesses residing out of the state. Giboney v. Rogers, 32—462. Mandamus will not lie to compel the commissioner of state lands to issue a second patent where the state has wrongfully issued a patent to another. The remedy of the applicant is in equity against the first patentee. Smith v. Moseley, 32—425.

(b) A writ of prohibition will not issue until after opportunity given to parties to show cause against it. Tucker, ex parte, 25—567. When a court is proceeding in a matter not within its jurisdiction, prohibition is the proper remedy. Hanger & Co. v. Keating, 26—51. But this remedy can not be invoked until the want of jurisdiction has been pleaded, and the plea overruled, in the court where the proceeding is pending. City of Little Rock, ex parte, Ib., 52. The writ of prohibition will never be granted unless the inferior court has clearly exceeded its authority, and the applicant has no other remedy. Russell v. Jacobway, 33—191. If the circuit court attempts to control the discretion of the county court in determining the result of an election for the removal of a county seat, a writ of prohibition will lie from the supreme court. Ib. The mere filing of the petition for prohibition and notice to the judge will not restrain him from proceeding. Henry v. Steele, 28—455.

PETITION FOR, ANSWER, TRIAL.

SEC. 4571. Writs of mandamus, except where used by a court for enforcing its judgments or orders, and writs of prohibition shall be obtained by motion, and prosecuted in the manner provided in sections 3957 to 3962, both inclusive, in chapter 89, entitled "judgments summary," except that the applicant shall file a petition (c) wherein he shall state the cause and ground for his application before giving notice of his motion.

SEC. 4572. The party against whom the mandamus or prohibition is sought shall file an answer, wherein he shall state the reason why the writ should not be granted, which answer shall be filed at or before the time fixed for making the motion.

SEC. 4573. The court shall hear and decide all questions of law or fact arising in the motion, and the granting or refusing of the writ shall be the final order in the motion (d).

SEC. 4574. During the pendency of the motion, the court or judge in vacation may make temporary orders for preventing damages or injury to the applicant until the motion is decided. Civil Code, secs. 516-519 and 521.

APPEALS.

SEC. 4575. Where the interests, rights or claims of the state are affected by the final order on an application for a writ of mandamus, the attorney-general may prosecute an appeal without any security whatever. Ib., sec. 520.

(c) A jurat is necessary to a petition for mandamus. Black v. Auditor, 26-237.

(d) The hearing upon mandamus must be by the court, and not by the judge at chambers. Palmer v. McClesney, 26-452. Mandamus will lie when a person has a clear legal right to insist that an act shall be done by a public officer, and no other adequate remedy. Golings v. Mills, 1-11; Estell v. Hinger & Winston, Ib., 121; Howard v. McDiarmid, 26-100; Black v. Auditor, Ib., 237; Fitch v. McDiarmid, Ib., 482; Underwood v. White, 27-382.

It will not lie to control the judicial discretion or judgment of an inferior court or tribunal, but only to compel them to an exercise of their discretion or judgment. Gunn v. County of Pulaski, 3-427; Hutt, ex parte, 14-368; Johnson, ex parte, 25-614; Hayes, ex parte, 26-510; McMillen v. Smith, 26-613; Union County v. Robinson, 27-116.

All questions of law and fact should be submitted together, and decided at the same time. Moses v. Kearney, 31-261. Where the writ is sought for the enforcement of a public right, it is not necessary that the relator should have any special interest; but the proceeding must be in the name of the state. Ib. The petition should show a refusal on the part of the officer to perform the act. Coit v. Elliot, 28-294.

SEC. 4580. A person purchasing or acquiring cattle or other stock, where he brands or marks the same in his brand or mark after the acquisition of the same, shall do it in the presence of one or more of his neighbors, who are authorized to certify to the fact of branding or marking being done, where done, and in what brand or mark the cattle or other stock were previously, and in what brand or mark they were re-branded or re-marked.

SEC. 4581. Minors owning cattle or hogs separate from those of the father or guardian may have a brand and mark, which shall be recorded; the father or guardian shall be responsible for the proper use of such mark and brand of any such minor. Rev. Stat., chap. 93.

SEC. 4634. A married woman, owning any separate personal property, may make a schedule of the same and file it in the recorder's office of the county where she then lives; and such schedule so filed, or a duly certified copy thereof, under the hand and seal of the recorder, shall be prima facie evidence, in all courts and places, that the property mentioned in the said schedule, together with the issues and increase of the same, is, and was at the date of the making of such schedule, the separate property of such married woman (d).

SEC. 4635. Any person who shall bona fide sell or give any property to a married woman may schedule and record the same as the separate property of such married woman, with the same and like effect as though the same had been done by such married woman; and any conveyance or will of property to a married woman, on being duly recorded, shall have all the effect of a schedule under this act.

(c) See Chollar v. Temple, 39—238.

(d) A married woman is not required to schedule her money. German Bank v. Himstedt, 42—62. Property for which scheduled property has been exchanged is not protected by the schedule. Ib.

SEC. 4636. The separate estate and property of a married woman shall not be forfeited, nor shall her right and title thereto be prejudiced, by a failure or neglect to file such schedule; but, in any suit, action or proceeding relating to said property, when the same has not been scheduled and recorded, the burden of proof shall rest on her to show that the same is her separate property.

SEC. 4637. The fact that a married woman permits her husband to have the custody, control and management of her separate property shall not of itself be sufficient evidence that she has relinquished her title to said property; but in such case the presumption shall be that the husband is acting as the agent or trustee of the wife (c). This presumption may be rebutted by any evidence establishing a sale or gift by the wife to the husband of such property.

SEC. 4638. This act shall not be construed to abridge the existing jurisdiction and powers of a court of equity to make a settlement upon the wife out of her separate estate and property, and otherwise protect her separate property rights; and such jurisdiction is hereby extended to securing to the wife her separate property, as defined and fixed by section 7, of article IX, of the constitution.

SEC. 4639. The rule that statutes, in derogation of the common law, shall be strictly construed, shall have no application to this act.

SEC. 4640. The schedule of a married woman's separate property may be in the following form:

In the case supposed in section 4668, the sheriff shall further find by the jury the value of one acre of ground on the opposite side of the water-course, to include the place where the petitioner would abut his dam or build his mill or other machinery, and the sheriff shall, with the assistance of the jury, set the same apart by metes and bounds.

SEC. 4676. In such cases the sheriff shall notify the proprietor of the land whereof one acre is prayed for of the time and place when and where he will take the inquest of the jury, if such proprietor be in his county, and, if not, he shall set up the notice at the house of the tenant of such land, and, if there be no tenant thereof, then he shall set up such notice at some conspicuous place on the land. In discharging the foregoing duties the sheriff shall have power, with the jury, to go into and act in an adjoining county when necessary.

SEC. 4677. The inquest of the jury shall be reduced to writing, and, being signed by each of the jurymen, shall be returned by the sheriff, together with the writ and statement of the manner in which he executed it, into the court whence it issued without delay.

SEC. 4678. The court shall, on the return of the inquest, cause the proprietor of the land one acre whereof shall have been prayed for, and the several persons proprietors of the land found by the inquest returned to be liable to damage, to be summoned to appear in the same court, on a day to be named in the summons, and show cause, if any they can, why the person petitioning should not have permission to erect his dam.

SEC. 4679. If such proprietor reside in the county in which the lands lie, the service of the summons shall be as in ordinary cases; but if not a resident in the county, then the service shall be by setting up a copy at the house of the tenant on the land, or, if there be no tenant there, at some conspicuous place on the land.

SEC. 4680. If, upon a view of the inquest returned by the sheriff, and other evidence, if any such shall be produced, it shall appear to the court that the mansion-house of the proprietor, or out-houses, curtilages or gardens thereunto belonging, or orchard, or field, will be overflowed, or that the health of the neighborhood will be materially annoyed by the stagnation of the waters consequent upon the erection of the proposed dam, the court shall not permit such dam to be erected.

SEC. 4681. If, upon view, it shall appear to the court that none of the evils provided against in the last preceding section are likely to ensue, the court shall then consider whether, all circumstances weighed, it is reasonable that the permission to erect the dam as prayed for should be given, and thereupon make an order giving permission or not accordingly.

SEC. 4682. Where the party petitioning shall have prayed for one acre of ground whereupon to abut his dam, the court shall include in its order granting permission to erect the dam a decree vesting such acre of land and the title thereof in the party petitioning, his heirs and assigns, forever.

SEC. 4683. The order and decree authorized by the last two preceding sections, and the rights and privileges thereby granted, shall in all cases be upon and subject to the conditions hereinafter expressed.

SEC. 4684. First, such conditions in reference to the obstructions of fish of passage as the court shall think proper to impose; second, that all damages and valuations made and assessed by the jury shall be paid; third, that the dam and mills or other machinery shall be commenced within one year, and the same shall be finished and ready for business in three years from the date of the order of permission.

SEC. 4685. Whenever the dam and mill or other machinery shall be destroyed or materially impaired, the same shall be rebuilt or repaired within three years thereafter; but if the owner of such dam and mill be an infant, then the usual saving in favor of infants.

SEC. 4686. In case of non-compliance with any of the conditions concerning building, rebuilding or repairing, where the land of another shall have been decreed by the court for the purpose of an abutment, the same shall revert to and revest in the original owner, or his legal representatives.

SEC. 4687. Any owner of any dam and mill, and other machinery erected in virtue of this act, may raise his dam by permission of the court, under and by the same proceedings, regulations and conditions hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 4688. The inquest of the jury, or the order and permission of the court founded thereupon, shall not bar any prosecution or action which any person would have had in law had this act not been passed, except for such injuries as were actually foreseen and estimated by the jury.

SEC. 4689. Any person who shall build or raise any dam or any other stoppage or obstruction in or across any water-course without first obtaining permission from the proper court, according to law, and shall thereby work any material injury to any other person by overflowing his lands, shall forfeit to the party injured double damages for such injury, to be recovered by civil action. .

SEC. 4690. All dams, stoppages or obstructions not made according to law shall be deemed to be public nuisances, and shall be dealt with accordingly.

SEC. 4691. If any person, or his legal representatives, to whom permission to erect a dam in virtue of this chapter shall have been given shall fail to build, rebuild or repair the same, together with the mill or other machinery connected therewith, according to the requisitions of this chapter or the conditions of the permission, it shall be lawful for any other person owning the land on one side of the water-course at the point where such dam was erected, or was intended to be erected, or owning the land below or above, to build a dam and mill or other machinery thereon, as if no such permission had been given, without incurring any liability on account of taking off or backing the water on such dam.

SEC. 4692. Where mills or other machinery are proposed to be built, so as to be propelled by water drawn from lakes through canals cut therefrom, if the canal intended to be cut will pass through the land of other persons, the same mode shall be pursued as in cases of streams. Rev. Stat., chap. 98.

(*) By an act approved March 24, 1883, it is made the duty of the governor to direct the sheriffs of the several counties to gather up the guns and other accouterments belonging to the state not in the possession of regularly organized companies, and deliver the same to him at Little Rock. If any person holding such arms or accouterments, unless he is a member of some organized military company, or specially authorized to hold the same, shall refuse to deliver them to the sheriff upon demand, he may be convicted of a misdemeanor, and fined not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars. As the act does not appear to be of a permanent nature, it is not embraced in this digest. See Acts of 1883, page 187.

SEC. 4715. Any person belonging to the military forces of this state, who shall, contrary to the lawful order of the proper officer, retain in his possession or control any military property in this state, shall, in addition to the military offense of disobedience of orders, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof before a court having jurisdiction, shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and any commanding officer may take possession of such property wherever the same may be found.

FINES GO TO COUNTIES.

SEC. 4716. All fines and penalties that shall become due and payable from the members of the state guard and reserve militia, for non-attendance at inspection, muster, instruction, review or other duty, and the amount of which shall from time to time be prescribed by the commander-in-chief, in general orders, and all fines and penalties that may be assessed and collected by virtue of the sentence of any court-martial, shall be paid into the county treasury (*). SEC. 4718. Volunteer companies of infantry, cavalry or artillery may be formed in such manner and with such restrictions as may be provided by law. Art. XI, sec. 2, Const.

SEC. 4719. There may be organized in each county four volunteer companies—one of infantry, one of light infantry or riflemen, one of cavalry and one of artillery—who shall elect their officers at the first election at a time and place to be ordered by the colonel of the regiment, upon whose certificate of election commissions shall issue; and at all subsequent elections, at a time and place fixed by the company, and commissions to the officers elected at such subsequent elections shall issue on the certificate of the commanding officer of the company.

SEC. 4720. The officers of every volunteer company shall be a captain, one first, one second and one third lieutenant.

SEC. 4721. Every volunteer corps shall be wholly independent of the militia of the county, except at battalion and regimental parades, when such

SEC. 4722. It shall be lawful for the volunteer companies in each brigadier-general's command to organize themselves into battalions and regiments, the officers whereof shall be elected by the commissioned officers of the companies, at a time and places to be directed by the brigadier-general, on application by the captains of a sufficient number of such companies to form a volunteer regiment; such election shall be held by each captain for his own company, who shall report the vote of his company to the brigadier-general, and the latter shall certify the election to the governor.

SEC. 4723. Each volunteer company shall parade and drill as often and on such days as shall be fixed by its by-laws, not being less than once every month; and may establish by by-laws such fines for non-attendance at drill, disobedience, unsoldier-like conduct, and the like, as it may think proper.

SEC. 4724. Each of such companies may hold a court-martial of its commissioned officers, or a majority of them, as often and at such times and places as by its by-laws may be established, and such court, or any member of it, shall have power to administer oaths in regard to all matters which may properly come before it; and may fine for contempt in a sum not more than ten dollars.

SEC. 4725. In making up the records of any volunteer company, battalion or regimental court-martial, it shall not be necessary to state more than that the person fined was absent at a certain named parade or drill, and offers no excuse, or no sufficient excuse for his absence, and is therefore fined the amount mentioned, which shall be, as to form, to all intents and purposes a valid judgment; and it shall in all cases be presumed that the person so fined was regularly a member of the company; that the parade or drill at which he was absent was regularly ordered or fixed by the by-laws; that it was proven to said court that he was duly notified to attend such parade or drill, and also that he received due notice to appear before said court and answer, and that the fine assessed is the proper amount fixed by the by-laws, with all other presumption in favor of the judgment of such courts as would apply in case of a court of a superior jurisdiction.

SEC. 4726. The captain of each volunteer company shall have power by written appointment to constitute one member of the company its collector, and may issue to such collector, whenever a fine has been assessed by the court-martial, his warrant, in the name of the state, reciting the imposition of such fine, and commanding the collector to proceed by levy and make the same, and return the warrant within ten days from its date; and each such collector shall have, in all respects, the same power as to levy and sale under said warrant as a constable has by law under executions from a justice of the peace, and may sell any property levied, after ten days' notice put up in one public place in the county, at which public place the sale shall be made. No delivery bond shall be allowed to be given on any such warrant, and levy may be made on any of the personal property of the defendant. Act Jan. 9, 1845.

EXEMPTION FROM ARREST, ETC.

SEC. 4727. The volunteer and militia forces shall, in all cases (except treason, felony and breach of the peace), be privileged from arrest during their attendance at muster and the election of officers, and in going to and returning from the same. Art. XI, sec. 3, Const.

SEC. 4729. Any keeper or owner of a toll-bridge or turnpike, or any ferryman failing to ferry over, or refusing to let any such person pass, shall be fined in any sum not less than three nor more than ten dollars. Act Feb. 3, 1843.

CHAPTER CIX.

MONEY AND INTEREST.

SECTION

MONEY.

4730. Money account of the United States, all accounts to be kept in.

4731. Fractions of a cent may be rejected in judgments, etc.

INTEREST.

4732. Usury; rate of interest.

4733. Legal rate of interest not to exceed ten per cent.

4734. Greater rate of interest prohibited.

4735. Larger rates make bills void.

SECTION

4736. Conventional rate of interest limited, no matter where payable.

Rule for Computing.

4737. Month, what.

4738. Partial payments.

4739. To be calculated "by the year," when.

Rate of Interest on Judgments.

4740. Judgments to draw six per cent.

4741. upon contracts drawing more than six per cent., to draw same rate as contract.

MONEY.

SECTION 4730. All accounts and other computations of money in the treasury and other public offices, whether state or local, and all accounts arising from proceedings in courts of justice, shall be kept and made out in the money account of the United States—that is to say, in dollars or units, dimes or tenths, cents or hundredths, mills or thousandths; a dime being the tenth part of a dollar, a cent a hundredth part of a dollar, and a mill the thousandth part of a dollar.

SEC. 4731. In all judgments or decrees rendered by any court of justice for any debt, damages or costs, and on all executions issued thereon, the amount shall be computed, as near as may be, in dollars and cents, rejecting smaller fractions, and no judgment or other proceeding shall be considered erroneous for such omission. Rev. Stat., chap. 100.

INTEREST.

SEC. 4732. All contracts for a greater rate of interest than ten per centum per annum shall be void as to principal and interest, and the general assembly shall prohibit the same by law (a); but when no rate of interest is agreed upon, the rate shall be six per centum per annum. Art. XIX, sec. 13, Const.

SEC. 4733. The parties to any contract, whether the same be under seal or not, may agree in writing for the payment of interest not exceeding ten per centum per annum on money due or to become due (b).

SEC. 4734. No person or corporation shall, directly or indirectly, take or receive in money, goods, things in action, or any other valuable thing, any greater sum or value for the loan or forbearance of money or goods, things in action, or any other valuable thing, than is in section 4733 prescribed.

SEC. 4735. All bonds, bills, notes, assurances, conveyances, and all other contracts or securities whatever, whereupon or whereby there shall be reserved, taken or secured, or agreed to be taken or reserved, any greater sum or greater value for the loan or forbearance of any money, goods, things in action, or any other valuable thing, than is prescribed in this act shall be void (bb). Act Feb. 9, 1875, secs. 1-3 (†).

SEC. 4736. It shall be lawful for all parties loaning money in this state to reserve, or discount, interest upon any commercial paper, mortgages or other securities, at any rate of interest agreed upon by the parties, said rate of interest not to exceed ten per centum per annum, whether such paper or securities for principal or interest be payable in this state, or any other state, kingdom or country. Act July 13, 1868, sec. 7, as amended by act Feb. 9, 1875.

Rule for Computing.

SEC. 4737. For the purpose of calculating interest, a month shall be considered the twelfth part of a year, and as consisting of thirty days; and interest for any number of days less than a month shall be estimated by the proportion which such number of days shall bear to thirty.

SEC. 4738. In calculating interest, where partial payments may have been

(a) Under this provision, commercial paper tainted with usury is absolutely void, even in the hands of an innocent holder. German Bank v. Deshon, 41—331. Interest on a debt for goods sold runs from the time stipulated for payment, which will be presumed to be the time of delivery. Roberts v. Wilcoxon & Rose, 36—355. Since the adoption of the constitution of 1874, the indorsement of the county treasurer that scrip is "not paid for want of funds" will not cause it to bear interest. Jacks v. Turner, 36—89. Interest is stopped by a lawful tender. Cole v. Moore, 34—582; Hamlett v. Tallman, 30—505.

(b) A promissory note, payable at a future day, and bearing over six per cent. interest from date, without saying "until paid," bears only six per cent. after maturity. Gardner v. Barnett, 36—476; Pettigrew v. Summers, 32—571; Woodruff v. Webb, 32—612; Newton v. Kennerly, 31—626.

(bb) Usury can be pleaded only by parties and privies, not by strangers. Ford v. Hancock, 36—248; Pickett v. Merchants' National Bank, 32—346. It is for the jury to decide whether a sale on credit for more than the cash price is intended as a bona fide sale, or as a cover for usury. Ford v. Hancock, supra. A note given for an account with interest, and bearing interest from date at ten per cent., is not usurious. Wallis v. Lehman, 36—569. As to note given for an account and including interest not due, see White v. Friedlander, 35—52. A mortgage or note in part usurious is void in toto; but a valid debt included in the note stands on its original merits. Crediting a usurious note with the amount of usury will not validate it. Marks v. Metgehee, 35—217. A person coming into equity to be relieved of an usurious debt must have paid or offered to pay the debt with legal interest. Anthony v. Lawson, 34—628; Pickett v. Merchants' National Bank, 32—346. Where usurious interest is carried in a general account for which a note is given, it taints the whole transaction. Pickett v. Merchants' National Bank, supra.

(†) Section 4 of this act was pronounced unconstitutional, in German Bank v. Deshon, 41—331.

made, the interest shall be calculated to the time when the first payment shall have been made, and such payment shall be applied to the payment of such interest; and if such payment exceed the interest, the balance shall be applied to diminish the principal, and the same course shall be observed in all subsequent payments; but in no case when a payment shall fall short of paying the interest due at the time of making such payment shall the balance of such interest be added to the principal (c).

SEC. 4739. Whenever any certain interest is or may be mentioned, and no period of time is stated for such rate of interest to be calculated, interest shall be calculated at the rate mentioned by the year, in the same manner as if the words "per annum" or "by the year" had been added to such rate. Rev. Stat., chap. 80, secs. 10-12.

Rate of Interest on Judgments.

SEC. 4740. Creditors shall be allowed to receive at the rate of six per cent. per annum on any judgment before any court or magistrate authorized to enter up the same, from the day of signing judgment until the effects are sold, or satisfaction be made. Act July 13, 1868, sec. 2.

SEC. 4741. Judgments or decrees upon contracts bearing more than six per cent. interest shall bear the same interest as may be specified in such contracts, and the rate of interest shall be expressed in all such judgments and decrees, and all other judgments and decrees shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, until satisfaction is made as aforesaid (d). Rev. Stat., chap. 80, sec. 4.

(c) This section does not prevent probate courts from compounding interest in cases of abuse of trust by fiduciaries. Price v. Peterson, 38—494.

(d) Judgments bearing an excessive rate of interest can not be collaterally attacked. They must be corrected by appeal or impeached in chancery. Chollar v. Temple, 39—238. See Badgett v. Jordan, 32—154.

(a) The distinction between a mortgage and a conditional sale may be seen from the following decisions: Porter v. Clements, 3—364; Johnson's exr. v. Clark, 5—321; Blakemore v. Byrnside, 7—505.

Where a bill of sale, absolute upon its face, was intended by the parties as a security for money advanced, no matter what language is employed in expressing the terms of the contract, it will be held and treated as a mortgage. Scott, White & Co. v. Henry & Cunningham, 13—112; Williams v. Cheatham, 19—278.

Parol testimony is admissible to prove that a deed absolute on its face was intended as a mortgage and as a security for a loan or debt. Johnson v. Clark, 5—321; McCarron v. Cassidy, 18—34. A landlord's lien for rent is paramount to that of a mortgagee taking the mortgage with a notice of the tenancy. Smith v. Meyer & Bro., 25—609. The mortgagor of real property has the ownership or fee, and his wife is entitled to dower therein. The mortgagee of real property, even after forfeiture, has no interest in the property subject to execution. Burr v. Robinson, Ib., 277. A mortgage which has not been acknowledged as prescribed by the statute, though recorded, creates no lien on the mortgaged property as against creditors and subsequent purchasers, but is good as between the parties; and, on breach of the condition of payment, may be enforced against the mortgagee, and on his death against his administrator in preference to his general creditors. Haskill v. Serier, Ib., 152. See note (b) post.

A mortgage free from fraud, though unrecorded, creates a valid lien, remaining after the death of the mortgagor against his administrator, heirs and general creditors, whether their debts existed at the date of the mortgage or were created afterward, and upon the faith of the property and without notice of the mortgage, and regardless of the merits of the creditor's claims; but as to attaching creditors, or persons obtaining specific liens, or even subsequent purchasers, with full knowledge that they are defeating another's lien, and who intend to do so, it is void, however honestly made. Martin v. Ogden, 41—186.

A mortgage of a specified number of articles out of a larger number will not be good against creditors of the mortgagor and others acquiring adverse rights, unless it furnishes the data for separating the mortgaged part from the mass. Dodds v. Neel, 41—70. But as between the parties to the mortgage, see Garley v. Davis, 39—394.

A mortgage of a part of a particular tract of land specifying the quantity, but not the particular part con-in which the mortgagor resides. Rev. Stat., chap. 101, sec. 1, as amended by act March 1, 1877.

SEC. 4743. Every mortgage, whether for real or personal property, shall be a lien on the mortgaged property from the time the same is filed (b) in the recorder's office for record, and not before; which filing shall be notice to all persons of the existence of such mortgage.

SEC. 4744. It shall be the duty of the recorder to indorse on every mort-veyed, nor referring to any matter or thing by which it can be designated, is void for uncertainty. Freed v. Brown, 41—495.

The lien of a mortgage is a legal lien—a right in the land—and may outlive the debt it secures, and be enforced in rem after the debt is barred by the statute of limitations. Waddell v. Carlock, 1b., 523.

As to remedy of mortgagee after death of mortgagor, see Rogers v. Stevenson, 42—555. As to mortgagee's liability for rents on improvements made by himself, see Jones v. Fletcher, 1b., 422.

A mortgagor can not annex the mortgaged land to a city to injury of mortgagee. Moore v. City of Little Rock, 1b., 66.

In foreclosing a mortgage against the heir of the mortgagor, it is error to render a personal decree against him for the debt. Harbison v. Vaughn, 1b., 539.

Wherever at the time of a sale the vendor is indebted to the purchaser, and so continues after the sale, with a right to call for a reconveyance upon payment of the debt, the transaction will be treated in equity as a mortgage, but the evidence must be clear. Harman v. May, 40—146.

A mortgage of merchandise retained by the mortgagor, with power to sell in the ordinary course of business, is void as to third persons. Lund v. Fletcher, 39—325; Martin v. Ogden, 41—186. An instrument reserving to the grantor the right of "redeeming" will be a mortgage if intended to secure a debt; otherwise it will be deemed a conditional sale. It will be construed in accordance with the intention of the parties. Striker v. Hershey, 38—264. A mortgage of lands can not, by parol agreement, be made to cover any other debt or any larger amount than that expressed in it. Hughes v. Johnson, 38—285; Johnson v. Anderson, 30—745. When it is doubtful whether an instrument is a mortgage or a conditional sale, it will be construed to be a mortgage. Gibson v. Martin, 38—207. A mortgagee in possession is bound to account for rents. Greer v. Turner, 36—17. Not only vested remainders, but contingent interests, may be mortgaged. Oliphint v. Eckerly, 36—69. The renewal of the mortgage note is not payment, and as between the parties will not extinguish the mortgage. 1b. Mortgages of property to be acquired in future will be upheld in equity. L. R. & F. S. Ry. Co. v. Page, 35—304; Apperson v. Moore, 30—56. Bona fide mortgages for future advances are good. Brewster v. Clumft, 33—72. A payment or tender of the debt discharges the mortgage lien. Schearff v. Dodge, 33—340. A mortgage to secure indefinite future advances is valid as against third parties. Jarrett v. McDaniel, 32—598. An absolute bill of sale given to secure a debt will be construed as a mortgage, and will be postponed to a subsequent recorded mortgage. Rogers v. Vaughan, 31—62. It requires clear evidence to show that a bill of sale was intended as a mortgage. Triebler v. Andrews, 31—163. A deed of trust made to secure a debt is in legal effect a mortgage. Turner v. Watkins, 31—429. A mortgage may be foreclosed for the payment of the interest before the maturity of the principal. Silhoell v. Adams, 29—346.

(b) A mortgage is good between the parties, though not acknowledged and recorded, but it constitutes no lien upon the mortgaged property as against strangers, unless it is acknowledged and recorded, even though they may have actual notice of its existence. Main v. Alexander, 9—112; Jacoway v. Gault, 20—190; Hannah v. Carrington, 18—105.

The clerk and recorder before whom a mortgage was acknowledged under a power of attorney, and to whom it was exhibited when the acknowledgment was made, but not filed for record with the mortgage, is no more affected with notice of the mortgage than a stranger would be; actual notice of an unregistered mortgage is insufficient. Carnall v. Duval, 22—136.

The substantial act to be done by a mortgagee to secure his full rights under our registry laws is to cause his mortgage to be placed on file for record in the office where such instruments are to be recorded, and pay the fee allowed by law for recording the same. See SECS. 3244, 3378, 5562. The filing of a paper does not consist of the marking put on it by the clerk, but in placing it as a record in the office or case where it belongs; and the failure of the recorder to note the filing and spread the mortgage upon the record can not operate to the prejudice of the mortgagee, who has left his mortgage with the clerk for record. If subsequent purchasers are misled by the neglect of the clerk to note the filing on the record, as required by section 4744, and record the mortgage, their remedy is against the clerk, who, together with his securities, are liable on his official bond for such neglect. Leaving a mortgage, and paying the fees for recording the same, in the recorder's office, with a person in charge of the office for the time being, though not a legal deputy, is a sufficient filing to protect and secure the rights of the mortgagee. Oate v. Walls, 28—244.

An unrecorded mortgage, or one which, from being defectively acknowledged, is not entitled to record, is not binding upon a third person, though such third person have actual notice of its existence. Dodd v. Parker, 40—536; Fry v. Martin, 33—203.

A mortgage filed with directions not to record it constitutes no lien unless it is filed in accordance with section 4750. Bowen v. Fussell, 37—307. Between conflicting mortgages the one first filed will have precedence. Mitchell v. Badgett, 33—387. The recording of a subsequent mortgage is no notice to a prior mortgagee. Birnie v. Main, 29—591.

A defective acknowledgment of a mortgage can not be taken advantage of by one acquiring the mortgaged property without value. Moore v. City of Little Rock, 42—66.

gage filed in his office for record, and note in the record, the precise time such mortgage was filed for record.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF SATISFACTION.

SEC. 4745. If any mortgagee, his executor, administrator or assignee, shall receive full satisfaction for the amount due on any mortgage, he shall, at the request of the person making satisfaction, acknowledge satisfaction thereof on the margin of the record in which such mortgage is recorded.

SEC. 4746. If any person thus receiving satisfaction do not, within sixty days after being requested, acknowledge satisfaction as aforesaid, he shall forfeit to the party aggrieved any sum not exceeding the amount of the mortgage money, to be recovered by civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 4747. Such acknowledgment of satisfaction, made as aforesaid, shall have the effect to release the mortgage and bar all actions brought thereon, and revest in the mortgagor, or his legal representatives, all title to the mortgaged property.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF SATISFACTION BY OFFICER.

SEC. 4748. If mortgaged property be redeemed by payment to the officer before the sale, such officer shall make a certificate thereof, and acknowledge the same before some officer authorized to take acknowledgment of deeds for lands, and such certificate shall be recorded in the office in which the mortgage is recorded, and shall have the same effect as satisfaction entered on the margin of the record. Rev. Stat., chap. 101.

MORTGAGES ON FUTURE CROPS.

SEC. 4749. All mortgages executed on crops already planted, or to be planted, shall have the same force and effect to bind such crops and their products as other mortgages now have to bind property already in being (c). Act Feb. 11, 1875.

SEC. 4750. Whenever any mortgage or conveyance, intended to operate as a mortgage of personal property, or any deed of trust upon personal property, shall be filed with any recorder in this state upon which is indorsed the following words: "This instrument is to be filed but not recorded," and which indorsement is signed by the mortgagee, his agent or attorney, the said instrument, when so received, shall be marked "filed" by the recorder, with the time of filing, upon the back of such instrument; and he shall file the same in his office, and it shall be a lien on the property therein described from the time of filing, and the same shall be kept there for the inspection of all persons inter-

(c) The landlord's lien is superior to a crop mortgage. Buck v. Lee, 36—525; Tomlinson v. Greenfield, 31—557. Under this section the mortgage is valid at law, and replevin can be maintained for the property. Jarrett v. McDaniel, 32—598.

After the assignment of a rent note, payable in cotton, the assignor has no interest in the cotton which he can mortgage. Hamilton v. Duty, 41—414.

SEC. 4751. Every mortgage so indorsed and filed shall be void as against the creditors of the person making the same, or against subsequent purchasers or mortgagees in good faith, after the expiration of one year after the filing thereof, unless within thirty days next preceding the expiration of one year from such filing, and each year thereafter, the mortgagee, his agent or attorney, shall make an affidavit exhibiting the interest of the mortgagee at the time last aforesaid claimed by virtue of such mortgage, and, if said mortgage is to secure the payment of money, the amount yet due and unpaid; such affidavit shall be attached to and filed with the instrument or copy on file to which it relates (e).

SEC. 4752. A copy of any such original instrument, so indorsed and filed as aforesaid, including any affidavit made in pursuance of this act, certified by the recorder, in whose office the same shall have been filed, shall be received in evidence in all suits or proceedings to which it may be applicable; and if, in any suit or proceeding, the execution of said instrument, or its genuineness, shall be questioned in such manner as to render the production of the original necessary, the same may be produced by the recorder of the county, in obedience to a subpoena duces tecum or other proper process.

SEC. 4753. The recorder of deeds shall keep a book in which shall be entered a minute of mortgages and trust deeds of personal property, and affidavits filed under this act. Said book shall be ruled off into separate columns, with heads as follows: "Time of Reception," "Name of Mortgagor," "Name of Mortgagee," "Date of Instrument," "Amount Secured," "When Due," "Property Mortgaged" and "Remarks." Under the head of "Property Mortgaged" it shall be sufficient to enter a general description of the property and the particular place where located. The date of filing any affidavit, and the amount sworn to be due and unpaid, shall be entered under the head of "Remarks." An index to said book shall be kept in the manner as required for other records.

SEC. 4754. In the absence of stipulations to the contrary, the mortgagee of personal property shall have the legal title thereto and the right of possession.

SEC. 4755. When any mortgage or trust deed of personal property shall have been fully paid off or satisfied, it shall be the duty of the mortgagee or beneficiary, his assignee or personal representative, to enter satisfaction, or cause satisfaction thereof to be entered of record, under the head of "Remarks," under the same penalty for neglect or refusal as provided in case of the satisfaction of mortgages of real estate and other recorded mortgages.

SEC. 4756. Recorders of deeds shall be entitled to receive the following fees for services under the provisions of this act: For filing each instrument or copy and entering the same upon the record herein provided for, twenty-five cents; for filing each affidavit of mortgage, and writing the same upon record, ten cents; for copies of such instruments, copies or affidavits, such fees as are now allowed by law to clerks of the circuit court for copies of papers on file in their offices.

(d) The indorsement, "To be filed but not recorded," is a sufficient compliance with this provision. State v. Smith, 40—431.

(e) Unless this provision is complied with, the mortgage becomes void at the expiration of a year. McKennon v. May, 39—442.

This act shall not be so construed as to apply to any instrument which shall not be indorsed by the mortgagee as aforesaid. Act March 10, 1877.

SEC. 4757. All trust deeds or mortgages of personal property, filed in any recorder's office in any county in this state, upon which is indorsed, "This instrument is to be filed but not recorded," may be withdrawn by the mortgagee if such mortgage be canceled or satisfied, and the recorder shall make a minute of such withdrawal, cancellation or satisfaction on the book required to be kept to enter such mortgages or trust deeds under the head of "Remarks."

SEC. 4758. In all cases where such mortgages or trust deeds have been canceled or satisfied, the recorder may allow such instrument to be withdrawn from the files of his office by either the mortgagee or mortgagor. Act Feb. 28, 1883.

SALES UNDER MORTGAGES, ETC.

SEC. 4759. At all sales of personal or real property under mortgages and deeds of trust in this state, such property shall not sell for less than two-thirds of the appraised value thereof. Provided, that if the property shall not sell at first offering for two-thirds of the amount of the appraisement, then, in case of personal property, another offering may be made sixty days thereafter, and, in case of real property, another offering may be made in twelve months thereafter, at which offering the sale shall be to the highest bidder without reference to the appraisement; and, provided, that real property sold thereunder may be redeemed by the mortgagor at any time within one year from the sale thereof by payment of the amount for which said property is sold, together with ten per cent. interest thereon and cost of sale (f). Act March 17, 1879, sec. 1, as amended by act March 17, 1883.

SEC. 4760. When such sales are to be made, the mortgagee, trustee or other person authorized to make the same shall, before the day fixed therefor, apply to the nearest justice of the peace of the township in which such sale is to be made, or, if there be no justice in said township, then to the nearest justice of an adjoining township, for the appointment of appraisers; and such justice shall thereupon appoint three disinterested householders of the county, who shall take and subscribe an oath before such justice that they will well and truly view and appraise the property that may be shown them.

SEC. 4761. Such appraisers shall proceed to view and appraise such property, and they, or any two of them, shall make a report of their appraisement in writing, which report shall be attached to the oaths taken as aforesaid, and shall be delivered to the person making the sale, and held by him subject to inspection by all parties interested.

SEC. 4762. For their services, the appraisers shall receive one dollar each, to be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the property. Act March 17, 1879, sec. 2.

(f) If the mortgagor files a bill to redeem from a sale not made in accordance with this section, he waives the irregularities, unless he assails them in his bill. Daily v. Abbott, 40—275. A mortgagor is entitled to redeem by payment of the debt and ten per cent., and, if the purchaser takes possession before the expiration of the period for redemption, is entitled to receive from the purchaser the rents. Ib. This act is unconstitutional as to mortgages executed prior to its passage. Robards v. Brown, 40—423.

SEC. 4763. The mortgagor or grantor in any mortgage or deed of trust, where the sole consideration of the mortgage or deed of trust is money loaned to the mortgagor, shall, if he so desire, have the right to waive any or all rights of appraisement, sale or redemption provided for in this act, by a clause in said mortgage or deed of trust to that effect. Ib., sec. 1, as amended by act March 17, 1883.

fifteen days from its rejection, and, if a new bond is not given in that time, the office shall be deemed vacant, and shall be filled in the manner now provided by law (b).

SEC. 4773. Any citizen and tax-payer of the county may appear in the circuit court and file objection to the sufficiency of any official bond that may be given by any county or township officer, as required by this act, showing that the securities have not the amount of property in the county subject to execution or other final process to make the bond good, and, if the objection be sworn to, the burden of proof shall be on the officer to show that the securities in the bond are sufficient, and the issue shall be tried by the court after hearing the evidence adduced on the trial.

SEC. 4774. If, on the trial, the bond shall be found insufficient, the court shall order a new bond to be given in the time and in the manner prescribed in sections 4771 and 4772, and, upon the failure of such officer to give such new bond within the time prescribed, the office shall be deemed vacant.

SEC. 4777. The court shall hear and determine the matter, and if, on a trial, the bond and securities be found insufficient, the court shall order the officer to give an additional bond within fifteen days, and pay the costs of the proceedings, but if the bond of the officer in a trial should be found sufficient, the petitioner shall pay the cost.

If they are insufficient, but it otherwise appears that the bond is sufficient, the circuit court should not reject it, but should require affidavits meeting the requirements of the statute to be filed. Ib. The affidavits need not give a description of the property of sureties, but only its amount and value. Hodkin v. Holland, 34—200. That some of them are not made until after the bond is approved by the county judge and filed in the clerk's office is no reason that the circuit court should not approve it. Ib.

(a) The statutory regulations for partition of land do not take away the original jurisdiction of chancery. Patton v. Wagner, 19—233.

Partition can not be had of lands held adversely, or the title to which is in dispute, unless the lands be vacant and not in actual possession. Where the co-tenant has been ousted, or his rights totally denied by his co-tenant, his remedy is by ejectment, in which he may recover his just proportion of the land, and also of the rents and profits. London v. Overby, 40—135, and cases there cited.

As to partition to indemnify co-tenant for improvements, see Drennea v. Walker, 21—540.

Expenses incurred as to land owned jointly by partners should be settled in a proceeding for partition, and not on bill to settle partnership accounts. Jones v. Jones, 23—212.

SEC. 4791. Every person having such interest as is specified in this act, whether in possession or otherwise, and every person entitled to dower in such premises, if the same has not been admeasured, shall be made a party to such petition.

SEC. 4792. In cases where one or more of such parties, or the share or quantity of interest of any of the parties, is unknown to the petitioner, or uncertain or contingent, or the ownership of the inheritance shall depend upon an executory devise, or the remainder shall be contingent, so that such parties can not be named, the same shall be so stated in the petition. Ib., secs. 2-4.

SEC. 4793. Any person having an interest in the premises not made a party in the petition may appear, and, on showing his interest by affidavit, be made a party. Ib., sec. 9.

SEC. 4794. If a party duly notified by personal service, or constructively summoned, shall not appear and answer within the time allowed, a default shall be entered; but the petitioner shall, nevertheless, make out his case by exhibiting to the court the evidence of his title. Ib., sec. 13.

SEC. 4795. The court shall ascertain, from the evidence, in case of default, or from the confession by answer of the parties, if they appear, or from the verdict by which any issue of fact shall be determined, and shall declare the rights, titles and interests of all the parties to such proceedings, petitioners as well as defendants, so far as the same shall have appeared, and shall determine the rights of the parties in such lands and tenements, and give judgment that partition be made between such of them as shall have any right therein, in accordance with such right thus ascertained.

SEC. 4796. If neither party require a jury, any fact arising under this act may be referred to the court, and the decision of the court shall have the same effect as the verdict of a jury.

SEC. 4797. Whenever any judgment of partition shall be rendered, the court shall, by rule or order, appoint not less than three nor more than five commissioners (b), residents of the county in which the premises to be divided shall be situate, to make the partition so adjudged, according to the respective rights and interests of the parties, as the same were ascertained and determined by the court; and, on such rule or order, the court shall designate the part or shares which shall remain undivided, if any, for the owners whose interest shall be unknown and not ascertained.

SEC. 4798. The commissioners shall forthwith proceed to make partition, according to the judgment of the court, unless it shall appear to them, or a majority of them, that partition of the premises can not be made without great prejudice to the owners, in which case they shall make report of such fact in court, under their hands, accompanied by an affidavit of the truth of the fact stated in such report so returned.

SEC. 4799. In making partition, the commissioners shall divide the lands and tenements, and allot the several portions and shares thereof to the respective parties, quality and quantity relatively being considered by them, according to the respective rights and interests of the parties, so adjudged by the court, designating the several shares and portions by metes and bounds, and may, when necessary, employ a surveyor and assistants to assist them therein.

(b) See Larris v. Preston, 10—201.

SEC. 4800. The commissioners shall make a full and detailed report of their proceedings, in writing, signed by them, or a majority of them, specifying therein the manner of executing the trust, and describing the lands divided, and the shares allotted to each party, with the quantity of each share, the boundaries, courses and distances, together with such other facts as may be necessary for a complete elucidation of such division; which report shall be accompanied by the affidavits of such commissioners as may sign such report, verifying the facts set forth therein.

SEC. 4801. Upon good cause shown by either party, on the report being made and returned to the circuit court, it may be set aside by the court, who may appoint new commissioners, who shall proceed in like manner as herein-before directed; but the court shall not set aside a second report for the same cause for which the first report was set aside.

SEC. 4802. If no such cause be shown, the report shall be confirmed, and judgment shall thereupon be given, that such partition be firm and effectual forever, and such judgment shall be binding and conclusive on all the parties to the proceedings, and their representatives, and all other persons claiming under them by right derived after the commencement of the proceedings. Ib., secs. 14-21.

SEC. 4804. If the commissioners shall report to the court that the land or tenements of which partition had been directed are so situated, or that any lot or portion thereof is so situated, that partition thereof can not be made without great prejudice to the owners thereof, the court may, if satisfied that such report is just and correct, make an order that the commissioners sell the premises so situated, at public auction, to the highest bidder. Ib., sec. 23.

SEC. 4805. The court making such order of sale shall therein direct the terms and conditions, time and place of sale, the credit, if any, and the security to be taken.

SEC. 4806. The commissioners shall give notice of the time and place and terms of any sale to be made by them, in accordance with the order of the court directing such sale.

SEC. 4807. If the premises consist of distinct farms, buildings, tracts or lots of land, they shall be sold separately, or where any tract of land or lot can be divided for the purpose of sale, with advantage to the parties interested, it may be so divided and sold in parcels.

SEC. 4808. No commissioner, nor any person for his benefit, shall purchase or be directly or indirectly interested in the purchase of any of the premises sold, nor shall any guardian of any minor or person of unsound mind, party to the proceedings, purchase or be interested in the purchase of any of the lands, the subject of the proceedings, except for the benefit or in behalf of the ward; and all sales contrary to the provisions of this section shall be void.

SEC. 4809. After completing such sale, the commissioners shall report their proceedings to the court, on their oath, with a description of the different parcels of the land sold, the name of each purchaser, and the price bid by him, which report shall be filed in the court.

SEC. 4810. If such sale be approved and confirmed by the court, an order shall be entered directing the commissioners, or a majority of them, to execute conveyances pursuant to such sale, and the commissioners shall execute such conveyances accordingly.

SEC. 4811. The conveyances so executed shall be acknowledged or proven, and recorded in the same manner as other conveyances of lands, and shall be a bar, both in law and equity, against all persons interested in such premises, and who shall have been parties to the proceedings, and against all other persons claiming from or under such parties, or either of them, by title derived after suit commenced.

SEC. 4812. The proceeds of every such sale, after deducting the costs and expenses of the proceedings, shall be divided among the parties whose rights and interests shall have been sold, in proportion to their respective rights in the premises, and shall be paid to them, their guardians or legal representatives, by the commissioners. Ib., secs. 24-31.

WHEN PARTITION AND SALE NOT TO BE MADE.

SEC. 4813. No partition nor sale of land, tenements or hereditaments devised by any last will and testament shall be made, under the provisions of this act, contrary to the intention of any such testator, expressed in such last will and testament (c). Ib., sec. 34.

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN—BOND, ETC.

SEC. 4814. The guardians of all minors and persons of unsound mind, appointed according to law, shall be, and are, hereby authorized, in behalf of their respective wards, to do and perform any matter or thing respecting the division of any land or tenements, as herein directed, which shall be binding on any such ward, and deemed as valid to every purpose as if the same had been done by such ward after his disabilities were removed.

SEC. 4815. The court, for any of the purposes intended by this act, and before or after any proceedings by virtue thereof, may appoint a guardian for any minor, whether such minor resides in or out of this state, and such guardian, for all the purposes of this act, shall have the same powers as any general guardian.

SEC. 4816. The court appointing a guardian for any minor entitled to any moneys arising from the sale aforesaid shall require of such guardian a bond to the state, with such security as the court shall deem sufficient, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duty or trust committed to him, and that he will render a just and true account of such guardianship in all courts and places when thereto required.

SEC. 4817. In case of death, resignation, neglect or refusal to act of any of the commissioners to be appointed as aforesaid, before the duties, trust and services hereby required of them shall be completed, the court, or judge thereof

SALE OF LAND HELD IN TRUST FOR COPARCENERS, ETC., SOME OF WHOM ARE INFANTS, ETC.

SEC. 4819. Where town or city lots, or land outside of a town or city, but having upon it a building of more value than the land, shall be held by or in trust for coparceners, joint tenants, or tenants in common, some of whom are infants or persons of unsound mind, the circuit court, or other court of similar jurisdiction, may, upon the complaint of a part of such owners against the others, or of the trustee against such owners, or of the owners against the trustee, and upon its being proved that a division of such land would materially impair its value, order a sale thereof and the division of the proceeds among those entitled. Before such sale is ordered, the court shall appoint some suitable persons to take care of the interests of the infants or persons of unsound mind; and the shares of such infants or persons of unsound mind shall not be paid by the purchaser, but remain a lien upon the land, bearing interest, until they become capable in law of receiving their respective shares, or until statutory guardians shall be appointed for such infants or persons of unsound mind, or the infants shall become married, and such guardians or husbands shall give bond as required by law.

SEC. 4820. The sale of land of infants, persons of unsound mind or married women shall not be deemed to be prohibited as being in contravention of the deed, will or contract under which they hold, unless a sale is expressly forbidden by such deed, will or contract (d).

SEC. 4821. When the legal title of land is held by a trustee, he shall be a party to the proceedings for its sale, and in all other respects the proceedings for the sale of land held in trust for infants, married women and persons of unsound mind shall be the same as where they hold the legal title, except that the trustees shall give bond and security, instead of the guardian or husband, where the proceeds of sale are to go into the hands of such trustee. Civil Code, secs. 535-537.

In all actions brought upon bonds to which there is a condition or defeasance annexed by which the same is to become void on the payment of a less sum, the defendant in such action may plead payment of the principal sum and interest due by the condition of such bond before the commencement of such action in bar thereof, although the payment was not strictly according to such condition.

Sec. 4851. Whenever any action shall be pending on such bond, the defendant may, at any time before judgment rendered in such action, pay to the plaintiff, or bring into court for the plaintiff's use, the principal sum and interest due on such bond, together with the costs in such action, and thereupon such action shall be discontinued.

Sec. 4852. If judgment be recovered on any such bond, such judgment shall be rendered for the sum of money really due according to such condition, with interest and costs.

Sec. 4853. When an action shall be prosecuted in any court of law upon any bond for the breach of any condition other than for payment of money, or shall be prosecuted for any penal sum for the non-performance of any covenant or written agreement, the jury, if they find that any assignment of such breaches is true, shall assess the damages occasioned by the breach in addition to their finding.

Sec. 4854. If, in such action, the plaintiff shall obtain judgment upon demurrer, by confession or default, the court shall make an order therein that the truth of the breaches assigned be inquired into and the damages sustained thereby assessed at the same or the next term, and the court shall proceed thereon in the same manner as in other cases of inquiry or damages (a).

(a) The jury must be sworn to inquire into the truth of the breaches, as well as to assess the damages. Phillips & Martin v. The Governor, use, etc., 2—382; Adams et al. v. State, use, etc., 6—197. See also McLain v. Taylor et al., 9—358; Lee v. Leach, Ib., 423.

This chapter and the above rulings on the practice under it are retained, though so much of it as relates to matters of practice purely is probably superseded by the code.

SEC. 4855. In every such action, if the plaintiff recover, the verdict assessing the damages shall be entered on the record, and judgment shall be entered for the penalty of the bond, or for the penal sum forfeited, together with costs of suit, and with a further judgment that the plaintiff have execution for the damages so assessed, which damages shall be specified in the judgment.

SEC. 4856. The judgment rendered for the penalty of the bond shall remain as a security for any damages that may be thereafter sustained by the further breach of any condition of such bond, or the non-performance of any other covenant or written agreement by the defendant, the performance of which was secured by such penal sum.

SEC. 4857. Whenever such further breaches shall occur, the plaintiff or his personal representative may have a scire facias upon such judgment, suggesting such breaches against the defendant, and all parties bound thereby, and commanding that they be summoned to show cause why an execution should not be had upon such judgment for the amount of damages sustained by such further breaches.

SEC. 4858. The like proceedings to ascertain such damages shall be had upon such writ as hereinbefore provided in the original suit on the bond; and, if the plaintiff recover, judgment shall be rendered that the plaintiff have execution to collect the amount of damages assessed and costs.

SEC. 4859. The execution issued on such judgment shall have like effect and be proceeded on in all things as in the first instance; but the judgment shall remain as a security for further breaches, and so on, as often as occasion may require.

SEC. 4860. Whenever, in any action brought according to the provisions of this act, the jury shall find that any assignment of breaches is not true, the same shall be a bar to any other or further suit by scire facias, or otherwise, for the recovery of any damages alleged to have been sustained by occasion of the same breaches so assigned.

SEC. 4861. In actions upon official bonds a judgment for the defendant shall be a bar to any other suit that may be brought on the same official bond, for the use of the same person, for any delinquency or default which was assigned as a breach of the condition of such bond in the action in which such judgment was rendered.

SEC. 4862. Any other party aggrieved may prosecute an action on such official bond, and the pendency of any suit for the use of any other person on the same bond, or a judgment recovered by or against any other person on such bond, shall not abate or in any manner affect such suit or the proceedings therein, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 4863. Any person who may have recovered any judgment upon such official bond may, in like manner, again prosecute an action on such bond whenever he may be aggrieved by any default or delinquency other than such as shall have been the subject of a former suit, and shall proceed therein as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 4864. No scire facias shall be brought upon any judgment rendered upon such official bond, by the same or any other relator, for any breach of the condition of the bond.

SEC. 4865. No suit on an official bond shall be barred, nor shall the amount which the plaintiff shall be entitled to recover be affected, by any plea made by any surety in such bond of a former judgment recovered thereon, unless it be accompanied by an allegation that the sureties, or some of them, have been obliged to pay the damages on such judgment, or some part thereof, for the want of sufficient property of the principal whereon to levy the same, or that they will be obliged to pay the same, or a part thereof, for the same reason; nor unless such plea be verified by oath.

SEC. 4866. If it shall appear that the amount of damages so recovered which a security has been, or will be obliged to pay, as specified in the preceding section, is equal to the amount for which such defendant shall be liable by virtue of the bond, he shall be acquitted and discharged from all further liability, and judgment rendered in his favor.

SEC. 4867. If it shall appear that the amount of damages so recovered and which such surety has paid, or will be obliged to pay, is not equal to the amount of his liability, the amount thereof shall be allowed to him in estimating the extent of his liability in any such action.

SEC. 4868. Whenever a judgment shall be obtained on any official bond against principal and sureties, a direction shall be indorsed on the execution, by the plaintiff or his attorney, to levy the amount, in the first place, on the property of the principal; and if sufficient property of such principal can not be found to satisfy such execution, then to levy the deficiency on the property of the sureties.

SEC. 4869. If several judgments be obtained at the same time upon any official bond, for damages amounting in the whole to more than the sum for which the sureties are liable, the court shall order the moneys levied from the property of the sureties on such judgments to be divided and distributed among the persons to whose use such judgments were rendered, respectively, in proportion to the amount of their respective recoveries.

SEC. 4870. The provisions of this act in relation to suits on official bonds shall apply as well to suits on bonds of administrators, executors, guardians and others required by law to give bond, with condition for the performance of any duty or trust, as to suits on bonds of officers; and the persons aggrieved may prosecute suits in the same manner and with like effect, and subject in all respects to the provisions herein contained in respect to suits on official bonds; and the court shall possess the same power in relation to such suits. Rev. Stat., chap. 112.

shall be liable thereon for any violations of the conditions thereof, or any loss or damage which may accrue to the state arising from any violation or forfeiture of the contract of said lessee or lessees, during the period for which said lease shall have been made, to be recovered by action instituted on said bond by the attorney-general of the state in any court having jurisdiction in the state. Provided, however, if, at any time, the said board of commissioners shall consider it necessary, after the making of said contract, they may require additional security, sufficient to protect the interests of the state on account of any forfeiture, default or removal from the state of any principal or security on said contract or on said bond. And, provided, that the taking such additional security shall not affect the liability of any person on the original bond.

(a) But as to justices' courts, see SECS. 4034, 4035. And see SECS. 6363, 5021.

REMEDIES—HOW DIVIDED.

SEC. 4911. Remedies in civil cases are divided into two classes:

First. Actions.

Second. Special proceedings.

SEC. 4912. A civil action is an ordinary proceeding in a court of justice by one party against another for the enforcement or protection of a private right, or the redress or prevention of a private wrong. It may also be brought for the recovery of a penalty or forfeiture.

SEC. 4913. Every other remedy in a civil case is a special proceeding. Civil Code, secs. 2-4, Preliminary Provisions.

FORM OF CIVIL ACTIONS.

SEC. 4914. The forms of all actions and suits heretofore existing are abolished.

SEC. 4915. There shall be but one form of action for the enforcement or protection of private rights, and the redress or prevention of private wrongs, which shall be called a civil action.

SEC. 4916. In such action the party complaining shall be known as the plaintiff, and the adverse party as the defendant.

SEC. 4917. The proceedings in a civil action may be of two kinds:

First. At law.

Second. In equity.

SEC. 4918. The plaintiff may prosecute his action by equitable proceedings in all cases where courts of chancery, before the adoption of this code, had jurisdiction, and must so proceed in all cases where such jurisdiction was exclusive.

SEC. 4919. In all other cases the plaintiff must prosecute his action by proceedings at law.

SEC. 4920. An action upon a written obligation or judgment which has been lost or destroyed may be prosecuted by proceedings at law. Civil Code, secs. 1-6.

SEC. 4921. No action to obtain a discovery shall be brought except as provided in the next section.

SEC. 4922. Where any person or corporation is liable, either jointly or severally with others, by the same contract, an action may be brought against any of the parties who are liable to obtain discovery of the names and residences of the others who are also liable.

SEC. 4923. In such action the plaintiff shall state in his complaint, in effect, that he has used due diligence, without success, to obtain the information asked to be discovered, and that he does not believe the parties to the contract who are known to him have property sufficient to satisfy his claims. The complaint shall be verified, and the cost of such action shall be paid by the plaintiff, unless the discovery be resisted. Ib., sec. 788.

SEC. 4924. The writ of ne exeat as a remedy in a civil action is abolished. Ib., sec. 790.

SEC. 4925. An error of the plaintiff as to the kind of proceedings adopted shall not cause the abatement or dismissal of the action, but merely a change into the proper proceedings by an amendment in the pleadings and a transfer of the action to the proper docket (aa).

SEC. 4926. The error mentioned in the last section may be corrected by the plaintiff without motion at any time before the defendant has answered, or afterward, on motion in court.

SEC. 4927. Such error is waived by failure to move for its correction at the time and in the manner prescribed in this chapter, and all errors in the decisions of the court on any of the motions named in this chapter are waived unless excepted to at the time, which may be done by the clerk noting at the end of such decision words of the following import: "To which decision the plaintiff (or defendant) excepts" (b).

SEC. 4928. The defendant shall be entitled to have the correction made in the following cases:

First. When the action has been commenced by equitable proceedings the defendant, by motion made at the time of filing his answer, may have them changed into proceedings at law when it appears that, by the provisions of section 4919, the plaintiff should have adopted proceedings at law, unless his answer presents an equitable defense.

Second. When the action has been commenced by proceedings at law the defendant, by motion made at or before the time of filing his answer, may have them changed into equitable proceedings when it appears that, by the provisions of section 4918, the plaintiff should have adopted proceedings in equity.

SEC. 4929. Where the action has been properly commenced by proceedings at law, either party shall have the right, by motion, to have any issue which heretofore was exclusively cognizable in chancery tried in the manner hereinafter prescribed in cases of equitable proceedings (*); and if all the issues are such as heretofore were cognizable in chancery, though none were exclusively so, the defendant shall have the right to have them all tried as in cases of proceedings in equity.

SEC. 4930. If the plaintiff's claim is for money due by contract, and the defendant puts in a defense of exclusively equitable cognizance, upon the plaintiff filing an affidavit that he verily believes that he will succeed in the action, and that the collection of his claim after judgment will be endangered by the delay arising from such defense being put in, the court shall require the defendant to give security for the payment of any judgment that

(aa) See SEC. 4928.

Where there is an equitable issue in a suit at law, and there is no motion to transfer, the issue must be disposed of according to the principles involved. Trulock v. Taylor, 26—54.

Purely equitable relief can not be granted in a suit properly brought at law. Little Rock Railroad Co. v. Perry, 37—185.

Objection that suit should have been brought at law can not be raised by demurrer. Ib. Equitable relief can not be granted on an application for mandamus unless the pleading is reformed and the cause transferred. Cravford v. Carson, 35—565. The court is not bound to make the transfer unless asked. Berry v. Hardin, 29—458. And if no motion is made the objection is waived. Moss v. Adams, 32—562; Talbot v. Wilkins, 31—411. A mere transfer to the equity side does not make the cause one of equitable relief. Roberts v. Jacks, 31—598. SEC. 4957. The defense of an infant must be by his regular guardian, or by a guardian appointed to defend for him, where no regular guardian appears, or where the court directs a defense by a guardian appointed for that purpose. No party or attorney in an action can be appointed guardian to defend therein for an infant or person of unsound mind. During the vacation of their courts, the clerks of circuit and chancery courts shall have the same power of appointing guardians ad litem for infant defendants who have been summoned in the action that their respective courts or the judges thereof have; but the court or judge shall have power to change the guardians so appointed, by appointing others in their stead, whenever the interests of the infant require such a change. The clerk shall indorse the name of the guardian and the date of his appointment upon the complaint. Ib., secs. 43—49.

SEC. 4959. The appointment may be made upon the application of the infant, if he is of the age of fourteen years, and applies within twenty days after the service of the summons. SEC. 4962. The defense of an action against a person judicially found to be of unsound mind must be by his regular guardian, or a guardian appointed by the court to defend for him, where no regular guardian appears, or where the court directs a defense by a guardian. The summons shall be dated the day it is issued, and signed by the clerk.

Service of Summons.

SEC. 4975. The summons may be served:

First. By the officer to whom it is directed, unless he is a party to the suit, or unless the plaintiff, or his agent or attorney, files with the clerk an affidavit to the effect that the obtaining of a sheriff or deputy to serve the summons will occasion such delay as to render it probable that the same can not be served in time; in which case the summons may be served by a jailer, coroner or constable. Provided, that the clerk shall indorse upon such summons, that the

SEC. 4977. The return of service upon a summons must state the time and manner of service (s); and, if a return of service by an officer is defective, he may be fined by the court, not exceeding ten dollars, and shall be liable to any person aggrieved by such defect. But the court may permit an amendment, according to the truth of the case.

SEC. 4978. Service may be acknowledged by the defendant by an indorsement upon the summons, signed and dated by him, and attested by a witness. The affidavit of the witness shall be proof of the service. Ib., secs. 67 and 68.

SEC. 4979. Where the defendant is a corporation, created by the laws of this state, the service of the summons may be upon the president, mayor or chairman of the board of trustees, and, in case of the absence of the above officers, then it may be served upon the cashier, treasurer, secretary, clerk or agent of such corporation, and, in case of railroad corporations, upon any station agent, or upon any person who has control of any of the business of said corporation, either as clerk, agent or otherwise, who, as such agent or clerk, has to report to the corporation who employed them; and, in cases of railroad corporations, a service of a copy of the summons upon the clerk or agent of any station in the county where the same shall be issued shall be deemed and considered as a good and valid service. Ib., sec. 69, as amended by act March 9, 1877.

When any action to recover judgment against the owners or officers of any steamboat, or vessel, or other water-craft, for any debt or liability created by them, or either of them, shall have been commenced in any county in which said steamboat, vessel or water-craft was found, and, from any cause, the summons or other process can not be served in such action in the county where such action was commenced, a service in any other county in this state shall have the same effect as if made in the county where the action was brought.

SEC. 4987. Where a defendant is out of this state, the plaintiff may take a copy of the complaint, certified by the clerk, with a summons annexed thereto, warning such defendant to appear and answer the complaint within sixty days after the same shall have been served on him, and cause a copy thereof to be delivered to such defendant anywhere in the United States by some person to whom he is personally known. Stat.*, chap. 116, secs. 132, 133.

PLEADINGS.

General Provisions.

SEC. 5020. The pleadings are the written statements, by the parties, of the facts constituting their respective claims and defenses.

SEC. 5021. The forms of pleadings in civil actions and suits heretofore existing are abolished; and hereafter the forms of pleadings in civil actions, and the rules by which their sufficiency is to be determined, are those prescribed in the code.

SEC. 5022. The only pleadings allowed are:

First. The complaint by the plaintiff.

Second. The demurrer, or answer, by the defendant.

Third. The demurrer, or reply, by the plaintiff.

SEC. 5023. A defendant may file a cross-complaint against persons other than the plaintiff, and have proceedings thereon, as follows:

First. When a defendant has a cause of action against a co-defendant, or a person not a party to the action, and affecting the subject-matter of the action, (cc) Former actions of case and trespass may be joined. Chrisman v. Carney, 33-316. In a suit to enforce a mechanic's lien, plaintiff may have a judgment in personam. Brugman v. McGuire, 32-733.

(dd) Multifariousness no ground of demurrer. Clements v. Lumkin, 34-598. If there is no motion to strike out, the error is waived. Terry v. Rozell, 32-495; Riley v. Norman, 39-158. A paragraph in a complaint introducing an unnecessary party may be stricken out. Lyman v. Corwin, 27-582.

(ee) Lindsay v. Wayland, 17-385.

he may make his answer a cross-complaint against the co-defendant or other person.

Second. The defendant to such cross-complaint may be actually or constructively summoned, and defense thereto shall be made in the time and manner prescribed in regard to the original complaint, and with the same rights of obtaining provisional remedies applicable to the case.

Third. The filing and prosecution of the cross-complaint shall not delay the trial and decision of the original action when a judgment can be rendered therein that will not prejudice the rights of the parties to the cross-complaint. Civil Code, secs. 105-108 (ff).

Issues.

SEC. 5024. Issues arise upon the pleadings where a fact or conclusion of law is maintained by the one party and controverted by the other.

They are of two kinds:

First. Of law.

Second. Of fact.

SEC. 5025. An issue of law arises:

First. Upon a demurrer to the complaint, answer or reply, or to some part thereof.

An issue of fact arises:

First. Upon a material allegation in the complaint denied by the answer.

Second. Upon a set-off or counter-claim presented in the answer, and denied by the reply.

Third. Upon material new matter in the answer or reply, which shall be considered as controverted by the opposite party without further pleading.

Issues both of law and fact may arise upon different parts of the pleadings in the same action. In such cases the issues of law must be first tried, unless the court otherwise direct. Ib., secs. 334, 335, as amended 1871.

Complaint.

SEC. 5026. The first pleading by the plaintiff is the complaint. The complaint must contain:

First. The style of the court in which the action is brought.

Second. The style of the action, consisting of the names of all the parties thereto, distinguishing them as plaintiffs and defendants, followed by the words "complaint at law," if the proceedings are at law, and by the words "complaint in equity," if the proceedings are equitable.

Third. A statement in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, of the facts constituting the plaintiff's cause of action.

Fourth. A demand of the relief to which the plaintiff considers himself entitled (gg).

(ff) On overruling a demurrer to a cross-complaint the defendant in it should be allowed to answer. Campbell v. Savage, 33-678. In a suit in equity a purely legal demand can not be set up in a cross-complaint. Trapnall v. Hill, 31-345. A cross-complaint must relate to matters in original complaint. Ib.

(gg) Sufficiency of complaint can not be questioned for the first time on appeal. Cohn v. Hager, 30-25. Defects in the complaint may be supplied by averments in the answer. Pindall v. Traver, 30-249. And in such case the complaint need not be amended. Webb v. Davis, 37-555; Davis v. Hare, 32-386. The omission of the style of the court is no ground of error. McLeran v. Morgan, 27-148. When the names of the parties are set out in the margin, they need not be repeated in the body of the complaint. Ib.

SEC. 5027. Where the complaint contains more than one cause of action, each shall be distinctly stated in a separate paragraph, and numbered.

Demurrer.

SEC. 5028. The defendant may demur to the complaint where it appears on its face, either:

First. That the court has no jurisdiction of the person of the defendant, or the subject of the action; or,

Second. That the plaintiff has not legal capacity to sue; or,

Third. That there is another action pending between the same parties for the same cause; or,

Fourth. That there is a defect of parties, plaintiff or defendant; or,

Fifth. That the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action (hh).

SEC. 5029. The demurrer shall distinctly specify the grounds of objection to the complaint; unless it does so, it shall be regarded as objecting only that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

SEC. 5030. If the court sustains the demurrer, the plaintiff may amend, with or without costs, as the court may order.

SEC. 5031. When any of the matters enumerated in section 5028 do not appear upon the face of the complaint, the objection may be taken by answer. If no such objection is taken, either by demurrer or answer, the defendant shall be deemed to have waived the same, except only the objection to the jurisdiction of the court over the subject of the action, and the objection that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

SEC. 5032. The defendant may demur to one or more of the several causes of action alleged in the complaint, and answer as to the residue. Ib., secs. 109-115.

Answer.

SEC. 5033. The answer shall contain:

First. The style of the court and the style of the action, followed by the word "answer." But where there are several plaintiffs and defendants, it shall only be necessary to give the one first named of each class, with the words "and others."

Second. A denial of each allegation of the complaint controverted by the defendant, or of any knowledge or information thereof, sufficient to form a belief.

Third. A statement of any new matter constituting a defense, counterclaim or set-off, in ordinary and concise language, without repetition (ii).

(hh) Demurrer may be filed with answer in vacation. See SECS. 5052, 5053. A general demurrer does not raise the question of a defect of parties. Eagle v. Beard, 33-497. A demurrer to several paragraphs should be overruled, unless all are bad. Cairo R. R. Co. v. Parks, 32-131; Warner v. Capps, 37-34. A demurrer to an answer relates back to the complaint. Bruce v. Benedict, 31-301. Neither a defective description of land, nor a failure to file a copy of a deed, is ground of demurrer. Henry v. Blackburn, 32-446. Nor a defense defectively stated; the party should move to make more specific. Bushey v. Reynolds, 31-657; Ball v. Fulton Co., Ib., 379. The sufficiency of a pleading must be raised by a demurrer, and not by a motion to strike out. Goodwin v. Robinson, 30-536.

Multifariousness can not be corrected by demurrer, but only by motion to strike out. Dyer v. Jacoway, 42-186.

(ii) Denials must be direct. Young v. Mitchell, 33-222. An answer averring fraudulent representations should state what they were. Callin v. Horne, 34-169. Pleadings in abatement are abolished. Griener v. Apperson, Fourth. The defendant may set forth in his answer as many grounds of defense, counter-claim and set-off, whether legal or equitable, as he shall have. Each shall be distinctly stated in a separate paragraph, and numbered. The several defenses must refer to the causes of action which they are intended to answer in a manner by which they may be intelligibly distinguished (jj).

SEC. 5034. The counter-claim mentioned in this chapter must be a cause of action in favor of the defendants, or some of them, against the plaintiffs or some of them, arising out of the contract or transactions set forth in the complaint, as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim or connected with the subject of the action.

SEC. 5035. When it appears that a new party is necessary to a final decision upon the counter-claim, the court may either permit the new party to be made, by a summons, to reply to the counter-claim in the answer, or may direct that it be stricken out of the answer and made the subject of a separate action. Ib., secs. 116-118.

SEC. 5036. A set-off can only be pleaded in an action founded on contract, and must be a cause of action arising upon contract or ascertained by the decision of a court. Ib., sec. 119.

SEC. 5037. In suits by executors or administrators, debts existing against their testators or intestates, and owing to the defendant at the time of the death of the testator or intestate, may be set off by the defendant in the same manner as if the action had been brought by and in the name of the deceased.

SEC. 5038. Judgments, bills, bonds, notes or other writings assigned to the defendant after suit has been commenced against him and the writ served shall not be allowed to be set off against the demands of the plaintiff.

SEC. 5039. When any plaintiff shall be indebted to a defendant in any bond, bill, note, contract, book account, or other liquidated demand, and the defendant shall fail to set off such debt against the plaintiff's demand, such defendant shall be forever barred from recovering costs in any suit which he may thereafter institute upon any such bond, bill, note, contract, book account, or other liquidated demand. Rev. Stat., chap. 139, secs. 2, 3 and 7.

SEC. 5040. Where it appears that a new party is necessary to a final decision upon the set-off, the court shall permit the new party to be made, if it also appears that, owing to the insolvency or non-residence of the plaintiff, or other cause, the defendant will be in danger of losing his claim, unless permitted to use it as a set-off.

32-332. Matters in abatement and bar may be pleaded together. Erb v. Perkins, Ib., 428. Each paragraph must state facts that will bar a recovery. Cairo R. R. Co. v. Parks, 32-131; Norman v. Rogers, 29-365. If all the paragraphs taken together show a defense, a demurrer to them should be overruled. Ib. So where demurrer is to whole answer and any paragraph is good. Cairo R. R. Co. v. Parks, Ubi. Sup. An answer is not evidence. Gerson v. Pool, 31-85; Conger v. Cotton, 37-295. General denials are not sufficient, but they are cured by verdict. Tyner v. Hays, 37-603. But a plea of nil debet is a nullity. Lawrence v. Meyer, 35-105. But see Fain v. Goodwin, Ib., 110. It is not sufficient to plead fraud generally. McIlroy v. Buckner, Ib., 555.

(jj) Though plaintiff dismiss, defendant may proceed with his counter-claim. See SEC. 5166. Defendant can have no affirmative relief unless he files a counter-claim. Marr v. Lewis, 31-203. The counter-claim must grow out of the contract sued on. Bloom v. Lehman, 27-489; Hudson v. Snipes, 40-75. Debts to be set off must be due to and from the same parties. Collier v. Dyer, 27-478. In a suit on a contract damages can not be set off. Bloom v. Lehman, Ubi. Sup.; Gerson v. Semmons, 30-50. A debt due from the plaintiff to one of several defendants may be set off. Leach v. Lambeth, 14-668. But not when one of several plaintiffs owes the defendant. Collier v. Dyer, 27-478. A debt contracted by an intestate can not be set off against one contracted with his administrator. Bizzell v. Stone, 12-378; Biscoe v. Moore, Ib., 77. As to judgment in probate court being set off, see Higgs v. Warner, 14-192.

SEC. 5041. Where the facts stated in the answer are not sufficient to constitute a defense, counter-claim or set-off, the plaintiff may demur.

SEC. 5042. It shall be the duty of the guardian of an infant or person of unsound mind, or attorney appointed for a prisoner, to file an answer denying the material allegations of the complaint prejudicial to such defendant. Civil Code, secs. 120-122 (kk).

Reply.

SEC. 5043. There shall be no reply, except upon the allegation of a counter-claim or set-off in the answer.

SEC. 5044. When the answer contains new matter constituting a counter-claim or set-off, the plaintiff may reply to such new matter, denying each allegation controverted by him, or any knowledge or information thereof sufficient to form a belief, and may allege, in concise language, any new matter not inconsistent with the complaint, constituting a defense to the counter-claim or set-off (ll).

SEC. 5045. When the facts stated in the reply do not amount to a sufficient defense, the defendant may demur. Ib., secs. 123-125.

TIME OF PLEADING.

SEC. 5046. The defense to an action at law shall be filed on or before the third day of the term:

First. When the summons has been served ten days before the commencement of the term in the county in which the action is brought, or in an adjoining county.

Second. When it has been served twenty days elsewhere in the state, or sixty days out of the state.

Third. Where the defendant has been constructively summoned thirty days (mm). Ib., sec. 126, as amended by act March 22, 1881.

SEC. 5047. The reply shall be filed on or before the calling of the cause for trial.

SEC. 5048. In an action prosecuted by equitable proceedings, the defense must be filed on the third day of the term:

First. Where the summons has been served twenty days before the commencement of the term, in the county in which the action is brought, or an adjoining county.

Second. Where it has been served thirty days elsewhere in the state, or sixty days out of the state; or,

Third. Where the defendant has been constructively summoned thirty days.

SEC. 5049. Where the service of the summons was before the commencement of the term, but not the length of time mentioned in the last section, the defense shall be filed in thirty days after the service.

(kk) See SECS. 4957-4959, 4962, 4966; Freeman v. Russell, 40-56; and note to SEC. 4957.

(ll) A reply improperly filed should be stricken out. Cannon v. Davies, 33-56; Abbott v. Rowan, Ib., 593. As to set-off and counter-claim, see note to SEC. 5033.

(mm) The court may extend the time. Mayes v. Hendry, 33-240; Simms v. Richardson, 32-304. As to service out of the state, see SECS. 4967, 4968.

SEC. 5050. If the answer in equitable proceedings contains a counter-claim or set-off, the plaintiff shall reply within twenty days after the answer is filed, or ninety days before the ensuing term.

SEC. 5051. The court may, for good cause shown, extend the time for filing an answer or reply to some subsequent day in that or the next succeeding term, the party applying for the delay paying the costs occasioned thereby.

SEC. 5052. A party may file a demurrer with his answer or reply (nn).

SEC. 5053. The filing of a demurrer, answer or reply in the clerk's office in vacation within the time allowed, with notice thereof to the opposite party or his attorney, shall be equivalent to a filing in court as of that date.

SEC. 5054. When a party files a demurrer with his answer or reply, the demurrer must be presented for the consideration of the court at or before the first calling of the cause for trial after the filing of the same. If he fails to do so, the demurrer shall be regarded as waived as to all points, except the jurisdiction of the court, and that the pleading demurred to does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action or a defense, counter-claim or set-off. Ib., secs. 127-134.

VERIFICATION OF PLEADINGS (oo).

SEC. 5055. Every pleading must be subscribed by the party or his attorney, and the complaint, answer and reply must each be verified by the affidavit of the party to the effect that he believes the statements thereof to be true; such verification shall not make other or greater proof necessary on the side of the adverse party.

SEC. 5056. The verification of any pleading of a corporation may be by any officer or agent on whom the summons in an action against the corporation may be served, or by its attorney in the action. Ib., sec. 135.

SEC. 5057. Where there are several plaintiffs the verification of the complaint or reply may be made by any of them, if he has personal knowledge of the facts set forth therein; and, when several defendants unite in the same answer and defense, the verification may be by either of them, if the defendant verifying the same shall, when he is materially interested, make oath that the facts and statements contained in such answer and defense are true to his own knowledge or belief.

SEC. 5058. In equitable actions the material allegations of the answer must be verified by each defendant, unless the party making the same shall verify the answer or defense in the manner provided in the preceding section. Ib., sec. 792, as amended 1873.

SEC. 5059. Verification shall not be required to the answer of a guardian defending for an infant or person of unsound mind, or imprisoned; nor in any case where the admission of the truth of the allegations of the complaint or answer might subject the party to a criminal or penal prosecution; nor to pleadings affecting injuries to person or character; nor to complaints in actions founded on a note, bond, bill of exchange, mortgage or other written obligation of the defendant; nor to defenses founded on the written obligation, release or (nn) This is true, though the answer go to the whole complaint. Greenfield v. Carlton, 30-547.

(oo) As to dismissing for want of verification, see SEC. 5086. The state need not verify her pleadings. SECS. 6383, 6472. Want of verification can not be raised for the first time on appeal. Payne v. Flournoy, 29-500. See SECS. 5086, 5087.

written acknowledgment of the plaintiff, unless the writing on which the action or defense is founded is lost, mutilated or destroyed; nor to the petition or answer in cases of proceedings for the partition of land or the allotment of dower. Ib., secs. 136, 548.

SEC. 5060. Whenever the affidavit of the plaintiff or defendant is required to verify a pleading, to obtain a warning order, a provisional remedy, or any other order in an action, or on a motion or proceeding therein, it may, unless otherwise expressed, be made by the agent or attorney of the party, if the party is absent from the county, or is mentally incapable of taking an oath, or is physically unable to attend before the court or officer for the purpose of making the affidavit, in which case the affidavit shall state the reason, and that the affiant is the agent or attorney of the party. Ib., sec. 603.

SEC. 5061. Whenever any such pleading shall be verified by the agent or attorney of either party for any of the foregoing reasons, except the mental incapacity of the party, the opposing party may make an affidavit that he does not believe that the party, whose agent or attorney verified such pleading or affidavit, can truthfully verify the same with his own oath, and that the matters therein alleged are within the personal knowledge of such party. Upon the filing of such affidavit it shall be the duty of the court to compel such party to verify said affidavit or pleading in person, reasonable time therefor being given. On failure of such party to make such verification, it shall be the duty of the court to dismiss the complaint, suppress the answer, reply or affidavit, and render judgment accordingly, unless amended pleadings or affidavit shall be filed and properly verified by the party in person. Ib., sec. 604.

RULES FOR PLEADING.

SEC. 5062. Neither presumptions of law nor matter of which judicial notice is taken need be stated in a pleading. Ib., sec. 137.

SEC. 5063. If the action, counter-claim or set-off is founded on a note, bond, bill or other writing as evidence of indebtedness, the original, or a copy thereof, must be filed as part of the pleading, if in the power of the party to produce it. If not filed, the reason thereof must be stated in the pleading. If upon an account, a copy thereof must, in like manner, be filed with the pleading (pp). Ib., sec. 138, as amended 1871.

SEC. 5064. If either party shall rely upon any deed or other writing, he shall file with his pleading the original deed or writing, if in his power, or a copy thereof. If he can not procure such deed or writing, or a copy thereof, he shall so state in his pleading, together with the reasons therefor; and, if such reasons are sufficient, he may file the best evidence of the contents of such deed or writing in his power. Original deeds and other writings, filed by either party, shall remain on file for the inspection of the other party until allowed by the court to be withdrawn, and in such cases copies, attested by the clerk, shall be substituted by the parties withdrawing the original. Ib., sec. 148, as amended 1871.

(pp) As to when writing filed with the pleading may be read, see SEC. 2872. A failure to file writing is no ground of demurrer. Nordman v. Craighead, 27—369; Surginer v. Paddock, 31—529; Henry v. Blackburn, 32—446. The substance of the writing should be stated in the pleadings. Ib. Where a copy has been filed the court may still compel the filing of the original. Weaver v. Carnall, 35—208; Egan v. Tewkesbury, 32—43. In suit for personal property claimed under mortgage, the mortgage is no part of the complaint, though filed with it. Chamblee v. Stokes, 33—543. An instrument filed, not the foundation of the action, can not be noticed on demurrer. Abbott v. Rowan, Ib., 593. In chancery, an exhibit is a part of the record, and, if it is the foundation of the suit, it will explain, and even control, the averments in the complaint. Beavers v. Baucum, Ib., 722. Copies of deeds filed with the pleadings are no part of the pleadings or of the evidence. Richardson v. Williams, 37—542.

SEC. 5065. In construing a pleading for the purpose of determining its effects, its allegations shall be liberally construed, with a view to substantial justice between the parties (†).

SEC. 5066. If irrelevant or redundant matter is inserted in a pleading, it may be stricken out, on motion of any person aggrieved thereby, at the cost of the party whose pleading contained it.

SEC. 5067. In pleading a judgment or other determination of the court, or officer of special jurisdiction, it shall not be necessary to state the facts conferring jurisdiction, but such judgment or determination may be stated to have been duly given or made. If such allegation is made in a complaint, and is not controverted in the answer, or made in the answer in relation to a counter-claim or set-off, and is not controverted in the reply, it need not be proved on the trial.

SEC. 5068. In pleading the performance of a condition precedent in a contract, it shall not be necessary to state the facts showing such performance, but it may be stated generally that the party duly performed all the conditions on his part; and, if such an allegation is not controverted as stated in the last section in regard to judgments, it shall not be necessary to prove it on trial.

SEC. 5069. In an action for libel or slander, it shall not be necessary to state in the complaint any extrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application to the plaintiff of the defamatory matter out of which the cause of action arose; but it shall be sufficient to state generally that the same was published or spoken concerning the plaintiff; and if such allegation is not controverted as stated in section 5067 in regard to judgments, it shall not be necessary to prove it on trial.

SEC. 5070. In the actions mentioned in the last section, the defendant may, in his answer, allege both the truth of the matter charged as defamatory and any mitigating circumstances, legally admissible in evidence, to reduce the amount of damages, and, whether he proves the justification or not, he may give in evidence the mitigating circumstances.

SEC. 5071. In an action for the recovery of real property, it must be described in the complaint with such convenient certainty as to enable an officer holding an execution to identify it.

SEC. 5072. Every material allegation of the complaint not specifically controverted by the answer, and every material allegation of new matter in the answer constituting a counter-claim or set-off not specifically controverted by the reply, must, for the purposes of the action, be taken as true (‡). But the allegation of new matter in the answer not relating to a counter-claim or set-off, or of new matter in a reply, is to be deemed controverted by the adverse party as upon a direct denial or avoidance, as the case may require. Allegations of value, or of amount of damage, shall not be considered as true by the failure to controvert them.

SEC. 5073. A material allegation in a pleading is one essential to the claim or defense, and which could not be stricken from the pleading without leaving it insufficient. Ib., secs. 139-147.

SEC. 5074. In actions founded upon a note, bond, bill of exchange, mortgage or other written obligation of the defendants, or any of them, the plaintiff may file with his complaint the affidavit of himself, or his agent or attorney, to the effect that affiant verily believes that there is no good and valid defense to said action upon the merits, and that if defense is made thereto it will be made for the purpose of delay merely; whereupon the court shall not allow an answer to be filed in said action, or, if filed, shall strike out the same, unless it be accompanied with an affidavit to the effect that the affiant verily believes that there is a good and valid defense to said action upon the merits thereof. Provided, that such affidavit shall not dispense with any verification required in other cases. And, provided, further, that if such defendant should fail to establish his defense to the merits of said case, the clerk shall tax against him a docket fee for double the amount allowed in other like actions. Ib., sec. 149.

AMENDMENTS (qq).

SEC. 5075. No variance between the allegation in a pleading and the proof is to be deemed material, unless it has actually misled the adverse party to his prejudice in maintaining his action or defense upon the merits. Whenever it is alleged that a party has been so misled, that fact must be shown to the satisfaction of the court, and it must also be shown in what respect he has been misled; and thereupon the court may order the pleading to be amended upon such terms as may be just.

SEC. 5076. Where the variance is not material, as provided in the last section, the court may direct the fact to be found according to the evidence, and may order an immediate amendment without costs.

SEC. 5077. Where, however, the allegation of the claim or defense, to which the proof is directed, is unproved, not in some particular or particulars only, but in its general scope and meaning, it is not to be deemed a case of variance within the last two sections, but a failure of proof.

(qq) The court may permit a substituted answer to be filed during the trial. Jetton v. Sneed, 29-372. A mistake in the name of a party may be corrected. Beavers v. Baucum, 33-722. A complaint may be amended after answer. Cross v. Johnson, 30-396. An answer that is indefinite may be amended after verdict, so as to conform to proof. Trippe v. Duval, 33-811. A mistake in a verdict should be corrected so as to conform to the real intent of the jury. Woodruff v. Webb, 32-613. Failure to allege value is cured by verdict. Jefferson v. Hale, 31-286. A defective complaint, showing merits, should not be dismissed without giving leave to amend. Palmer v. Rankins, 30-771; Buckner v. Sessions, 27-225. Where no objection is made to evidence, the complaint must be considered as if amended so as to conform to it. Hanks v. Harris, 29-323; Healy v. Conner, 40-352. A suit should not be dismissed for want of parties, if plaintiff will amend. Benjamin v. Loughborough, 31-210. A complaint and an amendment to it form but one paper. Holland v. Rogers, 33-251. Save where grossly abused, the discretion of the circuit court as to amendments will not be controlled. Ford v. Ward, 26-360. One claiming to have been misled by an amendment must show in what manner. King v. Caldwell, Ib., 405. An amendment inconsistent with original pleading should be accompanied with an explanatory affidavit. Reynolds v. West, 32-244. After an answer has been held bad, an amended answer raising the same issue may be stricken from the files. Goodwin v. Robinson, 30-535. Where a complaint shows that the plaintiff has no cause of action, it can not be amended by making others plaintiffs who have. State v. Rottakin, 34-144. A summons against a firm may be amended by inserting the names of the partners. Martin v. Goodwin, 34-682. And a summons may be amended by showing the representative character of the defendant. Richardson v. Hickman, 32-406. A writ of forcible detainer may be amended by inserting the names of the parties. Galbreath v. Mitchell, 32-278. A return on a summons may be amended even after an appeal. St. Louis Railway Co. v. Yorum, 34-493.

Additional pleadings to correspond with the issues established by the evidence may be filed after the case has been argued to the jury. Burk v. Snell, 42-57. See also Gainus v. Cannon, Ib., 503.

SEC. 5078. The plaintiff may amend his complaint without leave at any time before an answer is filed, and without prejudice to the proceedings already had.

SEC. 5079. Upon a demurrer being overruled, the party demurring may answer or reply.

SEC. 5080. The court may, at any time, in furtherance of justice, and on such terms as may be proper, amend any pleadings or proceeding by adding or striking out the name of any party, or by correcting a mistake in the name of a party, or a mistake in any other respect, or by inserting other allegations material to the case; or, when the amendment does not change substantially the claim or defense, by conforming the pleading or proceeding to the facts proved.

SEC. 5081. The court may likewise, in its discretion, allow an answer or reply to be made after the time limited by law, or by an order enlarge such time. And whenever any proceeding taken by a party fails to conform in any respect to the requirements of the law, the court may permit an amendment of such proceedings, so as to make it conformable thereto.

SEC. 5082. When the allegations of a pleading are so indefinite or uncertain that the precise nature of the claim or defense is not apparent, the court may require the pleading to be made definite and certain by amendment (rr).

SEC. 5083. The court must, in every stage of an action, disregard any error or defect in the proceedings which does not affect the substantial rights of the adverse party; and no judgment shall be reversed or affected by reason of such error or defect.

SEC. 5084. The plaintiff and defendant, respectively, may be allowed, on motion, to make a supplemental complaint, answer or reply, alleging facts material to the case occurring after the filing of the former complaint, answer or reply.

SEC. 5085. When either party shall amend any pleading or proceeding, and the court shall be satisfied by affidavit or otherwise, that the adverse party could not be ready for trial in consequence thereof, a continuance may be granted to some day in the same term, or to another term of the court.

SEC. 5086. Where complaints are filed without verification, as required by section 5055, the action shall not on that account be dismissed, if the verification be made on or before the calling of the action for trial.

SEC. 5087. No objection shall be taken after judgment to any pleading for the want of, or defect in, the verification.

SEC. 5088. Courts may permit amendments to be made without being verified, as prescribed in section 5055, unless a new and distinct cause of action or defense is thereby produced (ss). Ib., secs. 150-160.

INTERROGATORIES.

SEC. 5089. In actions by equitable proceedings either party may annex to his complaint, answer or reply written interrogatories to any one or more of the adverse parties concerning any of the material matters in issue in the action; the answers to which, on oath, may be read by either party, as a deposition between the party interrogating and the party answering.

(rr) The court may require a bill of particulars to be filed. Walker v. Fuller, 23-443.

(ss) See Halliburton v. Nance, 40-161.

SEC. 5090. The party answering shall not be confined to responding merely to the interrogatories, but may state any new matter concerning the same cause of action, which shall likewise be read as a deposition. Ib., secs. 161-162.

SEC. 5091. In actions by equitable proceedings, if a party in answering interrogatories states new matters not responsive to the inquiries, the party interrogating may, before the trial, file his written statement, under oath, concerning such new matters, which shall be read as a deposition. Ib., sec. 665.

SEC. 5092. Where the interrogatories are annexed to the complaint, they shall be answered at the same time the party is required to answer the complaint; where annexed to the answer or reply, then in twenty days after notice shall be given thereof to the adverse party or his attorney; but if answered twenty days before the term at which the action stands regularly for trial, the action shall not be postponed on account of their not being sooner answered.

SEC. 5093. In actions by proceedings at law either party may, in like manner, annex written interrogatories to his complaint, answer or reply, directed to any one or more of the adverse parties concerning any material matter in issue in the action in the following cases:

First. Where the party interrogated does not reside in the same or an adjoining county.

Second. Where the party interrogated is unable to attend court on account of age, infirmity or imprisonment, or is a female.

SEC. 5094. Where the interrogatories in an action by proceedings at law are annexed to the complaint, they shall be answered at the same time the complaint is required to be answered; where annexed to the answer or reply, at or before the calling of the cause for trial, where the party interrogated had reasonable notice of their being filed.

SEC. 5095. The trial of an action by proceedings at law shall not be postponed on account of the failure to answer the interrogatories, if the party interrogated is present in court at the trial, so that he may be orally examined; nor in case of his absence, without an affidavit showing the facts the party believes will be proved by the answers thereto, and that the party has not filed the interrogatories, nor omitted to file them, for the purpose of delay. Whereupon, if the party will consent that the facts stated in the affidavit shall be considered as admitted by those interrogated, the trial shall not be postponed for that cause.

SEC. 5096. The provisions of section 5090 shall apply to the answers to interrogatories in actions by proceedings at law.

SEC. 5097. The party in answering such interrogatories shall distinguish clearly between what is stated from his personal knowledge and what is stated from information or belief merely. An unqualified statement of a fact shall be considered as made of his personal knowledge.

SEC. 5098. The answer to the interrogatories shall be verified by the affidavit of the party answering, to the effect that the statements in them made of his own personal knowledge are true, and those made from the information of others he believes to be true.

SEC. 5099. Where the party resides in the same or an adjoining county, he may be summoned by the adverse party, and compelled to testify on the trial of an action by proceedings at law as any other witness.

SEC. 5100. Where a party filing interrogatories shall also file an affidavit that he verily believes the subject of the interrogatories, or any of them, is in the personal knowledge of the opposite party, and that his answers thereto, if truly made from such knowledge, will sustain the claim or defense, or any part thereof, and the opposite party shall fail, after reasonable time allowed therefor to answer them, the claim or defense, or the part thereof, according to such affidavit, shall be deemed to be sustained and judgment given accordingly.

SEC. 5101. The court may compel answers to interrogatories by process of contempt, and may on the failure of the party to answer them, after reasonable time allowed therefor, dismiss the complaint or quash the answer of the party so failing. Ib., secs. 163-172.

ACTIONS MAY BE DISMISSED.

By the Court—By the Plaintiff.

SEC. 5102. An action may be dismissed without prejudice to a future action:

First. By the plaintiff before the final submission of the case to the jury, or to the court, where the trial is by the court.

Second. By the court where the plaintiff fails to appear on the trial.

Third. By the court for the want of necessary parties.

Fourth. By the court on the application of some of the defendants, where there are others whom the plaintiff fails to prosecute with diligence.

Fifth. By the court for disobedience by the plaintiff of an order concerning the proceedings in the action.

In all other cases, upon the trial of the action, the decision must be upon the merits. Ib., sec. 402.

SEC. 5103. The plaintiff may dismiss any action in vacation, in the office of the clerk, on the payment of all costs that may have accrued therein, except an action to recover the possession of specific personal property, when the property has been delivered to the plaintiff(tt). Rev. Stat., chap. 116, sec. 134.

TRIAL.

General Provisions.

SEC. 5104. A trial is a judicial examination of the issues, whether of law or of fact, in an action.

SEC. 5105. Issues of law must be tried by the court. Issues of fact, arising in actions by proceedings at law for the recovery of money, or of specific real or personal property, shall be tried by a jury, unless a jury trial is waived.

SEC. 5106. All other issues of fact, whether arising in proceedings at law or equitable proceedings, shall be tried by the court, subject to its power to order any issue or issues to be tried by jury(uu).

(tt) A non-suit taken before a clerk in vacation, on payment of costs, is authorized by the statute. State Bank v. Gray, 12-760.

Though plaintiff dismiss his action, the defendant may proceed to the trial of his set-off or counterclaim. SEC. 5106.

(uu) In contested elections issues are to be tried by the court. Wise v. Martin, 36-306; Govan v. Jackson, 33-762.

SEC. 5107. The trial in each action shall be in the order in which it stands upon the docket. Civil Code, secs. 336-339.

CONTINUANCE.

SEC. 5108. A motion to postpone a trial on account of the absence of evidence shall, if required by the opposite party, be made only upon affidavit showing the materiality of the evidence expected to be obtained, and that due diligence has been used to obtain it; and, if it is for an absent witness, the affidavit must show what facts the affiant believes the witness will prove, and not merely the effect of such facts in evidence, and that the affiant himself believes them to be true. If, thereupon, the adverse party will admit that on the trial the absent witness, if present, would testify to the statement contained in the application for a continuance, then the trial shall not be postponed for that cause; provided, the opposite party may controvert the statement so set forth in the said motion for continuance by evidence (vv). Ib., sec. 340, as amended by act March 5, 1879.

SEC. 5109. When a case shall have been reversed and remanded by the supreme court for further proceedings, it may be continued at the first term, unless the mandate shall have been filed with the clerk of the court below and reasonable notice given to the adverse party, or his attorney of record, before the commencement of the term, in which case it shall stand for trial, unless good cause for a continuance be shown. Ib., sec. 884, as amended 1873.

SEC. 5110. No order of continuance shall take effect until the party upon whose application it was granted shall have paid or secured the payment of all costs of the action due for the term in which such continuance shall be granted. Ib., sec. 775, as amended 1871.

Dockets and Order of Business.

SEC. 5111. The clerk shall keep three separate dockets, which shall be called the "law docket," the "equity docket" and the "motion docket."

SEC. 5112. On the law docket shall be entered all actions prosecuted by proceedings at law, in the order in which they were brought.

SEC. 5113. The law docket shall be made out for each term of the court, and the actions shall be set for particular days, and so arranged by the clerk that the cases set for each day shall be tried, as nearly as may be, on that day.

SEC. 5114. The trial of any issue of fact or assessment of damages by a jury, in any case, shall be on or after the day which it is set on the docket.

SEC. 5115. On the equity docket shall be entered all actions prosecuted by equitable proceedings in the order in which they were brought. Ib., secs. 378-382.

SEC. 5116. On the motion docket may be entered any motion relating to proceedings in the court, and such entry shall be considered as making the motion. Ib., secs. 383 and 393.

SEC. 5117. The entry on all the dockets shall give the names of the plaintiff and defendant, or, if there be more than one, then of the first named in the pleadings, with the words "and others" added thereto, and the names of the attorneys.

(vv) See Hibbard v. Kirby, 38-102. A motion for a continuance by a defendant should not be made before filing answer. Winter v. Bandel, 30-362.

SEC. 5118. The entry on the law docket shall also show whether or not the summons has been fully served in due time for trial, and whether or not the issue has been formed (ww).

SEC. 5119. The entry on the motion docket shall show the date of the entry and the object of the motion.

SEC. 5120. The first hour of each day of the term shall be devoted to hearing motions, in which the court shall first call the motion docket, and then upon the attorneys present, for motions.

SEC. 5121. If the hour is not consumed in motions, the court may proceed, during the remainder thereof, to call the equity docket.

SEC. 5122. At the expiration of the motion hour the court, except on the third day of the term, shall proceed to the call of the law docket and the trial of the issues until the call is completed, and then to the call of the equity docket.

TIME AND ORDER OF TRIAL.

SEC. 5123. On the fourth day of the term the court shall render judgment by default in all actions at law wherein due service has been had as provided in section 5046, and no defense has been filed (§); provided, the court may, for good cause, allow further time for filing a defense. Ib., sec. 390, as amended by act March 22, 1881.

SEC. 5124. On the third day of each term the court shall call all cases on the equity docket in which the summons has been served as provided in section 5048, and, upon failure to defend, may give judgment. Ib., sec. 391.

SEC. 5125. Actions by proceedings at law shall stand for trial at the first term after process has been served on the defendant as specified in section 5046.

SEC. 5126. An action upon contract, wherein the summons has been served in due time, as provided in section 5046, upon part only of the defendants, shall stand for trial at the first term as to those so summoned, and may be continued as to the others for further proceedings. In other actions by proceedings at law the plaintiff can only demand a trial at any term as to part of the defendants, upon his discontinuing his action on the first day of such term as to the others.

SEC. 5127. Actions prosecuted by equitable proceedings shall stand for trial at any term, where the pleadings have been, or, by the provisions of sections 5048, 5049 and 5050, should have been, completed ninety days before the commencement of such term. But where they have not been so completed, though they should have been by those sections, the party in default, as to time, shall not be entitled to demand a trial.

SEC. 5128. Where interrogatories have been annexed to a pleading in an action by equitable proceedings, the party interrogated shall not be entitled to demand a trial, unless he has answered the interrogatories either within twenty days after they were filed, or twenty days before the term.

(ww) For further requirements in relation to such entry, see SEC. 551.

(§) See Silver v. Luck, 42—268.

A default admits only the allegations of the complaint, and if they are insufficient to support the judgment, it will be reversed. Chaffin v. McFadden, 41—42.

SEC. 5129. The plaintiff shall be entitled to a trial in actions by equitable proceedings at the first term after the summons has been served on all the defendants, as provided in section 5048, where no issue of fact is made by the pleadings, or where the plaintiff consents that the statements of the answer may be taken as true.

SEC. 5130. Where the summons in an action by equitable proceedings has been served in due time on part only of the defendants, the plaintiff may dismiss his action as to those not summoned, and proceed to trial as to the others, in all cases where he could have maintained his action against them without joining those not summoned (xx). Ib., secs. 394-398.

TRIAL BY JURY.

SEC. 5131. When the jury (yy) has been sworn, the trial shall proceed in the following order, unless the court, for special reasons, otherwise directs:

First. The plaintiff must briefly state his claim, and the evidence by which he expects to sustain it.

Second. The defendant must then briefly state his defense, and the evidence he expects to offer in support of it.

Third. The party on whom rests the burden of proof (zz) in the whole action must first produce his evidence. The adverse party will then produce his evidence.

Fourth. The parties will then be confined to rebutting evidence, unless the court, for good reasons, in furtherance of justice, permits them to offer evidence in their original case.

Fifth. When the evidence is concluded, either party may request instructions to the jury on points of law, which shall be given or refused by the court, which instructions shall be reduced to writing if either party require it (aaa).

Sixth. The parties may then submit or argue the case to the jury. In the argument the party having the burden of proof shall have the opening and conclusion; and if, upon the demand of his adversary, he shall refuse to open and fully state the grounds upon which he claims a verdict, he shall be refused the conclusion. Ib., sec. 349, as amended by act Dec. 15, 1875.

SEC. 5132. Whenever, in the opinion of the court, it is proper for the jury to have a view of real property which is the subject of litigation, or of the place in which any material fact occurred, it may order them to be conducted in a body, under the charge of an officer, to the place, which shall be shown to them by some person appointed by the court for that purpose. While the jury are thus absent, no person other than the person so appointed shall speak to them on any subject connected with the trial.

SEC. 5133. When the case is finally submitted to the jury, they may decide in court or retire for deliberation. If they retire, they must be kept together in some convenient place, under the charge of an officer, until they agree upon a verdict or are discharged by the court, subject to the discretion of the court to permit them to separate temporarily at night and at their meals. The officer having them under his charge shall not suffer any communication to be made to them, or make any himself, except to ask them if they have agreed upon their verdict, unless by order of the court; and he shall not, before their verdict is rendered, communicate to any person the state of their deliberations or the verdict agreed upon.

SEC. 5134. If the jury are permitted to separate, either during the trial or after the case is submitted to them, they may be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse with or suffer themselves to be addressed by any other person on any subject of the trial, and, during the trial, that it is their duty not to form or express an opinion thereon until the cause is finally submitted to them.

SEC. 5135. After the jury have retired for deliberation, if there is a disagreement between them as to any part of the testimony, or if they desire to be informed as to any point of law arising in the case, they may request the officer to conduct them into court, where the information required shall be given in the presence of or after notice to the parties or their counsel.

SEC. 5136. The jury may be discharged by the court on account of the sickness of a juror, or other accident or calamity requiring their discharge, or by consent of both parties, or after they have been kept together until it satisfactorily appears that there is no probability of their agreeing.

SEC. 5137. In all cases where the jury are discharged during the trial, or after the cause is submitted to them, it may be tried again immediately or at a future time, as the court may direct.

VERDICT.

SEC. 5138. When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court, their names called by the clerk and the verdict rendered by their foreman. When the verdict is announced either party may require the jury to be polled, which is done by the clerk or court asking each juror if it is his verdict. If any one answer in the negative, the jury must again be sent out for further deliberation.

SEC. 5139. The verdict shall be written, signed by the foreman and read by the court or clerk to the jury, and the inquiry made whether it is their verdict. If any juror disagrees, the jury must be sent out again, but if no disagreement is expressed, and neither party requires the jury to be polled, the verdict is complete and the jury discharged from the case (bbb).

SEC. 5140. The verdict of a jury is either general or special. A general verdict is that by which they pronounce generally upon all or any of the issues, either in favor of the plaintiff or defendant.

SEC. 5141. A special verdict is that by which the jury finds the facts only. It must present the facts as established by the evidence, and not the evidence to prove them, and they must be so presented as that nothing remains to the court but to draw from them conclusions of law.

(bbb) As to amendment of verdict, see Woodruff v. Webb, 32—613. As to defective verdict, see Hanks v. Harris, 29—324.

SEC. 5142. In all actions the jury, in their discretion, may render a general or special verdict, but may be required by the court, in any case in which they render a general verdict, to find specially upon particular questions of fact to be stated in writing. This special finding is to be recorded with the verdict (ccc).

SEC. 5143. When the special finding of facts is inconsistent with the general verdict, the former controls the latter, and the court may give judgment accordingly (†).

SEC. 5144. When, by the verdict, either party is entitled to recover money of the adverse party, the jury, in their verdict, must assess the amount of recovery.

SEC. 5145. In actions for the recovery of specific personal property, the jury must assess the value of the property, as also the damages for the taking or detention, whenever, by their verdict, there will be a judgment for the recovery or return of the property (ddd). Ib., secs. 350-362.

SEC. 5146. If, after a verdict shall be rendered in any action, either party die before judgment actually entered thereon, the court may, at any time during the term at which such verdict was rendered, enter final judgment (eee) in the names of the original parties. Rev. Stat., chap. 1, sec. 11.

SEC. 5147. Nothing in the preceding section shall be construed to authorize the entry of the judgment against any party who may have died before a verdict actually rendered against him, notwithstanding he may have died on the first or any other day of the term at which such verdict may have been rendered; but such verdict shall be void. Ib., sec. 12.

TRIAL BY THE COURT.

SEC. 5148. The trial by jury may be waived by the parties in actions arising on contract, and, with the assent of the court, in other actions in the following manner:

First. By failing to appear at the trial.

Second. By written consent in person, or by attorney, filed with the clerk.

Third. By oral consent in open court, entered on the record.

SEC. 5149. Upon trials of questions of fact by the court, it shall state in writing the conclusions of fact found separately from the conclusions of law (fff).

SEC. 5150. The requirements respecting trials by jury apply, so far as they are in their nature applicable, to trials by the court. Civil Code, secs. 363, 364 and 377.

(ccc) This is discretionary with the court. Little Rock Railroad Co. v. Pankhurst, 36—377.

NEW TRIALS.

SEC. 5151. A new trial is a re-examination in the same court of an issue of fact after a verdict by a jury or a decision by the court. The former verdict or decision may be vacated and a new trial granted (ggg), on the application of the party aggrieved, for any of the following causes, affecting materially the substantial rights of such party :

First. Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury or prevailing party, or any order of court or abuse of discretion, by which the party was prevented from having a fair trial.

Second. Misconduct of the jury or prevailing party.

Third. Accident or surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against.

Fourth. Excessive damages appearing to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice (†).

Fifth. Error in the assessment of the amount of recovery, whether too large or too small, where the action is upon a contract or for the injury or detention of property.

Sixth. The verdict or decision is not sustained by sufficient evidence, or is contrary to law.

Seventh. Newly-discovered evidence, material for the party applying, which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced at the trial.

Eighth. Error of law occurring at the trial, and excepted to by the party making the application.

SEC. 5152. A new trial shall not be granted on account of the smallness of damages in an action for an injury to the person or reputation, nor in any other action where the damages shall equal the actual pecuniary injury sustained.

SEC. 5153. The application for a new trial must be made at the term the verdict or decision is rendered, and, except for the cause mentioned in subdivision seven of section 5151, shall be within three days after the verdict or decision was rendered, unless unavoidably prevented.

SEC. 5154. The application must be made by motion, upon written grounds, filed at the time of making the motion. The grounds mentioned in the second, third and seventh subdivisions of section 5151 must be sustained by affidavits showing their truth, and may be controverted by affidavits.

SEC. 5155. Where grounds for new trial are discovered after the term at which the verdict or decision was rendered, the application may be made by petition filed with the clerk not later than the second term after the discovery, on which a summons shall issue, as on other complaints, requiring the adverse party to appear and answer it on or before the first day of the next term. The application shall stand for hearing at the term to which the summons is returned executed, and shall be summarily decided by the court. The evidence may either be by depositions or by witnesses examined in court. But no such EXCEPTIONS (hhh).

SEC. 5156. An exception is an objection taken to a decision of the court upon a matter of law.

SEC. 5157. The party objecting to the decision must except at the time the decision is made, and time may be given to reduce the exception to writing, but not beyond the succeeding term; but the parties may agree that exceptions to all decisions made during the trial are saved without being especially mentioned at the time the decision is made.

SEC. 5158. No particular form of exception is required. The objection must be stated, with so much of the evidence as is necessary to explain it and no more, and the whole as briefly as possible.

SEC. 5159. Where the decision objected to is entered on the record, and the grounds of objection appear in the entry, the exception may be taken by the party causing to be noted, at the end of the decision, that he excepts.

SEC. 5160. Where the decision is not entered on the record, or the grounds of objection do not sufficiently appear in the entry, the party excepting must reduce his exception to writing, and present it to the judge for his allowance and signature. If true, it shall be the duty of the judge to allow and sign it; whereupon it shall be filed with the pleadings as part of the record, but not spread at large on the order-book. If the writing is not true, the judge shall correct it, or suggest the correction to be made, and, when corrected, sign it.

SEC. 5161. If the party excepting is not satisfied with the correction, upon his procuring the signatures of two bystanders attesting the truth of his exception as by him prepared, the same shall be filed as part of the record; but the Papers inserted in a motion for a new trial are no part of the record. Winkler v. State, 32—539. When different judges preside during the progress of a trial, each should sign a bill of exceptions as to the proceedings before him. Bullock v. Neal, 42—278; Cowall v. Alchul, 40—172. When time is given to reduce exceptions to writing, the bill of exceptions must be filed within the time allowed. Adler v. Conway County, 42—488. JUDGMENT.

SEC. 5163. A judgment is the final determination of the rights of the parties in an action.

May be Given For or Against One or More of the Plaintiffs or Defendants.

SEC. 5164. Judgment may be given for or against one or more of several plaintiffs and for or against one or more of several defendants.

SEC. 5165. In an action against several defendants, the court may, in its discretion, render judgment against one or more of them, leaving the action to proceed against the others whenever a several judgment is proper. Ib., secs. 399-401.

SEC. 5166. In any case where a set-off or counter-claim has been presented, the defendant shall have the right of proceeding to the trial of his claim, although the plaintiff may have dismissed his action or failed to appear.

SEC. 5167. Though all the defendants have been summoned, judgment may be rendered against any of them severally, where the plaintiff would be entitled to judgments against such defendants if the action had been against them alone (iii).

Upon Foreclosure of Mortgage or Lien.

SEC. 5168. It shall not be necessary, in any action upon a mortgage or lien, to enter an interlocutory judgment or give time for the payment of money, or for doing any other act; but final judgment may in such cases be given in the first instance.

SEC. 5169. In the foreclosure of a mortgage, a sale of the mortgaged property shall in all cases be ordered (jjj). Ib., secs. 403-406.

SEC. 5170. In an action on a mortgage or lien, the judgment may be rendered for the sale of the property and for the recovery of the debt against the defendant personally (*). Ib., sec. 408.

SEC. 5171. Sales of personal property made by order of court shall be on a credit of three months; sales of real property on a credit of not less than three nor more than six months, or on installments equivalent to not more than four

(iii) Joint obligations "have the same effect as joint and several obligations." SEC. 3900. Where two or more persons are jointly bound by contract, action may be brought against all or any of them. SEC. 4944. Persons severally liable upon the same contract, including parties to bills of exchange, promissory notes, etc., may all or any of them, or the heirs or personal representatives of such as may have died, be included in the same action. In all sales on credit, the purchaser shall execute bond, with good surety, to be approved by the person making the sale, which bond shall have the force of a judgment, and, in sales of real property, a lien shall be retained on the property for its price. Ib., sec. 407.

SEC. 5172. If the whole of the mortgaged property does not sell for a sum sufficient to satisfy the amount due, an execution may be issued against the defendant, as on ordinary judgments. Rev. Stat., chap. 101, sec. 17.

How Set Off.

SEC. 5173. Judgments for the recovery of money may be set off against each other, having due regard to the legal and equitable rights of all persons interested in both judgments. The set-off may be ordered, upon motion, after reasonable notice to the adverse party, where both judgments are in the same court, or in an action by equitable proceedings in the court in which the judgment sought to be annulled by the set-off was rendered.

SEC. 5174. During the pendency of an action the judgment in which, when recovered, could be used as a set-off against a judgment in favor of the defendants, or either of them, the court, to prevent loss by insolvency, non-residence or otherwise, may enjoin the collection of the judgment in favor of such defendants, according to the provisions of Chapter LXXXI, entitled "Injunction." Civil Code, secs. 409, 410.

Upon Failure to Answer.

SEC. 5175. If the taking of an account, or the proof of a fact, or the assessment of damages, is necessary to enable the court to pronounce judgment upon a failure to answer, or after a decision of an issue of law, the court may take the account, hear the proof, and, in actions founded on contract, assess the damages, or may refer the same to a commissioner, or may direct the same to be ascertained or assessed by a jury. If a jury is ordered, it shall be on or after the day on which the action is set for trial.

SEC. 5176. If only a part of the plaintiff's claim is controverted by the defendant's answer, judgment may at any time be rendered for the part not controverted. Ib., secs. 411, 412.

Upon the Verdict of a Jury.

SEC. 5177. When a trial by a jury has been had, judgment must be entered by the clerk in conformity with the verdict, unless it is special, or the court orders the case to be reserved for future argument or consideration.

SEC. 5178. Where the verdict is special, or where there has been a special finding on particular questions of fact, or where the court has ordered the case to be reserved, it shall order what judgment shall be entered.

tled by law to judgment in his favor, judgment shall be so entered by the court, though a verdict has been found against such party..

SEC. 5180. If a set-off established at the trial exceeds the plaintiff's claim so established, judgment for the defendant must be given for the excess; or, if it appears that the defendant is entitled to any other affirmative relief, judgment shall be given therefor.

SEC. 5181. In an action to recover the possession of personal property, judgment for the plaintiff may be for the delivery of the property, or for the value thereof, in case a delivery can not be had, and damages for the detention (III). Where the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, and the defendant claims a return thereof, judgment for the defendant may be for the return of the property, or its value, in case a return can not be had, and damages for the taking and withholding of the property.

SEC. 5182. Where special damages are given by statute, and it appears by the verdict of the jury, or other decision of the action, that such special damages are due and recoverable by one of the parties against the other, the court shall render judgment for them; and if, in ascertaining the amount thereof, it is necessary to assess the value of any property, or amount of any debt or claim, the court may hear the proof and assess such value or amount, or have the same made by a jury.

SEC. 5183. The judgment must be entered on the order-book, and specify clearly the relief granted, or other determination of the action.

SEC. 5184. It shall not be necessary to reserve, in a judgment or order, the right of an infant to show cause against it after his attaining full age; but in any case in which, but for this section, such a reservation would have been proper, the infant, within twelve months after arriving at the age of twenty-one years, may show cause against such order or judgment (mmm). Ib., secs. 416-423.

By Confession.

SEC. 5185. Any person indebted, or against whom a cause of action exists, may personally appear in a court of competent jurisdiction, and, with the assent of the creditor or person having such cause of action, confess judgment therefor, whereupon judgment shall be entered accordingly.

SEC. 5186. The debt or cause of action shall be briefly stated in the judgment, or in a writing, to be filed as pleadings in other actions.

SEC. 5187. Such judgment shall authorize the same proceedings for its enforcement as judgments rendered in actions regularly brought and prosecuted, and the confession shall operate as a release of errors. Ib., secs. 413-415.

In Cases of Constructive Service.

SEC. 5188. A defendant constructively summoned shall be allowed, at any time before judgment, to appear and defend the action; and, upon a substantial defense being disclosed, time may be given on reasonable terms to prepare for trial.

(III) For verdict in such case, see SEC. 5145. Judgment must be in the alternative. Hanf v. Ford, 37-550.
(mmm) As to procedure by infant in such cases, see SEC. 3911.

SEC. 5189. The statements of the complaint, as against a defendant constructively summoned, and who has not appeared, except such as are for his benefit, shall not be taken as true, but are to be established by proof. But where the plaintiff files with the complaint his own affidavit, stating that any of the allegations thereof recited in the affidavit are true, and known to be so by the defendant, and that they can not be proved or shown otherwise than by his answer, so far as affiant knows or believes such allegations, unless denied by the answer, shall be taken as true.

SEC. 5190. Before judgment is rendered against a defendant constructively summoned, and who has not appeared, it shall be necessary:

First. That an attorney be appointed, at least sixty days before the judgment is rendered, to defend for the defendant and inform him of the action and of such other matters as may be useful to him in preparing for his defense. He may take any step in the progress of the action, except filing an answer, without it having the effect of entering the appearance of such defendant. The attorney may be appointed by the clerk when the warning order is made, or by the court, and shall receive a reasonable compensation for his services, to be paid by the plaintiff and taxed in the costs (nnn).

Second. That a bond be executed to such defendant by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, to the effect that if the defendant, within the period prescribed by law, shall appear, make defense and set aside the judgment, the plaintiff shall restore to him the property taken under any attachment in the action, or under the judgment therein, the restoration of which may be adjudged, and pay to the defendant such sums of money as the court may award to him.

Third. That in suits brought by the personal representative or creditor of a deceased person to have a settlement of his estate and a sale of his real estate for the payment of his debts, and the heirs or devisees are non-residents, it shall not be required of the personal representative, or any creditor, to execute the bond required by this section.

SEC. 5191. The attorney appointed pursuant to the last section shall be a regular practicing attorney of the court; and, before an order for his compensation is made, he must make a written statement of all that he has done in the case, which shall be signed by him and filed with the papers of the action.

SEC. 5192. If the bond mentioned in section 5190 is not given, the court may enter a judgment ascertaining the rights of the parties, but shall retain control over and preserve any property, or the proceeds thereof, which may have been attached in the action, until the expiration of the period allowed to the defendant to appear and make defense; when, if no defense is made, such money or property, or its proceeds, shall be delivered according to the judgment.

SEC. 5193. Before rendering judgment against a defendant constructively summoned, and who has not appeared, the court may cause the plaintiff to appear personally in court, or before a commissioner, and answer, under oath, interrogatories concerning the matters in the complaint, or any matters of defense thereto, including matters of set-off or counter-claim, and may order the examination to be reduced to writing and filed with the papers of the action.

SEC. 5194. If, upon the examination provided in the last section, any matters of set-off or counter-claim are disclosed, the same may be adjusted and allowed in the judgment.

SEC. 5195. Where a judgment has been rendered against a defendant or defendants constructively summoned, and who did not appear, such defendants, or any one or more of them, may, at any time within five years after the rendition of the judgment, appear in court and move to have the action re-tried; and, security for the costs being given, they shall be admitted to make defense; and thereupon the action shall be re-tried as to such defendants, as if there had been no judgment; and, upon the new trial, the court may confirm the former judgment, or may modify or set it aside, and may order the plaintiff to restore any money of such defendant paid to him under it or any property of the defendant obtained by the plaintiff under it and yet remaining in his possession, and pay to the defendant the value of any property which may have been taken under an attachment in the action, or under the judgment, and not restored. But the provisions of this section shall not apply to judgments granting a divorce except so far as relates to alimony.

SEC. 5196. The plaintiff may at any time after judgment cause a certified copy thereof to be served on a defendant constructively summoned; whereupon the period in which such defendant is allowed to appear and have a new trial shall be reduced to one year after such service.

SEC. 5197. The service of the copy of the judgment, if in this state, shall be made and proved in the same manner as the service of a summons; and, if out of this state, in the manner prescribed in section 4987 as to the service of a copy of the complaint and summons and proof thereof.

SEC. 5198. The title of purchasers in good faith to any property sold under an attachment or judgment shall not be affected by the new trial permitted by section 5195, except the title of property obtained by the plaintiff and not bought of him in good faith by others.

SEC. 5199. No lien on the property of a defendant constructively summoned shall be created otherwise than by an attachment, as provided in chapter IX, "Attachments," or by judgment. Nor shall any other defendant be restrained from paying or delivering any money or property in his hands belonging or due to such defendant, by notice indorsed on the summons, or otherwise than by attachment or judgment.

SEC. 5200. No personal judgment shall be rendered against a defendant constructively summoned, or summoned out of this state, as provided in section 4987, and who has not appeared in the action (§). Ib., secs. 443-455.

SEC. 5201. All judgments, orders, sentences and decrees made, rendered or pronounced by any of the courts of this state against any one without notice, actual or constructive, and all proceedings had under such judgments, orders, sentences or decrees, shall be absolutely null and void.

SEC. 5202. In all cases where it appears, from a recital in the records of any such court, that such notice has been given, it shall be evidence of such fact (ooo). Act Feb. 17, 1859.

(§) See Silver v. Luck, 42-268.

(ooo) See Coone v. Throckmorton, 26-60.

ORDER AND MOTION, DEFINITION OF.

SEC. 5203. Every direction of a court or judge entered upon the order-book, or made in writing, in a civil action, and not included in the judgment, is denominated an order.

SEC. 5204. An application for an order is a motion.

NOTICES.

SEC. 5205. The notices mentioned in the code shall be in writing, and may be served by a sheriff, constable, coroner or marshal of a town or city, whose return thereon shall be proof of the service. Notices may also be served by any person not a party or interested in the action or proceeding, whose affidavit shall be proof of the service, or by acknowledgment thereon in writing by the party upon whom served.

SEC. 5206. The service of a notice shall be by giving a copy thereof to the person to whom it is directed, or, if he can not be found at his usual place of abode, by leaving a copy there with a person over the age of sixteen years residing in the same family with him, or, if no such person is there, then by affixing a copy to the front door of such place of abode. If the person to whom the notice is directed can not be found, and has no known place of abode in this state, the notice may be served by delivering a copy to his attorney. The return of the officer, or the affidavit of the person who served the notice, shall state the time and manner of the service; and where a copy of the notice is not given to the person to whom it is directed, the return or affidavit shall state the facts authorizing the manner of service pursued.

SEC. 5207. Where the party has no known place of abode in this state, and no attorney in the county where the action is pending, or where the parties, plaintiffs or defendants, are numerous, the court may direct the mode of serving notices, and to what persons they shall be given.

SEC. 5208. A notice to an infant or person of unsound mind shall be served on the guardian or next friend bringing or defending the action for him.

SEC. 5209. A notice to a corporation may be served in the same manner as a summons in an action against it.

SEC. 5210. Where husband and wife unite in bringing or defending an action, the service of a notice on the husband shall be deemed a service on the wife.

SEC. 5211. A notice to a person constructively summoned, and not appearing, shall be served on the attorney appointed to defend for him.

SEC. 5212. Where it is not otherwise specially provided, a notice to a party in an action of any motion or proceeding to be made or taken therein in court, or before a judge, may be served upon such party or his attorney; but the service upon the attorney in any such case must be by delivering to him a copy of the notice.

SEC. 5213. Where a party to an action does not reside in the county in which it is pending, a notice to him to take depositions may be served by delivering a copy thereof to his attorney (ppp).

SEC. 5214. It shall be the duty of the sheriff, and of every constable, to whom any notice in an action may be delivered for service within his county, to serve and return such notice to the party who delivered it to him. A failure to perform this duty may be punished as a disobedience of the process of the court. Civil Code, secs. 704-715.

OFFER TO COMPROMISE.

SEC. 5215. The defendant in an action for the recovery of money only may, at any time before the trial, serve upon the plaintiff or his attorney an offer in writing to allow judgment to be taken against him for the sum specified therein. If the plaintiff accepts the offer, and gives notice thereof to the defendant or his attorney within five days after the offer was served, the offer, and an affidavit that the notice of acceptance was delivered in the time limited, may be filed by the plaintiff, or the defendant may file the acceptance, with a copy of the offer, verified by affidavit; and in either case the offer and acceptance shall be noted upon the record, and judgment shall be rendered accordingly. If the notice of acceptance is not given in the period limited, the offer shall be deemed withdrawn, and shall not be given in evidence or mentioned on the trial. If the plaintiff fails to obtain judgment for more than was offered by the defendant, he shall pay the defendant's costs from the time of the offer.

SEC. 5216. In an action for the recovery of money only, the defendant, having answered, may serve upon the plaintiff or his attorney an offer in writing that, if he fails in his defense, the amount of the recovery shall be assessed at a specified sum. If the plaintiff accepts the offer and gives notice thereof to the defendant or his attorney within five days after it was served, and the defendant fails in his defense, the judgment shall be for the amount so agreed upon. If the plaintiff does not accept the offer, he shall prove the amount to be recovered, as if the offer had not been made. The offer shall not be given in evidence or mentioned on the trial. And if the amount recovered by the plaintiff does not exceed the sum mentioned in the offer, the defendant shall recover his costs incurred in the defense in respect to the question of amount, to be taxed under the direction of the court.

SEC. 5217. The making of any such offer shall not be a cause for a continuance of an action or a postponement of a trial.

SUBMITTING A CONTROVERSY WITHOUT SUIT.

SEC. 5218. Parties to a question which might be the subject of a civil action may, without action, agree upon a case containing the facts upon which the controversy depends, and present a submission of the same to any court which would have jurisdiction if an action had been brought. But it must appear by affidavit that the controversy is real, and the proceedings in good faith, to determine the rights of the parties. The court shall thereupon hear and determine the case, and render judgment as if an action were pending.

SEC. 5219. The case, the submission and the judgment shall constitute the record.

SEC. 5220. The judgment shall be with costs, may be enforced, and shall be subject to reversal in the same manner as if it had been rendered in an action, unless otherwise provided in the submission.

OFFER TO CONFESS JUDGMENT.

SEC. 5221. After an action for the recovery of money is brought, the defendant may offer in court to confess judgment for part of the amount claimed, or part of the causes involved in the action. Whereupon, if the plaintiff, being present, refuse to accept such confession of judgment in full of his demands against the defendant in the action, or, having had such notice that the offer would be made, of its amount, and the time of making it, as the court shall deem reasonable, fails to attend, and on the trial does not recover more than was so offered to be confessed, such plaintiff shall pay all of the costs of the defendant incurred after the offer.

SEC. 5222. The offer shall not be deemed to be an admission of the cause of action, or amount to which the plaintiff is entitled, nor be given in evidence upon the trial. Ib., secs. 716-722.

WHAT CAUSES OF ACTION SURVIVE.

SEC. 5223. For wrongs done to the person or property of another, an action may be maintained against the wrong-doers, and such action may be brought by the person injured, or, after his death, by his executor or administrator, against such wrong-doer, or, after his death, against his executor or administrator, in the same manner and with like effect in all respects as actions founded on contracts (†).

SEC. 5224. Nothing in the preceding section shall be so construed as to extend its provisions to actions of slander or libel. Rev. Stat., chap. 4, secs. 59-60.

SEC. 5225. Whenever the death of a person shall be caused by wrongful act, neglect or default, and the act, neglect or default is such as would, if death had not ensued, have entitled the party injured to maintain an action and recover damages in respect thereof, then, and in every such case, the person who, or company or corporation which, would have been liable if death had not ensued, shall be liable to an action for damages, notwithstanding the death of the person injured, and although the death shall have been caused under such circumstances as amount, in law, to a felony.

SEC. 5226. Every such action shall be brought by, and in the name of, the personal representatives of such deceased person, and if there be no personal representatives, then the same may be brought by the heirs at law of such deceased person; and the amount recovered in every such action shall be for the exclusive benefit of the widow and next of kin of such deceased person, and shall be distributed to such widow and next of kin, in the proportion provided by law in relation to the distribution of personal property left by persons dying intestate; and, in every such action, the jury may give such damages as they shall deem a fair and just compensation, with reference to the pecuniary injuries resulting from such death, to the wife and next of kin of such deceased

ACTIONS FOR THE RECOVERY OF STOLEN PROPERTY.

SEC. 5228. All property obtained by larceny, robbery or burglary shall be restored to the owner, and no sale, whether in good faith on the part of the purchaser or not, shall divest the owner of his right to such property.

SEC. 5229. Any person losing property or any valuable thing by larceny, robbery or burglary may maintain his action, not only against such felon, but against any person whatsoever in whose hands or possession the same may be found. Rev. Stat., chap. 44, art. 6, div. 4, secs. 3, 4.

SEC. 5230. In no case shall the right of action of any party injured by the commission of a felony be deemed or adjudged to be merged in such felony, but damages sustained thereby may be recovered in an action brought for that purpose (qqq). Rev. Stat., chap. 45, sec. 264.

REVIVOR OF ACTIONS.

SEC. 5231. In all cases where suits may be instituted, and either plaintiff or defendant may die pending the same, it shall be lawful for the court before which such suit or suits may be pending, on the motion of any party interested, to appoint a special administrator, in whose name the cause shall be revived, and said suit or suits shall progress, in all respects, in his name with like effect as if the plaintiff or defendant (as the case may be) had remained in full life.

SEC. 5232. The powers of such special administrator shall extend and be confined alone to the mere prosecution or defense of the particular suit or suits he may be appointed by the court to prosecute or defend.

SEC. 5233. No special administrator shall be appointed, as in this act prescribed, where there is a general administrator (*). No such special administrator or executor shall be liable for costs of the suit, for the management whereof he may be appointed. Act Jan. 10, 1851.

SEC. 5234. Where there are several plaintiffs or defendants in an action, and one of them dies, or his powers as a personal representative cease, if the right of action survives to or against the remaining parties, the action may proceed, the death of the party or the cessation of his powers being stated on the record.

SEC. 5235. Where one of several plaintiffs or defendants dies, or his powers as a personal representative cease, if the cause of action does not admit of sur-vivorship, and the court is of opinion that the merits of the controversy can be properly determined, and the principles applicable to the case fully settled, it may proceed to try the cause as between the remaining parties; but the judgment shall not prejudice any who were not parties at the time of the trial.

SEC. 5236. Where one of the parties to an action dies, or his powers as a personal representative cease, before the judgment, if the right of action survives in favor of or against his representatives or successor, the action may be revived and proceed in their names.

SEC. 5237. The revivor shall be by an order of the court, that the action be revived in the names of the representatives or successor of the party who died, or whose powers ceased, and proceed in favor of or against them (rrr).

SEC. 5238. The order may be made on the motion of the adverse party, or of the representatives or successor of the party who died, or whose powers ceased, suggesting his death or the cessation of his powers, which, with the names and capacities of his representatives or successor, shall be stated in the order.

SEC. 5239. If the order is made by the consent of the parties, the action shall forthwith stand revived; and, if not made by consent, the order shall be served in the same manner as a summons upon the party adverse to the one making the motion. And at the first term, commencing not less than ten days after such service, the party on whom it is made may show cause against the revivor; and, if sufficient cause is not then shown, the cause shall stand revived.

SEC. 5240. If ten days' notice has been given to the representatives or successor of the party who died, or whose powers ceased, of the motion by the adverse party for an order to revive the action in their names, or to the adverse party, where the motion is by such representatives or successor, and due return is made of the service of the notice, the court may, if sufficient cause is not shown to the contrary, make an order reviving the action in the names of such parties, whereupon the action shall stand revived.

SEC. 5241. Where it appears to the court, by the affidavit of the plaintiff, that the representatives of the defendant, or any of them, in whose name the action is ordered to be revived, are non-residents of this state, or have left the same to avoid the service of the order, or have been absent therefrom four months, or so conceal themselves that the order can not be served upon them, or that the names of the heirs of the defendant against whom the action is ordered to be revived, or of some of them, are unknown to the affiant, an order may be made by the court warning such representatives or unknown heirs to appear on the first day of its next term and show cause why the action should not be revived against them. The parties so warned shall be deemed constructively served with a copy of the order of revivor ten days before the term at which they are warned to appear; and, if sufficient cause is not shown to the contrary, the action shall, at that term, stand revived.

SEC. 5242. Upon the death of a plaintiff in an action, it may be revived in the name of his representatives, to whom his right has passed. Where his right has passed to his personal representative, the revivor shall be in his name (*); where it has passed to his heirs, or to his devisees, who could support the action if brought anew, the revivor may be in their names.

SEC. 5243. Upon the death of a defendant in an action wherein the right, or any part thereof, survives against his personal representative, the revivor shall be against him; and it may also be against the heirs or devisees of the defendant, or both; and where one year has elapsed after the death of the defendant, and no person has qualified as his personal representative, the action may be revived, and proceed against his heirs or devisees, or both.

SEC. 5244. Upon the death of a defendant in an action for the recovery of real property only, or which concerns only his rights or claims to such property, the action may be revived against his heirs or devisees, or both, and an order therefor may be forthwith made in the manner directed in the preceding sections.

SEC. 5245. An order to revive an action against the personal representatives of a defendant, or against him and the heirs or devisees of the defendant, can not be made, unless by consent, until after six months from the qualification of the personal representative.

SEC. 5246. An order to revive an action against the representatives or successor of a defendant shall not be made without the consent of such representatives or successor, unless in one year from the time it could have been first made.

SEC. 5247. An order to revive an action in the names of the representatives or successor of a plaintiff may be made forthwith, but shall not be made without the consent of the defendant after the expiration of one year from the time the order might have been first made, except that, where the defendant shall also have died or his powers have ceased in the meantime, the order of revivor on both sides may be made in the period limited in the last section.

SEC. 5248. When it appears to the court by affidavit that either party to an action has been dead, or, where he sues or is sued as a personal representative, that his powers have ceased for a period so long that the action can not be revived in the names of his representatives or successor without the consent of both parties, it shall order the action to be stricken from the docket.

SEC. 5249. At any term of the court succeeding the death of the plaintiff, whilst the action remains on the docket, the defendant having given to the plaintiff's proper representatives, in whose names the action might be revived, ten days' notice of the application therefor, may have an order to strike the action from the docket, and for costs against the estate of the plaintiff, unless the action is forthwith revived.

SEC. 5250. When, by the provisions of the preceding sections, an action stands revived, the trial thereof shall not be postponed by reason of the revivor, if the action would have stood for trial at the term the revivor is complete, had no death or cessation of powers taken place. Civil Code, secs. 549-565.

CONVEYANCE BY COMMISSIONERS.

SEC. 5251. Real property may be conveyed by a commissioner appointed by the court:

SEC. 5253. A conveyance made in pursuance of a judgment shall pass to the grantee the title of the parties ordered to convey the land.

SEC. 5254. A conveyance made in pursuance of a sale ordered by the court shall pass to the grantee the title of all the parties to the action or proceeding.

SEC. 5255. After a conveyance is ordered or adjudged, if any of the parties shall die, it shall not be necessary to revive the action, but the conveyance, in pursuance of the judgment or order, shall be effectual to pass the title, notwithstanding the death of any of the parties.

SEC. 5256. A conveyance by a commissioner shall not pass any right until it has been examined and approved by the court, which approval shall be indorsed on the conveyance and recorded with it (sss).

SEC. 5257. It shall be necessary for the conveyance to be signed by the commissioner only, without affixing the names of the parties whose title is conveyed; but the names of such parties shall be recited in the body of the conveyance.

SEC. 5258. The conveyance shall be recorded in the office in which, by law, it should have been recorded had it been made by the parties whose title is conveyed by it. Civil Code, secs. 428-435.

SEC. 5260. Each master in chancery shall have power to take testimony and to administer oaths and to compel the attendance of witnesses in all matters referred to him, and to do and perform all such other ministerial acts as are commonly performed by a master in chancery.

SEC. 5261. There shall be but one master at a time in any one county, unless the master be of kin to either of the parties, or is interested in any cause, or is absent from the county. In such cases a special master may be appointed.

SEC. 5263. All matters of account pending in chancery may be referred by the court to the master, and he shall audit and adjust the same, and make report thereof to the court.

SEC. 5265. The master may adjourn his sittings from time to time, and issue attachments to compel the attendance of witnesses who, being summoned, failed to attend.

SEC. 5266. He shall reduce to writing the testimony of all witnesses examined by him, and shall have power to commit such witnesses as may refuse to testify.

SEC. 5267. Depositions, regularly taken in a cause, may be read in evidence before the master, where the cause has been referred to him.

SEC. 5268. When accounts have been referred to the master, after having heard the testimony adduced by the parties, he shall state them truly, according to his opinion, and, if the parties require it, also according to the views of each of them.

SEC. 5269. If either party shall except to the competency of any witness, or to the admission or exclusion of any evidence, the master, if required, shall state the particulars of the exceptions in his report.

SEC. 5270. The master shall report on all cases referred to him as speedily as possible, reciting in his report the order of the court referring the cause to him, the notice to the parties, the time and place of stating the account or taking depositions, and all other proceedings had therein, and return the same, together with the testimony, to the court. The report shall be in sheets, neatly and securely stitched together.

SEC. 5271. All exceptions to the master's report shall be in writing, and shall be made within four days after the first day of the term of the court at which the report is made, if the term so long continue, and, if not, before the end of the term, and shall be disposed of without delay.

SEC. 5272. The report shall stand good, except such parts as are excepted to, unless it shall appear on the face of the report or from the evidence in the cause that it is erroneous.

SEC. 5273. Exceptions may be allowed to the master's report where he admitted incompetent testimony, or where he excluded competent testimony, or for any other cause which may be adjudged good by the court, or when it shall be apparent from the face of the report that injustice has been done.

SEC. 5274. When exceptions are allowed, the court may refer the report to the master again, with such instructions as may be necessary.

SEC. 5275. In all cases where no exceptions are filed to the master's report within the time prescribed in this act, or where the exceptions have been overruled, a decree shall be entered up accordingly.

SEC. 5276. Where exceptions have been allowed to the master's report, and the account shall have been restated by the court or master, a decree shall be entered accordingly. Rev. Stat., chap. 23, secs. 71-89.

SEC. 5278. Additional bonds may be required and taken at any time when the same shall be necessary, and in such amounts as shall be sufficient to secure a faithful performance of the trust; and such receiver may be appointed either before or after answer or after a decree, and affidavits to obtain such appointment shall not be required when it appears by other means to the satisfaction of the court, judge or chancellor that such appointment should be made.

SEC. 5279. If it shall be necessary, more receivers than one may be appointed, who shall take an oath and give bond, and be subject to the duties, liabilities, responsibilities and restrictions specified in this act.

SEC. 5280. After the receiver shall take the oath and give bond as required by this act, he shall possess all the powers which a receiver in a court of chancery can have or possess, unless otherwise provided in this act.

SEC. 5281. In all cases where it shall be necessary or proper for a receiver to collect debts by suit, he may sue in his own name, but all moneys collected by him shall be accounted for and paid into court, or be subject to the order of the court, judge or chancellor; and said receiver shall have power to employ attorneys and make to them a reasonable allowance for services, and to be paid out of the funds collected by him.

SEC. 5282. No receiver shall be required to give security in any appeal or writ of error, or to obtain an injunction in any suit it may be his duty to prosecute or defend, but an appeal taken or writ of error sued out by him shall ipso facto operate as a supersedeas.

SEC. 5283. Whenever, in any case, a receiver shall be appointed for a corporation or the trustees thereof, or any co-partnership or joint stock company, and the order or decree of the court, judge or chancellor shall be that the lands, tenements, goods, chattels, funds, assets, moneys, credits, choses in action, rights and interests of every kind, name and nature, either in law or equity, or any part thereof, belonging to the same, shall be placed in the hands of such receiver, he shall from thenceforward, until the further order or decree of the court, judge or chancellor, have full possession, custody and control thereof, and shall be vested with the title, so far as it shall be necessary to collect debts, preserve the assets and property for the benefit of creditors and all persons interested, and may and shall bring and prosecute and defend all suits in his own name that may be necessary for that purpose.

SEC. 5284. In all suits that may be pending in any court, prosecuted by or brought against such corporation, or trustees, or co-partnership, or joint stock company, or in which either may be interested, such receiver may be substituted

SEC. 5285. The provisions of the three preceding sections shall apply to cases between individuals with like effect, as above declared.

SEC. 5286. SEC. 5287. Receivers shall make report of their proceedings every six months, or oftener, if required by the court, judge or chancellor, and the performance of this duty may be enforced by attachment, sequestration, or other proper and effectual means, and they shall have credit for all taxes, expenses, attorney's fees and necessary disbursements, in the execution of their trusts, and such reasonable and proper compensation for their own services as the court, judge or chancellor may allow, to be paid out of the trust fund as part of the costs and expenses, and the court, judge or chancellor shall pass on their accounts, and a confirmation thereof shall be conclusive against all persons whatsoever, and not subject to be reinvestigated, except for actual fraud (www). Act Jan. 15, 1857.

SEC. 5288. In an action by a vendor to vacate a fraudulent purchase of property, or by a creditor to subject any property or fund to his claim, or between partners or others jointly owning or interested in any property or fund, on the application of plaintiff or of any party whose right to or interest in the property or fund or the proceeds thereof is probable, and where it is shown that the property or fund is in danger of being lost, removed or materially injured, the court may appoint a receiver to take charge thereof during the pendency of the action, and may order and coerce the delivery of it to him (xxx).

SEC. 5289. In an action by a mortgagee for the foreclosure of his mortgage and the sale of the mortgaged property, a receiver may in like manner be appointed where it appears that the mortgaged property is in danger of being lost, removed or materially injured, or that the condition of the mortgage has not been performed, and that the property is probably insufficient to discharge the mortgage debt.

SEC. 5290. No party or attorney, or person interested in an action, shall be appointed receiver therein.

SEC. 5291. Before entering upon his duties, the receiver must be sworn to perform them faithfully, and, with one or more sureties approved by the court, execute a bond to such person and in such sum as the court shall direct, to the effect that he will faithfully discharge the duties of receiver in the action, and obey the orders of the court therein (*).

SEC. 5294. SEC. 5300. The ministerial officer whose duty it is to take a surety in any bond provided for by law shall have the right to require the person offered as surety to make affidavit of his qualification, which affidavit may be made before such officer; but any person interested may contest the sufficiency of such surety upon the making of such affidavit. Provided, it is made to appear that such surety is not sufficient, and an officer who, in good faith, complies with this section shall be exempt from any liability to which he might otherwise be subject for taking insufficient surety.

SEC. 5301. The surety in every bond provided for by law must be a resident of this state, and worth double the sum to be secured beyond the amount of his debts, and have property liable to execution in this state equal to the sum to be secured. Where there are two or more sureties in the same bond they must, in the aggregate, have the qualifications prescribed in this section. Ib., secs. 785-787.

SEC. 5302. No attorney, solicitor or counselor at law or in equity, clerk, sheriff or other person concerned in the execution of any process shall become bail in any civil or criminal case without leave of the court, which shall be entered of record. Rev. Stat., chap. 116, sec. 23.

SEC. 5365. When the public contracts mentioned in section 5364 are to be let, the commissioners shall proceed as follows: They shall give notice by advertisement for one week in one or more daily and weekly newspapers printed at the capital of the state, of most extensive circulation throughout the city and state, of the time of letting all contracts mentioned in said section, stating that separate sealed proposals for the furnishing of the supplies and the performance of the work set out in each of said contracts are invited and will be received by the board of commissioners at the office of the auditor of state, up to the hour of ten o'clock A. SEC. 5367. After the first letting of contracts directed in section 5364, the commissioners shall give the notice of subsequent lettings at least six months before the expiration of the existing contracts, in order that the new contractors shall have sufficient time to become fully prepared to enter upon their duties promptly at the end of the next preceding contracts. But the notices of such subsequent lettings shall be published thirty days, instead of one week, in the same manner as at the first letting hereunder (b).

(b) Contracts for public printing can be let only in the manner and upon the notice provided by the statute, and if, upon opening the bids, there is no lowest bid, the board must give for another bidding the full notice required for the first. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent more than one contract being taken by the same person or persons, when the bid submitted shall be the lowest responsible bid. If two or more competing persons bid the same and the lowest price in the aggregate for the same contract, the commissioners shall award the contract to such one of them as, in the opinion of the majority, will best subserve the interest of the state, or let the contract anew at their option.

CHAPTER CXXVIII.

 5572, 5573. Affidavit for order of delivery, requisites of.
 5574. Order, to whom addressed and delivered; contents of; return of; clause for arrest, etc.
 5575. Plaintiff to execute bond before delivery of property.
 5576. When defendant may be arrested.

SECTION

 5579, 5580, 5581, 5582. How order for delivery executed; duty of sheriff.
 5583. Proceedings where property claimed by stranger.
 5584. Several orders may issue directed to different counties.

SECTION 5571. The plaintiff, in an action to recover the possession of specific personal property, may, at the commencement of the action, or at any time before judgment, claim the immediate delivery of the property, as herein provided. Civil Code, sec. 202.

SEC. 5572. An order for the delivery of property to the plaintiff shall be made by the clerk (b) when there is filed in his office an affidavit of the plaintiff, or of some one in his behalf, showing (c):

First. A particular description of the property claimed.

Second. Its actual value, and the damages which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover for the detention thereof.

Third. That the plaintiff is the owner of the property, or has a special ownership or interest therein, stating the facts in relation thereto, and that he is entitled to the immediate possession of the property (cc).

(a) Under analogous provisions in the codes of other states, it is held that the remedy provided by this chapter supersedes the former actions of replevin and detinue. Replevin lay where there was an unlawful taking, and detinue where there was an unlawful detention; and the code provides this remedy for all unlawful detentions, whether the taking was unlawful or of right. 2 Nash's Pleadings and Practice, 812, et seq. (4th edition); Nichols v. Michael et al., 23 N. Y. (9 Smith), 264; Roberts v. Randel, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.), 707; Rockwell v. Saunders, 19 Barb., 481.

For form of verdict, see SEC. 5145; for mode of entering judgment, see SEC. 5181.

(b) Justices of the peace have concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court in suits for the recovery of personal property where the value of the property does not exceed the sum of three hundred dollars. See art. VII, sec. 40, Const. The rules of proceedings in such suits in the circuit court, so far as applicable, govern in justices' courts. SEC. 4124. But no complaint need be filed there when the plaintiff's affidavit contains a statement of the facts constituting the cause of action. Hanner v. Bailey, 30—681.

(c) The affidavit is no part of the complaint. Donnelly v. Wheeler, 34—111. It may be amended in the circuit court on appeal from a justice's court so as to enlarge the damages claimed. Hanf v. Ford, 37—544.

(cc) A trustee may maintain replevin for the trust property, but the beneficiaries in the trust can not. Gates v. Bennett, 33—475. One tenant in common can not maintain it against his co-tenant for his part of a common crop unless there has been a division of it, consummated by an assignment and appropriation of a part to each. Ward v. Worthington, Ib., 830. See, also, Person v. Wright & Montgomery, 35—169. Title, general or special, and a right to immediate possession are both necessary to maintain replevin. Thatcher v. Franklin, 37—64. A landlord's lien will not sustain it for the crop. Knox v. Hellums, 38—413; Bell v. Matheny, 36—572. As to when it may be maintained for property not paid for, see Ferguson v. Hetherington, 39—438. It can not be maintained upon a title acquired after suit. McKennon v. May, Ib., 442. Nor for cotton mixed in the same bale with defendant's. Ib. As to replevin by mortgagee, see Hudson v. Snipes, 40—75; by partner against vendee of co-partner, Harkey v. Tushman, 40—551; for property obtained by fraud, Sidler v. Leuwers, 42—148; for colt reserved from sale of dam while in foal, Andrews v. Cox, Ib., 478.

Fourth. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant (†), with the alleged cause of the detention thereof, according to the best knowledge, information and belief of the affiant.

Fifth. That it has not been taken for a tax or fine against the plaintiff, or under any order or judgment of a court against him, or seized under an execution or attachment against his property, or, if so seized, that it is by statute exempt from such seizure.

Sixth. That the plaintiff's cause of action has accrued within one year (d). Where the action is brought to recover property taken under an execution, the affidavit must state the fact of the taking, and the nature of the process under which it was done. Civil Code, sec. 203, as amended 1871.

SEC. 5573. Where the delivery of several articles of property is claimed, the affidavit must state the value of each. Ib., sec. 204.

SEC. 5574. The order for the delivery of the property to the plaintiff shall be addressed and delivered, with a copy thereof, to the sheriff. It shall state the names of the parties to the action, and the court in which the action is brought, and direct the sheriff to take the property, describing it (‡) and stating its value as in the affidavit of the plaintiff, and deliver it to him, and make return of the order on a day to be named therein, and to summon the defendant to appear on such day in the court and answer the plaintiff in the premises; and if the plaintiff shall file an additional affidavit that he believes the property has been concealed, removed or disposed of in any way, with intent to defeat the plaintiff's action, the clerk or magistrate shall insert a clause commanding the sheriff, or other officer, that if the property mentioned in the order can not be had, to take the body of the defendant, so that he appear at the return day of the order to answer the premises. The order shall be made returnable as an order of arrest is directed to be returned (*). Ib., sec. 205, as amended by act Dec. 14, 1875.

SEC. 5575. The order shall not be complied with by the sheriff until there has been executed in his presence, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, a bond to the defendant to the effect that the plaintiff shall duly prosecute the action, and that he shall perform the judgment of the court therein by returning the property, if a return thereof shall be adjudged, and by paying such sums of money as may be adjudged against him in the action, not exceeding double the value of the property and the costs of the action. Ib., sec. 206.

SEC. 5576. If the property described in the order shall have been removed or concealed, so that the officer can not make delivery thereof, he shall (when the order contains a capias clause) arrest the body of the defendant, and hold him in custody in the same manner as on a capias ad respondendum in a personal action, until he shall execute the bond prescribed in the next section, or be otherwise legally discharged.

SEC. 5577. The defendant shall be entitled to be discharged from such arrest at any time before final judgment had in the cause, upon executing to the officer who shall have made such arrest, with the addition of his name of office, a bond in a penalty of at least double the value of the property described as sworn to in the affidavit, with such security as shall be approved by such officer, conditioned that such defendant shall abide the order and judgment of the court in such action, and that he will cause special bail to be put in, if the same be required. Ib., sec. 205, as amended by act Dec. 14, 1875.

(†) One wrongfully detaining property, and refusing to deliver it on demand, may be sued in replevin, though he has parted with possession at the time of the suit. Harkey v. Tillman, 40—551.

(d) See Payne v. Bruton, 10—53. Three years is the limitation in actions of replevin. Phipps v. Martin, 33—207.

SEC. 5578. Where the action is brought against a sheriff or other officer to recover possession of property taken by him under an execution against a person other than the plaintiff, the bond provided for in section 5575 shall be to the effect that the plaintiff shall duly prosecute the action, and that he shall perform the judgment of the court therein by returning the property, if a return thereof shall be adjudged, and by paying to the defendant or to the plaintiff in the execution, as may be directed by the court, such sums of money as may be adjudged against the plaintiff in the action, not exceeding double the value of the property and the costs of the action.

SEC. 5579. The sheriff shall execute the order by taking the property therein mentioned, if it is found in the possession of the defendant (dd), or of his agent, or of any other person who obtained possession thereof from defendant, directly or indirectly, after the order was placed in the sheriff's hands. He shall also deliver a copy of the order to the defendant, or to the person from whose possession the property is taken, or, if neither can be found, leave it at the usual place of abode of either with some person of the age of sixteen years.

SEC. 5580. If the affidavit of the plaintiff states that the property was taken under an execution, the sheriff shall deliver it to the plaintiff. In every other case he shall retain the property in his possession for two days, unless the bond mentioned in the succeeding section shall be sooner executed.

SEC. 5581. Within two days after the taking of the property by the sheriff, the defendant, or any one for him, may, in the case in which the property was not taken under an execution, cause a bond to be executed to the plaintiff in the presence of the sheriff, by one or more sufficient sureties, in double the value of the property, to the effect that the defendant shall perform the judgment of the court in the action (e); whereupon the sheriff shall restore the property to the defendant, or to the person in whose possession it was found. If such bond is not executed within the time above limited, the sheriff shall deliver the property to the plaintiff. He shall return the bonds with the order.

SEC. 5582. Before taking any bond the sheriff shall, upon the suggestion of either party that the value of the property is not truly stated in the order for its delivery, and where the suggestion is on the part of the defendant, on his producing the property to the sheriff, select three disinterested housekeepers to appraise the same under oath, to be administered by him, whose appraisal, indorsed upon the order, shall be regarded as the value of the property in taking the bonds.

SEC. 5583. If another person than the defendant or his agent claims the property taken by the sheriff and delivers to the sheriff his affidavit that he is entitled to the possession thereof, the sheriff shall not be bound to keep it or deliver it to the plaintiff unless he shall, within two days after the delivery to him, or to his agent or attorney, by the sheriff, of a copy of the affidavit, indemnify the sheriff against the claim by a bond, executed by one or more sufficient sureties, in double the value of the property (ee). No claim to such property by any other person than the defendant or his agent shall be valid against the sheriff unless so made. He shall return the affidavit of the claimant, with his proceedings thereon, to the clerk's office.

SEC. 5584. An order may, at any time before judgment, be directed to any other county for the delivery of the property claimed. And several orders may issue at the same time, or successively, at the option of the plaintiff. But only one of them shall be taxed in the costs, unless otherwise ordered by the court. Ib., secs. 207-211 and 213, 214.

(ee) See Harris v. Harrison, 40—50.

—————, Clerk ——— County.

SEC. 5673. Each assessor shall, at the time he is required to make his return of taxable property to the clerk of the county court, also deliver to him the statements of property which he shall have received from persons required to list the same, arranged by school districts and in alphabetical order, and the clerk of the county court shall carefully preserve the same in his office for four years, and should the records of any county in the state be destroyed by fire or otherwise, after assessments have closed for any year, and before the collection of the taxes, the assessor is hereby authorized to make another assessment as heretofore provided.

SEC. 5674. Each assessor shall, at the time of taking the list of personal property, also take a list of all real property situate in his county that shall have become subject to taxation since the last previous listing of property therein, with the value thereof estimated agreeably to the requirements of this act, and of all new buildings and structures of any kind over one hundred dollars in value, the value of which shall not have been previously added to or included in the value of the land on which structures have been erected, and shall make return thereof to the clerk of the county court at the same time he is required to make his return of personal property to such clerk. He shall describe the tract or lot of real property on which each of such structures has been erected, the kind of structures and the value thereof, and in the case of destruction by fire, flood, or otherwise, of any building or structures over one hundred dollars in value, which shall have been erected previous to the last valuation of the land upon which the same shall have stood, or the value of which shall have been added to any former valuation of such land, the assessor shall determine, as near as practicable, the value of such structures, and make reduction thereof, and make return of the same to the clerk of the county court as in this section provided, and the assessor shall value all such lots of any town, or addition to any city or town, as may have been laid out in lots since the last appraisement, and make return at the time and in the manner hereinbefore indicated.

SEC. 5675. Each separate parcel of real property shall be valued at its true market value in money, excluding the value of crops growing thereon; but the price at which such real estate would sell at auction, or at a forced sale, shall not be taken as the criterion of such true value. Each tract of land belonging to this state, or to any county, city, town or charitable institution, whether incorporated or unincorporated, and saline, swamp, seminary, school or mineral lands held under a lease exceeding five years, and not exceeding ten years, shall be valued at such price as the assessor believes could be obtained at a private sale for such leasehold estate. Personal property of any description shall be valued at the usual selling price of similar property at the time of listing. If any such property shall have no well fixed or determined value in that locality at the time, then the same shall be appraised at such price as in the opinion of the assessor could be obtained therefor at such time and place (*). Investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, shall be valued at their value in money, and the quotations and selling price thereof may be considered in determining their values. Money, whether in possession or on deposit in this state, or out of it, subject to the order or control of such person listing, shall be entered in the statement at the full amount thereof. Every credit for a sum certain, payable either in money, property of any kind, labor or service, shall be assessed according to its true value. If for a specified number or quantity of any article or articles of property, or for a certain amount of labor, or for services of any kind, it shall be assessed according to its true value. Annuities or moneys receivable at a stated period shall be rated at the price which the same may be worth in money. Where the fee of the soil in any tract, parcel or lot of land is in any person or persons, natural or artificial, and the right to any mineral therein in another or others, the same shall be valued and listed agreeably to such ownership, in separate entries, and taxed to the parties owning the same, respectively.

When and How to Assess Real Estate.

SEC. 5676. Each assessor, on or before the first Monday in June, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-three, and every second year thereafter, shall make out and deliver to the clerk of the county court a return in tabular form, contained in a book to be furnished him by such clerk of the county court, of the amount, description and value of the real property subject to be listed for taxation in his county, and the amount and description of all lands belonging to the United States and to the State of Arkansas; also of all other lots, parcels or tracts of land exempt from taxation, which returns shall contain:

First. The names of the several persons, companies or corporations in whose names the several tracts of real property, other than property situate in incorporated cities and towns, in each congressional township within his county, shall have been listed, and in appropriate columns, opposite each name, the description of each tract by section, or the largest subdivision of which the same is capable, designating the number of the section and the part thereof, and the congressional township or survey, and the value of each tract determined by the assessor, lands belonging to the United States or to this state not to be valued.

Second. The names of the several persons, companies or corporations in whose names the several lots of real property in each town or city in his county shall have been listed, and in appropriate columns, opposite each name, the description of each lot and value as determined by the assessor, and such description shall designate the town or city, the number of lots and parts thereof; and, if part of a lot is listed, it shall state the number of feet along the principal street on which it abuts. If the name of the owner of any tract of land or lot shall be unknown, the word "unknown" shall be entered in the column of names opposite said tract or lot. In making such return, each separate tract of land in each congressional township shall be placed according to the numerical order of the section, and each town or city lot according to the numerical order of lots and blocks, which returns shall be as near the following form as practicable:

Names of Owners.	Part of Section.	Section.	Township.	Range.	No. of Acres.	Value.	No. of School District.	No. of Acres U. S. Land.	No. of Acres State Land.	No. of Acres otherwise exempt.	Value.

With the following affidavit:

I, _____, assessor, do solemnly swear that the foregoing is correct, and that I have appraised each tract or lot of land, except United States or state lands, at its true value in money, and not at what it would bring at auction or at a forced sale, so help me God.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this _____ day of _____, 18—. _____, Assessor.
 _____, Clerk.

SEC. 5677. It shall be the duty of each assessor to make out, from such sources of information as shall be in his power, a correct and pertinent description of each tract or lot of real property in his county, so that the same can be identified and distinguished from any other tracts or parts of tracts, and he shall place a value on each subdivision of a block and the improvements thereon in cities and towns, or additions thereto, notwithstanding the fact that one individual owns the whole block. And when he shall deem it necessary to obtain an accurate description of any separate tract or lot in his county, he may require the owner or occupier thereof to furnish the same, with any title papers he may have in his possession, and, if such owner or occupier, upon demand made for the same, shall neglect or refuse to furnish a satisfactory description of such parcel of real property to such assessor, he may employ the county surveyor to make out a description of the boundaries and location thereof, and a statement of the quantity of land therein, and the expense of such survey shall be returned by such assessor to the clerk of the county court, who shall add the expense of such survey to the tax assessed upon such real property, and it shall be collected by the collector of the county with such tax, and, when collected, shall be paid on demand to the person to whom the same is due; and the assessor shall, in all cases, from actual view, or from the best sources of information within his reach, determine as near as practicable the true value of each separate tract and lot of real property in his county, according to the rules prescribed by this act for valuing property, and he shall note in his plat-book, separately, the value of all houses, mills and other buildings, which shall be carried out as a part of the value of such tracts.

SEC. 5678. For the purpose of enabling the assessor to determine the value of buildings and other improvements, he is hereby authorized to enter, with the consent of the owner or occupants thereof, and fully to examine all buildings and structures of whatsoever kind which are not by law expressly exempt from taxation; otherwise he shall determine the value by such information as he can obtain.

SEC. 5679. The assessor, at the time of making the assessment of real property subject to taxation, shall enter in a separate list pertinent descriptions of all burying grounds, public school-houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, and institutions of purely public charity, and public buildings and property used exclusively for any public purpose, with the lot or tract of land on which said house or institution or public building is situated, and which are by law exempt from taxation, and the value thereof. If such property is held and used for other public purposes, he shall state by whom or how it is held.

SEC. 5680. If demanded, the assessor shall deliver to the owner of any personal property assessed for taxation a copy of such assessment, and any person listing real estate for assessment may present to the assessor a written description of the same, and the assessor, after having entered the same upon the assessment list, shall return the same to him, with a certificate verifying the same as the assessment list furnished by such person for the assessment of that year.

SEC. 5681. Whenever any person shall ascertain that an error has been made in the description of his lands, either by the assessor in listing the same.

or by the clerk in making out the tax-books, he may present such certified description to the clerk of the county court, who shall correct the error in accordance therewith, on the margin of the assessment list in his office, and certify such amendment to the collector of his county, who shall make a like amendment on the tax-book.

SEC. 5682. For the purposes of this act the terms town or city, and towns and cities, shall apply to all cities or towns, incorporated or not incorporated; also, to all blocks or lots, or parts thereof, assessed for taxation as such, whether the same are situated in an incorporated city or town or not.

SEC. 5683. Each assessor shall, at the time of taking a list of the personal property in his county, ascertain and set down in a table prepared for that purpose the number of acres of improved land and the number of acres of unimproved land in each farm in his county; the number of acres sown in wheat, then on the ground; the number of acres and number of bushels, each, of corn, wheat, peas, potatoes, oats and barley raised during the preceding year; the number of acres and number of tons of hay cut the preceding year; the number of acres and number of pounds of seed cotton grown the preceding year; the number of pounds of wool and number of sheep sheared the preceding year; the number of acres in apple trees, and the number of acres in peach trees, and the number of bushels of apples and peaches sold during the preceding year, and the number of bushels of small fruits, including plums, cherries and berries, and the number of pounds of grapes sold the preceding year, and the said tabulated statement shall be by said assessor made out by townships and in duplicate, and one copy forwarded to the secretary of state on or before the first day of July next thereafter, and the other filed with the county clerk of the proper county; said assessor shall officially certify to the correctness of such tabular statements, and shall be entitled to a fee of five cents for each farm enumerated.

SEC. 5684. The secretary of state shall cause an abstract of the information contained in such tabular statements to be printed in pamphlet form so soon after receiving the same from the assessor as practicable, showing in said abstract the number of acres of improved land and the number of acres of unimproved land in farms, the number of acres and the product of each crop per hundred acres of improved land for each county.

SEC. 5685. Any assessor willfully neglecting or refusing to comply with the requirements of section 5683, or any party refusing to give the necessary information, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, punished accordingly; and in case any assessor shall fail to make return of such tabular statements to the secretary of state by the first day of July in each year, it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to immediately notify the proper prosecuting attorney of such default of said assessor, and such prosecuting attorney is required to lay the same before the proper grand jury.

SEC. 5686. The secretary of state shall, as soon as practicable after the passage of this act, cause to be printed a sufficient number of copies of sections 5683, 5684 and 5685 to supply each assessor and each of his deputies with a copy thereof; also, prepare and cause to be printed a sufficient number of blanks suitable for carrying out the provisions of section 5683; and the secretary of state shall transmit such copies and blanks to the county clerks of the respective counties, who shall deliver the same to the assessors.

COUNTY BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

SEC. 5687. The board of equalization of each county shall be composed as follows: Three intelligent citizens, real estate owners and qualified electors of such county, to be appointed by the governor on or before the first day of April, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, and every two years thereafter; the said three citizens shall be selected from different portions of the county, and shall hold their office for two years. Said board shall meet in each county on the first Monday in June of each year, and organize by electing one of their number president. The clerk of the county court shall be clerk of said board. Each member of said board shall, before entering upon the discharge of his duties, take the oath of office prescribed in section twenty, article nineteen, of the constitution of Arkansas. Provided, that any party aggrieved by any action of the board of equalization may appeal therefrom to the county court.

SEC. 5688. Members of such boards of equalization shall receive the sum of three dollars per day for each day engaged in the discharge of their duties, as prescribed in this act. Provided, said board shall not be in session longer than two weeks in any one year.

Equalization of Personal Property.

SEC. 5689. There shall be in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-three, and annually thereafter, a session of the county board of equalization for the purpose of equalizing the assessment of personal property, moneys and credits in each county. Said session shall be held at the clerk's office in each county on the first Monday in June of each year. Said board, when in session, shall have power to hear complaint and to equalize by adding to or taking from the valuation of all personal property, moneys and credits within the county; and if during the time of collecting taxes upon the property so equalized any obvious errors be discovered in the assessment of any personal property, or if the board of equalization shall have valued any property excessively, the owner of such property so assessed or equalized may, by application to the county court, by proper showing, at any time before the collector closes his books, have the same adjusted. It shall be the duty of the assessor to attend on the meetings of said board and explain his assessment to said board when requested.

SEC. 5690. In the equalization of personal property the county board may add to or take from the valuation of the personal property, moneys or credits of any person returned by the assessor, or which may have been omitted by him, or add other items to it upon such evidence as is satisfactory, whether such return is made upon oath of such person or upon the valuation of the assessor. In the equalization of real property not previously entered for taxation on the tax-books as then listed, it shall raise the valuation of such tracts and lots of real property as in the opinion of the county board has been returned below their true value in money to such price or sum as it may find to be the true value thereof, agreeably to the rules prescribed by this act for the valuation of real property, or may reduce the valuation of such tracts or lots as in the opinion of the board have been returned above their true value, as compared with the average valuation of the real property of such county, having due regard to their relative situation, quality of soil, improvement and natural and artificial advantages possessed by each tract or lot. For the purpose of this equalization said board, or any member thereof, shall have free access to the county records of the county, and it is made their duty to carefully examine said records in making their investigations for the purpose of equalizing the said assessment.

SEC. 5691. The clerk of the county court shall keep an accurate journal or record of the proceedings of said board. In case a vacancy should occur in said board, the governor shall fill the same by appointment.

Real Estate.

SEC. 5692. The county board of equalization shall meet on the first Monday in June, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-three, and every second year thereafter, at the office of the clerk of the county court, and each member of said board shall take an oath to fearlessly, impartially and faithfully equalize the value of the property assessed.

SEC. 5693. The clerk shall lay before said board the returns of the real property made by the assessor, and said board shall immediately proceed to equalize the valuation of such real property, so that each tract or lot shall be entered upon the tax-books at its true value in money, and for this purpose shall observe the following rules:

First. It shall raise the valuation of such tracts and lots of real property as in the opinion of the board have been returned below their true value to such price or sum as may be deemed to be the true value thereof, agreeably to the requirements of this act in regard to the valuation of real property. Said board may actually enter upon and view property when they are not fully satisfied of its true value.

Second. It may reduce the valuation of such tracts or lots as in the opinion of the board have been returned above their true value, as compared with the average valuation of the real property of such county, having due regard to the relative situation, quality of soil, improvements and natural and artificial advantages.

Third. The clerk of the county court shall receive the sum of three dollars per day for each day said board remains in session.

DUTIES OF CLERKS OF COUNTY COURTS.

SEC. 5694. The clerk of the county court of each county shall, on or before the first Monday in February, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, and at the same time every second year thereafter, make out and deliver to the assessor of each county an abstract containing a description of each tract of land situate in his county, with the name of the owner, if known, and the number of acres or quantity of land contained therein, as the same shall appear from the books of his office, and he shall commence the same in the lowest number of township and range in his county, and in the north-east corner of each township, and shall proceed numerically with all the sections, townships and ranges in his county, first setting down all the subdivisions of each section as they belong to different individuals, or the whole section together, if owned by one person and not divided on account of parcels being of different value.

SEC. 5695. Lands of the United States or of the state, or lands otherwise exempt from taxation, shall be entered upon such abstract in the name of the owner. In case of real estate situate in any city or town, such clerk of the county shall proceed according to the plan or plat thereof, commencing with the lowest number of the block and lot or other subdivision, and proceed numerically with all the lots in a block, and all the blocks in a city or town, until completed, but no failure to observe any of these requirements shall be held to vitiate any assessment if the land be so described as to be identified.

SEC. 5696. To facilitate the assessment and collection of taxes, the county court of each county shall, if not already done, procure and keep a land book or books of maps of all the townships or fractional townships in the county, which book shall be well bound, and shall be deposited in the office of the clerk of the county court, and shall also procure a list of the lands owned by the United States and by this state in their respective counties. No allowance shall be made to the clerk of the county court for making such abstract, unless such abstract embraces every acre of land situate in his county as shown by the maps of the townships in his county, if there be such.

When to Abstract Real Property to the Auditor.

SEC. 5697. The clerks of the county courts shall, on or before the second Monday in August, eighteen hundred and eighty-three, and every second year thereafter, make out and transmit to the auditor of state an abstract of the real property in each township in his county, in which he shall set forth:

First. The number of acres exclusive of town or city lots returned by the assessor of his county, with such addition as may have been made thereto.

Second. The aggregate value of such real property, other than town or city lots, as returned by the assessor of his county, inclusive of such additions as shall have been made thereto.

Third. The number and value of all city and town lots. Ib., secs. 61–86.

Tax-Books and Extension of Taxes.

SEC. 5698. The clerk of the county court shall make out in books prepared for that purpose, in such manner as the auditor of state shall prescribe, a complete list or schedule of all the taxable property in his county, and the value thereof, as equalized, and arranged in the following form:

Each separate tract of real property in each congressional township in his county, other than town or city property, shall be contained in a line, or lines, opposite the names of owner or owners, arranged in numerical order.

Each separate lot or tract of real property in each city or town shall be set down in a line, or lines, opposite the names of the owner or owners, arranged in numerical order.

The aggregate value of personal property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, of each person, company or corporation, within each congressional township, shall be placed in a column opposite the name of the owner, person, company or corporation, in whose name the same is listed; the names of the persons in each school district who are not residents of any incorporated town, city or village shall be placed in alphabetical order in one list, and the names of the persons who are residents of any incorporated town, village or city shall be entered in another list in alphabetical order.

SEC. 5699. The clerk of the county court shall, after receiving statements of the rates and sums of money to be levied for the current year from the auditor of state, and from such other officers and authorities as shall be legally empowered to determine the rates or amount of taxes to be levied for the various purposes authorized by law, forthwith determine the sums to be levied upon each tract or lot of real property in his county, adding the taxes of any previous year or years that may have been omitted, and upon the amount of personal property, moneys and credits listed in his county in the name of each person, company or corporation, which shall be assessed equally on all real and personal property subject to such taxes.

SEC. 5700. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to add each tax-book delivered to the collector, making the separate columns of values when added together amount to the sum of the column of total values when added up; and at the end of the tax-book to recapitulate the additions of each page, so as to make the same prove itself to be correct, according to the form to be furnished by the auditor.

SEC. 5701. In all cases where any clerk of the county court, by inadvertence or mistake, shall have in any year omitted or shall hereafter omit to enter on the books of his county any lands or lots, or parts of lots, situate in his county subject to taxation, it shall be his duty to enter the same on the tax-books of the next succeeding year, and to add to the taxes of the current year the simple taxes of each and every preceding year in which such lands or lots shall have so escaped taxation.

SEC. 5702. When for any cause the taxes in any county, for any year, shall not be collected, the same shall be charged on the tax-books for the next year and collected by the same officers and in the same manner as the taxes of that year.

SEC. 5703. In all cases where practicable, and the land is owned by one person, or one or more persons jointly, description of lands, both on the tax-books and delinquent lists, shall be in tracts not less than one hundred and sixty acres.

SEC. 5704. The clerk of the county court shall mark opposite every tract, town or city lot that may have been heretofore forfeited to the state for the non-payment of taxes the word "forfeited," and on such tract, town or city lot there shall not be charged any taxes unless the commissioner of state lands shall officially advise such clerk of the county court that the same is or has become subject to taxation, and in that event the same taxes shall be charged and collected thereon as are or may be allowed by law. The several assessors in the several counties shall assess all the lands or lots, or parts thereof, that may appear on the plats or lists furnished them, and if any clerk of the county court shall have lost, or if the records of his office shall not contain, a list of the lands forfeited to the state within his county, he shall certify that fact to the commissioner of state lands, and said commissioner of state lands shall forthwith furnish said clerk with such list.

SEC. 5705. The clerk of the county court of each county shall, on or before the first Monday in November in each year, make out and deliver the tax-books of his county to the collector, with his (*) warrant thereunto attached, under his hand and the seal of his office, authorizing said collector to collect such taxes. The collector shall give duplicate receipts for the tax-books, in which the amount of the different taxes shall be separately stated, and the county clerk shall forward one of said receipts to the auditor of state.

SEC. 5706. The tax-books delivered to the collector shall be a public record, and at the expiration of his term of office they shall be delivered to and deposited in the office of the county clerk, there to be preserved as other records of the county.

SEC. 5707. The clerk of the county court shall make out and transmit to the auditor of state on or before the first Monday in September, annually, a statement of the aggregate value of the taxable property in his county, and of the total amount of taxes for all purposes assessed thereon for that year, and at the same time he shall make out and transmit to the auditor of state an abstract of the number and value of each of the enumerated articles, the value of merchandise and of manufacturing stock, and the value of other personal property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, and the value of all other personal property, as returned by the assessor, or as fixed by the county board of equalization. Such abstract shall be made out in such form as the auditor shall prescribe.

SEC. 5708. If any person required to list property for taxation shall have been prevented by sickness or absence from giving to the assessor the list of such property, as by this act prescribed, such person, or his agent having charge of such property, may, at any time before the making out of the tax-books by the clerk of the county court, make out and deliver to the assessor of the county a statement of the same, as required by this act, and the assessor shall in such case make an entry thereof in the returns of the proper city, town, ward or school district, and correct the item or items in said return made by him, as the case may require, but no such statement shall be received by the assessor from any person who shall have refused or neglected to make oath to his statement when required by the assessor under the provisions of this act, nor from any person unless he shall have first made and filed with the clerk of the county court an affidavit that the person required to list the same was absent from his county without design to avoid listing his property, or was prevented by sickness from giving to the assessor the required statement when called upon for that purpose.

(*) Collector's warrant may be in the following form :

THE STATE OF ARKANSAS,

To the collector of ——— county, Greeting :

You are hereby authorized and commanded to collect of the several persons named in the annexed tax-book of ——— county, for the year 18—, the per capita tax, and the tax on lands, personal property, money and credits wherewith each stands assessed ; and if, after the time allowed by law for the payment of such taxes, any shall remain unpaid, then you are commanded to levy and make such unpaid per capita tax, and tax on personal property, money and credits, with costs, out of the goods and chattels of the persons charged therewith, and the taxes unpaid on real property out of such real property, in the manner and within the time required by law.

And you are further commanded to account and pay to the proper officers the amounts by you collected, in the manner and within the time required by law.

In testimony whereof, I, ———, clerk of the circuit court and ex officio clerk of the county court of ——— county, have hereto set my hand and the seal of said court this, the ——— day of ———, 18—.

—————, Clerk.

See Sanders v. Simmons, 30—277.

SEC. 5709. The clerk of the county court shall, from time to time, correct any errors which he may discover in the names of the owners, in the description or quantity of any tract or lot contained in the list of real property in his county, but in no case shall he make any reduction in the valuation of any tract or lot of real property, except such as shall have been ordered by the county board of equalization in conformity with the provisions of this act.

AUDITOR'S DUTY.

SEC. 5710. The auditor of state shall, from time to time, prepare and transmit to the several clerks of the county courts such assessors' blanks, blank-books and instructions as shall by law be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act. The expense of procuring such assessors' blanks and blank-books as are required by the provisions of this act shall be paid out of the state treasury upon the warrant of the auditor.

SEC. 5711. The auditor shall, on or before the first Monday in July, annually, give notice to such clerks of the county courts of the rates per centum required by the general assembly to be levied for the payment of principal and interest of the public debt, for the support of common schools, for defraying the expenses of the state government, and for such other purposes as shall be prescribed by law, which rates or per centum shall be by the county clerks levied upon the taxable property contained in the tax-books of their respective counties.

LIEN FOR TAXES—WHEN ATTACHES.

SEC. 5712. Taxes assessed upon real or personal property shall bind the same and be entitled to preferences over all judgments, executions, incumbrances or liens whensoever created, and all taxes assessed shall be a lien upon and bind the property assessed from the first Monday in February of the year in which the assessment shall be made, and shall continue until such taxes, with any penalty that may accrue thereon, shall be paid. Provided, that as between grantor and grantee said lien shall not attach until the first Monday in July in each year ().

SEC. 5713. No property shall be exempt from sale or distress for taxes due thereon.

SEC. 5714. It shall not be necessary to the validity of an assessment or of a sale of land for taxes that it be assessed to its true owner, but the taxes shall be a charge upon the real and personal property taxed, and, when sold, shall vest the title in the purchaser without regard to who owned the land or other property when assessed or when sold, and the personal property of any deceased person shall be liable in the hands of any executor or administrator for any tax due on the same by any testator or intestate.

COLLECTOR.

SEC. 5715. The sheriff of each county shall be ex officio collector of all taxes of his county until otherwise provided (†), and, after giving bond, as hereinafter prescribed in this act, and upon receiving the tax-books of his county, he shall proceed to collect the same according to law.

() See Crowell v. Packard, 35—348.

(†) See Falconer v. Shores, 37—386.

SEC. 5716. Each collector may appoint one or more deputies to assist him in the collection of taxes, and shall take such bond and security from the person appointed as he deems necessary for his indemnity, and shall in all cases be liable for the proceedings and misconduct of his deputies.

SEC. 5717. Each sheriff, before entering upon his duties as collector of taxes, shall give bond and security (dd) to the state, which bond shall be in duplicate and approved by the county court (e), but any person may, when he deems the security on said bond insufficient, appeal to the circuit court of the proper county, if in session, if not, to the circuit judge, in vacation, from the order of the county court approving such bond, and if, upon such appeal, the court or judge finds the bond to be sufficient, such court or judge shall approve it; but if, upon said appeal, it is found to be insufficient, the court or judge shall order a new bond or additional security to be given, as may be deemed proper and right, and the same shall be subject to approval of said circuit judge or court.

SEC. 5718. Said collector's bond shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, and for well and truly accounting for and paying over all moneys collected by him by virtue of his office; and his term of office as collector shall not expire until his successor is qualified.

SEC. 5719. The bond of collector shall be approved as prescribed in this act, and shall be in double the amount of the aggregate taxes to be collected by such collector, one copy of which shall be forwarded by the clerk of the county court to the auditor of state, the other filed with the recorder of the county, to be by him recorded.

SEC. 5720. If the sheriff of any county should fail to give the collector's bond as herein provided before the first Monday in November of each year, the clerk of the county court shall immediately notify the governor, and some competent person, having the requisite qualifications, shall be appointed by the governor to perform the duties of collector, and the person so appointed shall in all things comply with the provisions of the law regulating and governing collectors, and, when so appointed, full faith and credit shall be given to all his acts as such (ee). Ib., secs. 87-105.

SEC. 5721. The person so appointed collector of revenue of such county shall qualify and give the bond required by law within ten days after he is notified of his appointment. If he should fail to give such bond, the governor shall appoint some other person.

SEC. 5722. The person so appointed and qualifying, and giving such bond, shall possess all the powers and be subject to the provisions of law in regard to the duties of the office of collector of revenue as apply to other cases. SEC. 5726. The governor may, by proclamation, extend the time "when the penalty shall attach for making distraint returning delinquent list, advertising and selling delinquent lands, making settlement and paying over the revenue, and for the performance of any other duty by the collectors," so that the tax-payer may have the same time to pay the taxes, and the collector have the same time to perform the duties of his office, as allowed by law in case such failure or vacancy had not occurred. The governor shall, in such proclamation, fix the time for the performance of the acts mentioned in this section; a copy thereof shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court, and recorded in the records of such court by the clerk. Such proclamation shall be published in some newspaper in such county for two weeks, if one be published therein, and all acts and duties performed in the time fixed in such proclamation shall be as valid and binding as if performed in the time fixed by the general law. Act Feb. 25, 1875, secs. 3-5.

paid over by such executor or administrator, and the third shall be given to the executor or administrator of the deceased collector.

SEC. 5729. SEC. 5730. In the receipts mentioned in section 5729, it shall be specified particularly on what account the moneys mentioned were received, whether from taxes or from other sources. Act March 31, 1883, secs. 107-110.

Received of Dollars

Taxes for the year 188.. upon the property herein described, as charged upon the tax-books.

Sheriff and Ex Officio Collector of Taxes for County, Arkansas.

SEC. 5738. The auditor of state shall prepare, and, by the first Monday in November in each year, furnish to the collectors of the respective counties a sufficient number of blank forms, contained in a well-bound book, for the record of tax receipts, to be issued by such collectors, and said blanks may be in the following form:

meanor, and, upon conviction, fined in any sum not more than five hundred dollars, and be removed from office.

SEC. 5744. The expense of printing and binding said book shall be paid for out of the state treasury.

SEC. 5745. The book of record of tax receipts by sections 5738, 5739, 5740, 5741 and 5742 required to be kept by the collectors of the respective counties of this state, whether filled up or not, shall, at the time of making his final settlement with the county clerk, as in this act prescribed, be delivered by the collector to the clerk of the county court, which shall be received and receipted for by such clerk, and by him preserved as a public record of his office, and said book shall become a public record of such county, and shall be evidence that the taxes have been paid by the respective persons upon the property and at the times as therein specified and entered.

Collection by Distraint.

SEC. 5746. At any time after the tenth day of February, in each year, after such tax may be due, the collector shall distraint sufficient goods and chattels belonging to the person charged with taxes levied upon personal property to pay the taxes due upon the personal property of said person, and a penalty of twenty-five per centum thereon (which penalty shall be collected by the collector and paid into the county school fund), and the cost that may accrue, and shall immediately proceed to advertise the same in three public places in the county, stating the time when, and the place where, such property will be sold. If the taxes for which such property is distrained, and costs which shall accrue thereon, are not paid before the day appointed for sale, which shall not be less than ten days after taking such property, the collector shall proceed to sell the same at public vendue, or so much thereof as will be sufficient to pay said taxes and the cost of such distress and sale. Provided, that he shall not distraint any goods and chattels for taxes levied on real property, except as provided in section 5587.

SEC. 5747. If the tax upon personal property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, of any person, association or corporation, shall remain unpaid after the tenth day of February in any year, and the collector shall be unable to find any personal property of such person, association or corporation whereon to levy to make the taxes then due, he shall present such account for taxes to any person who may be indebted to such person, association or corporation, and demand the payment thereof, and the person to whom the same shall be presented shall pay over to the collector the amount of such taxes, if so much he owe, and take the collector's receipt therefor, which shall be deemed and taken in all courts of this state a payment on his indebtedness to the full amount expressed on the collector's receipt. If such person should fail or refuse, on demand, to pay over the amount of such tax, if so much he owe, to the collector, said collector shall file a statement of the amount of such tax with the person so refusing, which shall operate as a garnishment upon the person so served, and the collector shall thereupon proceed to collect such taxes in the manner fixed by law in cases of garnishment. Provided, that no person shall be compelled to pay any debt before the same may be due, nor a greater amount than he may be owing such person, corporation or association. The cost of garnishment shall be paid by the party refusing to pay such taxes when so requested.

SEC. 5748. The collector shall be allowed the same fees for making distress and sale of goods and chattels for the payment of taxes which are now or may hereafter be allowed by law to sheriffs for making levy and sale of property on execution, traveling fees to be computed upon the actual distance necessarily traveled in each instance from point to point, without regard to the distance from the county seat, and the collector is hereby authorized and empowered to levy on and sell the goods and chattels of the person liable for taxes herein provided, in the same manner and under the same restrictions as goods and chattels are required to be levied and sold under execution on judgment at law, when not inconsistent with the provisions of this act. Provided, that no goods and chattels of any person shall be exempt from such levy and sale.

SEC. 5749. Said collector shall be allowed commission for collecting the revenue as follows: For the first ten thousand dollars collected, five per cent. in kind; for all sums over ten thousand dollars and under twenty thousand dollars collected, three per cent. in kind; for all sums over twenty thousand dollars collected, two per cent. in kind.

SEC. 5750. Whenever any collector shall have reason to believe that any person charged with taxes (other than those upon real estate) is about to remove from the county without paying his taxes, he may at any time levy and collect such taxes, with costs, by distress and sale.

Delinquent List of Personal Property, etc.

SEC. 5751. The collector shall, within seventy days after the tenth day of February, in each year, make out and furnish to the county clerk a report of all delinquent and insolvent tax-payers in his county, with the amount due from each, which report shall be verified by the written affidavits of the collector, to the effect that he has in person, or by his deputy, made a legal demand for taxes of all delinquent tax-payers found in his county, by going to their places of abode or business and searching for something to seize and sell for taxes; that the tax-payers mentioned in said report have failed to pay their taxes and have no effects known to him which can be made to pay the same, and that he has made diligent inquiry after such of said delinquents as have not been found, and that he has been unable to find them in his county, and that they have no effects known to him which can be made to pay their taxes. Separate lists of such delinquents shall be made for each school district and for each city or town.

SEC. 5752. The county court shall proceed to examine such report so made as aforesaid, and shall allow to the collector a credit for such of the taxes so reported insolvent or delinquent, as satisfactorily appears to said court to remain uncollected without default of the collector, and no more; and a list of such allowance shall be made out by the county clerk and certified and transmitted to the auditor of state within ten days after the same is approved by the county court or county judge, and the same shall be credited to the collector in his settlement with the auditor of state and with the county clerk.

SEC. 5753. In the event the county court shall not meet at the time of the filing of such report, or within ten days thereafter, the collector may present said report to the county judge, who shall proceed to examine the same and make such allowance as to him satisfactorily appears to remain uncollected without any default of the collector, and shall certify the same under his hand and seal, and such allowance shall be entered of record by the clerk, and the same proceedings shall be had thereon as if the same had been done by the county court.

SEC. 5754. Notwithstanding such allowance, the tax collector, if possible, shall collect the taxes of such insolvent and delinquent tax-payers; he shall retain a copy of the list reported by him for six months, and which shall be charged to him by the county clerk, and whenever he can find any personal property belonging to such person, he shall distrain and sell the same, on ten days' notice, to the highest bidder for cash, and shall pay over the same as other taxes collected, and the auditor of state, upon every settlement with the collector, shall require of him a report, under oath, whether he has collected taxes from any and of which of said delinquent tax-payers.

SEC. 5755. The county court, or county judge, shall not allow to the collector a credit for the insolvent and delinquent list he reports, unless the same is verified by the oath of the collector, as prescribed in section 5751, nor shall the same be allowed to the collector merely because he presents it duly sworn to. But the county court, or county judge, shall carefully examine each school district and incorporated city or town list, as reported, and shall scrutinize each name and amount reported insolvent, and avail himself of any information by witnesses to test the accuracy of said list, and shall not allow to the collector credit for the taxes of any delinquent who may be ascertained to have any personal property by a sale of which to make such taxes, and all of said lists for which the collector shall not be allowed as a credit shall stand as a charge against such collector.

SEC. 5756. Each collector, in making returns of the delinquent list of personal property to the clerk of the county court, shall note on the margin of said returns the county in this state to which any delinquent tax-payer may have removed or resides in, with the date of his removal, if he is able to ascertain such fact. The clerk of the county court shall immediately forward to the clerk of any county of this state to which any delinquent tax-payer has removed or resides in a certified statement or account of the taxes so assessed and not paid, which statement or account shall specify the value of the property on which such taxes were levied, and amount of the taxes levied thereon, with the penalty and cost, and such collector shall proceed to collect the same, in the same manner and with like authority as herein prescribed for collecting delinquent taxes upon personal property, and shall make return thereof to the collector of the proper county.

SEC. 5757. The collector may collect at any time all delinquent personal property tax in his county, or that may be sent from another county, by the sale of property or otherwise, and shall make returns of the amount so collected to the proper counties and officers.

SEC. 5758. The delinquent list, together with the fees allowed thereon to any collector, shall be delivered to his successor, and the same shall be returned to the clerk of the county court by the outgoing collector for that purpose, and so on until the whole shall be collected. Provided, that after said list has been returned two years, the county court shall have power to strike off all names of persons who, in the opinion of such court, own no property out of which the taxes due on said list can be made by sale or otherwise. Act March 31, 1883, secs. 115-126.

SEC. 5759. The collector shall, in the manner required by section 5751, make out and return a list stating the amount due from each delinquent officer required by law to pay to the collector the amount of revenue, penalties and other sums by such officer received (*). Rev. Stat., chap. 128, sec. 65.

Delinquent List of Real Estate.

SEC. 5760. The collector shall, by the first Monday in March in each year (†), file with the clerk of the county court a list or lists of all such taxes levied on real estate as such collector has been unable to collect, therein describing the land or town or city lots on which said delinquent taxes are charged as the same are described on the tax-book, and the collector shall attach thereto his affidavit to the correctness of such list. The clerk of the county court shall carefully scrutinize said list and compare the same with the tax-book and record of tax receipts hereinbefore provided for, and shall strike from said list any tract of land, town or city lot upon which the taxes shall have been paid, or which does not appear to have been entered upon the tax-book, or that shall appear from the tax-book to be exempt from taxation.

SEC. 5761. No taxes returned delinquent, as aforesaid, shall be paid into the state treasury, except by the collector. It shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court to add a penalty of twenty-five per centum upon all taxes so returned delinquent, which penalty shall be collected in the manner provided for the collection of delinquent taxes.

SEC. 5762. The clerks of the several counties of this state shall cause the list of the delinquent lands in their respective counties, as corrected by them, to be published weekly for two weeks (‡), between the first Monday in March and the second Monday in April in each year. Such list of delinquent lands shall be published in some newspaper of the county, if any be published therein; if not, in some newspaper published nearest to said county, having a circulation in such county.

SEC. 5763. There shall be attached to said list a notice that said delinquent lands will be sold by the county collector; said notice shall be in substance as follows ():

The clerk of the county court shall record said list and notice in a book to be by him kept for the purpose, and shall certify at the foot of said record, stating in what newspaper said list was published, and the date of publication, and for what length of time the same was published before the second Monday in April then next ensuing, and such record, so certified, shall be evidence of the facts in said list and certificate contained.

Sale of Delinquent Lands.

SEC. 5764. The collector shall attend at the court-house in his county on the second Monday in April next after the publication of the list, as hereinbefore prescribed (†), and shall then and there, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon, proceed to offer for sale each tract of land, city or town lot for the taxes, penalty and costs thereon, and the person offering at such sale the amount of taxes, penalty and costs due on the whole tract or lot for the smallest subdivision thereof shall be the purchaser thereof; and if no person shall offer or bid the amount of taxes, penalty and costs due on said tract, lot or part thereof, then the collector shall bid the same off in the name of the State of Arkansas, bidding therefor the amount of taxes, penalty and costs due thereon; and, where less than the whole of a tract of land or lot is sold, the part sold shall be laid off in a square in the north-east corner.

SEC. 5765. The collector shall continue said sale from day to day until each tract of land, city or town lot, or part thereof, shall be sold. He shall be allowed ten cents for each tract of land sold.

SEC. 5766. The person purchasing such tract, lot, or part thereof, shall forthwith pay the collector the amount of taxes, penalty and costs charged thereon, and, on failure so to do, the collector shall immediately offer said tract of land, town or city lot, or part thereof, again for sale, in the same manner as if no such sale had been made, and, in case there should be no bid when again offered, the collector shall bid the same off to the state, as prescribed in this act; upon such tract of land, town or city lot, or part thereof, the collector shall not consider the bid of the person who bid the same off in the first instance and failed to pay therefor.

SEC. 5767. When the collector shall bid the amount of taxes, penalty and costs for the state, as hereinbefore provided, the state shall not be required to pay the same to the collector.

SEC. 5768. The collector or his deputy, or the clerk of the county court or his deputy, shall, neither directly or indirectly, be concerned in the purchase of any tract of land, town or city lot sold for the payment of taxes (‡).

(†) See Vernon v. Nelson, 33—748.

(‡) See Hare v. Carnall, 39—196.

SEC. 5769. The clerk of the county court (*) shall attend all such sales of delinquent lands and lots, town or city lots, or parts thereof, made by the collector of the county, and shall make a record thereof in a substantial book, therein describing the several tracts of land, town or city lots, or parts thereof, as the same shall be described in the advertisement aforesaid, stating what part of each tract of land, town or city lot was sold, and the amount of taxes, penalty and costs due thereon, and to whom sold; and he shall record in a separate book, to be kept for that purpose, each tract of land, town or city lot sold, to the state, together with the taxes, penalty and cost due thereon. Immediately after such sale the clerk of the county court shall make out and certify to the auditor of state a copy of each of said sale lists as recorded in said book, together with an abstract thereof showing the total valuation of the property contained in each, and the total amount of the taxes, penalty and costs thereon in each.

SEC. 5770. The collector shall make out and deliver to the purchaser of any land or town or city lots, or parts thereof, sold for delinquent taxes as aforesaid, a certificate of purchase, for which the purchaser shall pay the collector twenty-five cents, therein describing the lands or lots as the same were described in the notice of sale, stating therein what part of such tract of land, town or city lot was sold, and the amount of taxes, penalty and costs paid therefor. Such certificate shall be assignable in law, and an assignment thereof shall vest in the assignee or his legal representative all the right, title and estate of the original purchaser (ggg).

SEC. 5771. The clerk of the county court shall, immediately after the sale, transfer upon the tax-books all lands sold for taxes to the name of the purchaser, charging him therefor the sum of ten cents for each tract, which shall be charged and paid as part of the cost of the sale.

REDEMPTION OF LANDS SOLD FOR TAXES.

SEC. 5772. All lands, town or city lots, or parts thereof, which may hereafter be sold for taxes at delinquent sale, under the laws of this state, may be redeemed at any time within two years from and after the sale thereof (†); and all lands, city or town lots belonging to insane persons, minors or persons in confinement, and which have been, or may hereafter be, sold for taxes, may be redeemed within two years from and after the expiration of such disability (‡).

SEC. 5773. Where any tract or portion of land, town or city lot, or any part thereof, shall be sold for taxes and afterward redeemed, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court to insert a minute of such redemption on the record of lands sold for taxes, the date thereof, and by whom made, and sign the same officially.

SEC. 5774. All applications for the redemption of lands or town or city lots sold to the state or to individuals for taxes shall be made to the clerk of the county court of the county in which the land or town or city lot was sold.

SEC. 5775. Any owner, or his agent, or any other person, for the owner (h), desiring to redeem any land, town or city lot, or part thereof, sold for taxes under or by virtue of any law of this state, may, within the time limited by law for such redemption, deposit with the county treasurer, upon the certificate of the clerk of the county court particularly describing such land or town or city lot, an amount of money equal to the taxes for which said land or town or city lot was sold, together with penalty, cost and the taxes subsequently paid thereon by such purchaser, or those claiming under him, with interest at the rate of ten per cent. per annum on the whole amount so paid.

SEC. 5776. Upon the presentation of such certificate of the clerk of the county court to the county treasurer, and upon the payment of the money to the treasurer as aforesaid, he shall give the person making such payment duplicate receipts therefor, describing the land, town or city lot, or part thereof, as the same is described in or upon the certificate of the clerk of the county court aforesaid, one of which receipts shall be registered by the treasurer and immediately filed with the clerk of the county court by the person receiving the same, and thereupon the clerk of the county court shall forthwith cancel the sale and transfer of such land, city or town lot, and such receipt when so filed shall operate as an extinguishment of all rights, either in law or equity, conferred in any way or manner by such sale.

SEC. 5777. In all cases where such deposit shall be made within two years from the time of the sale of such lands, town or city lots, or any part thereof, for delinquent taxes, the clerk of the county court shall, at the request of the person presenting the receipt of the county treasurer for such deposit, note such fact on the back of said certificate, and sign his name thereto. When any tract, town or city lot, or any portion thereof, is thus redeemed, or any deposit with the county treasurer is thus made, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the county court to note such redemption or deposit, the date thereof, and by whom made, on his record of tax sales, and sign his name officially thereto.

SEC. 5778. When any joint tenants, tenants in common, or coparceners, shall be entitled to redeem any land or lot, or part thereof, sold for taxes, and any person so entitled shall refuse or neglect to join in the application for the certificate of redemption, or from any cause can not be joined in such application, the clerk of the county court may entertain the application of any one of such persons, or as many as shall join therein, and may make a certificate for the redemption of such portion of said land or lot, or part thereof, as the person making such application shall be entitled to redeem.

SEC. 5779. It shall be the duty of the clerks of all courts of record, at each term thereof, to settle with the sheriff of each county for all moneys by him received, or which he ought to have collected, for the use of the county, and which have not been accounted for, and they shall make out two separate lists of all sums chargeable to any sheriff and payable to any county, specifying on what account, and certify the same under the seal of the court.

SEC. 5831. One of the lists so certified shall be immediately transmitted to the clerk of the county court to which said sums are payable, who shall immediately charge the same accordingly, and the other shall be transmitted to the treasurer of the said county.

SETTLEMENT OF THE COLLECTORS AND OTHER OFFICERS WITH THE COUNTY COURT.

SEC. 5832. The county court shall at each regular term cause the collector to settle his accounts of all blank licenses with which he shall stand charged; and, after giving him credit for all licenses returned, shall ascertain the amount due from him on that account, and shall cause the same to be entered of record, so as to show the amount due the county.

SEC. 5833. In like manner and time the sheriff or collector shall be required to settle his accounts of all moneys received by him on account of taxes, fines, penalties and judgments, and the same shall be entered of record, so as to show what is due the state and county, respectively, from what officer received, from what branch of revenue, and the particular fund, if any, to which the same belongs. If any collector shall fail to make settlement with the county court at the time aforesaid, he shall be attached until he makes such settlement. Immediately after such settlement with the county court the clerk of the county court shall certify to the auditor of state the amount due the state, and the collector shall within fifteen days thereafter pay the same into the state treasury, and in ten days thereafter pay over to the county treasurer all sums due the county.

SEC. 5834. The sheriff shall collect and account for all taxes due upon convictions, and all fines, forfeitures and other sums of money, by whatever name designated, owing to the state or any county by virtue of any order, judgment or decree of a court of record (n).

SEC. 5835. Whenever the sheriff or collector shall receive the amount due from any officer by voluntary payment, or by the sale of goods and chattels, he shall give the officer duplicate receipts for the same, stating therein the whole amount received, how much for the state and how much for the county, and the particular fund to which it belongs, and the officers taking such receipts shall, without delay, deposit one of them with the clerk of the county court.

SEC. 5836. The clerk of the county court shall charge the sheriff or collector and county treasurer with all moneys that may come into their hands by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, and the money received for penalty and costs of advertising shall be first applied by the sheriff or collector to the cost of advertising the delinquent lands, and the surplus, if any, paid into the county treasury at the time of his annual settlement. Should there not be sufficient penalty and cost of advertising to pay the cost of advertising the delinquent lands, the balance shall be paid out of the county treasury.

SEC. 5837. Every collector of the county revenue having made settlement according to law of the county revenue received and collected by him shall pay the amount found due from him into the county treasury, and the treasurer shall give duplicate receipts therefor, one of which shall be filed by the collector in the office of the clerk of the county court.

amount due from him on settlement, in the time and manner prescribed in the preceding section, shall forfeit and pay to the county the sum of five per centum per month on the sum wrongfully withheld, to be computed from the time the payment ought to have been made until actual payment, which may be recovered by suit on his official bond (nn.)

SEC. 5839. All collectors, sheriffs, clerks, constables and other persons chargeable with moneys belonging to any county shall render their accounts to and settle with the county court at each regular session thereof, and pay into the county treasury any balance which may be due the county, and take duplicate receipts therefor, and deposit one of them in the office of the clerk of the county court within five days thereafter (o).

SEC. 5840. Whenever the court shall make such settlement with any officer the substance thereof shall be entered of record, so as to show separately the whole amount received by such officer, the amount of commission allowed him, how much remains due to the state and how much to the county, and on what account each sum of money was received, and to what particular fund, if any, it belongs.

SEC. 5841. All officers who shall have made settlements with the courts as aforesaid shall forthwith pay to the treasurer the full amount with which they shall stand charged on such settlement, and, in default thereof, the sheriff or collector shall enforce the payment in the manner and by the means prescribed in this act for enforcing the collection of taxes.

SEC. 5842. Every officer required to make settlement who shall fail to settle his accounts in the time and manner prescribed by law may be attached and imprisoned until such settlement shall be made to the satisfaction of the court to which he is accountable.

SEC. 5843. Every such officer who shall fail to pay the amount due from him on such settlement, and who shall be returned by the collector or treasurer to the county court as a delinquent, so that the collector or treasurer shall be credited in their accounts with the amount of such delinquency, shall forfeit five per cent. per month on the amount due from the time it ought to have been paid until collected, which may be collected by suit on his official bond.

SEC. 5844. If any person thus chargeable shall neglect to render true accounts, or settle as aforesaid, the county court shall adjust the accounts of such delinquent according to the best information that can be obtained, and ascertain the balance due the county (oo).

SEC. 5845. In such case the court may refuse to allow any commission to such delinquent, and he shall moreover, without delay, pay into the county treasury the balance found due as aforesaid.

SEC. 5846. If such delinquent shall not pay the amount thus found due the county, and produce the treasurer's receipt therefor, within ten days after (nn) See Jones v. State, 14—170.

(o) See SEC. 558.

(oo) It is not necessary that the delinquent officer shall have notice that a settlement of his accounts will be made by the court under this section, because at that term no judgment can be rendered, the proceedings being preliminary.

Unless the delinquent appear at the next term, and show cause for setting aside the settlement as required by section 5847, the court may render judgment against him, but he must have notice to appear. But he may waive notice by appearing and moving to set aside the settlement. Price v. Crittenden Co., 7—162.

If he be dead, notice should be given to his administrator. Goree v. State, 22—236, and see Carnall v. Crawford Co., 11—604.

the balance is ascertained, the clerk shall charge such delinquent, as a penalty for such failure, twenty-five per centum on the amount then due.

SEC. 5847. Unless such delinquent shall appear upon the first day of the next succeeding session of the court, and show good cause for setting aside such settlement, the court shall enter judgment for the amount due, with the penalty added thereon, and fifty per centum per annum until the same shall be paid, and may issue execution thereon (p).

SEC. 5848. If good cause be shown for setting aside such settlement, the court may re-examine, settle and adjust the same according to law, and may remit any penalty that may have been imposed.

SEC. 5849. The amount or balance of every account so settled and due to the county shall be a lien from the date of the settlement of such account on the real estate and personal property of the delinquent situated in the county wherein each delinquent lives.

SEC. 5850. When any balance shall be found against any clerk, sheriff, collector, coroner, constable or other officer, for moneys accruing to the county treasury, and the same shall not be paid within the time prescribed by law, it shall be lawful for the county court, fifteen days' notice being given to such delinquents and their securities, to render judgment against delinquents and their securities for the amount of all moneys ascertained to be due the county, and issue execution therefor.

SEC. 5851. Whenever any error shall be discovered in the settlement of any county officer made with the county court, it shall be the duty of the court, at any time within two years from the date of such settlement, to reconsider and adjust the same (pp).

SEC. 5852. Before any such settlement shall be re-examined, it shall be the duty of the court to give such officer ten days' notice of the time and place where such settlement will be adjusted.

PENALTIES.

SEC. 5853. If any county treasurer, collector or sheriff loans any money belonging to the state or county, with or without interest, or uses the same for his own purposes, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offense a sum not to exceed one thousand dollars nor less than five hundred dollars, to be recovered in civil action at the suit of the state, for the use of the state, county, city, town or body politic (q).

SEC. 5854. Every clerk of the county court, assessor or collector who shall, in any case, refuse or knowingly neglect to perform any duty enjoined on him by this act, or who shall consent to or connive at any evasion of its provisions whereby any proceedings herein required shall be prevented or hindered, or

(p) The county court is the forum where the liability of the collector of the county revenue is to be ascertained and evidenced by its records, and an adjudication in that forum is conclusive evidence against the securities as well as the collector. Jones v. State, 14—170. It is the province of the county court to adjust and settle the accounts of the collector, and they can not be settled in the circuit court in an action on the collector's bond. Goree v. State, 22—236, and see State v. Craft, 21—551.

The county court may render judgment against a delinquent collector, or his securities, for the county revenue which he has collected and failed to pay over. Christian v. Ashley Co., 21—142.

(q) For other penalties for neglect or violation of official duty on the part of officers charged with the collection, safe-keeping and disbursement of the revenue, see SECS. 5872, 1643, 1781, 1782, 1785, 1789.

where any property required to be listed for taxation or for the collection of taxes thereon, or the valuation thereof, be entered on the tax-books or list at less than the true value, shall, for every such neglect, refusal, connivance or consent, forfeit and pay to the state not less than one hundred nor more than five thousand dollars, at the discretion of the court, to be recovered by an action in the name of the state before the circuit court of the proper county.

OFFICIAL DISTRIBUTION OF TAXES.

SEC. 5855. All taxes collected and arising under the provisions of any law of this state from taxation shall be distributed by the auditor of state, if in possession of state authority, or, if in possession of county authority, by the clerk of the county court, to the several funds to which they belong.

SEC. 5856. The auditor of state is hereby denied authority to draw any warrant on the treasurer to be paid out of the general revenue of the state for the support of common schools, and any act or part of act appropriating any of the general revenue of the state for common schools is repealed.

REFUNDING TAXES ERRONEOUSLY ASSESSED AND PAID.

SEC. 5857. In case any person has paid or may hereafter pay taxes on any property, real or personal, erroneously assessed, upon satisfactory proof being adduced to the county court of the fact, the said court shall make an order refunding to such person the amount of the county tax so erroneously assessed and paid, and, upon production of a certified copy of such order to the auditor, he shall draw his warrant on the state treasurer for the amount of state tax erroneously assessed and paid. Such warrant shall be paid out of the appropriation to pay moneys arising from the erroneous assessment and collection of taxes. But in case there shall be no appropriation, or the appropriation shall have been exhausted, then the auditor shall issue a certificate of indebtedness therefor.

SEC. 5858. If the taxes charged on any land or lot, or part thereof, be regularly paid, and such land erroneously returned delinquent and sold for taxes, the sale thereof shall be void, and the money paid by the purchaser at such void sale shall be refunded to him by the officer having the same in charge, on the order of the county court that such land was erroneously returned delinquent and sold for taxes.

SUITS AGAINST COLLECTORS AND OTHERS—COSTS, ETC.

SEC. 5859. Whenever an action has been or may hereafter be brought against any person holding the office of county collector, county assessor or clerk of the county court for performing or attempting to perform any duty or thing authorized by any of the provisions of this act, or the laws of this state, for the collection of the public revenues, such collector, assessor or clerk shall be allowed and paid out of the county treasury reasonable fees of counsel and other expenses for defending such action or suit, and the amount of any damages or costs adjudged against him, which said fees, expenses, damages and costs shall be apportioned ratably by the clerk of the county court among all the parties entitled to share the taxes so collected, and by the said clerk shall be deducted from the shares or portions of revenue at any time payable to each, including as one of said parties the state itself, as well as the counties, townships, towns or cities and other corporations or other organizations entitled thereto as aforesaid.

FINES, PENALTIES AND FORFEITURES GO TO THE COUNTIES—COLLECTION OF.

SEC. 5860. All fines, penalties and forfeitures imposed by any court or board of officers whatsoever shall be paid into the county treasury for county purposes. Provided, that all fines and penalties of city courts and courts of incorporated towns, for violating city or town ordinances not defined as offenses against the state, may be retained by the city and town for the maintenance of the courts of such city or town.

SEC. 5861. All justices of the peace are prohibited from collecting fines, penalties and forfeitures, but that duty shall devolve upon sheriffs and constables exclusively (qq).

SEC. 5862. Justices of the peace, city judges, police judges, recorders and all other municipal, township or county officers shall, semi-annually, on or before the first day of the circuit court, at each term thereof, file in the office of the clerk of the circuit court of their respective counties, an official transcript of all fines, penalties and forfeitures adjudged by them against defendants in the courts, giving the style of the case, the full name of the parties and the amount of the judgment, if any, in each case, and the name of the officer collecting the same.

SEC. 5863. All constables, city marshals or other collecting officers of any city, township or other public corporations shall, quarterly, on the first Monday in July, October, January and April, turn over to the county treasurer of their respective counties all fines, penalties and forfeitures, less the commission due such officers, which shall be three per cent. for constables on the amount collected by them, taking duplicate receipts therefor, one of which shall be immediately filed with the clerk of the county court of their respective counties. Provided, that this shall not require the city marshal to turn over such moneys as may be collected for violation of city or town ordinances.

SEC. 5864. On or before the first Monday of July, October, January and April of each year, the clerks of the county courts shall audit the accounts of constables and other collecting officers referred to in the preceding section; to this end the said clerks of the county courts shall open a separate account with each of the said officers in a book to be kept by said clerks for that purpose. They shall charge said collecting officer with the amount of fines, penalties and forfeitures adjudged against defendants in justices, city, police or other courts in the county, excepting only circuit courts, as shown by the transcript of said judicial officers on file in the offices of the clerks of the county courts.

SEC. 5865. Said constables and other collecting officers shall not be credited with any deficits as to fines and penalties, unless they shall be able to show the death of the party against whom the fine or penalty was adjudged, or that imprisonment in default of the payment of fine has been complied with in accordance with the provisions of the criminal law. The constables and other collecting officers shall not be credited with any deficit on forfeited bail bonds or recognizances unless the return of the officer serving the execution in said case shall show that the defendant had no property subject to execution, and in such case a certified copy of such return shall be filed with the clerk of the county court by the officer charged with said collection.

SEC. 5866. The clerk of the county court shall, at the commencement of each session of the circuit court of his county, furnish the prosecuting attorney with a written statement of all deficits of constables and other collecting officers on account of fines, penalties and forfeitures. It shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney to bring suit against said constables and collecting officers and their securities for the deficiency due, and also to prosecute said officers by indictment for malfeasance in office.

SEC. 5867. At the close of the term of each circuit court the clerk of said court shall furnish to the clerk of the county court an official abstract of all fines, penalties and forfeitures adjudged against defendants during said term of the circuit court or courts, giving in said abstract the style of each case, the full name of the parties and amount of each fine, penalty and forfeiture separately.

SEC. 5868. The sheriffs of counties, and they only, are authorized to collect fines, penalties and forfeitures adjudged against defendants in circuit courts of the state, and said sheriffs shall, at the time of their quarterly settlements with the county court, turn over to the county treasurer all moneys received by them (r).

SEC. 5869. The clerk of the county court shall further charge the county treasurer with all fines, penalties and forfeitures turned over by constables and other collecting officers in pursuance of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5870. The clerk of the county court shall further charge the sheriff with all fines, penalties and forfeitures adjudged in the circuit courts. The sheriff shall not be credited with any deficit on fines or penalties imposed in the circuit court unless he shall be able to show the death of the party against whom the fine or penalty was adjudged, or imprisonment in default of fine, as provided by law in such cases.

SEC. 5871. The sheriff shall not be credited with any deficit or forfeited bail bond or on recognizances, unless the return of the officer charged with the execution of said judgment shall show that the defendant had no property subject to execution, in which case a certified copy of such return shall be filed with the clerk of the county court by the sheriff.

SEC. 5872. A violation of any provision, or failure to comply with any of the requirements of this act, by any of the officers herein enumerated, shall be malfeasance in office, and, upon conviction thereof, said officer shall pay a fine of not more than five hundred dollars and be removed from office.

SEC. 5873. If the settlement of the county collector or sheriff with the clerk of any county court shows any other deficit than that authorized by the provisions of this act, it shall be the duty of the county court to immediately notify the prosecuting attorney for the county in which said collector or sheriff resides of that fact, upon which notice it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney to immediately bring suit against said county collector or sheriff and his securities for the amount of such deficiency, and also to prosecute said county collector or sheriff by indictment for malfeasance in office. Ib., secs. 179-225.

PROCEEDINGS TO PROTECT THE PUBLIC REVENUES.

SEC. 5874. Any sheriff, collector of revenues or constable, or other officer collecting moneys belonging to the State of Arkansas, or to any county therein, who shall fraudulently state his account for settlement, and thereby deprive the State of Arkansas, or any county therein, of its just revenues; or any county clerk who shall keep fraudulent accounts against the collector or against the county treasurer, or shall make fraudulent and false additions of the tax-books, thereby concealing the true value of the same; or any county treasurer who shall keep fraudulent accounts of the county revenues coming to his hands, and by any of said fraudulent acts the State of Arkansas, or any county therein, shall be deprived of its just revenues, the officer so offending, upon conviction, shall be removed from office.

SEC. 5875. Any county judge who shall willfully approve any false and fraudulent account made by the sheriff, collector, county clerk, treasurer or other officer collecting or holding revenues belonging to the State of Arkansas, or to any county therein, or receive a bribe for doing an unlawful act, upon conviction, shall be removed from office.

SEC. 5876. If any tax-payer in any county in this state shall have knowledge of such corruption in office, whereby the State of Arkansas, or any county therein, has been deprived of its just revenues, he shall have the right, in his own name, as a tax-payer to institute legal proceedings against such officer by a petition to the circuit judge sitting in chancery, setting forth the facts and nature of such corrupt acts, together with exhibits and proofs, and the same shall be verified by affidavit of the petitioner, and, upon ten days' notice to the defendant, the cause shall proceed as other causes, but shall be heard, tried and determined at the first court after the same shall have been filed, provided the required notice shall have been given.

SEC. 5877. The proceedings authorized by this act shall be summary; but if it shall appear to the court that the ends of justice require it, a continuance may be granted to either party to the next term of the court, but not thereafter; and the party to whom the continuance is granted shall be required to enter into additional bond, the amount to be fixed and the security to be approved by the court.

SEC. 5878. Upon such trial, if it shall appear that the official acts of such officer are corrupt and fraudulent, and by such acts and doings he shall have defrauded the State of Arkansas, or any county therein, of its just revenues, a decree shall be entered against him, ousting him of his said office, and declaring the same to be vacant, and for all moneys which he may have unlawfully detained; but if upon the hearing of the said cause it shall appear that the defendant is not guilty, and has not committed the fraudulent acts complained of, and that the state and the county have not been deprived of their revenues as complained of by the petitioner, a decree shall be entered according to the facts, and also a decree shall be entered against the petitioner and his securities for any sums of money which the defendant may have actually lost by reason of said proceeding.

SEC. 5879. Before any such cause shall be heard, the petitioner shall enter into bond to the defendant, with security, to be approved by the circuit judge, in a sufficient sum to pay any damage that the defendant might sustain by said proceedings.

SEC. 5880. Nothing in this act contained shall preclude the State of Arkansas from prosecuting said county officers, or others, for the acts complained of under any of the criminal laws of this state. Act March 18, 1879.

LAYING OUT AND VACATING.

SEC. 5927. In case the prayer of said petitioners shall not be granted, or when the proceedings had in pursuance thereof shall not be finally confirmed and established, and, on neglect or refusal of the persons so bound, after a liability shall have accrued, to pay into the treasury, according to the tenor of the bond, all costs and expenses that shall have accrued, the clerk of the county court shall deliver such bond to the prosecuting attorney of the district, whose duty it shall be to collect and pay over the same to the county treasury; and, in all cases of contest, the court having jurisdiction of the case shall have power to render judgment for costs, according to justice, between the parties.

SEC. 5928. All petitions for laying out, altering or vacating any county road shall specify the place of beginning, the intermediate points, if any, and the place of termination of said road.

SEC. 5929. Previous to any petition being presented for a county road, or for the alteration or vacation of a county road, notice thereof shall be given by publication in some newspaper published in the county, if one there be; and, if there be no newspaper published in the county, then by advertisements set up in three public places in each township through or into which any part of said road is designed to be laid out, altered or vacated, stating the time when such petition is to be presented, and the substance thereof; which notice shall be duly authenticated and presented with the petition to the county court.

VIEWERS.

SEC. 5930. On presentation of the petition and proof of notice of publication as aforesaid, and the county court being satisfied that proper notice has been given in accordance with the provisions of this act, said court shall appoint three disinterested citizens of the county as viewers, who shall also be a jury to assess and determine the compensation to be paid in money for the property sought to be appropriated, without deduction for benefits to any property of the owners; and they shall also assess and determine what damages each owner of the lands over which the road is to run shall suffer by the opening and constructing of said road (m).

SEC. 5931. Said viewers may call to their assistance a surveyor to assist them in laying out and surveying or altering any road they may be ordered by the county court to view, survey and lay out or alter.

SEC. 5932. The county court shall issue its order directing said viewers to proceed, on a day to be named in said order, or, on their failing to meet on said day, within five days thereafter, to view, survey and lay out or alter said road, and also determine whether the public convenience requires that such road, or any part thereof, shall be established. They shall also report what width said road should be to promote public convenience. Provided, that the county courts shall have power to determine what shall be the width of each road in their respective counties.

SEC. 5933. It shall be the duty of one of the petitioners to give at least five days' notice in writing to the owner or owners, or their agents, if residing within the county, or, if such owner be a minor, idiot or insane person, then to the guardian of such person, if a resident of said county, through whose land said road is proposed to be laid out and established; and also five days' notice to the viewers named in the order of the county court of the time and place of meeting as specified in said order; and it is hereby further made the duty of the principal petitioner, if said road is proposed to be laid out on or through any land owned by non-residents of the county, to cause notice to such non-residents of the county to be published for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county; and, if there be no newspaper published in the county, then notice shall be given to such non-resident by posting a notice of the time and place of meeting of the viewers as specified in the order of the county court, and also the substance of said petition for said road, upon the door of the office of the clerk of the county court for at least two weeks before the time fixed for the meeting of said viewers.

SEC. 5934. It shall be the duty of the viewers to meet at the time and place specified in said order, or within five days thereafter, and, after taking an oath or affirmation faithfully and impartially to discharge the duties of their appointments respectively, they shall take to their assistance two suitable persons as chain-carriers and one as marker, and proceed to view, survey and lay out or alter said road as prayed for in the petition, or as near the same as, in their opinion, a good road can be made at reasonable expense, taking into consideration the ground, convenience and inconvenience and expense which will result to individuals as well as to the public if such road shall be established, or any part thereof, or altered as prayed for.

SEC. 5935. Said viewers shall assess and determine the damages sustained by any person through whose premises the said road is proposed to be established, mentioning the damages to each tract separately.

SEC. 5936. Said viewers shall make and sign a report in writing, stating their opinion in favor of or against the establishment, alteration or vacation of such road, or any part thereof, and which shall set forth the reason for the same; it shall state the commencement and termination, courses and distances of said road, so that the said road can be readily found and located; and the said report shall state the value of the property sought to be appropriated for the establishment of said road and the amount of damages, if any, and to whom, which by them have been assessed, and which would accrue by the establishing and opening of said road.

SEC. 5937. The county court, on receiving the reports of the viewers aforesaid, shall cause the same to be read publicly on the second day of the term, and if no legal objections shall be made to said reports, and the court is satisfied that such road, or any part thereof, will be of sufficient importance to the public to cause the damages and the compensation which have been assessed as aforesaid to be paid by the county, and that the amount so assessed is reasonable and just, and the report of the viewers being favorable thereto, the court shall order the same to be paid to the person or persons entitled thereto from the county treasury (n), and thenceforth the same shall be considered a public road; but, if the court shall be of the opinion that the road is not of sufficient public utility for the county to pay the compensation and damages assessed as aforesaid, and the petitioners refuse to pay the compensation and damages, then such road shall not be declared a public highway or road, and the costs accruing by reason of the application shall be paid by the petitioners, as herein provided. If the report of the viewers be against such proposed road or alteration, or if, in the opinion of the court, the same is not of public utility, then no further proceedings shall be had thereon, and the obligor or obligors in the bond securing costs and expenses shall be liable for the full amount of such costs and expenses.

SEC. 5938. After any such road has been established and declared a public highway, the county court shall cause an order to be issued to the overseer or overseers of the proper road district or districts directing said road to be opened.

REVIEW.

SEC. 5939. After the viewers of any county road shall have made return in favor of the same, and before said road shall have been established, any citizen of the county whose lands are affected by said road may apply to the county court by petition for a review of said road, and the court, on being satisfied from the petition that a review should be granted, shall appoint three disinterested freeholders of the county to review said road, and issue their order to said reviewers directing them to meet at a time and place therein specified, or within five days thereafter, and, after taking the oath required of viewers, shall proceed to examine the route surveyed for said road by the former viewers, and make a report in writing to the court, stating their opinion in favor or against the establishment of said road, or any part thereof, and their reasons therefor. The petitioner for review shall cause at least five days' notice to be given to the principal petitioner for said road of the time and place of meeting of said reviewers. If a review be granted, then no further proceedings shall be had until the reviewers shall have reported their action to the county court. If the report of the reviewers be in favor of said road, the same shall be established, recorded and opened, and the person bound for the same shall pay into the county treasury the amount of the costs of such review; but if the report be against the establishment of said road, no further proceedings shall be had thereon before the court, and the persons executing the first bond shall pay into the county treasury the costs and expenses of the views, survey and review of said road.

SEC. 5940. An appeal from the final decision of the county court for a new county road, or for vacating, altering or reviewing any county road, shall be allowed to the circuit court. Provided, that notice of such appeal be given by the appellant during the same term of the county court at which said decision was made; and the appellant shall, within ten days thereafter, enter into bond, with good and sufficient security, to be approved by the clerk of the county court, for the payment of all costs and expenses arising from such appeal. Minors, idiots and lunatics, by their guardians, may appeal without giving bond. The circuit court may order another view or review of such road, or make such other orders as the justice of the case demands. The county court, after notice of appeal has been given, shall not issue any order in the premises until after ten days shall have expired from the time of making the decision appealed from; if the appeal shall not have been perfected agreeably to the provisions of this act, the clerk shall issue the order for the opening of the road. The decisions of the circuit court on petitions for roads taken into said court by appeal shall be recorded in the record of said county court appealed from.

CHANGE OF ROAD.

SEC. 5941. If any person through whose lands a public road is established shall be desirous of turning said road through any other part of his land, such person shall, by notice and petition, and conforming in all things in relation thereto to the provisions of this chapter, apply to the county court to permit him to turn said road through any other part of his land, on as good ground and without increasing the distance to the injury of the public; and, upon presentation of such petition, and being satisfied that said petitioner has complied with the provisions of this act in all things, the court shall appoint three disinterested citizens of the county as viewers of said road, who may, if they deem necessary, take to their assistance a competent surveyor, and proceed to view the ground over which the said road is proposed to be turned, and ascertain the distance which said road will be increased or shortened by such proposed alteration, and make out a report in writing stating the several distances so found, together with their opinion as to the utility or practicability of making said alteration. If said viewers shall report to the county court that the prayer of the petitioner is reasonable, and the alteration will not place the road on worse ground or increase the distance to the injury of the public, they shall, upon receiving satisfactory evidence that the proposed new road will be opened by the petitioner a legal width, and in all respects made as good as the old road was for the convenience of travelers, and if, in their opinion, the same shall be just and reasonable, declare said new road a public highway. The person desiring the alteration aforesaid shall pay all costs of the view, survey and return, with the cost incident thereto. No damages shall be allowed under the provisions of this section, by reason of any such change, to any petitioner by the viewers appointed as aforesaid (o).

VACATING ROADS.

SEC. 5942. When any county road, or any part of any county road, shall be considered useless, any ten citizens residing in that portion of the county may make application by petition to the county court to vacate the same, setting forth in the petition the reason why the same ought to be vacated, which petition shall be publicly read at a regular term of the county court, with the proof of notice and publication required by this act; and no further proceedings shall be had thereon until the next regular term of the court. If no objections be made and filed, the county court may declare said road vacated, or any part thereof that it may deem necessary. If objection be made in writing, the county court shall appoint three viewers to view said road, who shall proceed, after taking the oath or affirmation required by this act, to view the road as aforesaid, and make written report of their opinion thereon, and their reason for the same, to the county court. If said viewers shall report in favor of vacating such road, or any part thereof, the court may, if it deems the same reasonable and just, declare said road, or any part thereof, vacated, agreeably to the report of the viewers (p). The costs thereof and expenses incident thereto shall be paid by the petitioners, unless the county court shall order the same paid out of the county treasury.

NEW ROAD WHERE OLD ROAD INJURED.

SEC. 5943. When any county road may be injured or destroyed by the washing of any lake, river or creek, it shall be the duty of the overseer or overseers of the road district or districts in which such injury or destruction may occur to immediately notify the county court in writing of the nature and extent of such injury; and, if said court shall be satisfied that such road has been injured or destroyed to such an extent as to inconvenience the traveling public, the court shall appoint three viewers, who may, if in their judgment it is necessary, take with them a competent surveyor, and proceed to view and survey a new road upon such ground as will accommodate the traveling public. Such viewers shall determine the compensation to be allowed the owners of the property sought to be appropriated, at its true value, and the damages occasioned by such new road, and shall make a report of their doings in the manner pointed out in this act as the duties of viewers of new roads. Appeals may be taken from the appointment and orders of said court, and from the assessment allowed by the viewers as a jury to the owner or owners of property, in the manner provided by this act, within the time allowed by law, after the first regular term of the court thereafter held. The appointment of viewers and order of said court herein provided shall be recorded in the records of the court. The court shall be governed in the reception, approving and recording of said report of viewers, in all respects, as is prescribed in the case of new roads, except no notice of the destruction or injury to the road shall be required, except as required by this section. All costs, damages and expenses arising under the provisions of this section shall be paid out of the county treasury.

Such viewers shall take the same oath, and shall be governed in all respects as viewers appointed to public roads are governed. They shall examine the route proposed for such road, and any other route which they may deem proper, and, if they, or a majority of them, shall be of opinion that a private road is necessary and proper, as prayed in the petition, they shall lay out the same in such manner as to produce the least inconvenience to the parties through whose land the same shall pass, and shall make a written report to the county court, describing the route of the road and the land through which the same shall pass, naming the owner thereof, if known, and the damages sustained by each owner of lands through which such road passes, which damages shall include the value of the land of each owner sought to be appropriated. Such report shall be recorded on the records of said county court.

SEC. 5945. If, upon the return of the viewers, the court shall be of the opinion that it is necessary for the petitioner to have said road from his said lands, dwelling-house or plantation to said public road or navigable water-course, and said petitioner shall pay all costs and expenses accruing on account of said petition for such private road, and all things relating thereto, and following therefrom, including the view and survey of said road, and said damages sustained by each owner of the lands over which such road passes, an order shall be made establishing the same as a private road, not exceeding fifteen feet wide, and the person applying for such road may proceed to open the same.

FINES.

SEC. 5946. If any person shall be appointed by the county court as a viewer, reviewer, or by the viewers or reviewers, as a surveyor of any road, and shall refuse or neglect to perform the duties required by this act, without making satisfactory or legal excuse therefor, he shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars.

SURVEYOR.

SEC. 5947. It shall be the duty of every surveyor, when called on by any viewers or reviewers, to survey any road they may be required to view or review, lay out, establish or alter, and to furnish all courses, bearings, distances, plats and surveys of roads required by them to be laid out, established or altered, as viewers or reviewers, when demanded by them.

The amount due to each person, and the number of days employed, shall be certified under oath by the viewers or reviewers, as the case may be. The county shall be reimbursed for the payment so made, and for all other necessary expenses incident to such proceedings, by the petitioner, as herein-before provided. The clerk of the county court shall receive such fees as by law he may be entitled to, to be taxed as costs and paid as herein provided.

ROAD TAX.

SEC. 5949. If, in the opinion of the county courts, the public highways in their respective counties can not be placed and kept in good condition under the preceding sections of this act, and that it will be necessary to levy a road tax for any year in order to place or keep said highways in such condition as the interests of the traveling public necessarily require, it shall be the duty of said courts, at the time of levying the county tax in each year, to levy a road tax on all property (r) made taxable by the laws of this state, not exceeding one mill on the dollar in any one year.

SEC. 5950. Collectors of state and county taxes shall collect the road tax so levied in the same manner that other taxes are now collected; and, if the same be not paid, such property shall be sold in the same manner that property is now sold for the non-payment of taxes.

SEC. 5951. The collector shall pay into the county treasury the amount of road tax collected by him, taking the treasurer's receipt for the same, as so much money paid on account of roads.

SEC. 6074. When any raft or boat, with produce therein, shall be taken up; which raft, or the cargo of the boat, consists of such articles as are usually taken to the States of Mississippi or Louisiana for sale, and the owner does not apply for or make demand of such property within twenty days, the person taking up such property may apply to some justice of the peace of the county where such property was taken up; and, on showing that the property so taken up is of a perishable nature, and is likely to be injured or become of less value by being kept, such justice may make an order authorizing the taker-up of such property to sell such property at public auction, on giving notice by advertisement as the justice may direct, or authorizing the taker-up to ship such property to any market where he may deem it most likely he will effect a good sale of such property.

The copy of such order and certificate, under the hand of the justice, shall be a sufficient voucher for the taker-up to authorize all acts of ownership over such property.

SEC. 6077. When boats are wrecked or stove, and property is found afloat on any water-course in this state, if the value thereof does not exceed one hundred dollars, then the taker-up of such property shall be entitled to not exceeding one-fourth part thereof, for taking up and securing such property, for his salvage on the same, to be adjudged by some justice of the peace of the county.

SEC. 6078. If no demand shall be made within one year from the taking up of any property under this act, and the taker-up has complied with the provisions of this act in all respects, then the property so taken up, or the proceeds when sold, shall vest in the taker-up.

SEC. 6079. When any person shall make oath before any justice of the peace that he has lost any property by wreck, or the rising of the waters, tempest or other accident, and give a description of such property, and further state that he has reason to suspect that such property so lost is secreted in the possession or custody of any person, such justice may issue his warrant to the constable of the township, describing such property in the warrant, requiring the constable to search for and to take into his possession such property when found; and, if the claimant shall prove his title to such property thus found before the justice issuing such warrant, then such justice shall cause the constable to deliver to such owner the property, he paying such fees as may be due such justice and constable for their services, which shall be the same as for like services in ordinary cases at law. *Rev. SEC. 6192. He shall number the several school districts in his county in regular order from number one upward, and shall keep in his office a record and description of each district, with the boundaries clearly defined, and also a record of such changes or alterations in the boundaries of each as shall from time to time be made.

SEC. 6193. He shall have power to appoint some suitable person to hold teachers' institutes and examine teachers in his county, in case of his inability to attend such institutes and examinations.

SEC. 6195. If any county examiner shall be found incompetent, or shall be frequently neglectful of his duty, upon satisfactory proof, the county judge shall remove him from office and shall immediately appoint his successor. Act March 11, 1881, sec. 7.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.

SEC. 6197. The electors of each organized school district in this state shall annually, on the third Saturday in May, at two o'clock P. M., hold a public meeting, to be designated "The annual school meeting of the district." Act, Dec. 7, 1875, sec. 54, as amended by act March 11, 1881.

SEC. 6198. All persons qualified to vote for county and state officers at the general election shall be deemed qualified electors of the school district in which they reside, and shall have the privilege of voting at all school meetings.

SEC. 6199. The electors of every school district shall, when lawfully assembled in annual district school meeting, with not less than five electors present, have the power, by a majority of the votes cast at such meeting, first to choose a chairman; second, to adjourn from time to time; third, to appoint, when necessary, in the absence of the directors of the district, a clerk pro tem.; fourth, to elect a director for the district for the next three school years, who can read and write; fifth, to designate a site for a school-house; sixth, to determine the length of time during which a school shall be taught more than three months in a year; seventh, to determine what amount of money shall be raised by tax on the taxable property of the district sufficient, with the public school revenues apportioned to the district, to defray the expenses of a school for three months, or for any greater length of time they may decide to have a school taught during the year; provided, that no tax for purposes aforesaid greater than one-half of one per cent. on the assessed value of the taxable property of the district shall be levied; and provided, further, that they may, if sufficient revenue can not be raised to sustain a school for three months in any one year, determine by ballot that no school shall be taught during such year, in which case the revenue belonging to such district shall remain in the treasury to the credit of such school district; eighth, to repeal and modify their proceedings from time to time.

SEC. 6200. The annual district election shall be held by the school directors as judges, who shall have power to appoint two clerks; and if any of the directors should not attend, the assembled voters may choose judges in the place of those not attending, and the judges and clerks shall take the oath prescribed by the general election law.

SEC. 6201. The ballot of the voter shall, in addition to the name of the persons voted for as directors, have written or printed on it the words "for tax," or "against tax," and also the amount of tax the voter desires levied.

SEC. 6202. When the polls are closed (*), the judges shall proceed to count the votes, ascertain the result and make return thereof to the county court, showing the number of votes cast for each person voted for for school director, also the number cast for and against tax, and the number of votes cast for each amount or rate of tax voted for (a); such return, together with the ballots, shall be sealed up and delivered by one of the judges to the county clerk, at least ten days before the meeting of the county court for levying taxes.

SEC. 6203. The county court, at its said meeting for levying taxes, shall open the return and ascertain whether a majority of the votes cast be for tax; and if a tax has been voted, then the court shall determine the amount of taxes voted by taking the largest amount or rate of taxation voted for by a majority of the voters, which shall be levied and collected by the district so voting; and if no rate shall have received such majority, then all the votes cast for the highest rate shall be counted for the next highest, and so on, till some rate voted shall receive a majority of all the votes cast. In other respects the election shall be held according to the general election law. Act Dec. 7, 1875, secs. 55 and 56.

SEC. 6204. All taxes voted for school purposes by any school district shall be levied by the county court at the same time the county taxes are levied, and shall be collected in the same manner as the county taxes are collected, at the same time and by the same person, and be paid into the county treasury, there to be kept subject to disbursement on the warrant of the school directors; provided, that no tax for the purposes aforesaid greater than one-half of one per cent. on the assessed value of the taxable property of the district shall be levied, which shall be done by ballot (aa). Act Dec. 7, 1875, sec. 41.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

SEC. 6205. At the annual school meeting, held on the third Saturday in May, there shall be elected, by the legal voters in each school district, a director, who shall hold his office for the term of three years from October fifteenth next ensuing, and until his successor shall have been elected and have qualified. Provided, that at the first annual school meeting of the district after the passage of this act, three school directors shall be elected, to hold office one, two and three years, respectively; and provided, further, that when a new school district shall have been formed under the provisions of this act, three directors shall be immediately elected by the electors of the new district, and shall hold their office for one, two and three years, respectively, and until their successors are elected and qualified as herein provided for. Act Dec. 7, 1875, sec. 57, as amended by act March 11, 1881, sec. 2.

SEC. 6206. Any person elected and accepting the position of director of a school district shall, within ten days after having been notified of his election, file his acceptance with his predecessor at the time in office, and shall, within ten days after the fifteenth of October, take and subscribe, before a justice of the peace or other competent officer, the oath prescribed for officers by the constitution of this state, and shall file the said oath in the office of the clerk of the county in which he resides. Act Dec. 7, 1875, sec. 58.

(a) Unless the judges make return of the election or vote to the county court, it can not levy the tax. Hodgkin v. Fry, 33—716. The omission of the judges to state in their return the number of votes cast for and against the proposed tax will not defeat a levy adopted by the meeting. Holland v. Davies, 36—446. As to other irregularities, see same case and Rogers v. Kerr, 42—100.

(aa) The county court has no power to levy a school tax independent of action on the part of the electors of each school district for which the tax is levied; it can only cause to be placed on the tax books and collected such rates as are reported from the districts. An excessive levy vitiates the whole tax. Worthen v. Badgett, 32—496. See Cairo & Fulton R. R. Co. v. Parks, 1b., 131; Rogers v. Kerr, 42—100.

SEC. 6207. An old director shall, upon application of an incoming director, administer to him the oath of office. Act March 11, 1881, sec. 5.

SEC. 6208. Any person who shall have been elected or appointed a director, and shall neglect or refuse to qualify and serve as such, shall forfeit to his district the sum of ten dollars, which may be recovered by action against him at the instance of any elector in the district, and which, when collected, shall be paid into the county treasury by the officer before whom the action was maintained, and added, by the treasurer, to the school fund revenues appropriated to the district.

SEC. 6209. Any director who shall neglect or fail to perform any duties of his office shall forfeit to his district the sum of twenty-five dollars, to be recovered as directed in the preceding section, and to add in like manner to the school fund revenues apportioned to his district.

SEC. 6210. If the office of any director in a district becomes vacant, the electors of said district shall, in a district meeting assembled, within fifteen days after the occurrence of such vacancy, elect a director to serve the remainder of the unexpired term; but if the district in which such vacancy occurs neglect or fail to elect a director to fill such vacancy, then the county court shall appoint from the electors of said district a director to serve the remainder of the term.

SEC. 6211. The trustees of the several school districts in each county in the state shall hold office and perform the duties required of boards of directors in this act until their successors are elected and qualified in regular manner, according to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6212. The said board shall make provision for establishing separate schools for white and colored children and youths, and shall adopt such other measures as they may judge expedient for carrying the free school system into effectual and uniform operation throughout the state, and providing, as nearly as possible, for the education of every youth.

SEC. 6213. The directors shall have charge of the school affairs and of the school educational interests of their district, and shall have the care and custody of the school-houses and grounds, the books, records, papers and other property belonging to the district, and shall carefully preserve the same, preventing waste and damage; and shall purchase or lease, in the corporate name of the district, such school-house site as may be designated by a majority of the legal voters at the district meeting; shall hire, purchase or build a school-house with funds provided by the district for that purpose; and may sell or exchange such site or school-house, when so directed by a majority of the electors of any legal meeting of the district.

SEC. 6214. They shall hire, for and in the name of the district, such teachers as have been licensed according to law, and shall make with such teachers a written contract, specifying the time for which the teacher is to be employed, the wages to be paid per month, and any other agreement entered into by the contracting parties, and shall furnish the teachers with a duplicate of such contract, and keep the original; and they shall employ no person to teach in any common school of their district unless such person shall hold, at the time of commencing his school, a certificate and license to teach, granted by the county examiner or state superintendent.

SEC. 6215. The term "month," wherever it occurs in any section of this act, shall be construed to mean twenty days, or four weeks of five days each. Act Dec. 7, 1875, secs. 58-62.

SEC. 6216. The directors of each school district in this state shall adopt and cause to be used in the public schools, in their respective districts, one series of text-books in each branch or science taught in the public schools of their respective districts, and no change in these books shall be made for a period of three years, unless it be by a petition of a majority of the voters of the district desiring the change. Act March 11, 1881, sec. 2.

SEC. 6217. They shall procure from the county examiner, and furnish the teacher at the commencement of the term, a register for his school, and require the said teacher to report, in the said register, at the close of the school term, the number of days of the said term, the name and age of each pupil, the date on which each entered the school, the separate days on which each attended, the whole number of days each attended, the studies each pursued, the total number of days all pupils attended, the average daily attendance and the number of visits received from the directors during the said term. Act Dec. 7, 1875, sec. 63.

SEC. 6218. They shall visit the schools at least once each term, and encourage the pupils in their studies, and give such advice to the teacher as may be for the benefit of teacher and pupils.

SEC. 6219. They shall submit to the district, at the annual meeting, an estimate of the expenses of the district for that year, including the expenses of a school for the term of three months for the next year, after deducting the probable amount of school moneys to be apportioned to the district for that school year, and shall also submit an estimate of the expenses per month of continuing the school beyond the term of three months, and of whatever else may be necessary for the comfort and advancement of the said school.

SEC. 6220. They shall, in all suits and actions at law brought by or against their district, appear for and in behalf of said district. Provided, that they shall have no other directions or instructions by a lawful meeting of the electors of their district.

SEC. 6221. They shall draw orders on the treasurer of the county for the payment of wages due teachers, or for any lawful purpose, and they shall state in every such order the services or consideration for which the order is drawn, and the name of the person rendering such service; but they shall not draw any order on the county treasurer for the payment of the wages of any teacher not licensed.

SEC. 6222. When the warrant of any board of directors, properly drawn, is presented to the treasurer of the proper county, he shall pay the same out of any funds in his hands for that purpose belonging to the district specified in said warrant.

SEC. 6223. The directors shall give notice of each annual meeting, by posting notices thereof, at least fifteen days previous to such meeting, in three or more conspicuous places within the district (b); but it shall not be lawful for a

(b) It is the duty of the directors to designate the place of the annual meeting, and notice of the time and place is essential to the validity of a tax voted at such meeting. But the statute designates the time, and all are bound to take notice of it. If notice of the place be given, the meeting will be legal, though the time be not specified in the notice. Hodgkin v. Fry, 33-716. A notice given by two of the directors is sufficient. Holland v. Davies, 36-446.

district, at any annual meeting, to fix a site for a school-house, or to raise money for building or purchasing a school-house, unless the directors shall have particularly set forth in the previous notice given of such meeting that these matters were to be submitted for their consideration and action.

SEC. 6224. One of the directors shall act as clerk at all district meetings, shall keep a record of the proceedings thereof in a book provided for that purpose, or, if absent, shall transcribe into the said book the minutes kept by the clerk pro tempore, and signed by the chairman, as so much of the authenticated records of the district; and he shall enter on the said book copies of all his reports to the county clerk and the county examiner.

SEC. 6225. He shall keep, in a book provided for that purpose, the accounts of the district, by debits and credits, including the accounts with the county treasurer, and shall present the same to each annual meeting, showing the current expenses for the year, for school-houses, out-buildings, fences with which to inclose a school-house site, for stoves, wood, maps, charts, blackboards, a dictionary, and other necessities for a school, and stating the number of days the directors have been necessarily employed in the performance of their duties as directors; the date of each order drawn by them on the county treasurer, and for what services or consideration, for what amounts and in whose favor, exhibiting vouchers therefor; a statement of the indebtedness of the district, and also of the surplus moneys, if any, in the county treasury belonging to the district at the commencement of the year; the amount of taxes levied on the district for school purposes within the year; the different purposes for which said taxes were levied, and the amount levied for each purpose. SEC. 6227. They shall, annually, between the first and tenth days of September, transmit, verified by their affidavit, to the county examiner, a written report, in proper form, of the name of their county; of the number of their district; the names and ages of all persons, between the ages of six and twenty-one years, residing in their district on the first day of September; the number of males and females, respectively, of each color, that attended the common schools during the last school year; the average number of each sex that attended daily; the number that pursued each of the studies designated to be taught in the common schools of this state; the number of times the school was visited each term by the directors; the number of days that school was taught during the year by a licensed teacher; the name of each teacher; the grade of his certificate; the wages paid each teacher per month, and the whole amount of wages paid teachers during the year. They shall include in their report the amount of taxes voted by the district during the last school year, for what purpose voted, and the amount voted for each purpose; the amount drawn from the county treasurer for each purpose for which money was raised by district tax the previous year; the amount of revenues received

SEC. 6228. If the directors of any district fail or neglect to make a report of the enumeration, statistics and finances of their district at the time and in the manner prescribed in the preceding section, the said directors, in addition to their forfeiture for neglect of duty, shall severally be liable for any damages, including the costs of the suit, that the district may sustain by reason of losing the school revenues that would otherwise have been apportioned to them.

SEC. 6229. They shall, at the close of the school year, settle with the county treasurer, and ascertain what moneys, if any, to which their district may be entitled, and the amounts, severally, thereof that are in the county treasury and subject to be drawn by their district. Ib., secs. 64-75.

SEC. 6230. The directors of any school district may, at the instance of the teacher, suspend from the school any pupil for gross immorality, refractory conduct or insubordination, or for infectious disease. Provided, that such suspension shall not extend beyond the current term.

SEC. 6231. They may permit older persons to attend the school under such regulations as they may deem proper.

SEC. 6232. The county court shall have power, upon the petition of any person residing in a particular school district, to transfer the child, children or wards of such person, for educational purposes, to an adjoining district in the same county, or to an adjoining district in an adjoining county, and shall at once notify the county examiner of the county or counties and the directors of both districts.
